STRIKE PERILS CITY'S FOOD

DRYS ASK U. S. TO BUY WHOLE LIQUOR SUPPLY

60 Million Gallons Held in Bond.

Westerville, O., March 6.—Purchase by the federal government of all liquor stocks in bond is urged by the Anti-Saloon league in a statement issued here today at the league's national headquarters by Ernest H. Cherrington, secretary of the league's executive committee. The statement says:

"Now that prohibition has gone into effect everything which the government can do to make it easy to enforce the law should be done.

"With more than 60,000,000 gallons of whisky in bonded warehouses there is a constant temptation to devise ways and means of utilizing that liquor in spite of the law. Moreover, so long as that whisky is in existence those who own it, realizing as they do its great commercial value, except for prohibition, will be constantly tempted to use millions of dollars in efforts to repeal and break down the prohibition laws.

Make Denatured Alcohol.

"The government of the United States should purchase that whisky at a price to be fixed by a federal commission, which price should represent the actual cost of producing it. Upon purchasing the whisky the government should convert it promptly into denatured alcohol, for which there is an ever increasing demand.

"By such an arrangement the distillers will get all they actually have invested in the whisky. The greatest temptation to break the prohibition law will be removed. The incentive to spend vast sums of whisky money to secure repeal of prohibition or a serious modification of the law will be eliminated; the government will be able to realize almost as much from the sale of the whisky in the form of denatured alcohol as the whisky will cost the government, and the public will be the gainer in every way. It will require less effort and expense to enforce the law."

It was said the Anti-Saloon league may ask congress for legislation authorizing purchase of all bonded liquors.

Eighteenth Amendment Attacked.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—The prohibition amendment and portions of the enforcement act were attacked as unconstitutional in a brief filed in the Supreme court today by the Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse company in appeals from federal court decrees holding the acts valid. The case will be argued on Monday, along with the Rhode Island and other cases.

The brief alleges the amendment invades the sovereign powers expressly reserved by the federal constitution to the states; that three-fourts of the states have not ratified it because in twelve it has not been submitted to a referendum as state statutes provide, and that both the amendment and the Volstead act take property without just compensation.

The brief also alleges that the prohibition resolution was not constitutionally adopted by the house and senate because the affirmative vote for the resolution was not two-thirds of the membership in each body, but only two-thirds of those present.

ASSAILS CHURCH CRITIC

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. William Pierson Merrill, formerly of Chicago, now pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church, commenting on the letter which W. H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, sent to Protestant pastors of the state attacking the Catholic church as an ally of the wets, said today:

"I think the Anti-Saloon league officers have made a mistake, to say the least, to carry this matter into the ecclesiastical field, and to try to make it an issue between Protestants and Catholics.

"I think the Anti-Saloon league deserves a tremendous amount of credit for its persistent and successful effort at securing prohibition, but I feel strongly that its continued aggressive action since the amendment was secured has antagonized a very large element of our population. I am inclined to think it would have been better for the cause if the Anti-Saloon league had gone out of existence after securing the amendment, because the identification of law enforcement with

SHUMAN WRITES WIFE HIS SHAME KEEPS HIM AWAY

Can't Face Daughters, Letter Admits.

Some hint of the causes that keep Maj. W. Irving Shuman in Europe, away from his wife and children, came to light yesterday in a letter written by the major himself, now attached to the armies of Poland. There was in the letter a tone of tragedy and a broken life.

Maj. Shuman formerly was United States subtreasurer in Chicago, appointed by President Wilson. He retired two or three years ago; was for a time connected with the Pugh Stores company, and then went into the war.

Meanwhile Mrs. Shuman, with their two little girls, remained at home, 4521 North Whipple avenue. Letters were infrequent. The major's failure to return from Europe after his period of service expired brought an estrangement and on Friday Mrs. Shuman filed a bill for separate maintenance. She said she had not the slightest idea why he remained away.

His Letter Tells Why.

Yesterday the following letter was revealed. It throws light on the major's reason for remaining away. The letter, written somewhere in Poland, was dated Dec. 31, 1919, and was thus addressed:

"DEAR PEARL AND GIRLS:

"Only one letter from each of you this month is surely in keeping with my record for not writing, or possibly the mails are to blame. I expect to resign from the Poles (army) on Jan. 1, but my resignation, according to contract, would not be effective until March 31, but I will try to shorten it, as I am still thinking of Russia. I have talked my situation, both physical and personal, with Mr. Landauer, and he is going to see you while in America.

"I cannot return to America and to you for several reasons, the principal one being that I am not as clean as I was when I entered the army.

"Another is that they will not leave me alone long enough to get started again financially even over here, and it would finish me up quick to go against them again in America in my present physical condition.

Wants to Avoid Girls.

"I would rather the girls would remember me—or forget me—as I was when they last saw me than to have them later realize my condition.

"My present condition, regardless of how it was brought about, as you would not believe what I might tell you, will rapidly take me the way father went.

"I am inclosing $200 for January and will attempt to obtain an advance for six or eight months from Landauer, which will be sufficient for me to get ahead and start on.

"When the finish comes you will have to depend upon my insurance and the farm which the girls will get from mother. I have given Landauer a final statement about that. Hill has the will now. I have ordered everything that I may ever have or inherit in America to be turned over to you and the girls.

Wants Wilson's Picture.

"There are two or three things, like Wilson's picture, that I would like to have, also that box of files. For myself it does not matter, but will write you once a month as you accuse me of doing, and hope you will do the same.

"If I should go to Russia my address will be the same as at present. I will remain in Antwerp until I am through with the Poles.

"It hurts me just as much to write this as it does you to read it, but you never could understand or forgive me, so I have made my decision. Good-by.

"W. I. SHUMAN."

This is the latest and only recent word from Shuman. His present whereabouts are unknown.

Service was obtained yesterday on the injunction issued by Judge Barrett to restrain Shuman's attorney S. C. Irving, from disposing of the $1,000 said to have been offered Mrs. Shuman providing she permitted a decree of divorce to be granted in France.

Shuman came to Chicago several years ago from Sullivan, Ill., where he was connected with a bank.

Aerial Limousine Appears at New York Flying Show

New York, March 6.—Everything in airplanes, from the freight carrying "truck" to the electrically lighted "limousine" of the clouds—is on display in the 71st Regimental armory here, where the second annual aero show opened tonight. One type has an estimate maxium speed 125 miles an hour with ten passengers and pilot.

JURORS ACQUIT GEARY; VERDICT AROUSES HOYNE

Declares It Looses Gunmen on City.

Eugene Geary, gangster and gunman, accused of the murder of Leonard Tripple, a Yellow Cab chauffeur, was found not guilty yesterday afternoon by a jury in Judge Hugo Pam's Criminal court. John Ganey, another gunman, was found not guilty of the same charge.

The jury deliberated for less than two hours.

Immediately upon hearing the verdict read, Geary rushed to the bar and reached out his hand to Judge Pam.

Thanks Judge and Jury.

"Judge, I thank you from the bottom of my heart," he said.

Judge Pam hesitated a moment, then took Geary's hand. Then the acquitted man hurried to the jury box.

"Thank you—thank you from the bottom of my heart," he said, and rushed from the room. A moment later he returned and shook the jurymen's hands again.

"God bless you all," he said fervently.

A moment later he posed for photographers.

"They thought they had me framed,'" he said. "They thought they could beat me. Some newspapers and the Yellow Cab company were after me, after me hard, but, thanks to Tommy Nash, my lawyer, they couldn't put it over."

Hoyne Assails Verdict.

Then he turned to receive the congratulations of a hundred cronies who had filled the courtroom. Despite the warning from Judge Pam before the verdict was read, the good wishes came in a storm.

"That verdict is a rank miscarriage of justice," said State's Attorney Hoyne. "It will only encourage other gangsters and gunmen to bring out their guns and shoot whenever they please. I am well pleased with the efforts of Assistant State's Attorneys James C. O'Brien and John Prystalski, who handled the prosecution.

"Despite this verdict, I will continue to fight the gunmen and the gangs.

"I had hoped, however, that we would be able to hang Geary as an object lesson to others of his stripe."

Threat Tale Tips Scales.

One of the jurors asserted, after he had been discharged, that Geary's defense had shown Tripple had been "out to get Geary" and that this bit of testimony swung the jury around to a not guilty verdict.

"They were both gunmen," he said. "Both intended to kill. I believe there was too much malice in the case. We couldn't do anything but turn Geary loose."

It was said only four ballots were taken before a verdict was reached. The case was given to the jury at 1:16 o'clock p. m. and two hours later the foreman rapped on the jury room door for a bailiff. Judge Pam returned at 5:30 and reopened court to hear the reading of the verdict.

State's Final Plea.

In his final statement to the jury, Assistant State's Attorney O'Brien asked that Geary be given the extreme penalty. He characterized the man's defense as "crooked" and asked the jurors to "send a message to gangland that would throw the fear of the law into the gangsters."

"Bring in a verdict of guilty—tell us we should hang this man," he said. "Let that one word—hanged—travel into the bad lands of the south side. He is guilty, if ever a man was. Let his pals know that we're going to hang all murderers. Then we'll have fewer murders."

Get Writ for Woman.

Immediately after the jury was given the case, Attorney Thomas D. Nash, representing the defense, presented a writ of habeas corpus in behalf of Miss Ruth Kirk. She was one of the defense's principal witnesses, testifying that it was in an argument over her gloves that the feud between Geary and Tripple started.

After the writ had been issued the whereabouts of Miss Kirk could not be ascertained. The state's attorney's office said it had not arrested her and the police said they had not. The hearing on the writ was continued until Monday.

Tripple was shot and killed while in the Cadillac café at 2134 South Wabash avenue early on the morning of Nov.

CASTEN MISSING AGAINST WILL, KEY INDICATES

Find Fraud Evidence in Death Report.

A door key, mute witness tending to refute any theory of voluntary disappearance, unlocked one phase of the Angelus J. Casten mystery yesterday, but the source of the telegram announcing his death, as well as his present whereabouts, remained as inexplicable as ever.

That the Identification Company of America, whose name was affixed to the two telegrams received by Casten's fiancée, Miss Mabel Nielsen, informing her he had been killed in Detroit by a train, exists, was learned by THE TRIBUNE. But that it has any agent in Detroit was denied.

Identification Firm Here.

Chicago offices of the company were found at room 1345 Insurance Exchange building, 175 West Jackson boulevard. Charles A. White is president and Harry W. Overman is general manager. Casten was not listed among its policyholders.

"We supply authoritative credentials or identification cards to reputable persons," said Mr. Overman. "That has been our business for years. However, we have no agents and besides myself and Mr. White no one has authority to sign the company's name to telegrams.

"It is possible some, perhaps an enemy of Casten's, might have one of our cards and remembered the name to sign it to the telegram. But whoever did so, of course, was not authorized. The telegram is a fraud."

Door Key Clew.

The door key entered the case through Samuel Casten, the missing man's brother-in-law, with whom Casten lived at 5565 West North avenue. The missing man owns the seven flat and store building at that address.

"We have two keys to the rear door of our apartment," said Samuel Casten. "I carry one and so does my wife. When Angelus left the house Tuesday night he said, just before telling us goodby, 'I'll take your key, sister, and come in the back way when I get home next Saturday. I won't return until late at night, and I don't want to wake you up.' Angelus' room is in the rear of the apartment.

Samuel also disclosed that the chemist expected to receive a lump sum of $7,000 in back royalties in Washington. The family had talked about the expenditure of it.

Planned Gift for Nephew.

Paulon, Samuel's little son, had asked his uncle Angelus to bring him something.

"What do you want, Paulon?" asked Angelus.

"All right, I'll bring you one."

Those were his last words. The brother-in-law and sister are as puzzled as are the Nielsens. Casten carried only a small black handbag, in which, besides toilet articles, were a few soft collars and linen. The sister told him he should take more linen, but he replied:

"What's the use? I'll only be gone four days."

Although he has a half dozen suits, he took only the one he wore. He had about $300 in addition to his ticket.

Unique Courtship.

It was a unique courtship—that of Casten and Miss Nielsen. She is of frail physique and during the two evenings that a reporter visited the home at 4526 West Palmer street she seldom left a large rocking chair. She has a wealth of golden hair, which, with her large blue eyes and fair complexion, lends to her face an ethereal expression. She is well read.

With her father and mother she believes Casten has been kidnaped and is being held for ransom.

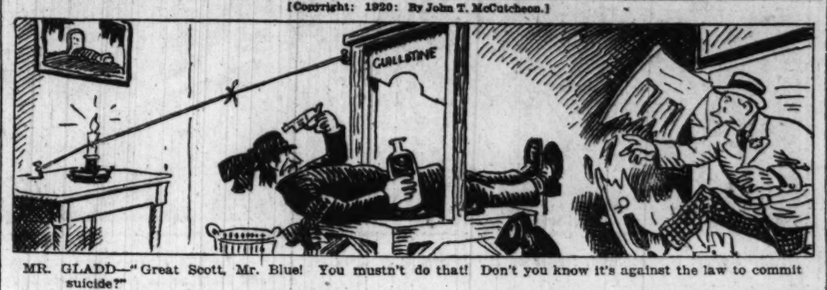
MR. LUGUBRIOUS BLUE AND MR. SMILEY GLADD DISCUSS THE SITUATION

[Copyright: 1920: By John T. McCutcheon.]



MR. GLADD—"Great Scott, Mr. Blue! You mustn't do that! Don't you know it's against the law to commit suicide?"

MR. BLUE—"Yes, and that's another blow at personal liberty. It's my life, ain't it? Can't I do what I want with it? I tell you, I'm plumb discouraged! I can't stand it any longer. I used to drown my sorrows, but now I have to sit up and nurse them. Life is a hollow sham without any pillow in it. Democracy is two-thirds mockery, full of unfulfilled promises. Where is the Utopia they said victory would bring us? Where is the great spiritual awakening that was to uplift mankind after going through the crucible of a great war for great ideals? I can't see anything but jazz and shimmy on one side and war provoking greed on the other. I tell you, it's enough to make a man discouraged!"

MR. GLADD—"Why, Mr. Blue, you ought to be ashamed of yourself. Just think of the great flood of patriotism that swept the country! Don't forget the tremendous effort of the whole nation, the unselfish sacrifices of our people. It was a test that should make you thrill with pride in your country."

MR. BLUE—"Aw, patriotism! Of course there was a lot of real patriotism, but what I'm kicking about is the patriotism that had to be bribed by high wages and the patriotism that had to be bought by 10 per cent plus profits before it began to make its noble sacrifices. That 10 per cent plus proposition threw the whole country out of joint and we won't recover from it in years."

MR. GLADD—"But it produced results, Mr. Blue, and that was what was needed in a hurry. Better the 10 per cent plus than to lose the war. You surely will agree to that."

MR. BLUE—"Aw, the war was a failure. Conditions are ten times worse than they were before the war. Radicalism rampant, wages going up, production going down, half the nations in the world in debt up to their eyes, and the seeds sown for at least a dozen new wars just as soon as they catch their breath again. Was this what we were promised? Not much! And now we have a presidential campaign ahead of us and we'll be promised a lot more of rainbow stuff as soon as the next president is elected. I tell you, it all makes me fear for the future of our country!"

MR. GLADD—"Mr. Blue, you are unreasonable. You insist upon making yourself miserable. You must be philosophic. We've had an awful cataclysm in the world—peaceful production gave way to war production, and now we've got to readjust ourselves. The world was thrown out of joint and we have to go through the painful process of resetting. But even at that things are not nearly so bad as you think. Look around you! New buildings springing up on all sides, everybody with more money than he ever had before; no poverty worth considering and our country the banker of the whole world. That isn't so bad, is it?"

MR. BLUE—"Aw, of course there's more money. Everybody's making more, but that isn't what makes real prosperity. It isn't how much money people make but how much they produce that means prosperity. And they are not producing anything like they did before the war. They're not producing and they're not saving their money, and you mark my words, there will be a sad day of reckoning one of these days, and when it comes you want to take to the cyclone cellar. We're going around in a circle. You hear a big splash in Washington about what they are going to do to the profiteers, and then you hear nothing more about it. That's the trouble! Tremendous promises and no delivery of goods."

WOMEN BELIEVE THEY'LL ALL BE VOTERS NOV. 2

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—Prediction that the federal amendment granting nation-wide woman suffrage would be ratified by thirty-six states in time to permit the women to participate in the national elections was made tonight by the National Woman's party following the receipt of the news that Gov. Townsend of Delaware today called a special session of the legislature for March 22.

The suffrage workers have now obtained ratification by thirty-three states. They are apparently certain of obtaining ratification in Washington state, where the legislature will meet on March 22.

With Delaware and Washington state in line, they will need but one more affirmative vote. They have not given up hope in West Virginia, where another test vote may be taken on Monday. Two other Republican states, Connecticut and Vermont, also are to be heard from.

GENERAL STRIKE NEW YORK CURE FOR HIGH RENTS

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—While Gov. Smith was telling a large audience that the only effective antidote for exorbitant rents was the erection of more houses and that little relief might be expected through legislation, the Central Federated union of New York City decided to advise the 350,000 workers it represents to refuse to comply with the demands of rent profiteers, to defy ejection and, if the city or the state does not take summary measures, to break all trade agreements and begin a general strike.

After the strike vote, the approval of the A. F. of L. will be asked if the strike is decided on.

COL. ROOSEVELT LEFT AN ESTATE OF $781,082

Mineola, N. Y., March 6.—The state of New York will receive $8,891 as an inheritance tax from the estate of the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt, according to the report of James N. Gehrig, state inheritance tax appraiser, filed here today.

The official transfer tax appraisal shows that the former president left an estate worth $727,713 after all expenses and debts had been deducted. The total value of the estate was placed at $781,082, divided between $630,107 personal and $150,975 real property.

Col. Roosevelt's widow, Mrs. Edith Kermit Roosevelt, has a life interest in the estate, placed at $724,763, the remainder being divided between the children, with the exception of Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, as her father in his will said that she had been amply provided for previously.

STATE SENATOR CURTIS VERY ILL

State Senator Edward C. Curtis, banker and figure in state Republican politics for twenty-five years, who has been ill of pneumonia at his home in Grant Park, Ill., for two weeks, was reported to have a chance for recovery last night.

Senator Curtis' condition became so serious Friday night that Dr. Bertram W. Sippy was called into consultation with other well known physicians.

"We do not think the crisis will be reached for several days yet," said Vernon Curtis, a brother. "The doctors say he has a fair chance."

Besides being president of the Grant Park Trust and Savings bank and the Curtis Trust company of Grant Park, Senator Curtis is a large stockholder in many other financial institutions. He is a delegate to the constitutional convention, chairman of the appropriations committee of the senate, and an expert on traction legislation. He served as the youngest speaker of the house.

EXPRESSMEN QUIT; DRIVERS TO ACT TODAY

Embargo On as 2,000 Defy Chiefs.

The status of Chicago's perishable food supply, such as poultry, butter, fruit, for the next few days will depend eggs, milk, cream, vegetables and to a considerable extent on the attitude assumed today by 2,200 men who haul the products in the city for the American Railways Express company.

While the food supply is somewhat curtailed now, due to a temporary embargo declared yesterday by the company after 2,000 express handlers and clerks struck for a raise of $35 per month, it will be seriously imperiled if the teamsters and chauffeurs decide to join the strike.

A special meeting of their union, the Chicago Teamsters' union local No. 720, has been called for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

They have been waiting since last summer for an increase originally set at $25, but since changed to $35. Today their officers will tell them that it cannot be granted until the special federal commission passes on all demands.

Views on Outlook Conflict.

Emory A. Stedman, vice president of the company said last night that he had a lot of faith in his wagon men and their officers and did not expect them to join. Robert E. Shepherd, who called the strike in behalf of Sunrise Lodge No. 2090 of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, and who was deposed yesterday as chairman of the district, declared the teamsters and chauffeurs would join the strike.

During the day, United States District Attorney Charles F. Clyne started an investigation to see if the strike violated any provisions of the recently enacted transportation laws. This was denied by the sponsors of the walkout.

Officers of the international brotherhood tried to induce members of the "rebel" union to return to work, and issued appeals which largely fell on deaf ears, while officials of the Order of Railway Expressmen, an independent union, sent word to their men to remain neutral.

Half Out, Says Company.

Including the company, four sides rushed statements to the press. The company's officials placed the number of strikers at about 1,200, or 50 per cent of the men who handle the express.

J. R. Abbott, vice president of the international union, said the figures were about right, while officials of the Order of Railway Expressmen said that the strength of the strikers did not exceed 700 men. Shepherd declared that 2,600 members of the union were on a strike. Newspaper men made a rough estimate of 2,000.

Rival Union Figures 700 Out.

R. A. Jacobson, grand secretary and treasurer of the Order of Railway Expressmen, called THE TRIBUNE last night and said that in his estimation only about 700 men were on strike. When told that Vice President Stedman admitted about 1,200, he asserted it might be possible.

"We have about 500 men working, however, at four of the depots tonight," said Jacobson. "The Northwestern, St. Paul, Kinzie street, and Carroll avenue depots are working, but the others have men out in more or less numbers. Our men are going to stick and we think the strike is a fizzle.

Up to Drivers.

Everybody approached admitted that the whole situation depended on the action of the teamsters and chauffeurs today. Vice President Stedman said the company has no agreement with them. They demanded a raise of $35 last summer, but never obtained it.

Recently they joined hands with Sunrise lodge, and something over a week ago formulated joint demands to be presented to the company officials here. This was done and on Thursday all of the union men were told by Mr. Stedman that no increases could be granted now. Immediately Shepherd called a strike for 6 o'clock yesterday morning, and G. T. McGrath, president; Ben Tansey, business agent, and M. J. Fitsimmons, secretary, of the teamsters, announced that their men would have to decide what they want to do at the mass meeting in Horan's hall this afternoon.

Stedman's Statement.

Part of the statement issued by Mr. Stedman read: "The strike of a considerable part of the express handlers and other terminal employes in the Chicago express depots was started this morning without advance notice either to the company or the public, and notwithstanding the fact that the company had suggested to Mr. Shepherd and his committee that advance notice should in fairness be given of any strike, if decided on.

"The letter delivered by Mr. Shepherd on March 1, and which accompanied detailed demands, including a demand for a general increase of $35 per month for every member of the local unions of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, which he then represented, together with a copy of our reply of March 5, give the chief points at issue.

"The main question is whether a comparatively small body of union men and part of a larger body dealing collectively for the whole shall be permitted to force by strike another course of action than that indorsed by their own organization and practically before the ink is dry on the agreement. We cannot grant these demands."

Shepherd's View.

"If you had been up to our meeting at East End hall you could have seen if anybody was on a strike or not," said Shepherd. "About 2,600 of the men went out and tied up their business enough to have the company send out notice of the embargo. Tomorrow we expect the teamsters and chauffeurs to join us and on Monday the tieup will be complete.

"We have withdrawn from the international union and the local union is going to be known as the Chicago Expressmen and Freight Handlers' union No. 500. We don't need any international union to help us. The men need more money and not promises.

He admitted that Vice President Abbott in charge of the express division of the international union had deposed him as chairman of the Chicago and Western Lakes express division and installed Ray Gunderson, a member of Messengers and Baggagemen's union No. 2,060, in his place.

Consider Strike Benefits.

"They wanted the books, records and money belonging to the union, but we would not give them up. The money was withdrawn from the Continental and Commercial bank on Friday and is now in a safe place and the grand lodge has nothing to do with it. We may start paying strike benefits if we can see our way to do so and the strike lasts.

Abbott declared that Shepherd was a "master mind," seeking power, etc., and said that he felt sorry for the men that went on a strike. "They have been led into it blindfolded," he said. "But I understand that about 1,200 remained at work. The union card of Shepherd has been revoked and the striking members of the union have been suspended.

"We think it is the logical thing to stay with the grand lodge, but it must be remembered that we are not to be considered as strikebreakers. If the teamsters and chauffeurs go out on a strike with them it is going to be a bad situation."

Rival Camps Established.

Abbott established headquarters in room 1505 of the Unity building at 127 North Dearborn street, which is the office of Vice President H. B. Odell, who is now in St. Louis on other matters. Shepherd's office is in room 1508, next to the other office. The door between was locked yesterday. The charter of Sunrise lodge was turned to the wall in the office of W. H. Muehlke, secretary of the union, who is in the same room with Shepherd.

"Just take a look at the date, Dec. 13, 1918, will you?" said one of the strikers. "No wonder we never got anything from the grand lodge officers and had to go after it ourselves."

Over at the offices of the express company at 23 West Monroe street two operatives from private detective agencies were standing in the hall.

Stedman Talks.

"I have a lot of faith in the drivers and their officers, and I do not think that they will join in this illegal strike, for it will be to their best interests not to do so," he said. "I have reports that about 50 per cent of the express handlers and clerks are out.

"About half of them have been with us a year or less. I am not saying that the men do not deserve more money, but it is to be left to the commission to adjust equal wages for all in our nation-wide business. I have never heard of any of our employés starving."

All Depots Congested.

At the thirteen depots and stations in or near the loop confusion reigned when the men who handle the express packages failed to appear for work. Impromptu gangs of men working at other duties were impressed to handle the shipments for the teamsters and chauffeurs, who received them and went on about their regular work of delivering.

Pickets were placed at all points near the stations and depots, but refrained from any acts of violence. A large number of special policemen, in charge of Capt. Stephen K. Healey, were on guard. As far as it could be ascertained, all shipments that could be loaded onto the trucks and wagons were delivered to their destination.

Shepherd and a number of officials from the striking union will be present at the meeting of the teamsters and chauffeurs today to enlist their aid in the fight on the company.

MAN OF 7 NAMES HERE TO ANSWER FOR BAD CHECKS

C. H. Dern, an ex-convict, who served a sentence in San Quentin penitentiary, was brought back to Chicago last night by Detective Sergeant William Kennedy from Cairo, Ill., where he was arrested a few days ago for passing a worthless check on a hotel.

Dern has been sought for months by detectives, who have been following his trail of worthless checks.

About six weeks ago he succeeded in passing worthless checks at the Planters hotel as A. R. Palmer, at the New Southern hotel as R. D. Stallings, at the Hotel Sherman as A. R. Armstrong, and at the Edgewater Beach hotel as R. A. Manners. Other aliases were F. D. Henderson and C. C. Barry. He represented himself variously as a salesman for the Michelin Tire and Rubber company, the Rotary Tire and Rubber company, the William B. Jeffery company, and the United Shoe Machinery company.

PAY CUT TO BONE PERILS MARROW OF U. S. WORKERS

Loss of Bonus Forces Hunt for New Jobs.

What could you do with $60 a month? Or again, to make it easy, what could you do with $30 a month?

Elevator operators in government service worried over the first problem yesterday. Charwomen struggled to solve the second. Government electricians at $1,200 a year, lamp repairers at $840 a year, and firemen at $810 annually looked despairingly at the eagle emblazoned above doors and corridors and sought new jobs.

The bonus, which has saved scores of government workers from starvation has been dropped from the payroll.

Leader Plans Fight.

Charles Nagl, custodian of the federal building and vice president of the National Federation of Federal Employés refused to accept the last cut in Uncle Sam's budget.

"I've known cases where federal employés have had to apply to the county for help even when the $20 a month bonus they have received in 1919 was in effect," he declared yesterday. "Something must be done now if we expect to keep working."

His first move was to call the 3,500 federal workers in Chicago and the 85,000 employed in the state to attend a massmeeting this week for the adoption of resolutions calling on congress to reëstablish the bonus plan and to enlist public sympathy in the federal fight for more pay.

Half Civilian Rates.

According to the custodian, government salaries are less than half those paid for the same kind of work by county, state, and private enterprises. His table includes:

	Government salary.	Outside salary.
Window washers	$ 60 month	$ 110
Electricians	1,200 year	2,400
Lamp repairmen	840 year	1,400
Oilers	840 year	1,400
Firemen	810 year	1,500
Elevator operators	60 month	100
Charwomen	30 month	75

LABOR NOTES

A joint wage scale committee announces an agreement effective Feb. 25 with the Franklin Division-Franklin Typothetae, calling for an increase of $2.50 per week to Bindery Women's union No. 30, $3 to junior members of Franklin union No. 4, $5 to senior members, and a $5 increase to Pressmen's union No. 3, Typographical union No. 16, and Bookbinders' and Paper Cutters' union No. 8.

Allen E. Barker, president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employés and Railway Shop Laborers, has issued a statement denying that carpenters and bridgemen who are members of the union will be transferred to the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

The twenty-fifth annual convention of the American Federation of Musicians will be held in the William Penn hotel, Pittsburgh, on May 10-15. Delegates from unions all over the country will attend.

The Laundry and Dye House Drivers' union, local No. 712, has appointed a committee to draw up a new wage scale.

SOVIET FORCES BEGIN ATTACK UPON FINLAND

LONDON, March 6.—[By the Associated Press.]—The bolsheviki have begun a new attack on Finland, Helsingfors reports.

Gen. Ludendorff, erstwhile head of the German military system, has passed through Finnish territory on his way to Russia, accompanied by a large staff.

Anti-bolshevik elements numbering more than 35,000 have reached trans-Baikalis, and the problem of feeding, clothing, and giving medical attention to the men after their terrible march exceeds the resources of that district, according to a dispatch from Chita, eastern Siberia, dated Feb. 22.

SAME PERSISTENCE MAY STAND HIM WELL IN GETTING NUMBER

LONDON, March 6.—One Englishman has solved the problem of telephone installation.

Exasperated that he was still without a telephone he had ordered and paid for a year before, the man telegraphed Premier Lloyd George a message of congratulations on the termination of peace negotiations and closed his message with:

"But I ordered and paid for the telephone twelve months ago and am still without it—R. I. P."

Later he wired to the postmaster general, ending his telegram thus:

"But I ordered and paid for the 'phone a year ago, and am still without it. God's will be done."

Next he sent the Prince of Wales a note after his Guildhall speech, finishing with:

"I am still without the telephone, although I paid for it a year ago. God save the king."

SUBURB FOOTPAD FELLS ANOTHER GIRL IN EVANSTON

The footpad who has been robbing women along the north shore from Rogers Park to Wilmette for two months appeared in Evanston again last night. Miss Sarah Aslev, 1715 Payne street, was passing along Noyes street under the viaduct when the man hurled her to the sidewalk.

"I haven't any money," Miss Aslev protested. "All I've got is 25 cents."

The man fled. He is supposed to be the one who stole a pair of opera glasses from Miss Elizabeth Thayer in Wilmette Monday night, held up a maid employed by Mrs. Jacob Frankel, 707 Linden avenue, Wilmette, and a trained nurse of the Grove House for Convalescents in Evanston on Thursday night and robbed Miss Mabel Thorsen of 11 cents in Evanston Friday night.

PLUMB LEAGUE CLENCHES FISTS FOR BALLOT FRAY

Denounces Congress for "Reactionary" Views.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—Now that the railroads have been turned back to private ownership in spite of the fight of organized labor and the Plumb Plan league to prevent it, organized labor and the leaguers who would nationalize the railroads are accepting defeat, but preparing every day for another battle.

The Plumb Plan league, silent since the roads were returned, announces today that it is girding for another fray, with the polls to be the battleground.

Pulls a Paul Jones.

"Undismayed by its temporary setback at the hands of congress," the statement says, "the league announces it has just started to fight and that it will continue its agitation for industrial democracy in the operation of the railroads until it becomes the settled policy of the American people in their treatment of the transportation problem."

The league leaders charge that congress is committed to privilege and reaction, predict that the railroad bill will impose crushing burdens upon the public, and point out that the problem must be solved by electing a congress that will not be pledged to the interests of the privileged.

Sane People Undeceived.

"No sane persons," the leaguers declare, "familiar with the personnel of congress, thought for a moment that it would be responsive to an appeal made by the great body of the public.

"Congress is wholly and definitely committed to the forces of privilege and reaction. The railroad legislation was vigorously opposed that the popular mind might be prepared for conditions that will eventuate rapidly now that Wall street is again in the saddle and to take advantage of the reaction that will come when the people realize they have been misled and betrayed."

Dr. W. J. Stewart Celebrates His Golden Wedding Day

Dr. William J. Stewart, 113 North Homan avenue, a resident of Chicago since 1892, celebrated his golden wedding at the Parkway hotel last night. WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Washington Bureau of The Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 6.

THE PLUMB PLAN LEAGUE is on the warpath again, announcing now that the railroads have been returned to "Wall street," that it has just begun to fight. It has allied itself with labor to elect a congress that will not be "committed to the forces of privilege and reaction" and predicts that when the railroad bill begins to "impose its crushing burdens" upon the people, the demand will be so insistent for a reversal of the railroad action that "no government will dare resist it."

WILLIAM G. MCADOO, after heading off California friends from entering him in the presidential primary contest, let it be known here today that he will not make a fight for delegates nor make any campaign for the nomination prior to the convention.

PRESIDENT WILSON thinks it is unnecessary for him to see Democratic senators further relating to his treaty attitude. It was disclosed that he had conferred two weeks ago with Senator Glass on the subject, and Senator Glass has told his colleagues that he believed the president would accept the bipartisan compromise revision on article 10 of the covenant, which retains the acceptance of a moral obligation to aid friendly nations. This gives little hope for ratification.

AMERICA'S aviation record was criticized and defended in the house during consideration of the report of the aircraft subcommittee of the house war investigating committee. Representative Frear of Wisconsin, chairman of the subcommittee, said the war department in this field had made "a ghastly record of inefficiency and waste that has no parallel in all the annals of war."

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY DANIELS told the house committee on naval affairs that the United States must be prepared to maintain the largest navy in the world if this country fails to enter the league of nations.

COURT MARTIAL SYSTEM FIGHT TO BE RENEWED

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—Renewal of agitation over the army court martial system is planned by Representative Johnson of South Dakota, a war veteran, in connection with the consideration of the army reorganization bill by the house next week.

Representative Johnson expects to offer his bill revising court martial laws as an amendment to the reorganization measure.

"Since December, 1918, many house members have tried to secure consideration of such a law from the military committee and have sought hearings on some proposed law, but have met with peremptory opposition from the war department and others," said Representative Johnson in the letter. "I personally appeared before that committee about ten months ago and was informed hearings would be held, but none ever was."

BUCKMINSTER'S BOND FADES AS INQUIRY OPENS

$170,800 "Value" Is Cut to $55,768.

Frederick K. Buckminster, confidence man de luxe, has been at liberty since Jan. 10, 1918, on a $100,000 bond, which the investigation of spurious sureties in the Criminal courts building yesterday revealed to be fraught with apparent irregularities.

F. K. BUCKMINSTER

Buckminster, a member of Joseph R. (Yellow Kid) Weil's "$1,000,000 confidence ring," is now a fugitive from justice, which is the status of "Slippery Sonny" Dunn and was for months the status of "Sonny's" fellow gunman, Walter Stevens, before the latter surrendered himself and gave bail that on Thursday was declared improper.

The Buckminster bond was forfeited on March 11, 1918, when he failed to appear in court with Weil, James W. Mead, and other of his confederates to answer the charges of two dupes who had lost $125,000.

Sentenced to Prison.

Since Oct. 16, 1915, Buckminster, who once was a police officer, had been under sentence to the penitentiary in connection with a wire tapping game; but on Aug. 4, 1917, the verdict had been affirmed by the Appellate court. But when the new indictments were returned, four months later, the former policeman still resided at the Midway hotel, 2100 West Park avenue.

Weil and Head were convicted and sent to Joliet on Nov. 30, 1918; no trace of Buckminster had meanwhile been found, notwithstanding his bondsmen were represented as posting rewards for him and State's Attorney Clyne was threatening forthwith to seize their property.

Delay More Than Year.

One such interview was published in THE TRIBUNE more than two years ago. Not, however, until Dec., 1919—a year after the conviction of Weil and Head—was the Buckminster forfeiture reduced to judgment, and no writ has ever been issued, according to admissions in the state's attorney's office, directing the sheriff to collect for the people's behalf.

Under the law, Buckminster's bondsmen should have been worth $200,000, for it is forbidden to schedule more than half the value of on'e property bail.

The inquiry yesterday revealed that the sureties, by their own accounts, are not worth more than $130,100 [when mortgages and other outstanding bonds had been deducted from the alleged values of their real estate] which was $69,900 less than enough to qualify them.

Fix Value at $55,768.

The records of the assessor's office, larger, list their property, which the bondsmen represented to be worth [as told] $170,800, at exactly $55,768.

To assume that the assessor's valuations are 25 per cent too low—as Paul Wadel, chief clerk of the board, said would prove the case—the value of the property appears still not more than $69,710, which is $30,290 less than the face of the bond itself, and $130,290 less than the amount the law required the bondsmen to hold before the bail could have been sanctioned.

Such was the situation when the bonds were approved in the office of State's Attorney Hoyne. But since then and subsequent to the $100,000 forfeiture in the Buckminster case, one of the confidence man's bondsmen, David Marer, has been permitted to open $65,000 worth of new sureties.

Thus when the Buckminster bonds are included the total mortgages and bonds (forfeited and unforfeited) standing against all the property scheduled in his behalf becomes $205,700, or $35,599 more than the property's value on a basis of the assessor's figures, plus 25 per cent.

Original Bonds Lost.

The original Buckminster bond has been lost; the clerk of the Criminal court claims to have surrendered them to the state's attorney at the time of the forfeiture. Neither could the record of the judgment obtained against the bondsmen be located in the prosecutor's suite yesterday, though it was said to be in the custody of Assistant State's Attorney Arvey, who was absent on account of illness. Neither of these factors is fatal, however, to the state's case, since a copy of the bonds is kept in the clerk's office and is part of the court record.

Status of Bond.

The present status of the Buckminster sureties, as revealed by that file, the records of the assessor, and the bondsmen's blacklist," recently created by Chief Justice Robert E. Crowe, is as follows:

Bondsmen and Surety.	Owner's Valuation.	County's Valuation.	Mtges. and oth. bds.

†This amount is the assessor's certification of the full cash value of the property, upon which the assessed valuation [which is 25 per cent] is arrived at.

NEED OF ITALY RATTLES LABOR CHAINS FOR IDLE

Bill Would Compel All to Produce.

ROME, March 5.—[Delayed.]—A bill making work compulsory and heavily taxing idlers and social parasites has been introduced in the chamber of deputies.

The first provision of the bill is said to be the most drastic ever introduced into European legislation. Every man, under the clause, who is not engaged in agricultural, industrial, professional, or intellectual work useful to the community, but lives on fixed income, will have to pay over and above any other taxes a yearly tribute to the exchequer equal to one-half his income.

Work or Be Deported.

Idlers and those without definite trade or profession are warned to get some sort of useful work and those who refuse to work will be deported to an agricultural colony which will be established by the bill.

Hundreds of thousands of acres of fertile land in Benadir and Cyrenaica, the report accompanying the bill says, await only the plow and the work of intelligent farmers to emancipate Italy from her dependence for foods and cereals upon other countries.

Council to Weed Populace.

A council of ten will elect a committee of ten for every 100,000 inhabitants or fraction thereof, with the power to tax idlers or order the deportation of loafers. The latter have the right of appeal to the municipal court, which will pass final judgment in a final hearing.

Those temporarily idle for lack of work will be subsidized by the state. The bill, which has the approval of Premier Nitti, is now before the chamber committees and will probably be reported back before the chamber takes its summer vacation.

"Dry" and Suffrage Bills Both Fail in Philippines

MANILA, P. I., March 6.—Prohibition and woman's suffrage bills failed of passage in both houses of the Philippine Island territorial assembly today.

"A Light, Please"

O, see the ladies smoking. Where are they? In a café?

No, they are in a smoking room, Rollo, a smoking room in a theater. In short, these are the Babes in the Woods.

Are they actresses, papa?

No, my child, they are not actresses, although they like a puff now and then.

Do they like to smoke, papa?

Perhaps, my boy, some of them do. Others smoke these cigarets because they are bargains—the management provides them. Mr. Rosenthal says the women smoke more coffin nails than the men.

Why don't they smoke cigars or pipes, papa?

OFFERS FAMOUS RAPHAEL FOR SALE BY CABLE

THE TRIBUNE has received from its Paris bureau and prints today an advertisement of unusual character. C. P. Shea, care Farmers' Loan and Trust company, Paris, offers for sale what he declares is the original Madonna and Child by Raphael.

THE TRIBUNE knows nothing about the authenticity of this painting, but Mr. Shea says he has documentary proofs. He has an option for its sale at approximately $150,000 and he declares he wants only an American to have it—to enrich America's list of art treasures.

It is said this is the last Raphael in any private collection in Europe.

WILSON AVERSE TO WITHDRAWING FROM EUROPE

PARIS, March 6.—[By the Associated Press.]—President Wilson's reply to the note sent him by the allied premiers relative to the Adriatic was not discussed by members of the supreme allied council at London yesterday because of obscurities in the text, the cable company being asked for a repetition, says "Pertinax" in the Echo de Paris.

As far as can be ascertained, however, he says, Mr. Wilson does not show any desire to withdraw from European concerns and accepts the French and British suggestions that efforts be made to reach a direct understanding between Italy and Jugo-Slavia relative to the Adriatic problem.

It is said that should this step fail Mr. Wilson would be ready to sanction any agreement satisfactory to the Italians and Jugo-Slavs, but that he lets it be understood he regards the tentative agreement of Dec. 9 the most equitable solution of the problem and most consistent with the previous allied policy.

The American president is understood to reject the treaty of London as a means of settling the controversy while carefully refraining from offering any other method for consideration.

As matters stand, Pertinax adds, the Italian cabinet has transmitted to the Belgrade government its latest concessions, the most important of which is the abandonment of continuity of territory between Fiume and Italy. The Jugo-Slav answer has not as yet been received in Rome.

PARIS—President Wilson's note, while not made public, is understood to express his approval of the effort to harmonize the Jugo-Slav-Italian claims in the Adriatic littoral, and disclaims any desire to withdraw from participation in the reconstruction of Europe.

Vienna Reports Yanks Buy Control of Big Iron Works

VIENNA, March 6.—The Neus Journal of Vienna reports the acquisition of a controlling interest in Schoeller's Iron works at Ternitz and Bleckmann's Steel works at Nuerszuichlag by an American syndicate. Another American group is said to be negotiating for the acquisition of the important Breviller and Urban works.

KING WANTS NEW WAR TO MAKE ARMENIA NATION

Washington, D. C., March 6.—Restoration of Armenia's political independence by the allied nations is urged in a resolution introduced today by Senator King, Democrat, Utah, and referred to the foreign relations committee. The resolution suggests that "military measures be taken" to expel armed Turks and Kurds from Armenia and to protect the natives from recurrence of the long continued massacres.

The senate renewed its request to President Wilson that it be furnished a copy of the report of the commission under Maj. Gen. Harbord which investigated the situation in Armenia and nearby countries.

The state department was advised from Turkey that the bodies of James Perry and Frank S. Johnson, American Y. M. C. A. workers, killed by bandits, had been identified and were buried yesterday in the American cemetery in the Aintab college yard. Full military honors were accorded by the French authorities at Aintab.

PEACE PILL FOR EUROPE'S 'SICK MAN' IS BITTER

Allies to Force It Down if Sultan Hesitates.

LONDON, March 6.—[By the Associated Press.]—The allies dispatched a note to the Turkish government today. It is understood the terms are drastic and will be followed by drastic action, should the necessity arise.

There is likelihood that the Cilician massacre will cost Turkey much of what the treaty of peace would otherwise have left her according to expressions heard in inner circles at Whitehall, where allied foreign ministers continue framing the Turkish settlement.

Moslem Europe Narrowed.

The proposed western boundary from Enos, on the Ægean sea, to Vidia, on the Black sea, may be abandoned and the line may be drawn much farther east. This would limit Turkish possessions in Europe to the narrow peninsula north of the Sea of Marmora.

Another effect of the Cilician outrage is said to be unanimous assent among members of the foreign ministers' council toward totally depriving Turkey of an army and permitting her to maintain only a force of gendarmes.

MUST REVOKE DECISION

[Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.] [Copyright 1920.]

LONDON, March 7.—The Observer, discussing the Turkish question, says: "The supreme council can plead ample cause for revoking their decision regarding Constantinople, and it must be revoked. Turkish rule in Constantinople cannot be maintained. The city is the key to the life of half of Europe. The freedom of the straits means life to the Danubian states and a vast area of southern Russia. Together with the straits, the city must be placed under international control and administered by the league of nations.

"On the west the Greek frontier should be advanced from the Enos-Micia line up to Tchataija. This is not an ideal solution, and we should prefer to see this territory part of the league of nations enclave, but the Turk canot be left."

Allies to Command Turks.

PARIS, March 6.—Dealing with Turkey, "Pertinax" says the allied supreme council is about to take up the establishment of a judicial commission and definitely settle zones to be accorded Greece, Italy, France, and Great Britain in Asia Minor.

Plans contemplated would forbid the maintenance of allied garrisons, but allied officers would command forces of Turkish gendarmes.

British Troops Attacked.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 1.—[Delayed.]—British forces in the Mesopotamian oil regions, particularly near Kerkuk and Mosul, have been engaged in constant skirmishes with tribesmen and Turkish irregulars, the opposition of these forces being similar to that encountered by the French at Aintab, Marash and other points in Cilicia.

Recognition of the Armenian republic without defining its boundaries is said undoubtedly to have embittered the Turks in Cilicia.

The horrors of Armenian massacres and deportations during the great struggle are blandly met by the Turks with the statement that the Turkish army suffered at the hands of Armenians and that the deportations were necessary. It is also contended that the recent massacre at Marash does not approach Greek atrocities against the Turks when the former landed at Smyrna last year.

WILSON TO LET TREATY FIGHT GO ON TO A FINISH

Article X. Will Come Up for Vote Tomorrow.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—President Wilson regards as unnecessary any further discussion of the treaty reservations with Democratic senators, inasmuch as he made his position clear to Senator Glass at the White House two weeks ago.

This was disclosed at the White House today and was the only response to Senator Hitchcock's letter suggesting that the president receive Senator Simmons and discuss with him the whole treaty situation as the rank and file of senate Democrats saw it.

Democratic senators said that the president clearly intends to stand to the finish upon the position he has assumed, but they disclosed the fact that, Senator Glass reported to them on his return from his recent conference with the president that he believed Mr. Wilson would accept the reservation on article X which was considered in the bipartisan conferences, and would deposit ratification containing that reservation.

Shift Onus to Lodge.

This was new light on the president's attitude, but in the opinion of senators it did not make the situation as to ratification any more hopeful. It did open a way, they thought, to putting all the responsibility for defeat of the treaty upon Senator Lodge, his supporters, and the Borah irreconcilables.

When it became known in the senate that word had gone out from the White House that the president considered a further conference with his party unnecessary, Senator Borah said:

"It is now time that we come to close grips upon the question of what we are going to do. Why not get rid of these reservations upon which there is controversy merely for the sake of delay?

"On Monday I shall move to proceed at once with consideration of the reservation on article X."

The President's Views.

Senator Borah then read what he said was a "reliable account of the president's view." It quoted "an official close to the president" as saying that the president regarded further discussion of reservations with Democratic senators as needless; that he had made his views known to Senator Glass two weeks ago, and saw no need to reiterate those views daily; that he was adamant against nullifying reservations, and that it should be remembered that the president had submitted the treaty and therefore was in no position to discuss proposals for changing it and that he would prefer having Democrats try to persuade Senator Lodge to accept the Wilson view, rather than to try to convert the president to Mr. Lodge's program.

One reservation was adopted today. It covered the payment of the United States' share of the league's expenses. Senator Hitchcock and other Democrats urged rejection of the reservation, saying that congress must appropriate before the American share could be paid.

The reservation was finally amended so that the United States assumes no obligation to pay any portion of the league expenses except the office expenses and salaries of the employés of the secretary general, and was adopted, 44 to 25.

FREAR BRANDS U. S. AIR SERVICE GHASTLY RECORD

Without Parallel in War History, House Told.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—"A ghastly record of inefficiency and waste that has no parallel in all the annals of the war" was the description applied to the war department's aviation activities by Representative Frear of Wisconsin, chairman of the aircraft investigating subcommittee in the house today.

The report of the subcommittee, recently made, criticising the war department, was under discussion throughout the afternoon, but no decision was reached. Representative Lea of California, minority member of the subcommittee, and other Democrats defended the department.

Nearly a Fist Fight.

Representative Frear and Representative Garrett of Tennessee, Democrat, became involved in a controversy when the former declared that statements by the latter were untrue. Mr. Garrett sprang from his seat, but was intercepted by members standing near by.

Mr. Garrett then moved that Mr. Frear's remarks be stricken from the record, but withdrew the motion when the latter made an explanation.

The exchange of personalities involved a statement by Mr. Garrett that Mr. Frear had threatened to resign from the committee unless given authority to employ an attorney.

"When the war closed the only aircraft of American manufacture on the battle line were 213 dangerous and defective DH-4 observation machines," said Representative Frear. "Not one fighting or bombing machine of American manufacture reached the fighting front or was ever put in production during the nineteen months of war.

Call Appointees Incompetent.

"Secretary Baker appointed Deeds, Potter, and Ryan, in that order, in charge of aircraft production. Not one of these men had any prior experience in aircraft. Deeds gave $30,000,000 in contracts to his business associates in Dayton, O., before he was let out the last of 1917. W. C. Potter followed for nearly four months, and John D. Ryan continued until the end of the war. Both Mr. Potter and Mr. Ryan were copper magnates with many large private business interests.

"In spruce production Secretary Baker ignored all the loggers and lumbermen on the coast and selected Col. Disque, a warden of the Michigan penitentiary and former captain in the army, who knew nothing about lumbering.

Riot of Waste—No Results.

"Nothing but failure could have resulted under such conditions, and the riot of waste during the expenditure of over a thousand million dollars in 700 contracts, ranging from $100,000 to millions of dollars in different contracts, was certain. All the waste could be forgotten, but the American people will never forget nor forgive responsible officials who spent a billion dollars and yet failed to supply any American built fighting planes in which to protect American flyers and American troops in battle.

"Those in charge of airplane production," Mr. Frear declared, "say they bought 5,000 planes from France and other countries, but 2,000 of these were obsolete. Gen. Pershing testified he could not get enough training planes in France, so the explanation that we relied upon foreign governments shows we leaned on a broken reed.

Defended by Lea.

"The only American built machines to reach the front," he added, "were notorious death traps."

Representative Lea denied that America's aircraft effort was a failure. "Mistakes were made, disappointments were frequent, but too much was accomplished for any intelligent, fair judgment to call it a failure," said Representative Lea.

"The attempt of the majority to pick out a few heads of aircraft responsibilities and hold them responsible for disappointments in the American program is unwarranted by facts and an absurd injustice. In so far as we failed to accomplish in military aviation all that we could intelligenity expect, the reason is as plain as the sun in the sky. It was inexperience and lack of preparation."

Little South Chicago Boys Solve the Birds' Housing Problem as Part of Americanization Work.

Placing a bungalow and "sun parlor" where some feathered family will see it.

While Chicago folk are scurrying madly about hunting for apartments a group of little boys of South Chicago is busy solving the home shortage for the birds.

Under the guidance of Miss Alice Brimson, executive secretary of the Christian Americanization committee of the Woman's American Baptist Home Mission society, Zygi Bednarski, William and John Nemeck, and other boys have made raffia bird nests and tiny bird houses and hung them in trees and under the eaves of the mill city's houses.

"This is a part of our Americanization program, for which the northern Baptist convention is raising $100,000,000," said Miss Brimson. "We believe we will make better Americans of the boys if we instill a love for birds in their hearts.

"Heretofore some of them spent their time stealing coal, but we have a program to get them out of that 'gun man' atmosphere."

Miss Brimson's class of boys meets every Saturday morning in the little Baptist mission at 8504 Buffalo street. In the afternoon a class of girls meets there to learn sewing and other household arts.

CLYNE UPSETS CASES PREPARED BY DALRYMPLE

Frees Four Arrested Without Warrant.

Prohibition enforcement methods in Chicago received another official rebuke yesterday when District Attorney Charles F. Clyne ordered four liquor prosecutions dismissed because Maj. A. V. Dalrymple's agents had gathered evidence without federal warrants.

The inter-official tilt, which promises to develop a direct court issue for dry agents, appeared when Patrick J. Payton, 2001 West Grand avenue; Joseph A. Curry, 1758 West Ohio street, and Phillip Shannon, 2979 South State street, saloonkeepers, and the latter's bartender, Michael Conway, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Mark A. Foote, charged with lid tilting.

Charge Gun Play.

They protested violently against their arrest, declaring that Agents Goss, Holmes, and Heffernan of Maj. Dalrymple's forces had entered their places with drawn guns on Feb. 23 and taken private whisky stocks.

District Attorney Clyne recommended the immediate dismissal of the cases and Commissioner Foote struck them from the records.

"Since the opening of the dry campaign," said Mr. Clyne, "the law has been clear. Officers cannot seize liquor promiscuously. Even in investigating saloons the belief that liquor is concealed in the place is not sufficient reason for making a search without first taking out a warrant.

"Every case of this kind where evidence has been improperly collected by dry agents will be dismissed. Only in cases where the violation of the prohibition law is actually seen can officers make arrests and searches without warrants."

Affidavits Back Testimony.

Following the commissioner's action, Judge George A. Carpenter revealed two affidavits sent to him by the saloonkeepers arrested which compared exactly with their protests before Commissioner Foote. It is understood that he backed the district attorney's office in its action.

Maj. Dalrymple refused to comment at length on the situation, but declared that he had received no orders from Washington concerning his raiding methods. He is still awaiting the decision from Washington on his recent invasion of Iron River, Mich.

The dry agents are to be given an opportunity to turn their talents into new channels in a nation-wide anti-drug campaign, according to announcement made yesterday by Charles Rogers, assistant supervisor of internal revenue collectors.

a single organization is always unfortunate."

Dr. Merrill said he received a copy of Mr. Anderson's letter, but that he would not read it to his congregation today, as Anderson had asked.

Views of Another Pastor.

"I think that William H. Anderson, like all good, vigorous defenders of any good cause, has possibly made some mistakes," said the Rev. Dr. David James Burrell, pastor of the Marble Collegiate Reformed church, Fifth avenue and Twenty-ninth street. Dr. Burrell is president of the New York State Anti-Saloon league. "I think the papers are hardly fair to Mr. Anderson," he continued. "I guess everybody will agree that the Catholic church in this country, under the lead of Cardinal Gibbons, is not quite so fanatically devoted to the temperance cause as it might be.

"At the same time there are multitudes of strong prohibitionists in the Catholic church, and they are very helpful supporters of the cause. My own conviction is that this is about what Mr. Anderson tried to say. I know from my personal relations with Mr. Anderson that he counts many members of the Roman Catholic church as faithful adherents of temperance. It is not to be expected, however, under present conditions, that this letter or any other letter of Mr. Anderson's will receive fair treatment at the hands of those who want 2.75 beer."

Resolutions Denounce Edwards.

The New Jersey Methodist Episcopal conference, which is meeting at Atlantic City, and the Laymen's association adopted resolutions today condemning the action of Gov. Edwards and the New Jersey legislature in passing the law permitting the manufacture of 3½ per cent beer. Their action was condemned as "being an encouragement to the lawless and bringing humiliation and shame upon the state of New Jersey."

Edwards Assails Anderson.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 6.—[Special.]—Speaking before members of New Jersey legislature at a dinner at the Hotel Breakers tonight, Gov. Edward L. Edwards denounced W. H. Anderson, superintendent of the New York Anti-Saloon league, and said the conscience of America was being awakened against reactionary bigotry.

"I am a Protestant and I expect to continue to be a Protestant," he declared, "but my blood boiled when I read that the spokesman of the Anti-Saloon league had attacked the august Roman Catholic church. He has not hesitated to attempt to array the Protestant body of the country against their fellow Americans. He has resurrected from the tomb the specter of religious persecution. He has brought for that horrible spirit of intolerance which I thought was laid to rest—all for the diabolic purpose of realizing the succes sof his own narrow-minded, selfish, money making fanaticism."

Feared "Jobs" Would Be Lost.

Albany, N. Y., March 6.—[Special.]—The Rev. Dr. William H. Freeman, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Carlisle, N. Y., who is to be the first witness at the approaching inquiry into the Anti-Saloon league, today declared that at a conference of the league workers last December there were loud lamentations over the ratification of prohibition because officials of the league feared that their work was ended and they were to lose their jobs.

He also said that State Superintendent Anderson, referred to as "the Czar of Prohibition," assured his assistants that there was no ground for apprehension "with respect to funds," and promised that many of them would receive increases in salary.

Dr. Freeman in a talk with Assemblyman Louis Cuvillier, sponsor for the resolution to investigate the Anti-Saloon league, expressed the opinion that the league has an "enormous income."

Republican national leaders—men who will be or will have delegates sitting in the front sections at the Coliseum next June—may give the first faint indications of the identity of the presidential nominee as they foregather in Chicago today and tomorrow.

The session of the committee on arrangements for the national convention—the only meeting of the full committee to be held prior to the big doings—furnishes whatever alibi is necessary for the roundup of the party managers. They will be surrounded by a full force of individual managers and delegate getters for all of the active candidates for the presidency. That there will be something started in a highly definite manner, tending toward crystallization of the uninstructed delegates that will form the great majority of the national convention, is conceded.

Hays Will Preside.

National Chairman Hays will preside over a conference of the western national committeemen. Chairman A. T. Hert will hold the gavel over the arrangements committee, consisting of twenty members from all sections of the country.

Forty Republican delegates were elected during the week, every one of them without instructions except the twenty-two from North Carolina. The old "North state," in state convention at Greensboro, adopted resolutions offering a new presidential candidate in the person of Judge Peter Conelly Pritchard, and instructing the delegation for him. Judge Pritchard was associate justice of the Supreme court of the District of Columbia in 1903 and was appointed United States Circuit judge of the Fourth circuit in 1904 and judge of the United States Court of Appeals in 1912. From 1894 to 1903 he was United States senator from North Carolina.

Primary on Tuesday.

The first delegates to be elected from the northern states will be those of New Hampshire, to be chosen at a direct primary Tuesday. The issue will be between a set of delegates instructed for Gen. Wood and a set uninstructed. The indications are that Gen. Wood's delegates will be elected.

The South Dakota primary fight, to be settled March 23, comes down to its final stages this week. Gov. Lowden finished his campaign tour there last week. Gen. Wood will go into the state again next week. Senator Johnson has ended his speeches there. Gov. Lowden campaigned Minnesota last week, and Gen. Wood spoke all through Michigan. Senator Harding opened his campaign with speeches in Texas. Gov. Lowden goes to New York this week, speaking at Brooklyn Tuesday night.

Illinois Filings Closed.

The Illinois primary filings were closed during the week. Gov. Lowden and Gen. Wood will be the sole candidates in the preferential primaries of April 13. Lowden has a complete set of delegates running and Gen. Wood has none. In Michigan the Republican starters for the direct primaries consist of Lowden, Wood, Harding, Johnson and Hoover. The same four are entered in Indiana. The Wisconsin filings ended with two complete sets of delegates in nomination, one representing a harmony organization agreement, the other backed by Senator La Follette, and both uninstructed.

Palmer Enters Race.

The big Democratic development was the formal entrance of Attorney General Palmer as a candidate in Georgia. In Illinois a splurge was caused by the filing by the wets of Gov. Edwards of New Jersey as a Democratic candidate. The Roger C. Sullivan organization filed no candidate, but put in a complete set of uninstructed delegates. Petitions for Gov. Edwards and Vice President Marshall were filed at the last minute in Indiana.

WOOD'S PILOT IS SURE HE WILL WIN THE NOMINATION

Cincinnati, O., March 6.—[Special.]—Col. William Cooper Procter, chairman of the Wood national campaign committee, arrived home today after a tour of the various states east and west. There is no doubt in his mind that Wood will be the nominee at the Republican national convention at Chicago in June.

Maine Solid for Wood.

Boston, Mass., March 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Carl E. Milliken of Maine, who came to Boston to meet Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, informed Gen. Wood tonight that Maine will send a solid Wood delegation to the Chicago convention next June.

ILLINOIS UNIT BEHIND LOWDEN; MAYOR IN LINE

State Committee Acts to Aid Governor.

Full strength of the Republicans of Illinois—factionally organized or otherwise—in Chicago and the downstate, will be put behind the candidacy of Gov. Lowden for the Republican nomination for president.

The city hall in Chicago, concerning which there has been much speculation, takes this position: Its candidates for delegates, filed as having "no preference" under the Illinois law, will abide by the vote cast in the respective congressional districts in Chicago at the preferential primary on April 13.

But—at the same primary election—the full force of the city hall organization will be placed behind the expression of the preferential vote for Gov. Lowden, rather than for Maj. Gen. Wood, Gov. Lowden's only direct contender in Illinois. In this the city hall joins with the Deneen and Brundage factions in Cook county in lining up behind the Lowden candidacy. There is no anti-Lowden fight in the fifteen districts outside of Chicago.

Moreover, the eight delegates at large, under the call issued yesterday by the state committee, unquestionably will be those who favor, most strongly, the nomination of Gov. Lowden.

Sure for Lowden.

Under the peace pact that was established yesterday at the state committee session, it is difficult to figure how anything can happen except that the fifty-eight delegates from Illinois will be for Lowden to the finish next June at the Coliseum.

The state committee, without friction and in complete harmony, indorsed Gov. Lowden's candidacy for the presidency, the city hall members voting for the resolution, offered by Judge Cliffe from the Twelfth district. The call for the state convention, on the motion of Garrett Kinn[illegible] of Peoria, was adopted, providing th[illegible]ach ward in Chicago shall elect its own delegates to the state convention.

Mayor Thompson, as Republican national committeeman from Illinois, sent to Chairman Frank L. Smith, a communication, in which he said that he opposed the selection of the Cook county delegates in a block.

Indorsement of Lowden.

The resolutions that were adopted, strongly indorsing the candidacy of Gov. Lowden, were passed by unanimous vote. The resolutions follow:

"Whereas, the life and achievements of Gov. Frank O. Lowden, culminating in his great work as governor of Illinois, have made him an outstanding candidate for the nomination by the Republican party as president of the United States;

"And believing that present pressing and critical conditions in our nation's affairs demand a man of sound business judgment and of strong character;

"And believing that the remarkable, ever increasing approval given his candidacy forecasts the great strength he would have as the candidate of the Republican party;

"We, therefore, the Republican state central committee of Illinois, in session this 6th day of March, 1920, give our enthusiastic approval and indorsement to his candidacy not only with the justifiable pride as citizens of Illinois but in the larger sense of our enlarged interest and devotion to our party and nation. We urge Republicans of every state to join with us in giving to the nation this sterling American who has firmly and consistently stood with the forces that make for good citizenship, for good government, and for undying loyalty to the country."

Letter from Mayor.

Mayor Thompson's letter to Chairman Smith follows:

"I want you to know, and ask you to so inform the members of your committee, that it is my hope that nothing will be done that will in any way interfere with or operate against a free exercise by the rank and file of our party of their rights and unhampered expression of their desires in the coming primary and in the county, state, and national conventions.

"I am glad to offer my hearty cooperation to your committee in making the selection of delegates to the county, state, and national conventions as completely representative of the rank and file of the party as we can conceive and execute."

KENT COLLEGE HOLDS PROM.

The annual senior promenade of Chicago Kent College of Law was held in the Hotel La Salle last night with members of the faculty and of the junior classes of the school as guests.

Get First Lesson

A group of G. O. P. women took their first lesson in political argument yesterday at the Hamilton club.

Coached by Mrs. George W. Plummer and Miss Lillian Fitch, the speakers will be ready to take an active part in the campaign at the conclusion of the five weeks' course. Enrollments for the second class are now being received by Mrs. Martin Kent Northam, chairman of the speakers' bureau. By May 1 women will have graduated from similar schools held in each congressional district in the state, in connection with the Illinois Republican women's executive committee, of which Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns is chairman.

Pupils at the first lesson included Mrs. William Hubbard, Mrs. E. V. Morrison, Mrs. Harvey A. Tyler, Mrs. Clara S. Tyler, Mrs. Ellwood Stewart, Mrs. Marion Huff, and the Misses Agnes Foreman, Alice Thompson, Marguerite Porter, and Helen Bagg. Classes addressed by prominent politicians will be conducted on Wednesdays and Saturdays at the Hamilton club.

HOOVER FORBIDS NAME ON BALLOT IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, Cal., March 6.—Herbert Hoover will not permit his name to be used in the California presidential primary, as he is not a candidate for the office, according to a telegram from him read here today by Gavin McNabb at the Democratic state committee meeting.

"While highly sensible to the great honor implied in the desire of my friends to place my name in nomination as a candidate in Democratic primaries," the telegram read, "I deem it due to them to advice them that I am not a candidate. I therefore cannot approve of the use of my name for that purpose."

Deneen Man Sees City Hall Scheme.

Charging that the city hall Republican faction is attempting to secure control of the county committee on April 13 for the purpose of controlling the nomination of the twenty Circuit and one Superior court judges to be elected in 1921, C. Arch Williams, Deneen candidate for committeeman in the Third ward, broke open the furious campaign that will be made by the three fighting factions all over town.

Mr. Williams, in a speech at a ward meeting last night, asserted that the $20,000,000 lake front improvement, just authorized by the South Park district voters, is at the bottom of the scrap inasmuch as the South park board that will direct the expenditure of the $20,000,000 is named by the Circuit court judges.

Brands Levy Deserter.

Mr. Williams, according to a synopsis of his speech furnished to the press, said:

"The actual contest in this campaign is between Mr. Bither and myself. Four years ago Mr. Levy, backed by the organization which is supporting me now, defeated Mr. Bither. The organization which then elected Mr. Levy is much larger and stronger today than it was then.

"A few months after he was elected, Mr. Levy deserted the organization and joined with the Thompson forces which in 1916 placed Mr. Levy on their primary ticket, and he was defeated at the primary election and he then left that organization. Since then he has endeavored to form an organization of his own. This is held together chiefly through the patronage which Mr. Levy as chief deputy clerk of the Criminal court is able to dole out in the ward.

"The two organizations which are of long standing have been and are headed by Mr. Bither and myself and what our organiaztion did in a straight out contest in 1916 it can repeat now in a three cornered fight.

Interest on Bond Issues.

"The people in the Third and other Hyde Park wards are intensely interested in the long looked for and much talked of lake front improvement. That interest was manifested in the recent election when they voted for South Park bonds to the amount of $20,000,000.

"They should awaken to the fact that if the Thompson city hall organization can elect twenty-one or more of the forty-one members of the Republican county central committee, that organization will be able in May, 1921, to nominate twenty Republican candidates for the Circuit court of Cook county, and if in June, 1921, a majority of those candidates are elected to the bench that organization can, through those judges, name the members of the South Park board, which will have charge of the lake front improvement and distributing the proceeds of these bonds you have authorized."

'GOLDEN RULE' IS LABOR MEASURE, WOOD DECLARES

Manchester, N. H., March 6.—[By United Press.]—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood declared here tonight "the golden rule of honesty and fair play is the basis on which peace between those who labor and those who direct labor always will be made."

"Labor is not a chattel or a commodity," he said. "It has no special rights or privileges. Likewise, we have got to stand for the rights of property, the rights of the individual, and we have got to impress upon all people that the only way to succeed is to work, and for labor to work contentedly you have got to give a reasonable and decent wage.

"We want a strong and courteous foreign policy, a policy of protecting Americans wherever they may be, as long as they are living within the laws of the land.

"I think the general sentiment of the people is for the adoption of the league of nations with reservations which absolutely Americanize it."

ASKS G. O. P. FIGHT ALBANY OUSTER OF 5 SOCIALISTS

Albany, N. Y., March 6.—Assemblyman William C. Amos, Republican, of New York, announced tonight that he had written a letter to Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, urging him to make public a declaration that the Republican party does not approve the proceedings of the state assembly to unseat the five Socialist members of that body.

Assemblyman Amos called the action of the assembly "high handed" and declared the Republican party "has always maintained that the ballot box is the concrete typification of the ideals of our government."

Democratic State Leaders Will Gather Tomorrow

The Illinois Democratic state committee will meet tomorrow at the Hotel Sherman to issue the call for the Democratic state convention that will select the eight delegates and alternates at large to the San Francisco convention. Notice of the session was given yesterday by Charles Boeschenstein, the Democratic national committeeman from Illinois.

M'ADOO ORDERS NAME KEPT OFF PRIMARY TICKET

Wants All Delegates to Go Uninstructed.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—William G. McAdoo is unalterable in his decision to keep out of the Democratic scramble for the presidential nomination prior to the convention at San Francisco in June.

Following dispatch of a telegram to the chairman of the California state committee to keep his name off the primary ballot in that state, Mr. McAdoo made it known through friends here today that Attorney General Palmer's open candidacy for the Democratic nomination would not force him into the pre-convention contest.

Will Await the Right Moment.

"Nothing will change Mr. McAdoo's purposes in this matter," said one of his advisers here today, "nor alter his advice to his political friends that delegates to San Francisco should go uninstructed. He will not make any bid for instructed delegates. The president's attitude has nothing to do with it. Of course, if the convention should call upon Mr. McAdoo to take up the party standard he would accept it. But the convention will have to make the decision without any urging from him."

McAdoo's Telegram.

To head off friends in California as he did in Georgia, Mr. McAdoo wired from New York today to D. S. Ewing, chairman of the Democratic state committee:

"Thank you warmly for your telegram offering the services of the Democratic organization of California in circulating petitions to enter me in the primary of that state. Recently I stated to friends who wished to enter me in the Georgia primaries that I was strongly convinced that all delegates should, as far as practicable, go to the next national convention uninstructed, so that it might have a free conference of unbound delegates who would strive to do the best thing for the country regardless of individual claims or ambitions. If we are to win in the next election, principles and service, not personalities or expediencies, must control actions of the convention.

"I cannot, therefore, enter any primary or seek to have any delegates or delegations instructed for me. I am not interested in the fortunes of any individual, but I am eager to join my party associates in every form of patriotic effort to serve the interests of our country, which in the hearts of every virile American must always transcend every other consideration. Please, therefore, keep me out of the California primaries, and convey to the members of the committee my best wishes and sincere appreciation."

SOVIET RUSSIA WINS PLACE IN WORLD AFFAIRS

Just a Question of Form of Recognition.

BY COL. HENRY J REILLY.
ARTICLE IX.

[Copyright: 1920: By the Tribune Company.]

Examination of the situation as it exists today shows:

1. That the bolsheviki have complete military control of all of old Russia with the exception of the new states created along its western border.

2. That the bolsheviki possesses a fairly large, constantly growing, fairly well equipped, well trained, and well led army which is now available for use either in the west against Europe or in central Asia against Great Britain's dependencies.

3. That the belt of small states between the Baltic and the Black sea have not sufficient strength individually or collectively to resist the threatened blow.

4. Great Britain, in spite of tremendously increased military responsibilities on land and in spite of a rapidly diminishing army, proposes to rely upon voluntary enlistment to raise a new army and that she therefore is not and will not be in condition to face an immediate military crisis.

5. That France is well prepared and proposes to continue to be well prepared.

No Stopping the Bolshevik.

It is therefore doubtful if the armed force necessary to defeat the bolsheviki army, should it attack, is in existence.

If it is not in existence, can it be produced in the present state of public opinion in the different countries?

Each of the small states stretching from the Baltic to the Black sea has a Socialist party more or less strong and opposed to fighting the bolsheviki. In addition, some of them have watched with alarm the success of the monarchist party in the recent Hungarian elections, as they fear that a crowned head in Hungary will only be the first step to one in Austria and then one in Berlin. Some of these states have already started making a peace with the bolsheviki.

Policy of French Republic.

The French policy is directed against the bolsheviki because they do not desire the spread of their doctrine.

They also fear ultimate German commercial, financial, and political control of Russia, resulting in an enlarged and strengthened Germany whom they could not resist.

For these reasons they are opposed to treating with the bolsheviki and equally opposed to any policy which would purchase German help against the bolsheviki menace by the revision of the terms of the treaty of Versailles. These terms are designed to so weaken Germany and to keep her so weakened that she never can again be a menace to France.

In Great Britain at the present time there are apparently three schools of thought. The first of these agrees with the French point of view. It advocates facing the problem squarely and fairly by making sufficient military preparations to meet any attempt at invasion by the bolsheviki with sufficient force to defeat them.

Must Fight for Empire.

Today the Labor party by its bitter opposition to a military policy based on facts prevents the steps being taken which the defense of the existing empire demands.

It is pointed out that if the British overseas empire is to be maintained it will have to be fought for in the future and probably in the near future, as in the past.

There is one essential difference, however; the days of small armies and small expeditionary forces are past. War today between nations of any consequence inevitably means whole peoples in arms.

There is a second school which, like the first, regards bolshevism as a dangerous enemy, but which, unwilling to make the military preparations necessary to meet squarely the issue, proposes to get the needed additional strength by a policy of close cooperation with Germany. Mr. Churchill is commonly accepted as one of the leaders of this school.

Would Make Peace with Reds.

There is a third school which advocates making peace with the bolsheviki, thinking thereby to remove that danger. By building up trade relations they hope to profit by buying raw material cheaply instead of at high prices in America, to sell their own goods, and also to prevent German exploitation of Russia.

Mr. Lloyd George is commonly considered to be the leader of this school. He also is reported to have encouraged, and still to be encouraging, the making of peace with the bolsheviki by the small states along the Russian border from the Baltic to the Black sea.

SOVIET ARMY ATTACKS FINNS

Helsingfors reports bolsheviki have begun a new offensive on the north Russian front, attacking the Finnish lines northwest of Petrograd. The dispatch states the Red army struck at Gutjervil [Suojarvi] on the Finn-Russ frontier. It is reported also that Gen. Ludendorf and a large staff have gone to the front.

PORTUGAL SHUTS GAMING HOUSES AS PUBLIC PERIL

Lure Set for Foreigners Scares Nation.

BY WILLIAM A. BENTLEY.
[By Special Cable.]

[Copyright: 1920: By the Tribune Company.]

LISBON, March 6.—Portugal has closed the gambling houses throughout the country, a measure long overdue.

During the war traders, industrialists, and great land owners made money. In the war's wake came corruption, shameless profiteering and a national fever of gambling.

Set Stage for Spenders.

Under Antonio Paes liberty was granted to gaming houses. The effect was deplorable. War profits and foreign capital were lavishly expended in fitting up scores of night clubs, luxurious casinos and gaming houses not only in Lisbon and its suburbs, but also at seaside resorts. The gambling mania spread with its train of "hush money," "adventurers," and "adventuresses," "touts," and tragedies.

Investments in houses of vice and gambling were so profitable that, though the law forbade such places, successive governments shrank from dealing with the "vested interests" backing such enterprises.

Proposals for regulation of these places were before parliament, when the scandals published in the newspapers directly challenged the chamber of deputies on the continued toleration of such conditions.

Premier Domingoes explained that personally he opposed gambling, but the complicated nature of the question hitherto led to toleration.

Bows to Public Opinion.

In view of public opinion, the government decided to enforce the law closing gambling houses throughout the country. The premier said he knew it would result in public disturbances, but he felt the government had the power to comply with the wishes of the country. The question, he held, would not be settled by mere repression.

The decision in regard to change in the legal status of such places must lie with the chamber. Meantime in compliance with the existing law, orders were dispatched at once to close gambling houses.

Fashionable Young Women Lose Spirit in Loop Store

They were three young women, dressed in silks and furs and picture hats. They rushed through the furniture section in Marshall Field's yesterday, and one dropped a bottle. They stood in dismay for a moment, and then hurried out. Miss May Kennedy, a clerk, bent to pick up the pieces and changed her mind. An aroma drew a crowd of shoppers and saleswomen and floorwalkers. It was gin.

MAYOR RUMSEY OF LAKE FOREST MAY RUN AGAIN

Mayor H. A. Rumsey of Lake Forest will be a candidate to succeed himself at the election April 13, according to his friends. He has made no announcement. He was elected last year without opposition.

There will be a referendum vote at the coming election on the matter of purchasing the plant and equipment of the Lake Forest Water company.

The city of Lake Forest received a check for $200 yesterday as a "benefit fee" from T. E. Donnelley, who lives just outside the western boundary, and, accordingly, cannot be assessed for city taxes. The officials wish the other millionaires across the border who get all the city benefits without taxation would follow Mr. Donnelley's example.

Policemen Stop Runaway Dashing Toward Window

Sergt. Pat Ford of the Chicago avenue station observed a horse, drawing a delivery wagon, tearing toward him in Illinois street. Everybody and every vehicle got out of his way.

Ford rushed out into the street and waved his arms. The horse paid no attention, but as it dashed by Ford caught the bridle. The horse swerved, but did not stop. He was headed straight for a plate glass window when Traffic Policeman Joe Behrendt caught the other side of the bridle. Then the horse listened to reason.

YANKEES REGRET GERMAN DEFEAT: VON BERNSTORFF

Sees Teuton Advantage in Wilson Setback.

BERLIN, March 6.—German diplomacy must "take up the struggle at that point where President Wilson permitted it to slip away from him," said Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador at Washington, before a mass meeting of university students.

Von Bernstorff said the president had been the first to assert the war was not to end in the creation of a new balance of power.

"American interest," Bernstorff added, "is now centering in the presidential election rather than in European affairs, which is accounted for in the disappointment the war occasioned in the United States.

Most of World Bankrupt.

"In punishing Germany the entente forgot to take cognizance of the economic conditions of the world at large.

"The vaquished are unable to pay the war costs of the victors; the whole world, with the exception of the United States, is bankrupt."

Germany, he said, must convince the world it could uot meet the treaty's conditions unless given raw products and ample credits which will enable it to work off the indemnity.

Warns the Germans.

The ex-envoy was inclined to warn Germany, saying:

"For us, the question: Does the Versailles peace represent the cruel orgy of a by-gone era, or are we to experience new imperialistic catastrophies, whether the new diplomacy asserts itself or old methods prevail?"

Bernstorff warned against any attempt at treaty revision through negotiations with individual entente powers, calling such efforts a "dangerous illusion," leading to the charge of intriguing.

Bernstorff further asserted any attempt by Germany to approve the present American attitude toward the league would merely fortify the entente against Germany.

THREE DIE OF DIPHTHERIA.

ABILITY UNHAMPERED BY YEARS, HE FINDS OPPORTUNITIES ARE

WHO wants a solicitor who can sell anything at all to a man who doesn't want it and who wouldn't take it?

Theodore B. Adams of 930 East Forty-second place is that kind of solicitor, according to his former employer, George A. Kilbey, general manager of the Chicago Christian Industrial league.

But Mr. Adams is out of work, and in a letter he wrote to THE TRIBUNE says that despite his large acquaintance he has been utterly unable to find a position.

"I am 66 years old," he says, "but with an appearance, vigor, and energy which would easily enable me to pass for 45 or 48. Nevertheless, the application is always met with the same reply—'too old.'

"What can be done in such an emergency? Is it possible there is no way for me to obtain a living other than menial labor, for which I am totally unfit, or must I be driven to crime to spend the rest of my days in prison and leave my family to starve? THE TRIBUNE has helped others; can it aid me?"

"Prohibition has obliged the league to change its plans to such an extent," said Mr. Kilbey, "that we couldn't use Mr. Adams. He's been with us ten years and we hate to part with him. He's the most unusual solicitor I know. I can't recommend him too highly."

DANIELS WANTS LEAGUE OR THE GREATEST NAVY

Tells House Situation Is Up to Senate Laggards.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—Unless the United States takes its place in the league of nations it must be prepared to maintain the biggest navy in the world. Secretary Daniels reiterated this conclusion before the house committee on naval affairs today, and said that if it is definitely decided that the United States will not participate in the league he will renew his recommendation of a year ago for a three year building program designed to place this country in the front rank of naval powers.

Three Building Programs.

Three building programs, dependent upon developments in the peace treaty fight are outlined by Secretary Daniels as follows:

Immediately or until the senate disposes of the treaty: Two battleships, one battle cruiser, six scout cruisers, twenty light cruisers, eight mine laying light cruisers, twenty flotilla leaders, six fleet submarines, four airplane carriers, one destroyer tender, one submarine tender. This program of sixty-nine ships will cost about $195,000,000.

If the United States joins the league of nations: Ten light cruisers, six mine laying light cruisers, ten flotilla leaders, six fleet submarines, four airplane carriers, one destroyer tender, one submarine tender.

If the United States does not join the league: Another three year building program, in addition to construction now authorized so that "the United States imcomparably would have the biggest navy in the world."

Let George (V.) Do It.

Replying to suggestions of Chairman Butler that the United States need not fear any other nation on the sea so long "as an agreement with Great Britain continues," the naval secretary said he believed only a league of nations with a force strong enough to enforce its edicts could insure safety for the United States.

Representative Kelly declared that he was somewhat disappointed at Secretary Daniels' recommendations for extensive naval building in view of Great Britain's apparent intention to abandon competitive naval building, declaring it "looked a little like double dealing" on the part of the United States.

"With the world war," said the secretary, "came the wonderful development of the submarine and of aircraft, but before we were able to apply the experience of this development to our naval forces we, too, were plunged into the war.

Built to Beat U-Boats.

"In order to render the greatest possible and immediate service in the war, our major ships program was largely suspended and virtually the entire building energy available for naval vessels was expended in the construction of destroyers, submarines, submarine chasers, and other anti-submarine craft.

"We have constructed since 1916, 176 destroyers, 63 submarines, and hundreds of other ships of small type, including 441 submarine chasers."

Emphasis was placed by the secretary upon the need of the development of the naval aviation. He expressed the belief that naval aviation should be developed, operated, and controlled absolutely by the navy.

While he approved the development of civil aviation, he said he did not believe it should be undertaken in America by the military or naval services or by a quasi-public service.

"There are some," the secretary said, "who believe that capital ships will soon be at the mercy of aircraft. It is not believed, however, that responsible officials of any admiralty charged with the organization and operation of the first line of defense accept even approximately any such view.

"This is by no means the first time we have seen such propaganda. Thirty or forty years ago, with the development of torpedo craft, there were many who believed the day of the capital ship had passed. Twenty years ago, with the genesis of the submarine, there were similar claims for this new weapon; yet in the world war the capital ship still was the backbone of the fleet which dominated the situation afloat and lacking which the allies would surely have lost."

11 TEACHERS AT EVANSTON FIRED; PARENTS TO ACT

Meeting Tomorrow Will Take Up Inquiry.

Eleven school teachers were dropped from the rolls by Supt. F. W. Nickels of school district No. 75, in Evanston, it was learned yesterday when the list of teachers slated for reappointment was announced. This practically means dismissal.

As the result of the protest voiced by Miss Alma Hoyt, one of the teachers who were dismissed, Mrs. Robert H. Harrison of 2607 Hartzell street, chairman of an investigating committee, said the entire school matter would be discussed at a meeting of parents to be held tomorrow evening in the Lincolnwood school. If any action is taken, she declared, it will be laid before the school board at its regular meeting, held on the following night, when Miss Hoyt also will present her side of the story.

These Teachers "Fired."

The teachers omitted from the list of reappointments are:

MRS. EVELYN HOUGHTON, 1209 Pratt boulevard, Chicago, assistant in the Foster school.

MISS LORRAINE ZEUGEL, 2413 West Roosevelt road, Chicago, assistant in the kindergarten class, Foster school.

MISS DOROTHY ANDERSON, 1123 Elmwood avenue, Evanston, assistant, kindergarten class, Noyes street school.

MISS ESTHER GRIEBEL, Desplaines, Crandon school.

Big Surprise to Ten.

Miss Hoyt several days ago revealed the dismissal of the teachers, which she attributed to the fact they had "talked too much" about raises after they had been warned by the superintendent not to discuss the matter to any person other than himself.

The other ten teachers yesterday said their dismissal was a big surprise to them and that they could not account for it.

Supt. Nickols refused to discuss the matter.

TWO SEIZED AS MOTOR THIEVES.

Steve Wesrel, 1804 Cleveland avenue, and Charles Doan, 1522 North Oakley avenue, were arrested yesterday, charged with stealing motorcycles and accessories in Hammond, Ind. They are said to have confessed. Last night they were turned over to the Hammond police.

HUSBAND'S TALES OF WIFE TURN AND SMITE HIM

False, Judge Asserts; Rips Into Teller.

Judge Barrett handed down a decision and a rebuke yesterday at the trial of the divorce suit of Frank H. Lamoreaux which caused that young man to squirm in his chair.

For three days the judge had listened patiently to charges of infidelity against Jeannette Lamoreaux. At the close of the testimony he said he did not believe a word of Lamoreaux's story.

Lamoreaux on the stand told of numerous alleged escapades by his wife.

One affair was alleged to have taken place at 14 West Superior street, a rooming house. Lamoreaux, after telling of climbing a fire escape and looking in at the window, said his wife, another girl, and Orville Gray, all scantily clothed, were in the room.

Other incidents said to have taken place in Monmouth, Ill., at the home of the Grays, declared to be a prominent family there, were spoken of.

Wife's Story Differs.

Mrs. Lamoreaux testified that after she was married to Lamoreaux their home was furnished and they were practically supported by her father.

Learning she was about to become a mother Lamoreaux decided to take a sudden trip west, she said, with the excuse he wished to protect the sale of some of her land, valued at $2,500. He sold the farm for $2,200 and continued to the Pacific coast, where he managed to squander a large part of the money, while she tried to get along on $100 he had sent her, she declared. Eventually he returned and was jailed by her father, although soon released.

He then moved their furniture to Chicago, telling Mrs. Lamoreaux to follow when able. His first glimpse of his son Richard was when the latter was 2 years old.

Learning that his wife was to receive a bequest of $100,000 in 1931, he decided to start divorce proceedings, it is said, hoping to benefit by the dower rights of a husband. About this time he was drafted and until his discharge the suit was stopped.

Upon his return he arranged with his wife to allow her a divorce provided he was paid $10,000, it was charged. This sum was reduced until finally she consented to give him $1,000 and return his engagement ring. He was to receive the money as soon as the decree was signed, Mrs. Lamoreaux said.

Judge Assails Husband.

"I am glad I have not met many men of the type of this defendant," said the judge in closing the case.

"It is the most outrageous story I ever have heard. These stories of orgies in Monmouth are disgusting. I don't believe a word of them. This young village ruffian has succeeded in dragging the names of a number of people into his own mire.

"The girl's father was farseeing when he objected to her marriage to Lamoreaux and it is too bad she could not see as far. These stories have been told simply to aid Lamoreaux in obtaining more of her money.

"Mrs. Lamoreaux is a perfectly fit woman to have the custody of the child and the original order of the court stands. Mrs. Lamoreaux is granted her divorce on the charge of desertion without any settlement."

Motions by Daniel Anderson, representing Lamoreaux, to continue the case until Monday to permit the bringing in of more witnesses, met with scant attention.

"For a week you have made no attempt to bring in these witnesses," said the judge. "I now declare this case closed and the woman cleared of all accusations."

THE COUNTY COMMITTEES AND GOVERNMENT.

The county committees of the local political organizations will be elected April 13. This election presents the actual foundation of government. Its significance is hidden. It is obscured by the primaries and elections in which candidates are nominated and officials elected. It is obscured in the popular vision and perception, but it is the fundamental election.

Candidates and officials, with few exceptions, are dependent upon the political organizations. It is in the organizations that the life of organized politics is found, and it is in organized politics that the essence of government is found.

A voter who neglects to take an interest in the political organization is neglecting to take interest in the essence of government. He is looking at results, and not studying causes. He may see strange things happening in government without knowing that, as a preliminary to the effect, there was a cause; and that cause was under his nose, if he had cared to look for it.

A powerful politician gets an organization. He gets it by association with other politicians. The other politicians control as they control precincts. The voters compose the precincts. Unless they assent, by silence or inertia, by assertion and demonstration, the precinct could not be controlled. Usually they assent by indifference and inertia.

However the consent is obtained, it is a mandate which the politician in control uses. Government rests upon these organizations. It springs out of them. It is their business and cause of existence. Generally it is a business of government which gives the politician as much as he can take and the community as much as it deserves.

The business of the politician is, first, to remain in control, and, second, to serve the community. He serves the community as it helps him to remain in control. That is human nature, and it need not be attributed to politics as a specialty.

The community intelligence and interest reveal the extent to which it need be served. If there is no intelligence and no interest, there need be little service. Thus the political organization is the fundamental of government, and generally it is the one which the citizen overlooks or ignores.

Under revisions of the primary election law, the committeemen will, in addition to functions which they directly and indirectly perform in government, nominate judges. The essence of law and order is found in the judiciary. The law is bad, we believe, and ought to be repealed, but just now it is the law.

If Chicago has an indifferent or a specially interested judiciary, its fight against crime and lawlessness will be a hopeless one. If the elements of politics which are interested in fostering crime and lawlessness have control of the nomination and consequently in many instances the election of judges, the impairment of law has begun at its source, and it will be futile to try to correct it at the point where consequences are found.

If the county wishes to preserve its judiciary, it will begin by taking interest in the election of men to the body which will present candidates for the judiciary.

There is only one sound way to clean up politics. That is to begin where politics begins. The voters have the opportunity to make their influence felt. If they will not accept it, they may hammer in vain at the phenomenon of government. They must start at the source if they want to control the stream.

"LAND HOARDING."

We are indebted to Prof. H. A. Hollister of the University of Illinois for an apt phrase—"land hoarding." The land hoarders are of two types and they are contributing to the evil of absentee landlordism in a very menacing degree.

One of the land hoarders is the retired farmer. He proposes to quit his broad acres for the comfort of the city. He places a tenant in charge. By so doing he commits three—at least three—errors against the land and against the solid agricultural foundation of the nation.

By retiring he deprives a productive farm of his own proved experience and ability. No one can know his farm as he knows it. No one can take the intimate delight in developing that farm's resources that he has taken. When he moves to the city he takes a potentially capable farmer, his son, with him. That son renounces agriculture. In the city he learns a trade, enters a profession, or becomes one of the ever increasing army of unclassified workers. Thirdly, the retiring farmer leaves a fertile and efficiently constructed property in the hands of a tenant whose chief interest is in immediate returns and not in broad averages.

The second land hoarder is the city man who buys farm land for speculation. He has little interest in the fundamental problem of production. His chief anxiety is for an increase in prices. He is not absorbed in the technicalities of agricultural advancement either as an abstract science or as a means of improving the land he has bought. Affection for a farm as a home and a business requiring zealous attention is no part of his consideration.

These types of absentee landlord are mainly responsible for creating, as Prof. Hollister shows us, a new kind of nomad. Tenant families are increasing in number. Each year sees more families without houses of their own and without land to enable them to the most substantial kind of citizenship.

The tenant is not to be blamed for lacking that land affection which can come only to the owner of his farm. He realizes that whatever permanent improvements he makes are labor wasted. He ought to be a student of the soil, nourishing it and retailing his crops and keeping an eye to the future. But his main need is the present. Therefore he feels that he must take from the soil what he may and while he may. The result is the depleted land.

But more than depleted land is the danger of depleted citizenship. The man who owns his farm is a bulwark of the nation. He is a fixed and unswerving unit in his community for wholesome forms of government. Let every community in the United States have its bulwark of farm owning citizenship and we shall not fear radicalism.

It is a problem for this state and every other state. The tenant farmer must be helped to a farmstead. He ought to have money at fair interest over a long period. A home farm ceases to be grist for the mill of speculation. Illinois a state of home farms would never cast loose from the best Americanism.

STOP LUXURY AND IDLENESS WASTE.

Perhaps the chief reason for our ready readjustment after the civil war was that we had room for expansion. We had so much room that a single man could take a small empire to himself. The small empires must be broken up. We must quit managing 1,000 acres poorly. We must turn to managing 100 acres efficiently.

That is one of the roads to expansion. Another one must come through the productive use of money and materials. The money which the nation has diverted from war uses to luxury uses must be put back into essential uses. That is where it was before the war.

Before the war we were pursuing a productive, normal, and industrious course. Suddenly all our resources were segregated by the government. Just as suddenly they were released to us. But we have not returned them to productive industry. We are wasting them in luxuries.

Let us see the effect of the huge ranch and the luxury. Man power is employed in production at the rate of one man for each $1,000 of capital. A factory capitalized at $100,000 normally should employ 100 men. But this considers only the operation of the factory itself. What about the fact that men must live and support families and send their children to school?

For each man at the head of a family there is created the need for a home. Let that be set down as $5,000—not an extravagant estimate as prices go. We find that $500,000 more is needed to man our $100,000 factory.

The materials for these houses must be forthcoming. Schools for the children must be provided. All the conveniences that go to make life worth living must be furnished. How can they be furnished unless there is a general disposition on the part of all those who produce lumber and steel and cement and piping to deliver a full day's effort?

If the workers in these material industries fail to function efficiently the workers in the factory shall lack common comforts. If they lack comforts they shall be unfit for service in the factory. And if they fail to deliver full energy the product of the factory decreases. If the factory product decreases the price must go up. Who demands this product? It is demanded by the workers in the material industries who have failed to produce well enough to make comfortable the lives of the factory workers.

The slowing up process is luxury. It is only another form of spending useful money for useless projects. One man spends his money for furs, yachts, and motors. Another spends his time in luxurious idleness. What's the difference? Money is the token of labor. The difference is nothing.

The diversion of vast luxury funds—in time and currency—is what makes so difficult the construction of $500,000 worth of houses for our 100 factory workers. Instead of putting our time and money into useful and productive things we are trying to procure luxuries which in the very nature of things must decrease in proportion as energy decreases.

Our energy must increase uniformly. This means that we may no longer cut down a great tree, wasting nine-tenths of it in order to procure in the remaining one-tenth a board suitable to our purposes. We must cut our tree so that the whole energy of the forest down to the last chip is diverted from waste to use. We must divide our lands so that each foot yields up its full strength in food.

After the civil war men could have whole sections of land. They could farm hastily, skimming the rich, virgin surface soil to the neglect of the future. Ranchers could dominate whole counties. It was picturesque and wasteful.

There must be an end of all this luxury. Land waste is land luxury. Slowing up waste is idleness luxury. Money waste is land luxury and idleness luxury combined. As much can be taken from one acre intensively farmed as from two acres neglected. A small farm owner is better than two tenants. A dollar's worth of land is worth more than $10 worth of silk shirts. A day's honest labor is worth a trunkful of promises to pay.

When our land and our labor begin to produce, then the dollar shall produce.

Editorial of the Day

[From the Cincinnati, O., Times-Star.]

The former German crown prince, writing of the American army, says that before the world war its activities really were only "fighting the Indian tribes, robber bands, and border desperadoes."

There has, of course, never been any good reason for hoping that Germany would remain ignorant of the terrible and bloody butcheries which ceaselessly have been enacted in our primitive country. With the cables, wireless, and fast steamships constantly carrying hints of American events, we should not have expected to keep Europe in ignorance of what was going on in this, our beloved but barbarian country.

But now that the news is out we may refer to events of the past few years without the necessity for further precaution. How fresh in our minds is the capture of New York, but three years ago, by the combined Indian tribes of the Atlantic coast or the desolation of Washington by the Tammany tribe! How American flesh crept in horror as mounted couriers, in relays, brought the news into this, the far and elemental west. The sacking of Chicago, too, by the Iroquois, the plundering of Cincinnati but a couple of years ago by the Miamis and other cigar store Indians—shall, we ever forget those days and nights of terror or the days of uncertainty before it was known positively whether Indianapolis had gone back to the Indians or Kalamazoo to the Zulus?

NO, HE'S AN EXPLOSIVE.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

ARE you familiar with the word "oned"? It is found in the Oxford Dictionary, and we esteem it a useful word. Thus, "the Oned States of America"; or, "Promptly at the appointed hour the happy couple were oned." But, if "oned," why not "twoed"? Thus, "Promptly at the appointed hour, in Judge Jones' court, the unhappy couple were twoed." We have heard "one" compared as an adjective. An old man (slang for "bird") in Cos Cob, Conn., used to say, in giving advice, "That's the onest thing you can do." Let's one and give the word some circulation.

The Small Town Waitress.

Sir: I was eating buckwheat cakes in a hotel in the land of codfish and potatoes, geographically known as Nova Scotia. The waitress, distrusting the ability of a Yankee to absorb nourishment without her personal care, reached for the molasses pitcher, snapped back the hinged cover with her thumb, and asked: "Haow'l you have your 'lasses, mister? Raound and raound in circles, or just in a puddle?" HALIFAX.

"THERE is to be a Halloween dance at the American Woman's club on Feb. 14, and it is going to be a real old-fashioned American observance of the day."—Paris edition, Chicago Tribune. Wonder if they had a Christmas tree?

Queen of my heart! IRIS.

SIGN in the rooms of the Peabody Hotel, Memphis: "The hotel company will not be responsible for revolvers, jewelry, or articles of a similar character left in bed rooms."

TRADE CLASSICS.

Sir: The motioner had made his argument in support of the motion. The young attorney who opposed it rose. Said the Court: "No need for you to say anything. I deny the motion." The young man insisted on his right to be heard. At the conclusion of the argument the Court said: "Notwithstanding what you say, I deny the motion." A. H. B.

Sir: A young man making his first trip on the road was out six weeks and didn't send his house anything but a big expense account. He rec'd. a telegram from the firm reading: "Come home at once." He read it, and, turning to a friend, remarked: "Geel I wonder who's sick?" E. C. M.

ANOTHER theater classic may be new to the present generation. Stetson is said to have been watching the Passion Play, with a view to reproducing it in his Boston theater. "Who are those men who are on now?" he asked. "The Twelve Apostles," he was informed. "Well," said he, "we'll want at least twenty for our Boston stage."

THIS METHOD FOLLOWS THE RULES.

Sir: Speaking of a way to dispose of old safety-razor blades, here's one that never fails. When I have a sufficient number to warrant the expense, I send them away to be re-sharpened. Burleson does his bit.

THE St. Nicholas, at Springfield, reports W. O. H., has put up a sign, "Food will win the war. We observe all the regulations of the U. S. Food Administration."

A MEMORY.

Too beautiful she was to tarry long.
Yet I can thank the stars I saw her face
And learned of glory from her lovely grace.

Before she came the world was but as dross;
Her coming made it something holy, sweet;
And when she went, in counting up the loss,
I held it holy still, though incomplete.

Yea, holy still because it holds her husk
And incomplete because her soul is flown;
Yet, sitting here within the haunted dusk,

She seems a part of every beauty seen;
Her breath is felt when fragrant winds do pass;
Her eyes look out from dewy branches green;
Her feet bend down the newly sprouted grass.

And so, companion world, I love you well,
Not for yourself but for a bright day dead;
For hints of paradise that in you dwell;
For glory gone and for a dream unsaid.

LAURA BLACKBURN.

LONDON papers usually add "pre-war" in giving the price of a thing in pounds. But the Times, expressing opinion that £20,000 is the least which should be paid to the ambassador to the court of King Woodrow, does not add "pre-war."

IT WORKS PERFECTLY.

Sir: The two clocks in our office never have kept together. One is always faster than the other. You would think this would cause confusion among our clerks, but it doesn't. They come to work on the slow one and quit on the fast one. CAV.

Why Go to Palm Beach!

DO you remember (probably not) Jim Ford's story of the society reporter who had a rubber pocket in his cape overcoat, in which he used to bring home soup or ice cream from festivities to which he was sent? He is out of date. But there are other varieties. A Brooklyn society reporter writes to a Chicago concern:

"Dear Sirs: Would you like your goods talked about, i. e., verbally mentioned and commended, in a polite way, among rich society folk? If you would, kindly send me, free, an assorted case, in return I will praise the same, causing the goods to be asked for in the stores selling such goods. With kind regards, etc."

A BIT more subtle is the secretary of a New Mexico chamber of commerce, who writes to the same concern:

"Gentlemen: Did it ever occur to you that a number of chamber of commerce secretaries smoking your pipes would be quite an advertisement? For instance, I had a picture taken like the inclosed proof, with one of your pipes in my hand. I lost the pipe recently."

A BANK in Boothbay Harbor, Me., recommends highly the characters of Messrs. Phinney, Fish, and Davis, who are interested in the Maine fisheries at that point. But where did Davis get his reputation?

"Tampering with Nature."

Sir: The weather man's notion of daylight saving is matched by that of the pious old lady who "hopes the government won't begin to fuss with the time," as she wants her clock to run "just as the Lord intended it should." R. R. M.

"HE is not as ill as at a previous time, but not so well as lately," records the Casselton, N. D., Reporter. You could almost sing it:

Old Grimes is ill, that good old man,
But not so despefately.
He's not so ill as previously,
And not so well as lately.

PURE WATER FOR FARMS.

THE typhoid death rate in the registration area in 1917 was only eight per 100,000. This means a rate of not over ten in the country at large. At this rate about one-twentieth of the population may expect to have typhoid fever at some time during life, and nineteen-twentieths will wholly escape.

This indicates a situation far better than that of twenty years ago. But we find that Great Britain has a typhoid death rate of 3.5, less than one-half our rate. We should not be satisfied until our rate is lower than that of Great Britain. We have no business being satisfied until the typhoid rate of the country at large is as low as that of Chicago, which is practically 1.

Typhoid has become so rare in the city that we now speak of it as a country disease. One important reason for this is the good quality of the municipal water supplies and the poor quality of the water used by the country people. The old oaken bucket and the old farm well have had some hard swats in recent years at the hands of health inspectors.

The water on the farm is the only water the farmer has as a rule. It does little good to tell him that his well water has organic pollution and some day it may become infected with typhoid unless you can tell him what to do about it. In most instances it does no good to advise the digging of a new well since the new well will probably have to get water from the same water bearing strata and it will either be polluted at the start or will shortly become so.

Since half the people are supplied with water from wells, springs, or other supplies not under direct governmental operation and since, in a large proportion of the cases, the existing supply is the only source available, the only sensible policy for health departments is to advise owners how to make existing supplies safe.

This is the subject of a small book by Houston on rural water supplies and their purification.

One reason there has been so much typhoid is that a large number of persons are willing to let things slide. You tell such people that their well water is polluted. They may reply that it has been used a long time and many large families of rosy cheeked children have used no other. Perhaps the head of the family being argued with is impressed, but can see nothing that can be done about it or decides to attend to it some day.

Houston's book tells specifically and in detail just what can be done to purify the water from farm well, cisterns and springs. It may be that some laboratory work will be required to determine the best method for a given well. A state water survey department will have in its files information enough about types of supplies in all parts of the state to advise almost any correspondent what to use, when told where the supply is located. In case tests need to be made and there is no county health laboratory the township high school could make the proper tests for every well in the neighborhood in the school laboratory. The tests are very simple and easily made.

Once the country dweller learns what to do he must be willing to go to some trouble. We expect some one to spend several hours daily in preparing food. Is it too much to ask some one to spend a little time daily in making the water supply safe, wholesome and potable—fit to drink?

CISTERN WATER. In an investigation reported last year in the British Medical Journal, Dr. Houston found cistern water to be far safer than he had anticipated. Even when a water contained a good deal of organic matter from the gutters it was safe to drink because there was so little possibility of infection with typhoid and dysentery bacilli. The taste of rain water is disagreeable to many.

This taste can usually be removed by adding 20 to 200 grains of wood charcoal to each gallon of water or by filtering through wood charcoal. This will suffice in most cases. The use of aluminum sulphate and sodium carbonate may be required. Something will be said about these methods later.

The best place for the cistern is underground provided the tank is made waterproof and sewage cannot possibly get in. A well built cement wall is a necessity. On the market there are rain water separators which divert the first washing of the roof and gutters, sending it into the sewers and then automatically turn the clean water into the cistern. Houston uses an illustration of a rain water tank with a first water separator connected with a water drain and clean water pipes to the cistern.

A simple method of sterilizing a polluted rainwater is known as the excess lime method. Add about thirty grains of unslaked lime to ten gallons of water. Permit this to stand twelve hours. If slaked lime is employed use sixty-seven grains to the ten gallons. Stir for five to fifteen minutes and then permit to stand for twelve hours. If there is a lime taste which is objected to add either (a) 128 grains of sodium hydrogen phosphate, followed by sixty grains of bicarbonate of soda, or (b) 119 grains of aluminum sulphate followed by 153 grains of sodium carbonate, or (c) ninety grains of sodium bicarbonate. The water should stand twelve hours. If it is possible for the ten gallon tank of water to stand for several days even smaller quantities of lime can be used with safety.

TO PURIFY WATER BY HEAT—A safe method which does not develop a flat taste in the water is as follows: Take one gallon of water. Pour three quarts in a kettle and heat it barely to the boiling point. Remove from the fire and add the quart of unboiled water. Let the mixture stand in the kettle for five minutes. The temperature of the mixture will have been over 165 for the five minutes—a temperature sufficiently high to kill typhoid and dysentery bacteria. Such water will not taste flat. If there is much sediment in the water add from three to six grains of aluminum sulphate and 3.9 to 7.8 grains of sodium carbonate crystals to the gallon of water to clear it.

TO STERILIZE WITH HYPOCHLORITE—Weigh out 10.5 grains of bleaching powder and place in a bottle containing two ounces of rainwater and some shot. Shake well and then allow the lime to settle. Pour off the clear fluid into a ten ounce bottle.

Continue washing the lime with two ounces of water at a washing until the ten ounce bottle is full of the solution. Let this settle and transfer the clear liquid to a well stopped bottle. One ounce of this liquid will sterilize ten gallons of ordinary water. After the chlorine added to the ten gallons of water has acted the water may taste. If so, about one-half grain of sodium sulphite per gallon can be added.

Sodium sulphite, hyposulphite, or thiosulphite will remove the chlorine taste from water that has been overtreated. Hypochlorite of lime tablets are now on the market. A man can dissolve one of these tablets in a tank of water, permit the water to stand for half an hour, and it is ready to use. The directions give the amount of water which can ordinarily be sterilized by a tablet of given size.

There are tablets of halozone on the market. This is a chloride preparation. This tablet is dissolved in the drinking water, and the water is then set aside for one-half hour, after which it is sterile and ready for use.

Well waters seldom require clarification or removal of taste. Many well waters are too hard. A combined softening and sterilizing process is advisable for such. Six and four-tenths grains of slaked lime are dissolved in forty ounces of water. After standing twelve hours, two grains of bicarbonate of soda are added. If the water is not very hard a dose of lime sufficient to leave three grains of lime to the gallon unused by the organic matter present will make the water safe provided the mixture stands twelve hours or more.

If bleaching powder is employed add about one-fifth of a grain to the gallon of water. Tablets of hypochlorite or halozone should be used instead of hypochlorite powder, since the dose is more accurately gauged. The tablets are not expensive.

Spring water can be treated by any of the methods advised for well waters. Waters from rivers, brooks, and lakes can be sterilized by any of the methods. They are much more apt to be polluted than well waters. They should never be drunk without being first sterilized. These waters may need to be treated for taste. Potassium permanganate, one part to 2,000,000, is very effective in removing objectionable tastes from river, brook, and lake waters. The wood charcoal method so satisfactory with cistern waters is not so effective in improving the taste of river and lake water.

These are some of the simpler methods. If they do not suffice to clarify, sterilize or improve the taste, special analyses and special prescriptions will be required. Perhaps some day the farmers may employ "water doctors" just as ordinary railroads and factories in the west have done for years.

YES TO FOUR QUESTIONS.

J. De B. writes: "1. Please tell me whether my weight, 140 pounds, is the right weight for me? I am 24 years old, 5 feet 8½ inches tall. 2. Also, whether I get enough exercise. All the physical exercise I have is walking six miles a day. The rest of the time I study. REPLY.

1 and 2. Yes.

OPENING OF ASHLAND AVENUE.

Chicago, March 4.—[To the Friend of the People.]—What are the immediate prospects of Ashland avenue opening up and crossing Devon avenue, also of widening the street all through? W. F. W.

You are advised that our engineers are now at work on the survey and plans for the proposed opening and widening of Ashland avenue from Pratt boulevard to Ninety-fifth street. In the course of a couple of months we expect to hold the public hearing on that portion of the improvement from Devon avenue north.

EDWARD J. GLACKIN, Secretary,
Board of Local Improvements.

CREDITS FOR UNIVERSITY.

Hazel Crest, Ill., March 4.—[To the Friend of the People.]—My son has completed a good university preparatory school course. All his units are recognized by the state University of Illinois. This summer he would like to leave for Bohemia and attend university there. Could you let me know if all his school work would be recognized over there? J. C. Jr.

We are reasonably certain that credits from a good preparatory school in the United States will be accepted in a university in Bohemia. On account of the conditions over there requisites of study here may even be of higher standard.

AND THEY ALL RAISE THE RENT.

Chicago, March 4.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—My three years' lease on a store and living rooms expired May 1, 1919, and upon expiration of same $2.50 was added to the amount being paid previous to expiration of lease. I have not renewed the lease due to the fact that the landlord told me that I could stay and that his word was as good as a lease. Now he demands $15 per month more. Please advise me [1] if the expired lease was again renewed by implication and [2] for what term (one or three years), and [3] if he has the right to raise my rent now? J. P.

1. Yes, unless there are additional facts to the contrary.
2. One year.
3. Yes, to take effect May 1.
TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

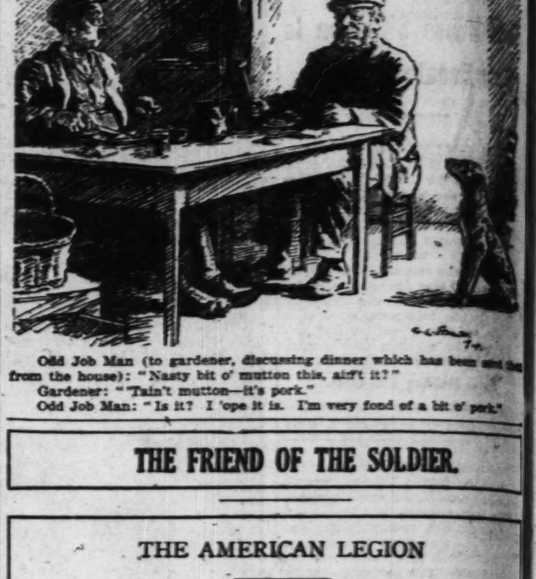
NO PROBATE NEEDED.

Chicago, March 4.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—If a husband has deeded over his property to his wife, and he should pass away, would it be necessary, before she could sell the house, to have it probated and be compelled to wait a year or more before she could sell same? GEORGE BASS.

No. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

HE'LL BE ALL RIGHT WHEN HE'S SURE.

[From Punch, London (Copyright).]



Odd Job Man (to gardener, discussing dinner which has been sent in from the house): "Nasty bit o' mutton this, ain't it?"
Gardener: "Tain't mutton—it's pork."
Odd Job Man: "Is it? I 'ope it is. I'm very fond of a bit o' pork."

AMERICAN LEGION.

Chicago headquarters, 111 West Washington street.

The paid up membership in the Illinois American Legion has passed the 50,000 mark. The local headquarters is working on a territorial organization of posts under the direction of Roger V. Fleury. All questions concerning the organization of new posts, consolidation of posts, boundary lines of territory, and general matters should be referred to Mr. Fleury, director of organization, district No. 1.

Since the passage of the Rogers bill, which provided for the loan of army rifles to the American Legion posts for occasions of ceremony, there has arisen a feeling among commanders that the organization will become a form of state militia. This is not true, but the rifles will probably be used only on funeral occasions.

All forces of the American Legion are directing their efforts to the enrolling of the thousands of ex-service men who are eligible to the organization but have not yet joined. The above blank is printed for application to be made thereon.

The Friend of the Soldier will mail American Legion booklets to those sending stamped addressed envelope.

RE-ENLISTMENT PAY.

Chicago, March 2.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I would request information regarding reënlistment pay for enlisted men inducted into the service during the war. I had three years in the regular army, from the year 1911 to 1914, and in September, 1917, was inducted into the service, and have been informed by the company commander that as previous service men who have been drafted are not entitled to reënlistment pay. I was discharged from the army Feb. 21, 1919, and during the entire second period I have received no reënlistment pay. Would you advise me to file a claim for same? J. L.

When a man who has served one or two enlistments in the army reënlists within three months he will be given second enlistment pay. However, under the existing law if a man reënlists after the three months he is not entitled to reënlistment pay. As you were inducted you should submit your case to the director of finance, who will determine your status and advise if you have a claim for reënlistment pay on the strength of the service in the army.

NO LOANS IN SIGHT YET.

Chicago, Feb. 29.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Please tell me as soon as you can whether there is any provision by the government for loans to ex-service men who want to buy homes or start in business. I am very much interested in this and shall appreciate your early reply. M. F.

Bills have been introduced in congress proposing loans for the buying of homes and also farms for ex-service men, but none of these bills have passed yet.

NATIONAL GUARD.

Chicago, March 1.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Where does one apply for enrolling in the national guard? J. L.

Some of the states have been authorized to reorganize national guard units. Write to the adjutant general, Springfield, Ill., for information on this question.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

MR. FARWELL AND HYDE PARK.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In this morning's TRIBUNE appeared a letter signed by Arthur Burrage Farwell, secretary of the Hyde Park Protective association, commenting adversely on what we thought was a most excellent editorial.

We have tried to find out what the Hyde Park Protective association is. We have heard the name for years, as most of us have lived in Hyde Park all our lives, but we have never known who was behind it. So many of these reform associations simply provide a living for some one that we are very skeptical of most of them. We tried to find out from Mr. Farwell what this association was, but he was very vague and didn't want to give information over the phone. He couldn't even tell how many bona fide members they had.

When Mr. Farwell signs as he does, it would appear to the average person that the sentiments he expresses were the sentiments of Hyde Park, whereas we are dead sure they are not. We know they are not the sentiments of nine out of ten of the ex-service men. We think THE TRIBUNE in its various editorials has expressed the matter very clearly, and any same citizen will agree with them. This does not necessarily mean that we are coming out in defense of hard liquor, nor of the saloon as many of them were formerly conducted, but it does mean that this 18th amendment should never have been put over during the stress of war times, nor while so very many men were in service. Amending the constitution of the United States is a grave matter and something which should not be undertaken during war times. In other words, we feel the prohibitionists put one over.

So far as "the Volstead act is concerned it has made lawbreakers out of more people than all other laws on the statute books combined. It has bred a disrespect for law, and men and women who have never broken a law in their lives are heard to boast of the various ways in which they are breaking this one. We feel just the same as every other sane minded person feels about the Illinois search and seizure law.

People in other parts of the city have expressed the opinion at various times that Farwell ran this community, whereas as a matter of fact we cannot find that any one here ever took him seriously. But we do not intend that to shall publish letters which would cause readers in other parts of the city to think that they express the opinion of this entire community. He has outlived any usefulness he may have had, and Hyde Park is no longer a village, but a community of many thousand people.

Any reply from Mr. Farwell must contain facts, not vague assertions.

Yours very truly,
Hyde Park Post, American Legion.
F. B. FLANNERY,
Post Commander.

A SHORT MESSAGE FROM PLATO.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—People knock your crazy bone on the corner of the desk in throwing this in the waste basket.) I have read with much interest the pros of the pros and cons on the prohibition question in the Voice of the People. Please permit a person who has not been blessed with the "higher wisdom" to express his views on the subject. Prohibition is basically wrong; everybody knows this. To drink alcohol is wrong and harmful; everybody knows that, too. But the reformers are fighting a losing battle because they are bucking human nature, which has been going strong ever since Eve made a dash for the fig tree.

People like to be shocked and they like to do and hear naughty things. E. W.

LEADING THE HORSE TO WATER.

Jackson, Mich., Feb. 29.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—May I inquire, why does Horatio of Bloomington, whose letters appear in today's TRIBUNE read that paper? There are plenty of papers within his reach—one policy is as narrow as his own, who will call all opponents to his views of bolshevism simply because of the convenience of that term.

My understanding of a bolshevik is one who wishes to enforce his ideas and selfish opinions on the public without consulting them. Does not the prohibition organization wish to force upon at least a few millions of Americans contrary and equally their ideas, and utterly disregard any sentiment those few millions may have in the matter? WHATEVER the state of Ireland politically these days, she certainly is a nation literarily. Her literary prowess cannot be said to date from the time when England was a pup, but its very recency has given a tang of concentrated romance to it. Chicago has this week been entertaining three of Ireland's most typical literary men—William Butler Yeats, St. John Ervine, and Padraic Colum.

Mr. Yeats, who really looks like George Moore's famous description of him, "a great rook following a plow," divides his literary life into three periods, the time when he was young and was mazed by faëry, when the blowing of his own breath upon the pane obscured the floating pictures of the real world, the time, when growing old, he grew introspective, and the future, which he suspects will have to be devoted to religious expression. As he reads his poetry, in the chant which he says all poets since Homer have used in advertising their wares, he explains numerous references to faëry lore, and admits now and then that he just invented something. He reminds me of the old fashioned conundrum propounders that put things in just to make it hard. He thinks that Thoreau's "Walden" is the greatest piece of prose written by an American.

St. John Ervine, on the other hand, is stocking up with all of the modern American prose and poetry which he can carry, and he is sincerely regretful that American literature has had so little chance in England. He was, when he came to this country, most eager to see Winston Churchill as our greatest writer, but a few weeks in America have given him a jolt on that score.

Nervous, sensitive, stocky, with burring r's and a great stick to help him get about, as though the war had not maimed his body, he is at the same time exactly what we thought he would be, and yet somehow less of the spirit than "Changing Winds" presaged. He had the unique experience this week of having first nights on two continents, "Jane Clegg" in New York and "John Ferguson" in London, both of them successes so far as the critics were concerned. A new edition of "John Ferguson" will be ready soon, with an introduction, and Mr. Ervine's new novel, "The Foolish Lovers," is promised for this month.

Padraic Colum, who has come to consider America a second home, has been doing a jolly thing for a poet—he has been making tales for children, weaving into them into faëry lore and beauty, which is a poet's special trick. "The Girl Who Sat by the Ashes" is a delight for any one, a new version of Cinderella, full of poetry and charm.

In all three of them, under Mr. Yeats' complete detachment from the world, beneath Mr. Ervine's eagerness for the world, as a foundation for Mr. Colum's gentle attempt at eagerness for the world and his inherent detachment from it, there is the same essential quality—the quality which made of the Irish rebellion what Mr. Yeats calls it, a blood sacrifice, the quality of complete romanticism.

Enos Mills' "The Adventures of a Nature Guide" [Doubleday-Page] is a series of short articles about the joys of "rambling the woods alone and without a fishing rod or a gun." That manner of shaking hands with nature is, Mr. Mills says, the way to have "the most adventurous and the greatest enjoyment in a given time." The chapters in the book are "filled with the experiences and adventures which came to me as a solitary and unarmed camper in the wolds of the continent."

The Century company asks that this paragraph he brought to your attention: Those who have letters from the late S. Weir Mitchell, author of "Hugh Wynne" and other books, can do a gracious and kindly act, which Dr. Mitchell would appreciate, by sending the letters, or copies of them, to the Century company, 353 Fourth avenue, New York City, or to Mr. Talcott Williams, 423 West One Hundred and Seventeenth street, New York City. Mr. Williams is at work on the authorized life of the eminent physician and author, which the Century company will publish probably next autumn.

George Robey is reported by those who have gone and seen and been conquered by him to be the funniest man on the English stage. He is such an institution in England that he appears in some of the most highbrow literary works hand in hand—as it were—with Trafalgar square and the Embankment. I suspect that he has about the same position on the English humorous stage that is so handsomely graced in New York by the Woolworth building. He has finally taken his pen in hand and written a funny book, "My Rest Cure" [Stokes]. And although he confesses that by nature he is "of a gentle, melancholy disposition—something like Hamlet, only not so conversational," he succeeds in chatting uproariously, for some 200 pages. I am afraid that Irwin Cobb's "Speaking of Operations" will have to hand over the tin plated laurel wreath to "My Rest Cure."

A paragraph about the early days of barnstorming in Hornblow's "History of the Theater in America" [Lippincott] says "The heating and lighting arrangements were of the most primitive order. . . . Notices, placed conspicuously near the one large stage, read, 'The audience is respectfully requested not to spit on the stove.'" That reminded me of one of the most vivid memories of my little girlhood. I was visiting in one of those mushroom towns in the rich oil fields of the Indian territory. The first show the town had had was billed for the opera house, which was, in fact, a big storage hall for drilling machinery. "Cooler Jim," so called because the "cooler" had been built especially for his week end sojourns, went early and settled himself in the front row. The platform the barnstormers put up was lighted with huge candles that flickered with a sputtering noise and filled the room with a queer, breath absorbing vapor. Cooler Jim, suddenly objecting to the light and smoke in his eyes, started to put out the candles with a well directed aim. Soon the entire front row of Indians was engaged in the same game. In a moment the whole place was in an uproar. The play was forgotten. The actors fled in terror, and my small cousin and I were hurried away by our black mentor, who promised to shake a toad in our faces and give us warts on our noses if we ever told that she had taken us there. I have never told until this minute. But the injunction about the stove reminded me of an incident almost too good to be true.

Pique in small, medium and large cords, appropriate for children's frocks and women's suits and separate skirts.

32-in. beach suiting, 65c

The JORDAN Silhouette

THE Silhouette is simply a frank expression of another Jordan ideal—a determination to meet the demand for a high-grade car, perfectly balanced, comfortable, economical, and yet light in weight, compact, and with rare ability to perform.

After all, the building toward an ideal has been the keynote of Jordan popularity.

Both men and women who have natural appreciation for comfort, poise and atmosphere have found this Jordan Silhouette irresistible in its symmetry of line and beauty of color.

The chassis, of finished mechanical excellence, is the lightest on the road for its wheelbase. This Silhouette weighs only 2,800 pounds. Its entire movement is forward. No racking sidesway or continuous bouncing so conspicuous in the cars of yesterday.

Asserts Finding Looses Gunmen on City.

1, 1919, following an argument with Geary in which Ganes is said to have taken part.

WEEPS AFTER TRIAL

BY LEOLA ALLARD.

There is no end to the agony that Cook county inflicts upon its prisoners. Here was Gene Geary being interviewed. But he bore up under the ordeal and, apparently being tired of the huncombe that had characterized him in the courtroom, stripped off his disguise and cried. This 200 pounds of blue suited, bow tied bad man spilled tears on the Criminal court floors—and talked.

"I never wanted to kill nobody," he said, "and I cried for four hours—" to emphasized the length of time—"when I heard the man I shot was dead. I'm sorrier than his folks."

Here he started again to weep.

One of "Mossy's Gang."

Perhaps the interest in Geary's crime and the trial was accentuated by the fact that he belonged to the gang of "Mossy" Enright, who was murdered a few weeks ago and whose notoriety, like Sonny Dunn's, was greater than Geary's.

"This Sonny Dunn business," said Geary, "makes me sick. I never knew Dunn. I met him through Enright. Mossy was my pal and I was his. I'm his pal now, and will be till I die! I din't turnin' on Mossy. The only trouble with 'im he gave away everything he ever had. I met Dunn with him once, that's all. Mossy and I were boys together."

I remembered about "the only good indian," and then I remembered how much alive Sonny Dunn is. Then I heard Geary say, what others among Enright's friends are declaring, that Dunn is the most nonessential citizen.

"And big Tim Murphy—" Geary's sneer was fraught with meaning—"he said in jail he wished Mossy was here now, because he'd be out of jail. The big stiff!"

"I Don't Look Crooked, Do I?"

Geary told how, when he lived in Canaryville, he was "a good kid," except "of course I got into fights like kids will." Then he went on:

"Ya see, I got mixed up in that twenty-second street district sellin' seegars. Pretty good business, too. I got so much a thousand, and I had to spend to sell 'em. I sold a lot in that district. Got to know 'em all, ya know.

"I never been convicted of a crime. If folks could only see me they wouldn't believe all this stuff. I don't look crooked, do I?" Geary smiled.

"I've kept my old mother, poor old lady, from comin' to court. She and my dad, nice old man who has held the same job for thirty years, are out home on Ellis avenue waitin' for me. They're just breakin' their hearts over this. I ain't lived at home since I got locked up. I've been livin' at the Stockyards hotel on Halsted street."

Goes to Mother's Home.

By the time Geary had heard the verdict of "not guilty" he was, temporarily at least, convinced that Twenty-second street, with the people who bought his cigars and who gathered in the poolrooms and saloons thereabouts, singing, "Somewhere a vice is calling," is no place for him. He left court and went out to his mother's home at 5942 Ellis avenue.

GOODRICH LINER ILLINOIS IN ICE OFF ST. JOSEPH

St. Joseph, Mich., March 6.—[Special.]—The Goodrich steamer Illinois is held in a huge ice floe about fifteen miles off this port. It has been helpless for two days. Wireless communication has been established and the crew reported as comfortable and in no danger. The Illinois has been running between Chicago, Grand Haven, and Milwaukee and was caught in the ice off Waukegan and carried this way by the wind. Apparently the crew are saving on fuel against a possibility of a protracted imprisonment, as little or no smoke can be seen issuing from the stacks, although the ship is easily discernible from the St. Joseph bluffs.

Report of Cheaper Furs Proves Based on Error

Owing to a misquotation credited to I. Kolb, president of the Chicago Fur Manufacturers' association, and printed by THE TRIBUNE last Friday, a wrong impression has been conveyed as to the price of furs.

The City News bureau furnished the article to THE TRIBUNE which quoted Mr. Kolb as saying: "Furs will be cheaper next summer."

Mr. Kolb states that he was asked if the removal of the excise tax of 10 per cent which the government has placed on furs would reduce their price. Mr. Kolb said it would if the tax was removed, but said it was very unlikely that the tax would be taken off, as all dealers were working to this end, but could accomplish nothing.

Oak Park Movie Man to Defy Censor Board Again

John G. Hodgson, owner of the Oak Park theater, announced yesterday that he will again defy the village censorship board. Hodgson was summoned last week to appear before Justice Lewis and explain why he ran a picture that Mrs. G. W. Hoover, 711 North Kenilworth avenue and Mrs. C. A. Cohan, 535 South Euclid avenue, had branded unfit. At yesterday's performances Hodson flashed his announcement on the screen: "For the benefit of my thousands of patrons I will run the Blank Blank picture again next week."

ROTTEN POLITICS BACK CHAMBLISS, HOYNE CHARGES

Declares Witnesses Fear for Lives.

"Rotten politics are massed behind Chambliss."

That was the statement made yesterday by State's Attorney Hoyne when questioned about Dorsey Chambliss, the colored policeman, who is accused of bringing about the delinquency and finally the death of Bertha Wiebeck, 16 year old white girl of Pawnee Rock, Kas.

"I find rotten politics massed behind this man. Witnesses are being schooled and others concerned are threatened and intimidated by this element," said Mr. Hoyne.

Replying to Woman's Query.

The statements were made in a letter written to Mrs. Lulu Smart Sweitzer, president of the Chicago Political Equality league, who, in a letter, asked the state's attorney what he intended to do toward prosecuting.

"I wish to assure you that everything that can be done by me personally and by the exertion of every resource of my staff is being done to bring this brute to justice, along with those connected in any way with this most hideous case," wrote the state's attorney.

"You must realize that in the death of the girl we have lost the most important witness. Although we have her dying statement, it is not of great value owing to legal restrictions.

"However, I expect to be able to produce evidence that will show that Chambliss brought this girl to a flat and brought others there. Witnesses for the state realize that they will risk their lives if they testify against Chambliss."

Stelk Denies Influence.

Judge John Stelk made vigorous denials that he had been influenced in the case.

"So far all the continuances in the case have been requested by the state's attorney," he said. "All I could do was to grant the continuances asked.

"I have decided not to try the case because some years ago I assisted some high class Negroes to organize the Pyramid Building and Loan association. I promised the state auditor I would watch the destinies of the association until it became firmly established.

"Some four or five years ago I advanced Chambliss some money on a second mortgage on his house. The loan was made in my private capacity to Chambliss as a private citizen. Subsequently I disposed of the mortgage and when Chambliss made his payments at my private office I forwarded the money by check to the person who bought the second mortgage."

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Today's Question.

Should the height of skyscrapers be limited to 200 feet, the present restrictions?

The Answers.

MRS. W. C. BUCHHOLZ, 360 Monroe avenue, River Forest, wife of a building contractor—If you are speaking of apartment houses, build them as high as you want. I would prefer to have the other buildings restricted.

M. C. GREEM, 4417 Keokuk street, a flour salesman—Our present restriction is good. The foundation is not strong enough. We have twenty-six square miles in Chicago that we can build on. There is no use making the building so tall. Why bring everything to the loop?

GEORGE DONNELLY, 7241 University avenue, a bailiff—By all means keep the present limit. If loop buildings were any higher several thousand people would never get in the district every day. Take the business out into the communities. Scatter the buildings.

J. F. FLOWERS, 40 West Ontario street, a clerk—Build them high. Concentrate business. That saves people from running all over town and makes for greater efficiency.

WILLIAM A. HARNAHAN, 1052 North Monticello avenue, a police officer—Isn't our loop crowded enough now? The community center is the thing to boost. If you build more buildings and not so many tall ones, we'll have a roomier city.

WIDOW OF COOKE DIES; ESTATE TANGLE GROWS

Chicago Woman, 76, Is Cancer Victim.

Mrs. Charlotte Harmon Cooke, widow of John S. Cooke, the brewer, died yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital. She was 76 years old and had been suffering from cancer.

Her death complicates the wrangle over the estate of the brewer, who died twenty-one years ago. The estate at one time was estimated as worth $2,000,000, although a few days ago Charles F. Cooke, a son, denied it ever was worth more than $500,000.

Less than two weeks ago Mrs. Cooke sought to compel the trustees to sell certain real estate that her annuity of $7,500 might be paid. It was said to be greatly in arrears.

Dunne Tells of Estate.

Former Gov. Edward F. Dunne, who was named trustee with John M. Smyth, said the estate still held title to approximately $200,000 in real estate and that $39,000 received from the liquidation of the brewing company interests remained in his hands.

Mr. Dunne said that prohibition, together with the differences between the widow and the other heirs, had helped to shrink the estate.

Legal fees charged by Mr. Dunne and his attorneys were contested by the heirs, who thought them excessive, and these also were tied up in litigation.

There was contention, too, between Mrs. Cooke and her son-in-law, Dr. Patrick H. Welch. Mrs. Welch, who was Charlotte Irene Cook, died in 1917. Two years later Dr. Welch brought suit against Mrs. Cooke, asking that his dower in the personal estate of his wife, valued at $40,000, be assigned to him.

Lived Here 57 Years.

Mrs. Cooke was born in New York and was a niece of former Chief Justice Harmon of the United States Supreme court. She had lived in Chicago since 1863.

Two sons, Charles F. and George J. Cooke, and twenty-five grandchildren survive her. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from the home of George Cooke, 42 Cedar street. Services will be held in Holy Name cathedral at 10 o'clock. Burial private.

Cannot Slip at Heel. Sizes 2-11. Widths AAAAAA-EEE

Every pair of shoes purchased from Dr. Pinkston is an investment, for you not only secure perfect comfort and the last word in style, but a shoe made on Dr. Pinkston's Combination-Last, of the finest imported leathers in the world, and the free advice of Dr. Pinkston, the world renowned foot specialist, and the assurance of your shoes being fitted by experts under the direct supervision of Dr. Pinkston. No odds and ends. No short lines. This sale is to help battle the H. C. L. and further prove to the public what Dr. Pinkston is doing for the betterment of humanity by dressing the feet properly and comfortably, preventing and relieving foot ills. The very fact that Dr. Pinkston has built his institution to the largest of its kind in the world devoted entirely to the prevention, correction and relief of all foot troubles is a living example that Dr. Pinkston's Ready-to-Wear Combination-Last Shoes and Made-to-Measure Shoes are doing the things that other shoes have not done.

DR. PINKSTON'S COMBINATION-LAST SHOES are better than the standard shoes because they are two widths narrower in the heel, one width narrower in the arch, and two widths wider through the ball of the foot than any shoe that has ever been made. The narrow heel prevents the shoe from slipping up and down. The narrow arch keeps the foot from sliding forward. The broad ball gives perfect freedom of the toes. The entire comfort and grace of walking depend entirely upon the proper articulation of the ball of the foot.

CITY PLAN BODY OPPOSES NEW LOOP STREET

Condemns Dealers' Plans for Produce Market.

BY AL CHASE.

Widening Haddock place, the alley between Lake and South Water streets, into a full grown street and turning it into a new produce market, as suggested by a body of commission men, is both impractical and harmful to the loop, according to Charles H. Wacker, chairman of the Chicago plan commission.

His opinion is based on the report of technical experts who have made an exhaustive study of the project.

"When this idea first was presented to me," said Walter D. Moody, managing director of the plan commission, "I requested our technical department to study it thoroughly and report its merits, if any. The report doesn't even entertain the idea, but points out the wisdom of the South Water street two-level plan, as recommended by our commission.

Sees $6,000,000 Saving.

"I note the commission merchants advance as their sole reason why Haddock place should be widened that it would permit the market to stay where it is, which they say is absolutely necessary to supply the loop hotels and restaurants conveniently and with dispatch. As a matter of fact, if the produce business is located in a proper terminal, scientifically conducted and organized, it could supply any section of the city with infinitely greater dispatch than at present; it could supply a better product at a much lower price. And I fail to see why the people of Chicago should pay $6,000,000 more annually for their food than they need pay."

The federal trade commission recently announced that $6,000,000 could be saved by having a modern central terminal market elsewhere.

Quotes Market Expert.

"Here are a few comments advanced by W. T. Siebels, managing director of the New Market Service company, on the Haddock place project," said Mr. Moody. "He says it would be a makeshift as a market—nothing more. It would not relieve loop congestion, but would accentuate it. It would depress nearby property values, and cannot enhance them.

"Such a market would continue to prove an eyesore in the loop district and therefore would constitute a public nuisance."

[Marchand Photo.]

Miss Grace Montgomery, daughter of George W. Montgomery, general manager of The Fair, and Samuel H. Trude Jr., son of Judge Samuel H. Trude of the Court of Domestic Relations, were married at 6 o'clock last night at the Cooper-Carleton hotel, where both families reside. Only the immediate relatives witnessed the ceremony, which was followed by a wedding supper at the Blackstone.

Mr. Trude, who served in the navy during the war, has been connected with the advertising department of THE TRIBUNE for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Trude Jr. left last night to spend their honeymoon in the south. They will be at home at 5428 Woodlawn avenue after May 1.

CHARGES RAINEY, AS LEGISLATOR, FAVORS PACKERS

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—The farmers' national council, through its managing director, George P. Hampton, has protested against the appointment of Rep. J. W. Rainey of the Chicago stockyards district to the house committee on agriculture. This appointment was made last October.

"Mr. Rainey has semed to be a defender and almost an attorney for the packers," is the burden of Hampton's complaint. He adds that Rainey is the third congressman from Illinois on agriculture, the others being Wilson of Chicago and McKinley of Champaign, while Pennsylvania has two representatives and sixteen other states and Hawaii are represented on the committee by one member.

Hampton's complaint further says that the Rainey appointment came after it "was known that the legislation to control the meat packers was referred to this committee."

TENANTS PLAN TO MOBILIZE TODAY FOR RENT WAR

City-Wide Organization Is Now Likely.

A plan will be broached to amalgamate all anti-rent profiteering organizations in the city when residents in the vicinity of Wilson avenue meet today at St. Simon's parish hall, Racine and Leland avenues, to discuss their campaign against landlords.

Maj. H. S. Standish, a tenant in the apartment building at 4706-32 North Racine avenue, which was the scene of the first unanimous uprising, will be one of the spokesmen.

Leader Explains Plans.

"In order to get the best results," Maj. Standish said, "all organizations will have to be combined. The city council committee needs encouragement in this form. The aldermen probably have been of the opinion that they would have to carry the burden alone and support a lot of unorganized persons. The landlords and agents are well organized and we should be as strong."

Invitations have been extended t leaders in community organizations t attend. The Rogers Park Tenants Protective association will have repr sentatives present to effect a soli north side combine if the city-wide plan does not carry.

Tenants in the Racine avenue apartment building will be provided this morning with placards to place in their windows. They will advertise the alleged unfairness of their landlord.

Rogers Park Starts Something.

Developments in the battle which the Rogers Park Tenants' Protective association has started against aviating rents indicates that the executive committee will be besieged with complaints when the organization meets tomorrow night at the Eugene Field school, Ashland boulevard and Lunt avenue.

J. A. Ericson, one of the leaders in the Rogers Park movement, has received more than 100 individual complaints.

IT'S HERE!

TOM LINDHOLM.

"In the spring a young man's fancy"—but imagine the first sign of spring appearing on State street last night in the form of a straw hat gracing the head of a young man—with the March temperature 15 degrees above zero!

He walked down the street jauntingly wearing a hat of broom straw, and the crowds stopped, looked, laughed, and went their way almost convinced spring had really arrived.

The young man, who wore ear muffs and a fur colared ulster to offset the hat, didn't seem to mind the bracing air. He said he was Tom Lindholm.

STABLE PRICES PLEDGED TO GET BUILDING BOOM

Unions Called Upon to Keep Wages Steady.

Lumber and building material men began a campaign yesterday to stabilize prices, cut down the cost of building homes and settle the question of housing and high rents.

According to Edward Hines, who inaugurated the policy, the movement depends entirely on keeping the wage of workers in the building trades at its present rate of $1 an hour. If that is done, Mr. Hines said, the material men will bring about the greatest building boom the city has ever seen.

The Hines Lumber company, which handles approximately half of the lumber business of the city, sent out circulars to 10,000 big users of lumber notifying them that if the present wage in the building trades remains, it guarantees not to raise its prices for at least six months. Other material men have agreed to do likewise.

Blow to Building.

"There is plenty of money in Chicago to build the homes now needed," said Mr. Hines. "But the movement in the building trades to raise wages to $1.25 an hour already has caused a serious stoppage in building. The banks and the building loan men have started to retrench. Unless something is done there will be no loans and no building.

"First of all, there is no need now for increased wages. We have 5,000 men in the woods, and we have noted a steady drop in the price of meat, flour and other necessities since Jan. 1. The present wage of $1 an hour is adequate and the men will make much more if they keep it than they would with the increase and the stoppage of building.

"There is talk in the sash, door, and interior trim factories of increasing to the same wage as the building trades. This means an increase of 40 per cent for those men. The men in the planing mills are demanding the same salary also, a raise of 42 per cent for them. Then the teamsters and the men in the lumber yards, who are now satisfied, would demand more money. It would mean that the whole industrial fabric would be disturbed by numberless strikes.

For Two Years' Peace.

"The labor situation should be settled now for the next two years. If we let things go it will mean that a serious housing question will become almost unbearable. Only by stabilizing prices can rents be regulated and profiteering stopped. Thousands of Chicagoans want to build. But it will take only a little more to stop entirely all building loans."

William Schlake, president of the Illinois Brick company, said the price of brick will remain the same for at least six months. Cement men also agreed to co-operate in the stabilizing of prices.

"If the men in the building trades can see that their salvation lies in holding to their present scale," said Mr. Hines, "they will have work the year round. There was never before so much sentiment in favor of building homes and the building situation was never before so critical as at present."

BEG YOUR PARDON!

An item from Aurora reported Nestle's Food company as having "declared war" on the Producers' Marketing company with the view of purchasing milk from dairymen direct. The general superintendent of the milk supply department of Nestle's Food company explains that there is no such "war," and that the report probably grew out of the fact that the company, owing to the curtailment of export, has been compelled to reduce its production.

In the story announcing the recent cold wave there appeared a reference to a special bulletin that "the most intense cold in thirty years is in sight." Prof. H. J. Cox, meteorologist of the Chicago weather bureau said: "I am sure that you will agree with me that my office would not issue such an alarming statement as this." The official weather map of the bureau contains no prediction such as that published.

U. S. CIVILIAN AIDS ASK DOUBLING OF BONUS; LOSE ALL

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—Civilian government employés, numbering 200,000, more than half of whom are employed in Washington, are up in arms over the action of the house of representatives in striking their $240 bonus from the legislative appropriation bill, on the motion of Representative Blanton, Texas.

Congress last year raised the bonus to $240 from $120, and this year was urged by the clerks through the federal employés' union to raise the bonus to $480. The house answered the appeal by striking out the bonus provision altogether.

Chairman Wood characterized as "killing the goose that laid the golden egg" the action of the federal employés' union in asking for $480 instead of remaining content with last year's bonus of $240.

TRAP SIXTY IN GAMBLING RAID ON ROADHOUSE

Twenty Guns Prevent Hasty Getaways.

The two somberly dressed men who dropped in at Henry Schwerin's roadhouse in Dellewood yesterday wanted to know what had become of the roulette wheel.

"Boss got scared and moved it out this morning," explained one of the sixty others crowded in front of the racing forms on the bulletin board.

Rush for Exits.

John Wright was busily recording bets on the sheets and "Mike" McCarthy was handing out the racing tickets and hauling in the money when the lookout gave the alarm. There was a wild rush for the doors and windows. Wright and McCarthy scrambled to get the evidence out of sight but the somberly clad men beat them to it.

The gamblers tumbled through the windows only to tumble hastily back again for at each possible exit stood a deputy sheriff with drawn revolver, Deputy Sheriff Otto A. Gnewuch, commanding twenty deputies, and accompanied by Walter P. Stuart of the state constabulary, had seen to it that not one of the sixty should get away.

All Are Booked.

"Whew!" exclaimed Police Magistrate Howe when he had finished booking the last man. "I never did have such a busy day before."

Schwerin, Wright, and McCarthy were booked as keepers of a gambling house and the others as inmates. The bonds in each case were fixed at $200. They will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace McKee in Oak Park on March 15.

TAXI DRIVER'S SKULL BROKEN; KIN HELD IN QUIZ

Wife Tells of Cruelty to Self and Babies.

Benjamin McLain, 2208 Sedgwick street, chauffeur for the Yellow Taxicab company since Jan. 7, is in the bridewell hospital, unconscious, his skull fractured. Physicians say he may die.

His brother-in-law, Edwin Vinchoud, 2052 Dayton street, was taken into custody, and is held pending an investigation by the police of the Central station, the homicide squad, and the state's attorney's office.

McLain was found sitting on a trunk in the baggage room of the Hotel La Salle about 2 o'clock Saturday morning. Attendants believed he was intoxicated, and the police put him in a cell. Later they took him to the Iroquois hospital. The man was not in his chauffeur's uniform, but papers in his possession showed he was connected with the Yellow Cab company and Charles Gray, his superior was notified.

Fight with Brother-in-Law.

"I am sure the man isn't drunk," said Mr. Gray. "Our records show he is not a drinking man. He has a good character—and he told me he had been in a fight with his wife and a brother-in-law early yesterday."

A minute examination was made, the skull fracture found, and the patient removed to the bridewell hospital.

The police interviewed Gray, and then went to the home of Mrs. John McCune, 2052 Dayton street, where they found Mrs. McLain—Mrs. McCune's daughter—and Vinchoud.

"Ben was drunk when he came home Thursday night," said his wife. "He beat me, and then he beat the babies. Ben Jr. is 2½ years old. Look at his black eye and his cut lips, and the bruises on his cheek. His father did that. Look at Alice, 14 months old. He slapped her, too. I took them both out of the house, with nothing on them but blankets, and came here for safety.

"Friday morning Mr. Vinchoud and I went to the house to get the babies' clothes. The place was locked. Mr. Vinchoud opened a window and crawled in. I followed him. We found my husband there. He attacked me again, and Mr. Vinchoud defended me."

Gray Doubts "Drunk" Charge.

"I don't believe McLain was drunk Thursday night or Friday morning," said Gray. "He seemed sober and he looked mighty clean when I saw him Friday—not at all like a man who had just sobered up. He told me he had a lump on his head, which was bothering him—said his wife and Vinchoud had beaten him unmercifully and thrown him into a closet.

"It is possible he wandered around until that 'lump on his head,' which may have been a skull fracture, caused him to become unconscious. It is probable he just wandered into the hotel to rest a moment, believing he would be all right after he had rested."

Vinchoud is connected with the Rue Motor company. He served in the 13th railway engineers for twenty-two months in France.

BLIZZARD TURNS ASIDE, BUT NEED OF COAL IS CONSTANT

THE blizzard was sidetracked, but suppose it had struck before you had sent that intended contribution to the coal fund. It probably would have been too late then to bring immediate relief to the hundreds of needy, fuelless families, snowbound and suffering. The moral is: Don't wait until the blizzard strikes. Send your contributions now in order that those who need warmth may have it when the need is greatest.

There will be lots of cold, damp, chilly days yet before the sun succeeds the stove—days when illness stands waiting on the damp doorstep of every heatless home.

FLOOD AND WIND DO WIDESPREAD DAMAGE IN EAST

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—Floods followed by sleet and snow, driven by a northwest gale, caused thousands of dollars' damage today before the wind died down and the sun gave promise of resumption of traffic, temporarily demoralized throughout the metropolitan district.

Reports coming from New England show widespread hindrance to railroad traffic, while in Pennsylvania there is great damage from flooded valleys and lowlands.

In New York the seventy miles an hour wind smashed plate glass windows, tore away signs, and all night long piled up a roaring surf, which wrecked water front property.

Ships were reported battling with the gale as they struggled northward from Cape Hatteras in the face of a storm which extended past the Bay of Fundy to the Grand Banks. Reports of steamships aground and collisions were received at coast guard stations.

Two washouts, one at Wantagh and another at Huntington, were responsible for much of the trouble on the Long Island railroad. Water in the Long Island towns rose to first floor windows, and many commuters went to railroad stations in boats.

Telegraphic service was hampered and from all points in and around Greater New York came reports of flood damage, hundreds being driven from their homes by rising waters, factories inundated, bridges damaged, and rail and trolley lines interfered with.

Actress Accuses Aviator Husband of Bigamy

The flighty ways of Adolphus La De Vore, a captain in aviation, caused disaster in the marital aspirations of Hazel Fusness, a vaudeville actress. Three months after her marriage, Mrs. De Vore charges, she discovered that Adolphus had previously married Mrs. Hazel M. Allen of Brooklyn. Yesterday she appeared before Judge McGoorty and requested an annulment. She said her aviator husband is now living with wife No. 1 at 1410, East Sixty-ninth street. The judge continued the case until March 13.

CLERK CHECKING NEWBERRY RACE COST FAINTED

Witness Says Effort Was Too Much for Him.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 6.—Why the Blair report of Newberry senatorial primary campaign receipts and expenses was incomplete was discussed on the witness stand today in the elections conspiracy trial by Paul King, campaign manager. He told of the orders he had given that every outstanding obligation of the committee be included in the document filed with the state on Sept. 6, 1918, and then of the strenuous but futile efforts of his subordinates to meet that order.

"The morning of Sept. 6 when I reached the office I found the report still incomplete," said King. "B. Frank Emery had been told to get it up and I was informed that he had worked all the preceding night, finally fainting from exhaustion at 4 o'clock in the morning and being sent home in a taxicab.

Finds Records Chaotic.

"I then took hold of the situation and found the records in a rather chaotic state. Hannibal Hopkins, director of publicity, had been writing, telegraphing and telephoning for bills for newspaper advertising and we thought we had them all in. We did the very best we could with the report and made an honest effort to have it complete.

"When Frank W. Blair, treasurer of the committee, came to sign the report I told him I thought it was complete. He then attached his signature to the affidavit."

King related that he did not know just when additional claims began to come in. He said he went on a vacation the next day, then was called to New York for nearly two weeks on another business affair and was able to give no further attention to Newberry political interests until around the middle of October.

Admits Running Helm.

King also related that Samuel Odell, former state treasurer, first sugegsted that James W. Helm be run in the Democratic primary to keep the mass of organization Democrats from voting for Henry Ford in the Republican primary. This relation restored to the record testimony which was technically wiped out when Odell was freed from the conspiracy indictment by court action March 3.

TAPS

Young Bluejacket Hero Whose Body Is Being Brought Here from Greece, and His Mother.

Mrs. Caroline Grombacher and Her Son, Edward A. Grombacher.

He marched away with a gay little force of naval reserve boys on May 1, 1917. Just before he entrained he laughingly kissed his mother and said: "Don't you worry, mother; the Germans won't get me."

And the Germans didn't, but another enemy—pneumonia—did take him. Today, his body will arrive in Chicago from Greece, where he was buried after his death at naval base 25 on Oct. 21, 1918.

Edward Asher Grombacher served on submarine chaser 215. In the battle between the fleets at Durazzo he acquitted himself with such gallantry that his widowed mother, Mrs. Caroline Grombacher of 818 East Fifty-first street, recently received from the Italian government a decoration for his distinguished service.

He will be buried with full navy honors, and a number of former classmates at Lane Technical High school will attend the funeral. The funeral announcement is to be made tomorrow.

WAR TRIANGLE OF SPIKERS A HAPPY QUADRANGLE NOW

Wife and 'Other Woman' Friendly Neighbors.

Baltimore, Md., March 6.—The windows of the apartment of Emily Knowles Spiker overlook the home of Cora Spiker, wife of the father of Emily's child, and here in a quiet residential section of Baltimore the principals of a unique international romance have entered the second stage of their experiment in modern sociology. The Spikers are cheerfully abiding by their strange solution of the triangular love problem. Baby Albert Spiker, son of the English girl and her American soldier sweetheart, is with his mother and her husband at their apartment.

Plan Future of Baby.

Both women are reluctant to discuss plans for the baby's future. The mother wants to keep the child, but there are indications that the baby will be given to his father. This is in accord with the wishes of Mrs. Perley Spiker, who has repeatedly asserted her desire to have the care of the baby.

The child clings to his mother, but plays no favorites among the Spikers. His future will be decided at the end of the ninety day period for which Mr. and Mrs. Perley Spiker are bonded to care for the interests of Emily. A family council then will agree with whom the baby is to live, Mrs. Perley Spiker said.

Emily Spiker opened the door of Cora's home for a reporter. Smiling eyes and lips vouched for the truth of her assertion:

"I am very happy."

She said she had received letters indicating that her mother in England was becoming reconciled, and that she believed in time her mother's views would coincide with those of herself and the Spikers. She said other relatives overseas commended the steps she took to protect the happiness of herself and child.

Neighbors Not Cordial.

"As a matter of fact," she added, "I have heard recently from relatives I never knew I had."

The new Mrs. Spiker has met few people except the intimate friends of her husband's family. The neighbors, it is intimated, have not been cordial. The baby and the four adults frequently go out together and on these occasions the little chap is with one couple as often as the other.

BERGDOLL TRIED 'FOR DESERTION, NOT ILL HEALTH'

Court States Issue in Slacker Case.

New York, March 6.—Lieut. Col. Cresson, trial judge advocate, in outlining the government's case against Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy young Philadelphian, now being court martialed on Governor's island for evading the draft, today declared that the sole issue is whether the accused is guilty "of that most despicable crime of deserting his country in time of war."

The question of Bergdoll's health, mental or physical, and whether or not any attempts had been made to corrupt officials in his case, he added, have nothing to do with the issue.

The government will produce documentary evidence, backed by testimony of individuals, to show that Bergdoll not only failed to report for military duty when ordered and was legally inducted into the army, but "ran away" with the necessary intent to desert, Col. Cresson stated. In support of the contention that Bergdoll intended to desert, he declared, witnesses will testify that Bergdoll registered under the name of Carson at a hotel in Hagerstown, Md., and stayed there for an extended length of time.

Defense Pleas Overruled.

Bergdoll's counsel indicated the probable line of defense. Harry Weinberger of counsel for the accused moved that the court dismiss the case against Bergdoll on the government's statement of its program. He declared Lieut. Col. Cresson had shown that there was no evidence to prove that sufficient notice had been given Bergdoll by local board for division 32, Philadelphia, to make him a soldier.

Government failure to comply with the draft regulations was charged by Weinberger. Every step of the prosecution was fought with objection after objection, put forward on alleged failure of the government to observe technical details of notifications and recording. The court invariably overruled these objections.

Registration Card in Evidence.

Bergdoll's registration card was put in evidence, although Weinberger refused to admit the signature on it to be Bergdoll's. The card showed the defendant on June 5, 1917, to be single, without dependents of any kind, and making no claim for exemption from the draft on the grounds of physical or mental disability.

The defense cross-questioned the members of the army medical board which examined Bergdoll last month and pronounced him sane, asking each one to define "constitutional psycopathic inferiority" and state if they thought Bergdoll subject to such an ailment. All stated they believed him normal and acceptable physically and mentally as a soldier.

TIME TO EXCHANGE LIBERTY BONDS FOR PERMANENT ISSUES

LOOK over your Liberty bonds! Don't think because you have cashed the last interest coupon or there is only one coupon left that Uncle Sam is through paying interest on your bonds.

Some issues of Liberty bonds were put out in temporary form and should be exchanged within the next month or two for the permanent bonds. They are as follows: First Liberty 4 per cent, on which the last interest coupon fell due Dec. 15, 1919; second Liberty 4 per cent, on which the last coupon fell due Nov. 15, 1919; first Liberty 4¼ per cent, on which the last coupon will fall due on June 15 next; the second Liberty 4¼ per cent, on which the last coupon will fall due on May 15 next; and the third Liberty 4 ¼ per cent, on which the last coupon will fall due on March 15, this month.

Take your bonds to your bank to have them exchanged. Don't give them to any irresponsible person in exchange for what he tells you is a new bond or on his promise to exchange your bonds for you. Do it yourself. The permanent bonds will be available soon.

DESERTED WIFE AND NAVY; NOW FACES DESERTS

Next Sunday is the first anniversary of Pauline Anna Biggers' marriage to Eugene Orville Hauser, but she hopes to celebrate the annulment of her marriage before that date.

Pauline and Eugene were married in the county building, with County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer acting as a witness. He was a sailor at Great Lakes, and 18 years old. He was an orphan and had been an inmate of the Illinois Children's Home in Evanston. The girl was 17 years old, a resident of Calvin, Ill., and also an orphan. They had known each other ten days.

They lived together for a week. Then the husband disappeared. It was not until yesterday that the wife saw him again. She had become a telephone operator shortly after her honeymoon, and with two other operators she went to a theater and sat not far from her husband.

She trailed him when he went out, and detectives arrested him. They learned, they say, that he had also deserted the navy. Clarence Clicord Tuttle, also charged with deserting the navy, was taken with him.

"Now that he can be served with papers," Mrs. Hauser said, "I'm going to start my fight for freedom—a disconnect. No more wedding bells for me."

Mexican Bandits Hold Up Train; Rob 400 Passengers

El Paso, Tex., March 6.—A Mexican National railroad passenger train was held up by bandits near Corralitos, Chihuahua, and over 400 passengers robbed, according to a report reaching the border here tonight. The train was burned. The holdup occurred last Thursday. Whether passengers were killed was not stated.

MOTHER AND GIRL SEIZED AS THIEVES.

Mrs. Mary Olinski and her 17 year old daughter, Margaret, of 112 West Williams street, Hammond, Ind., were arrested in a department store yesterday, charged with shoplifting. Articles valued at $77 were found in paper bags and wrapping paper they carried, say the police.

Strictly Business

By Anita Allison

Before our most fox-trotted debutantes have opened their eyes to nibble sleepily at their morning grapefruit, a lovely, petticoated army descends upon the Loop to ply the switchboard and the keyboard.

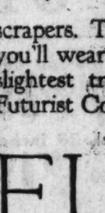
The Chicago business woman is tastefully groomed. She is well-versed in the art of combining the chic with the comfortable. She knows the intricacies of a pert coiffure and the charm of a dainty blouse. Her hats reflect the boulevards of Paris. Her spats are spotless—her shoes au fait. Even if she must cut corners occasionally on wardrobe expenditures, she is an expert on values and makes her dollar travel farther at Stevens' and Mandel's and Field's than most of her sisters who go limousine shopping.

But the Gold Coast daughter and the goddess of the Underwood agree that one item of dress is simply indispensable, and that is Futurist. It is a comely garment and so comfortable; hence its popularity everywhere.

I can recommend Futurist to women personally because I wear these garments myself. They do fit divinely and they are wonderfully well made—the best values I know.

There was a time when I considered Futurist a seasonable garment. By that I mean limited to spring and summer wear. But nothing could be farther from the truth. I have found them just as practical for zero weather as in summer.

One thing that recommends Futurist so highly to all women is the fact that the name is descriptive of a type and not a fabric. These garments come in every conceivable material from finest silks to sheerest nainsook, so no matter whether your purse be well-lined or temporarily meager you can find a Futurist garment to satisfy its exactions.



You can secure these garments at all the better State Street and outlying stores as well as in those alluring little shops tucked away in sky-scrapers. Take my advice and try just one wee garment. I venture you'll wear Futurist always from that day on. If you have the slightest trouble finding Futurist, let me know, care of The Futurist Company, 310 West Erie Street, Chicago.

U.S. MAY PLACE NEW EMBARGO ON GOLD SHIPMENTS

Action Urged to Prevent Further Reserve Ebb.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—[Special.]—With the gold stores of the nation slowly but steadily ebbing and calculations multiplying that the country is approaching the legal limit of its use of credit, the federal reserve board is giving serious consideration to the question of restoring the embargo on the export of gold or of adopting alternative stabilization measures.

Some treasury officials view with equanimity the continued exportation of gold and frankly advocate the reimposition of the embargo to prevent any possible derangement of the credit structure through depletion of the gold basis.

Board Opposes Embargo.

The reserve board was instrumental in lifting the wartime embargo on gold exportation last summer and continues to oppose its restoration.

It has been reported unofficially that France and Great Britain will export $50,000,000 gold to this country in the next six months for the liquidation of the Anglo-French war loan, which matures next October. This would more than offset exportation of American gold up to date and improve the foreign exchange situation materially.

Latest figures available show that from Jan. 1 to Feb. 10 exports of gold from the United States totaled $63,-[illegible]. Imports of gold during the same period amounted to only $12,203,-[illegible]. Of the gold exports during that period $25,500,000 went to Argentina, $1,363,342 to Hongkong, $9,302,109 to other points in China, $5,506,301 to Japan, and $3,744,532 to Mexico.

During that period we received no gold from England or France and only a small amount comparatively from Canada and Italy. Embargoes on the exportation of gold have been in effect in European countries, their policy in this respect having drawn severe criticism from former Secretary of the Treasury Glass, who held that lifting of the embargoes would have facilitated the payment of the debts of Europe to this country and the stabilization of foreign exchange, of the derangement of which Europe is lustily complaining.

Hope Tide Will Turn.

Those who oppose an embargo on the exportation of gold believe that the tide of gold running between this country and Argentina and Japan will turn within the next few months. At present the exports of gold are largely going to Argentina and Japan because we are buying from them more than we are selling them. It has been thought also that British debts in Argentina have been paid with American gold. As American manufacturers extend their trade to these countries it is expected that the gold will begin to flow back to this country.

The embargo opponents assert there is no cause for apprehension, as there is $2,000,000,000 worth of gold in the control of the federal reserve system, the greatest supply of gold ever held in any nation in all history.

Approaching Legal Limit.

The federal reserve act provides that for the $100 of notes outstanding as currency there should be kept at all times $40 in gold as well as an additional $100 of approved commercial and agricultural papers indorsed by member banks of the federal reserve system. The act also provides that 35 per cent of every $100 should be kept in gold as reserve for member bank deposits with federal reserve banks.

All of the federal reserve banks have maintained their full 40 per cent in gold upon notes issued as well as 35 per cent in gold upon reserve deposits, with the exception of the New York bank, which last week dropped to 33.6 per cent on its gold reserves on deposits. This incident has created some apprehension and is considered a warning that the nation is approaching the legal limit in the use of credit.

Increase Discount Rates.

The federal reserve board within recent weeks increased discount rates with a view to restricting the rediscount of member banks at the federal reserve banks. The board has caused to be introduced in congress an amendment to the federal reserve act to limit further the member banks from borrowing for any cause or reasonable purpose of the funds of the federal reserve banks. This bill, which permits federal reserve banks to fix graduated discount rates for borrowing banks, has been approved by committees of both senate and house, and will be acted upon in one house or the other within the next few days.

The banks which have been particular offenders in the way of treading on dangerous ground in credit operations have been banks in New York and some of the other eastern centers.

Conservative bankers opposing any embargo on gold feel that this is a wiser approach to the solution of the situation. A far more important step, however, in their view is that people should learn to use as little currency as possible, to be economical in their spending and to be saving and thrifty in order to protect the whole credit structure. Greater economy and thrift, bankers say, would affect the gold reserve to a far greater extent than most people imagine.

"The phase of the gold problem is the fact that it has become unprofitable to use gold because of increased cost.

COURT DRAMA

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Mrs. Ada V. Miller, wife of Caro G. Miller, theatrical producer, was granted a divorce yesterday by Judge McDonald. Charge, desertion.

But why the crowd, the breathless audience? Sh-sh-shhh! See that slim blond girl over there? That's Marilyn Miller Carter, the dancing star of the "Follies." She's the daughter of Mrs. Miller.

Attorney Charles E. Erbstein, representing Mrs. Miller, admitted he was nearly forced to take out attachment papers to produce the danseuse in court at the extremely early hour of 10 a. m. Marilyn nearly made it. She arrived by noon.

Mrs. Miller told a brief story of her tribulations, and then the pretty star ascended to the witness stand. To corroborate the good treatment said to have been received by Mr. Miller at the hands of his wife, Marilyn was asked to tell how her mother had sewed on buttons and generally kept hubby in a good state of repair, "much as you would do, Miss Miller, if your husband needed it, I imagine."

Marilyn giggled so delightedly at the thought that the court was forced to grin, too. Marilyn's mother-in-law, Mrs. Carrie Carter of 668 Irving Park boulevard, then testified.

"Write it up," called the court, meaning a decree was to be granted.

AD ASKING FOR SUITORS JILTED MAN'S REVENGE

Kenosha, Wis., March 6.—Too many suitors are after the hand of Miss Emily Bagdonius of Kenosha.

This was revealed when the young woman sued Charles Dargis of Kenosha for $1,000 on charges he had damaged her reputation. The complaint declares Dargis showed marked attentions to Miss Bagdonius, and when she refused them he laid a "plot" to get even.

Dargis, it was charged, inserted an advertisement in a Chicago Lithuanian paper, describing the woman as comely, with a fortune of $3,000, who was just waiting for some man to marry her. He put the young woman's name and address at the bottom of the advertisements.

The developments came in the form of suitors—scores of, them, according to the complaint. The young woman found strange visitors waiting at her home every time she returned from work. Every mail brought several letters from prospective suitors in Chicago and Milwaukee.

An order was issued for the arrest of Dargis, but when the sheriff arrived at the factory he was gone.

BRITISH GOLD NOT SUFFICIENT TO CHANGE RATES

LONDON, March 6.—Financial editors of London morning newspapers discuss reports of an impending shipment of gold to New York and most of them concur in saying there is not gold enough available here for shipment, and, in any event, the amount of gold that could be shipped would not be sufficient to affect exchange conditions.

The financial expert of the London Times says that the rise in sterling may be explained by the decision to repay the Anglo-French loan and a freer disposition on the part of American houses having knowledge of that decision to purchase sterling bills.

In its editorial columns, the Times says it remains to be seen whether it is intended to provide the £50,000,000 in gold which it has been suggested be shipped to New York out of the stocks held by the Banks of England and France, or whether it is intended to purchase the current output of new gold.

Build Station to Keep U. S. Flyers Out of Mexico

Washington, D. C., March 6.—To enable army aviators to avoid crossing the international boundary into Mexico, a radio compass station has been erected at Ream field, Imperial Beach, Cal., and pilots patrolling from Ream field to Calexico are ordered to check their position every five minutes.

Frank B. Beath Is Dead; Was Advertising Expert

Frank B. Beath of Oak Park, newspaper space buyer manager of the newspaper department of the William H. Rankin company, died yesterday, after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. Beath was well known in the advertising business, especially among business and advertising representatives of newspapers all over the country. During the war he served effectively as an operative of the American Protective league.

He was born in Lafayette, Ind., thirty-four years ago, and is survived by his widow, a son, Gordon Robert Beath, 9 years old, and by his mother and sister. The funeral service will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at his late residence at 516 South Oak Park avenue, Oak Park.

MRS. MARTHA McWILLIAMS REID died at her residence in Lake Forest on Thursday. She was 84 years old. For three score years she lived in the north shore town, where she was an active worker in the Presbyterian church and a patron of Lake Forest university. The campus contains two gifts by her, a building in memory of her husband, Simon S. Reid, and the library and chapel building, in memory of her son. Mrs. Reid is survived by two children, Mrs. Clifford Barnes of Lake Forest and Mrs. Grace Nash of Pasadena, Cal. The funeral will be held on Tuesday.

ELMER ELLSWORTH DICK—Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock for Elmer Ellsworth Dick, vice president of A. B. Dick & Co., who died on Friday following an operation at Henrotin hospital. Mr. Dick is survived by his widow, Mrs. Maud Jewell Dick, and one son, Elmer Jewell Dick. He had been a resident of Edgewater for the last thirty years, living at 6214 Kenmore avenue. Burial at Rosehill.

BYRNES TELLS HIS STORY OF $2,250 LEGAL FEE

Attorney John T. Byrnes, 1311 Unity building, ordered by Judge Landis in the latter's court Friday to repay $2,250 paid him as attorney's fees, made a statement yesterday in defense of his action in receiving the fee.

Attorney Byrnes was engaged as counsel by James Stoitz, 2414 Washburne avenue, a saloonkeeper who was charged with selling liquor. The case came to the attention of Judge Landis when the saloonkeeper's wife charged that she gave Byrnes $3,350 to obtain her husband's release on bonds of $2,000, for which he gave her a receipt. She asserted that she cannot read English, and later learned that the receipt was for "payment in full for services rendered."

The attorney's statement says:

"I offered to withdraw and pay back all the money the moment my client showed dissatisfaction that my services were too expensive. I had a written contract with him and he has the duplicate. I told him that if I handled the case, that the amount mentioned in the contract would be my fee and if he did not want to pay that much that he could retain some other lawyer.

"Instead of accepting my offer he went away, and I did not see him again until this hearing. Judge Landis ruled that all the money I had received be deposited with the clerk of the court. This I instantly did. The understanding was that I was to later adjust my fee, which I had earned."

CHIROPODISTS GET CREDENTIALS.

FULTON BATTLE MOMENTOUS ONE FOR J. DEMPSEY

CHAPTER XXII.—BATTLE MEMORIES.

BY EYE WITNESS.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 6.—In the long series of victories which made resplendent the year 1918, Dempsey's knockout of Fred Fulton in sixteen seconds at Harrison, N. J., on July 27, was the most momentous because it proved the most and proved it quickest.

It was momentous for the reason that at that time Fulton and Dempsey were contenders for Willard's crown. A fight was to have been staged between Jess and Jack in one of two or three places, but on account of the war—and perhaps a certain aloofness on the part of Jess—it did not come off. So the next thing was for Dempsey to meet Fulton. Fulton was a 3 to 1 favorite over Dempsey and all the experts picked him for a winner.

Fight Over in Jiffy.

But the fighters had not more than got in the ring, received their instructions, and heard the bell, when Fred Fulton was stretched on the canvass. The people were hardly seated.

There were only two or three blows. Dempsey drove his left against Fulton's stomach and clinched the same punch to his chin, and as Fulton was falling he hit him with a right hand cross. It was one of those things comprising bing bing—and over, and the New Yorkers were on their way back to the tube.

The victories over Gunboat Smith and Bill Brennan had been significant and important, but this one was genuinely great and left Jess nothing to do but make up his mind to come out of the smoke. There was not much excuse for further delay, because Dempsey's record had already shown that the good men as well as the third raters fares the same at his hands.

That Meehan Mischance.

The sole mischance of the year was the fight lost to Willie Meehan in September at San Francisco, and it is still the source of one of Dempsey's by no means numerous grouches. He claims he beat Meehan all the way, but was "Friscoed" out of the decision.

The next day Dempsey fought Jack Moran at Reno! It was the usual story—knockout in round one. The rest of the year was rounded out with a succession of knockout—except for the one no decision affair with Billy Miske at Philadelphia in November. I think we can skip the monotonous details leading up to the Willard battle. I have told you already how Demsey says it was not only the most scientific but toughest fight he ever had, and Kearns supplements that by saying it was also the prettiest and the most sensational.

Title Bout Most Sensational.

"Sensational," he exclaimed, "why a lot of the writers got so excited they lost their typewriters. Think of it! A school boy walking out to meet a giant—for that's what it looked like—and whang, and in a few seconds a left hook that closed the giant's eye. It was the most sensational of any championship battle ever fought."

I asked the doctor what feature of that battle stuck deepest in his mind.

"What sticks in my mind," he replied, "is that first round knockout. Jack should have won—did win—in the first round, but the fight ran three rounds."

"And the reason, as you see it," I asked.

"They didn't have competent timekeepers.

"Now after Willard had been knocked down seven times in round one, and at the count of seven, he tried to rise but fell over—completely out, the referee turned to Dempsey and says, 'Jack you win.' I jumped in and told Dempsey to go to his corner and tried to help Willard arise. While I was trying to help Willard up the timekeepers started to ring the bell. I told them to never mind ringing the bell as the fight was over and the referee had given it to Dempsey.

"One timkeeper said to me, 'The bell was caught, I tried to ring it.' All seemed so excited they didn't know what they were doing. Then came the minutes' rest.

No Disqualification Chance.

"Meanwhile the crowd had carried Dempsey half way out of the arena to his dressing room. I got him back and he pummelled Willard into the third round. I have seen articles by sporting experts in which they claim Dempsey could have been disqualified for leaving the ring between the first and second rounds.

"The truth is that Jack Dempsey, after two minutes and forty seconds of fighting, and after Jess Willard had been knocked down seven times, and at the count of seven, was given the fight by the referee's turning to Jack and saying, 'Jack, you win.'

"Jack gave Jess an awful licking in the second and an awful licking in the third. Willard showed he was a game fighter in taking the licking he did. And right today Jess Willard is the gamest fighter in the game outside of Dempsey."

So Many Easy Battles.

After all that technical detail about the Willard battle I wanted something easy, so I asked Kearns what was the easiest fight Jack ever had. He smiled and said:

"Well, I don't know. There was about thirty-three of them. They were knockouts in the first round—some of them in the first minute of the first round and hardly a glove laid on Jack. In fact, after the fight with Gunboat Smith he stepped around so fast and light that they thought every victory of his at first in the east was a fake."

"Do you think he can improve, or is he at the peak now?"

"No, no, he can improve," answered Kearns. "He will improve with every fight. He is only 24 years old. He will be a better man at 30 than he is now. Bob Fitzsimmons never started to fight until he was 35."

Fighter in Prime at 30.

"Thirty is a fighter's prime."

"Along what lines will the possible changes in his style be?"

"He will get more tricks, learn and invent more punches and a better variety of them. With success you get the confidence to put your ideas into practice and so Dempsey will learn more and attempt more. That's the answer."

To Be Continued Tomorrow.

In the Wake of the News

THE COUGH.

I hop upon the Human Fish
And fasten to his palate,
And there I cling, despite his wish,
Much closer than a valet.
I'm with him from November's ides
Until the joyous Maytime;
No matter how he fumes and chides,
He's mine in night and daytime;

I make him wheeze and sniff and blow
And breathe with vast endeavor—
For chills may come and colds may go,
But I hang on forever.

What though he's banker, merchant, clerk,
I've got his goat and measure;
I follow him and queer his work,
And crab his every pleasure;
He cannot talk or sing or quaff,
He's in an awful pickle,
And if perchance he starts a laugh
I choke it with my tickle.
I am the worst pest here below,
And I'm neglectful never—
For flu may flit and grip may go,
But I bark on forever!

ALL TRUTH AND A LITTLE POETRY.

When Old Dan Mills first took up golf
—'twas back in 'ninety-one,
He, like the great majority, just started it for fun.
He never took a lesson, just sort of "bulled" it through
And watched and "stole" from others (like others do from you).
But always in the big events he'd slice, or top, or hook,
Dan's playing wasn't like at all the learning in the book,
So finally, disgusted right, he went to see a "pro."
And this is what the "pro" told Dan—not quite, but nearly so:

"You stand as if you're pigeontoed, your swing is like a door
With both the hinges busted—it drags across the floor,
Your grip is bad, your stance is poor, your body action worse.
Your follow-through resembles much the movement of a hearse.
To keep the weight on your left foot, I don't know what to do.
The only thing you really know is where to tee the ball,
I don't see how the hell you ever did play golf at all."

And then the "pro" with graceful swing showed Dan just what to do,
The grip, the swing and everything, and last the follow-through,
Then Dan took lessons twice a week, and practiced day and night.
The furniture got all banged up, his home it was a sight.
The new Victrola got a dent—his wife said she'd go 'way,
But Dan, he didn't seem to care—just so he learned to play.

Now, Old Dan drives an A1 ball, two hundred yards or more—
He hits 'em clean and drives 'em straight, and makes a right fair score.
The moral's short and to the point, reflect it now and then—

Bring On the Dogs.

"Was down in Trenton, Tenn., t'other week and that thriving town claims a most unique dog fighting champion. Now this champion is not a dog, but a big Negro who fights dogs with his hands and his teeth. Once his teeth are lodged in the dog's throat the fight is over, the natives told me. Occasionally a canine opponent bites his hands or his legs, but never his throat. He usually takes the middle of the street and is always humming, 'tis said. In summer, they say, his bare feet hit the paving blocks with a peculiar kind of a slap dogs dread to hear. They always run wildly for cover at his approach. Local admirers say there is no dog he can't lick."—C. E. B.

Do You Remember Way Back When: A man with a fifty dollar a week job carried his head high and thought he was getting up in the world?

TWO CUB YOUTHS ARE PLACED ON DISABILITY LIST

Bailey Has "Baby Boils"; Holly's Hand on Bum.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Pasadena, Cal., March 6.—[Special.]—The Cubs took another long stride toward good condition today when they concluded the week with the usual double dose of practice and wound up weary enough to enjoy thoroughly the holiday scheduled for them tomorrow.

Although Speed Martin floated in on a morning train from 'Frisco, the roster of the outfit was incomplete because of the absence of Dave Robertson and Turner Barber and the disability of Hollocher and Bailey. The last named is the newest addition to Doc Brady's hospital corps, having acquired an ailment which Doc was unable to diagnose without the aid of a licensed veterinary, to whom Bailey was sent late today.

Abe Suffering with Rash.

Abe's neck and back are broken out with a rash which may be anything from baby boils to hives and which are more painful than decorative. Sergts. Alexander and Killefer express the opinion that the rash may be due to cooties, but cannot explain where Abe acquired them.

Hollocher's hand was too sore to permit him to work out and he spent the greater part of the day hunting the local violet ray expert, who proved as hard to find as the modest flower from which his machine took its name.

On the chance that Robertson may have tarried at home instead of starting on scheduled time, Manager Mitchell sent the temperamental outfielder a peremptory wire inquiring why he had not reported to the team. Barber is en route and should arrive Monday evening.

Oil Stock Booms; Collapses.

For a time today it looked as if the Cubs might be bereft not only of several stars but of their manager as well, all on account of an oil well. Last summer when the Cub party encountered Bill Burns, the veteran pitcher, in New York, several of them were induced to take a flier in an oil lease at San Saba, Tex. Mitchell, Merkle, Killefer, and Martin put in $300 apiece along with a similar stake by Promoter Burns.

During the morning practice a messenger brought a telegram to Killefer saying that oil had been struck a few miles from their tract and that an offer of $65,000 had been made for their joint lease, meaning a little matter of $17,500 per each for the five holders in return for their $300 investment. Merkle immediately threw off his glove and declared himself out of baseball.

Mitchell Urges Men to Stick.

Killefer was of the same mind, but Manager Mitchell asserted he thought they ought to stick through the season, as he intended to, and finally talked them into it, with the proviso that they chip in and send a representative to Texas to look after their interests.

There is likely to be an explosion and some difficulty in capping the flow of nonbiblical language when the other partners in the lease discover that Killefer wrote the telegram to himself and paid the messenger boy $1 to take it out to the ball park.

Everybody was ordered to bed early tonight to rest up for the journey to Catalina island tomorrow to survey the new domain of William Wrigley Jr., squire of Avalon, who will play host to his ball players and the scribes for their holiday.

HOLDOUTS BOTHER GLEASON'S PLANS FOR SOX GETAWAY

The business of going out in search of another pennant and a bit of coin gets under way this week for Bill Gleason and his crew of White Sox. The gents who tumbled ignominiously before the Reds in the late lamented world's series are scheduled to pull out of here Friday night, bound for Waco, Tex., where the athletes will put in some strenuous days getting in trim for the summer's toil.

Manager Gleason expects to have about thirty-five good and not so good athletes under his wing during the drill at Waco, but this number is likely to be sliced a bit because of holdouts and gents who have expressed a determination not to return to the team. At the present time, Eddie Cicotte is a known holdout, while Chick Gandil not only has not signed, but says he won't be back for his old job. Risberg is under contract but for some reason wants to remain in California and conduct a restaurant business.

Little Worry About Cicotte.

There need be no worry about Cicotte's showing up sooner or later. Joe Jackson hasn't signed but has admitted terms are satisfactory, so he will be at Waco. As for Gandil and Risberg, only time will tell, but regardless of what they do, Manager Gleason has no intention of worrying about them.

If Gandil prefers to stay away, it will be up to the Kid either to develop a first sacker, or put through a trade for one of experience. A gent of ability probably could be landed without trouble as the Sox boast a quantity of trading material that several clubs could make use of.

In the event of Risberg's sticking to his original intention to quit, it will not cause much of a slump in the prospects of the team. Fred McMullin is still on the roster and can play third base good enough to be worthy of a championship team. He was on the bench last year, but not because Risberg was a better ball player.

Weaver Can Take Short Field.

Gleason simply wanted to keep Weaver at third, where he plays his best game, thus leaving shortstop open for Risberg because McMullin doesn't play the position well. However, Weaver was at short and McMullin at third in the 1917 world's series when the Sox walloped the Giants, so the combination must be pretty fair.

The Sox are due to reach Waco next Sunday, and will be ready to get into action the day following. They will practice daily during the week and on Saturday, March 20, make their exhibition debut at Dallas.

The next day they are billed for Fort Worth, after which they go back to Waco for five more days of training. Then they break camp for good and play almost daily until the season opens, coming north by way of Little Rock, Ark.; Memphis, Tenn.; Nashville, Tenn., and Louisville. The last two exhibitions will be played at Milwaukee.

Split Into Two Squads.

As in previous years a second team will be out giving the natives a treat. The Goofs after leaving Texas, will come north through Western league territory.

LEE MAGEE TO SUE MAJOR LEAGUES ON "BLACKLIST" CHARGE

Cincinnati, O., March 6.—Lee Magee, a former member of the Cincinnati Reds, who played last season with the Chicago Nationals, announced here today he was going to appeal to the courts in an effort to remain in major league baseball.

Magee was given his unconditional release recently by the Cubs, and not one club in either the National or American league has made him an offer to play this season, according to a statement today.

Magee, in this statement, said that he had in his possession evidence that "without cause owners of major leagues had unlawfully blacklisted" him.

He said neither the manager of the Chicago Cubs nor any one else had ever accused him of improper betting upon games, and at no time in his baseball career had he been accused of indifferent playing.

"My attorney is now at work gathering evidence," the statement reads, "and a suit will soon be filed to test the right of a club to exercise its option for my services in December and a month later release me."

MAROONS CLINCH BIG TEN HONORS; DEFEAT GOPHERS

BIG TEN STANDING

	W.	L.	Pct.		W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago	10	1	.909	Wisconsin	5	5	.500
Purdue	8	2	.800	Ohio State	3	7	.300

Indiana	5	4	.556	Michigan	2	7	.222
Iowa	6	6	.500	Minnesota	2	9	.182

Defeating Minnesota, 58 to 16, in the most lopsided game ever played in Bartlett gymnasium, Pat Page's University of Chicago basketball team won the championship of the conference last night. The Maroons have one game to play at Madison Friday, but their tenth victory of the season sewed up the title.

It was the wildest scoring battle of the season, and topped all previous scores in Maroon history. After the game was five minutes old Chicago started to rain baskets, scoring three to a minute at one time. Their total was two points short of a point a minute, and if Pat had not been merciful and allowed substitutes to enter the fray, the score might have run over 70 points. Only nine fouls were called in the game.

Maroons Start on Defensive.

Chicago started out with her five man defense, the smashing game that stopped Illinois, and at the end of eight minutes the score was only 6 to 2. The Maroons rode the Gophers all over the floor, and before the first half was anywhere near over, the Northmen cracked. They called for time out three times to get their breath, and then the Maroons swung into a five man offense and sank baskets in rapid fashion.

Vollmer counted nine times from the floor. He left his usual position as standing forward and played center, making most of his shots from long range. Birkhoff, who entered the game late, scored seven times on field goals.

Last Game for Three Men.

It was the last game for Capt. Hinkle, Curtiss and perhaps Vollmer. It was likewise the last appearance on the floor of Pat Page, who has figured in Chicago basketball as a player and a coach for fourteen years. The crowd gave him an ovation. Lineup:

Chicago [58]	B	F	P	T	Minnesota [16]	B	F	P	T

Purple, 34; Indiana, 32

By trouncing Indiana, 34 to 32, in the final game of the schedule, Northwestern university took eighth place in the Big Ten standing. A scoring attack at the opening of the second half turned the trick for the Purple after the first half ended with the score 16 all.

From 16 all Northwestern pushed its way to a 7 point lead, and held the advantage until the last five minutes, when Indiana spurted and brought the score to 32 to 32. Dribbling the ball from a far corner Saunders, forward of the Purple five, caged a twenty-five foot shot as the game ended. Lineup:

MICHIGAN STAR SETS MARKS IN ILLINI CARNIVAL

Wolverine Captain First in Three Events.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Campaign, Ill., March 6.—Five carnival records were broken, one American mark set, and another equaled in the third annual relay carnival of the University of Illinois tonight in the armory. The games were featured by the remarkable performances of Capt. Carl Johnson of Michigan. The Wolverine leader won first place in the seventy-five yard high and low hurdles and running high jump.

In the seventy yard low barriers Johnson not only defeated Bob Legendre of Georgetown but established a new American amateur record of :08 for the event. The distance to the first hurdle was twenty yards and between the flights an equal distance, with fifteen yards to the tape from the last hurdle. As the hurdles were set differently than ever before Johnson's mark will stand as a record. The Wolverine tied the carnival record of :09 3-5 for the seventy-five yard high hurdles.

Scholz Sets Carnival Mark.

Next in importance to Johnson's work was the victory of Jackson Scholz of Missouri in the 75 yards dash. He stepped the distance in :07 3-5, which lowered the carnival mark and Chicago was the first team to score when its quartet won the two mile relay in a great finish with Illinois. The two captains, Speer of Chicago and Emery of Illinois, hooked up on the last relay, and the Maroon breasted the tape by a matter of inches in advance of Emery. Chicago covered the distance in 8:04 4-5, which is a new carnival record.

Ames Wins Four Mile Relay.

The next mark to go by the boards was the four mile relay, which went to Ames. The Hawkeye team trailed for the first three relays, but Stone took up the going on the last relay and romped home an easy winner. The Ames quartet ran the distance in 18:40 3-5, a new record for the carnival.

Slaughter of Michigan and Frost of Kansas Aggies tied for first place in the pole vault at 12 feet 2½ inches. This mark bettered the old record of 13 feet.

Illinois won a well deserved victory in the one mile relay when Phil Spink of Illinois came from behind on the last relay and passed Hall of Chicago on the stretch.

Brutus Hamilton of Missouri took the Illinois all around with 4,958 points. Osborn of Illinois was second with 4,913 and Bradley of Kansas third with 4,894. Lewis of Missouri took fourth with 4,536. Summaries:

One mile college relay—Won by Wabash [Brown, Eastlock, Gustafson, Manley]; Eureka college, second. Time, 3:39 3-5. [Two starters.]

One mile University relay—Won by Illinois [Schlapprizzi, Prescott, Donohoe, Spink]; Chicago, second; Michigan, third. Time, 3:30 2-5.

Two mile university relay—Won by Chicago [Bowers, Jones, Otis, Speer]; Illinois, second; Wisconsin, third. Time, 8:04 4-5 [Carnival record].

Medley relay, two miles—Won by Georgetown [Dorsey, Legendre, Aurray, Conholly]; Illinois, second; Ames, third. Time, 8:24.

Four mile university relay—Won by Ames [Graham, Freyert, Cromer, Stone]; Ohio state, second; Wisconsin, third. Time, 18:40 3-5 [Carnival record].

One mile interscholastic relay—Won by Crawfordsville [Dinwiddie, Schleizer, Walker, McGrath]; Hyde Park, second. Time, 3:52 3-5. [Two starters.]

75 yard dash—Won by Scholz, Missouri; Massengale, Missouri, second; Prescott, Illinois, third. Time :07 3-5 [Carnival record].

75 yard high hurdles—Won by Johnson, Michigan; Andrews, Wisconsin, second; Beardsley, Michigan, third. Time, :09 3-5.

Shot put—Won by Higgins, Chicago; Baker, Michigan, second; McClung, Missouri, third. Distance, 43 feet 4½ inches.

Pole vault—Slaughter, Michigan, and Frost, Kansas Aggies, tied for first; Buchanan, Illinois, third. Height, 12 feet 2½ inches [Carnival record.]

Running high jump—Won by Johnson, Michigan; Linn, Northwestern, second; Morehead, Ohio State, third. Height, 5 ft. 10 in.

Running broad jump—Won by Kenney, Illinois; Lashmer, Michigan, second; Overhue, Illinois, third. Distance, 21 ft.

"GRID" GAME FOR CHINA IN 2 YEARS PLANNED BY SHIH

P. K. Shih of Peking, China, expects to introduce American football into China. He will spend two years in America to learn the game and to get pointers on other American sports.

Shih is in Chicago with several other Chinese Y. M. C. A. secretaries who worked with 200,000 coolies used by the allies in France. The others are on their way back to China. According to Shih, who was a Y. M. C. A. physical director in Peking before the war, the Chinese boys are enthusiastic over all American sports and have taken up baseball, basketball, track athletics and tennis.

"Two colleges in China wish to form football teams," he said, "but they have no one to coach them. I hope to learn to play football here and teach them when I get back."

Carpentier's War Record Marked by Heroic Flights

[By Special Cable.]

PARIS, March 6.—In view of the feeling in America that Jack Dempsey, world's champion, did not do his bit during war time, the record of Georges Carpentier, the man who expects to battle for the biggest honors in pugilism, is highly interesting. The Frenchman put in a bit better than two years at the front, according to his record as given by Victor Breyer, editor Echo des Sports.

Carpentier was in London giving a six weeks' demonstration when the war broke out. He immediately gave up his contract and came to Paris. He enlisted at St. Cyr, Aug. 3, 1914. His class was not called until four months later.

Carpentier spent four months as chauffeur of staff cars. On Dec. 1, 1914, he was transferred on his own demand to the aviation service and was sent to the Avord camp for instruction as a pilot. He passed the examination tests in February, 1915, and went immediately to the front, where he began piloting observation planes. He remained at the front, except for the usual furloughs, until December, 1916.

Wins Croix de Guerre.

In September, 1915, he was cited in army orders for doing more than his duty, taking artillery officers over the enemy lines for regulation French fire during the battle of Champagne. The citation commended him for carrying out missions and reaching all objectives. He also received the croix de guerre and the military medal, probably the most difficult for a soldier of France to win.

It was a year later in the battle of Verdun that he was reported to have performed acts of the greatest bravery. During an attack in which the French recaptured Fort Douauamont in October, 1919, he flew low over the infantry, performing the difficult mission of keeping liaison between advanced units and the command in the rear. His plane was riddled by rifle bullets, one of which went through his helmet. Carpentier finally was poisoned while flying through a cloud of gas.

Cited a Second Time.

For his work in this attack Carpentier again was cited in army orders and awarded the medaile militaire. As a result of the poisoning by gas Georges became sick in December, 1916, and was given four months' sick leave in Paris. When he reported again in April, 1917, he was sent to the school for physical training at Joinville, where he remained as instructor during the rest of the war and until the army was demobilized at the end of July, 1919.

UMPIRE KLEM ON TOUR OF CAMPS TO EXPLAIN RULES

New York, March 6.—Umpire W. G. Klem of the National league started tonight on a swing around the senior league training camps for the purpose of instructing the pitchers in the new rules and regulations adopted at the recent meeting of the major leagues.

Klem's trip is at the order of President John A. Heydler of the National league, who considers the changes of sufficient importance to warrant a preliminary course of instruction for the pitchers. The itinerary will include the training camps at Miami, Jacksonville, Columbus, Birmingham, Hot Springs, Brownsville, and San Antonio.

O. B. PUTS BAN ON BELOIT TEAM

Tampa, Fla., March 6.—President Clark Griffith of the Washington club announced tonight that the national commission had ruled that no club associated with organized baseball would be allowed to play the Beloit, Wis., team. The national commission, Griffith said, took this action when the Washington club complained that Player E. Gharrity had repudiated his agreement with Washington to play on the Beloit team.

All Redleg Holdouts but Capt. Heinie Groh Sign Up

Cincinnati, O., March 6.—Capt. Heinie Groh is the only remaining holdout of the Cincinnati world champions. Today President August Herrmann announced that Pitcher Hod Eller and Eddie Roush, centerfielder and champion batsman of the National league, had signed. They will leave for Florida tomorrow night.

GIANTS, 21; SAN ANTONIO, 1.

At San Antonio, Texas:

	R.	H.	E.
New York Nationals	21	16	1
San Antonio [Tex.]	1	6	1

WILDE VS. MASON IN TOLEDO RING PROVES MAGNET

Toledo, O., March 6.—[Special.]—Jimmy Wilde, flyweight champion, who is to box Frankie Mason of Fort Wayne, Ind., American titleholder, here next Friday, is expected to arrive here Monday to finish his training. Mason, who is in Chicago, has decided to finish his training there.

The two boys will battle before a capacity house. Ad Thacher, president of the Toledo A. C., who is promoting the bout, says that more than three-fourths of the 3,200 seats have been sold. Most of the tickets have gone to Toledo and northwestern Ohio fans. Detroit plans to send a big delegation.

The short visit of Mason here has started the wagering, with Wilde favorite at 5 to 3. Thus far, however, very little money has shown. These odds may change after the same fans have seen Wilde in action.

Pete Herman Catches Flu; Cancels Bout in Philly

Philadelphia, Pa., March 6. — Pete Herman, bantamweight champion, who was to have met K. O. Joe O'Donnell here tonight, in a six round bout, was forced to cancel his engagement because of illness. He is suffering from influenza.

U. S. TRAPSHOT STARS PAY OWN WAY TO OLYMPIC

New York, March 6.—Ten of America's best trapshooters will pay their own expenses to Antwerp this summer to do their bit for the United States team, it was announced tonight by the American Trapshooters' association.

Mark Arie, Thomasboro, Ill.; Woolfolk Henderson, Lexington, Ky.; Frank M. Troeh, Vancouver, Wash., and Frank S. Wright of Buffalo, N. Y., are almost sure of four positions on the team.

The remaining six are to be picked by a committee consisting of Jay Clark Jr., Worcester, Mass.; E. P. Mathewson, Anaconda, Mont., and Ralph H. Spotts of New York.

In order to lighten the financial burden of the American Olympic committee the association agreed to pick a team that would pay its own expenses.

Industrial League Meets Thursday for Ball Plans

The Chicago Industrial Athletic league under the supervision of the Chicago Association of Commerce will hold an organization meeting Thursday in the grill room, Stevens' restaurant, 16 North Wabash avenue, at 6 o'clock. At this meeting representatives of baseball teams entered for the season will gather to discuss plans for the year, and applications of a number of prospective entrants will be considered. The last date for filing applications for entry in the league has been fixed at March 15.

MAROON NINE SOON TO LEAVE ON ORIENT TRIP

Cancels Ball Schedule by Big Ten Consent.

The University of Chicago baseball team will leave the city on its way to Japan before April 1. This announcement was made by Coach Pat Page yesterday. The spring conference baseball schedule of the Maroons has been cancelled by consent of the Big Ten board, and the Chicago tossers will break ground for their long trip three months earlier than first planned.

Page has not announced who will lead the team, but no one on the Midway doubts that he will get the assignment.

There are two reasons for the change in plans. Pat Page, baseball coach, has resigned his position to become athletic director at Butler college, Indianapolis, and wants to take over his new duties early in the fall. A trip to the orient such as the Maroon nine took in 1910 and 1915 would keep Pat away during the gridiron season.

Back in Time for Football.

The change in the plans will also get all of the Chicago football players back for the 1920 conference season, and there are several gridiron performers on the nine.

The date for the departure of the Maroons has not been set, and will be delayed until the schedule is completed. In the two former trips the Midway athletes met native university teams in Japan, China, Hawaii, and the Philippines. Page split his time last week between grooming his prospective basketball champions for their final games and scanning railroad time tables and boat schedules.

Chicago has been invited to play Waseda and Keio universities, and the remaining games will be booked in the next two weeks. The team may not stop at the Phillipines this trip.

Easy Task to Pick Team.

Coach Page is unusually fortunate this year, for the task of choosing the squad which will make the trip will be comparatively simple. For nearly every position on the team he has a "C" man with past conference experience. Capt. Vollmer, the star basket forward, is a veteran of two seasons' work behind the plate, and he will do all of the catching. Curtiss and Sproehnle are former Maroon first basemen, but Curtiss may stay at home for the track season and work for a chance for the Olympic team.

LEADERS: TIE YOUR OWN.

THE discovery of silk worm gut for a leader material, in the middle of the eighteenth century, marked the beginning of modern fly fishing. Possessing lower visibility and much greater strength than horse hair it made possible the use of our present-day rods "with lot o'kick in 'em."

Silk worm gut, so-called, is not the intestine of the silk worm, but is made from the cocoon spinning material found in masses on either side of the worm's alimentary tract. A good many years ago Mr. S. Allcock, the English tackle man, wrote a description of the gut industry of Murcia, Spain, where most of the silk worm gut of commerce is produced. It is worth reprinting:

"The peasants tie together bamboo cane reeds with string, forming a bed from twelve to fifteen feet long by four feet wide, raised from the floor about four feet. The worms are spread all over these beds and are fed five times daily covering them with mulberry leaves. The worm lives about fifty days, during which time they sleep three days at a time, in all twelve days.

"When they are ready to spin into the cocoon they creep upon branches of small trees, cut out of the gardens, which are placed over the worms. They are taken off, put into vinegar, where they remain for six hours, then put into water. Some of the country people make a special business of this, and purchase the worms from others, and employ girls to draw out the gut. When a sufficient quantity of two or three thousand are made, it is tied in bunches and hung up to dry in the yard or garden. Some worms produce one gut, some two and a few three guts."

Silk worm gut is sold in the tackle shops as it comes from Spain, in hanks containing good, bad and indifferent strands, or in the "selected." Unless the angler happens to be a perch or herring fisherman and can thus make use of the poorer strands, it will be much more economical in the long run to buy the selected gut. Good gut is perfectly round and smooth and one soon learns how to detect flat and rough places in it by running it through his fingers.

Systems of sizes vary somewhat but the following thicknesses are descriptive enough to enable the angler to convey to the tackle man just what he wants: Drawn gut, extra thin, Refina, extra light trout; Fina, light trout; Regular, standard trout; Padron, black bass; Marana, heavy bass, double thick Marana, salmon size; Imperial, heavy salmon. These sizes are usually sold in strands of twelve or fourteen inches in length and making a leader consists merely of tying these strands together and making the necessary loops. For ordinary trout and bass fishing six strands will make a suitable leader; for dry fly fishing eight or nine strands may be used and the leader tapered by using thinner gut towards the end; a taper from Marana to drawn gut is a good one.

Before attempting to tie a leader the gut should first be soaked thoroughly in lukewarm water to make it flexible. After this is done the next move is to tie the strands together. There are a number of knots for this purpose but the best known is the one called the fisherman's or water knot. It is very simple. The ends of the two strands are laid alongside of each other and a simple knot, single or double, is tied around each strand, then the free ends are pulled and the two knots jam against each other. Making two turns around the strands, the so-called double knot, is stronger but a little bulkier.

The barrel knot is still better for joining strands. Cross the strands and hold between thumb and fore finger of the left hand. Make two turns with the free end to the right [A in the figure] around the other strand; fold A back to the center; then bend B around A and the other strand, making a turn away from you; insert the end through the center so that it comes through opposite from the A end, then pull taut and clip off the surplus of A and B.

The best loop for the end of the leader is the one known as the favorite or straight draught. Make two loops at the end of the leader; then place the free end between these loops and finish by pulling the lower loop through the upper. This loop not only pulls straight but it lies flat and will not cut.

These are only a few of the good knots commonly used by anglers but if they are mastered the economically inclined can cut his leader expenditure in two to say nothing of having them to satisfy his own ideas of what a leader should be.

CENTENNIAL CLUB LEADS IN TOTAL OF RIFLE SHOOT

Pair of Chicago R. C. Men Get Scores of 200.

Six points in a possible 3,000 gave Centennial Rifle club the lead among Chicago clubs competing in the National Rifle association annual indoor tournament, at the end of last week's competition. The Centennial marksmen had high team total of 2,953.

Irving Park club was second with 2,947, moving to second position among the eight Chicago clubs last week. The week was the third of ten weekly shoots which will decide both national and state team titles by the telegraph matching of scores.

Two Shoot Perfectly.

Two local riflemen hung up perfect bullseye records of 200 last week. They were H. F. Wahlbaum and E. D. Sulcer, both of the Chicago Rifle club, which was high for the week with a five man total of 988. The Centennial team was second with 984 and Irving Park third with 983.

Billiard Notes

NEEDING only one victory in six games to win the Interstate Three Cushion championship, Clarence Jackson of Detroit lost all of them and finished in a tie for first place with Ray Palmer of Cleveland, who won his last two games from Reiselt of Chicago. The leaders will play two games, one in Detroit and one in Cleveland to determine the disposition of the title and the first and second prizes, which are $900 and $750. Reiselt won third money. Standing at the end of the regular schedule:

	W.	L.	HR.	BG.
Jackson, Detroit	18	10	9	47
Palmer, Celeveland	18	10	10	49
Reiselt, Chicago	15	13	9	44

Fred Conklin will start a Class B balkline tournament at Mussey's Madison street room Tuesday. The entries are: Barrett, Marden, Livis, Holt [200], Ewing, Kay [175], Whale [170], Pfeiffer [125], Kelly [120], Mayne [100].

Plans for the Illinois amateur balkline championship have been made by Secretary T. B. Wadleigh and preliminary tournaments will be staged this month in most of the rooms. The finals will be played in Chicago, early in April.

HOME BRED TEAM FOR AMERICA IN SOCCER ABROAD

Strong Squad to Be Sent to Olympic Games.

Peter J. Peel of Chicago, former president of the United States Football association, who is a member of the American Olympic committee, will attend a meeting of that organization at New York, March 13, in company with Everett C. Brown of Chicago.

Peel, President George Healy, and other officers of the U. S. F. A. are planning to send a representative soccer team to compete in the seventh Olympic at Antwerp this summer. Peel will take the matter up at the meeting Saturday.

It is proposed to have only American born players and in order to gather the strongest team, it is necessary to get an early start, since preliminary matches will have to be played. There are plenty of home bred players, but they will be drawn from different sections, and some games will have to be played here in order to develop team work.

The two teams from the Bethlehem steel company which have played in Norway, and Sweden, won a big majority of their games but each of these contained a number of Scotch and English born players.

THREE K. OF C. GAMES TODAY.

Three games will be played this afternoon in the southern division of the Columbus Basketball league at Seventh Regiment armory, 34th and Wentworth avenue. The schedule: Englewood vs. Leo, St. Philip Neri vs. Perez, Santa Maria vs. McHale, La Rabida vs. Calumet.

You are invited To A Musical Smoker

An Evening of Jazz and Jollity

Musical numbers by a famous Marine Band. Some close-up harmony, and some real knock-down and drag-out syncopation by the Marine Jazz-bo Kings.

Not to mention a few fast and furious glove contests by the champs of the Marine Corps. And some good "smokes" with the compliments of Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company.

You are expected, especially if you are an ex-Marine. Join in the chorus and help us have a good time. It's a stag affair.

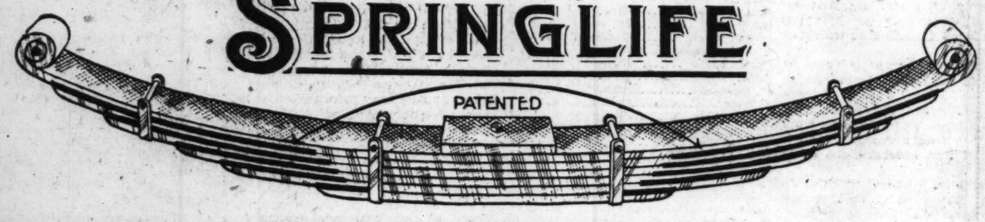
ANNOUNCING

A new and better form of spring lubrication for automobiles and trucks

SPRINGLIFE



That marvel of engineering skill, the modern motor car—beautiful in appearance, faultless in design—still lacks one quality to make it the perfect means of comfortable and convenient transportation. Even ball bearings, roller bearings, pneumatic tires and perfected spring suspension do not solve the problem of really absorbing road shocks, eliminating spring squeaks, making certain the maximum resiliency of springs and assuring smooth riding comfort under any and all conditions. "Springlife" does these things—and more.

What "Springlife" Does: "Springlife" makes your car ride much easier; eliminates spring squeaks; lubricates perfectly every leaf; gives each leaf an equal and full part of shock absorption; takes the jar and jolt out of your car; greatly increases your tire mileage by reducing the pound of the weight of your car; prevents spring breakage; assures better traction; and virtually—"makes every road a boulevard."

What "Springlife" Is: "Springlife" is a lubricating insert which is composed of a base of vulcanized fiber, practically indestructible. To one side is applied graphite in a tough, hard-wearing form which does not contain any oil or grease, and will not wear off.

"Springlife" is easily and quickly installed without removing the springs from the car. It is cemented, in strips, between the leaves of the spring with a special water-proof cement perfected in our own laboratories, which absolutely holds. "Springlife" will last at least one year. It is waterproof, dust, rust and dirt proof. The action of the spring cannot force "Springlife" out from under the edges and ends of leaves. Instead, it burnishes them smooth and slick.

Our Unconditional Guarantee: "Springlife" is sold on an absolutely unconditional guarantee. We will equip your car with "Springlife" and at the end of thirty days if you are not thoroughly satisfied in every way, all you have to do is drive by our Service Station and we will remove it and refund every cent you paid us. This guarantee is given you in writing.

Take Advantage of this 30-Day Offer and prove to yourself without risking a cent, that "Springlife" will do all that we claim. In one city where it was recently introduced, "Springlife" is already used and recommended by the authorized agents for the Apperson, Buick, Cadillac, Franklin, Locomobile, Marmon, Packard, Pierce-Arrow, and thirty-four other well-known, widely used motor cars. You can't afford not to try "Springlife" in your car.

Cost ranges from $10.00 to $25.00, depending on make and model of car. Simply phone us—we'll call for your car, install "Springlife" and return car within the hour. Or drive by our Service Station—we'll take you to your office or wherever you want to go and deliver your car any place in the city at any time you want it.

Oak Park	51½	U. High	31
U. High	41	Oak Park	25
La Grange	19	La Grange	16
Deerfield	17½	Deerfield	3½
Proviso	2

Oak Park High school retained its suburban league indoor track championship by defeating U. High for first place in the seventh annual Suburban league indoor track championship held at Bartlett gymnasium yesterday morning. Coach Thistlethwaite's well balanced team scored 51½ points. U. High put up a good battle, but Dr. Monilaw's athletes were forced to take second place with 41 points.

U. High Junior Champ.

U. High won the junior championship with 31 points and Oak Park was second with 25.

Jones of U. High was individual scoring chief with 16 points. He won both hurdles and was second in 440 and 50 yard dashes. Steger and Coffin of Oak Park pushed him closely, scoring 14 and 12 points respectively. Steger won the shotput and 50 yard dash, and was third in the low hurdles and three jumps. Coffin won the 440 and three jumps, was third in the 50 yard dash.

Records Go Into Discard.

Suburban league records went flying in the two meets. Hattendorf of La Grange hung up a new 880 mark of 2:09 2-5, Jones broke the high hurdle record and tied the low hurdle mark, and in the junior division Willis of U. High tied the low hurdle mark and Loomis of Oak Park outleaped the three jump record. Summaries:

Kankakee, Ill., March 6.—In preparation for the Little 19 tournament next week, St. Viator scored an easy win over the fast Lewis institute five of Chicago, 32 to 15.

Basketball Games

THE Seminoles had to cage two baskets in the last minute of play to cop a peppery 12 to 10 tilt from Mohawks in the Sears-Roebuck Indian basketball tourney at the Sears "Y." The Hurons defeated the Apaches, 23 to 19, and Cherokees took a tilt from Iroquois, 20 to 14. Schwarzback led the Seminoles' scoring, caging two ringers and a free throw in the half of the game he played before being ejected for personal fouls. Weinberg was the class of the Mohawks, making eight of the ten points. Lineups:

CULVER TOSSERS DEFEATED, 35-16, BY LAKE FOREST

Cadets Stopped by North Shore Academy Lads.

There was rejoicing at Lake Forest last night as the result of the academy's decisive victory over Culver Military academy, 35 to 16, in a game regarded as for the middle west preparatory school championship.

Culver showed fine fighting spirit and the game, through the first half, was a great battle, Lake Forest leading, 12 to 11. In the second half Coach Brown rushed a lot of new blood into the game for the home team and Culver was smothered, making no baskets.

Ames, Ia., March 6.—Iowa university defeated its ancient rivals, Iowa State college, in a hotly contested basketball game, 38 to 19.

CAN SHE SWIM?

Sixteen Year Old Chicago Mermaid Answers Question by Producing World's Record.

MISS SYBIL BAUER, the 16 year old Carl Schurz High school swimmer who competes under the colors of the Illinois A. C., holds the 100 yards back stroke record of 1:22.

Miss Bauer is a product of the I. A. C. Friday night classes for women. She joined the squad to learn the crawl stroke, and showed to good advantage.

Western Golf Clubs Attract Star Professionals of Nation

BY JOE DAVIS.

An eastern writer recently commented on the fact that the leading professionals were locating in the middle west, and asked why. The reason is they like the atmosphere and that the clubs in this section are looking for capable men, and are willing to pay for expert services.

It has been claimed that Chicago is the golfing Hub of this country, and if this claim is based on the quality of its professional talent, we win by a goodly majority over any eastern city.

We have a variegated assortment of playing and ground keeping talent, the former including imported and home brands.

Four British Internationals.

To be picked as a British international, is one of the highest honors in professional golf across the water, and the Chicago district can boast of four players of this class. Willie Hunter of Onwentsia, Phil Gaudin of Skokie, Lawrie Ayton of Evanston and Charley Mayo of Edgewater, make up the quartet.

Then at Glen View we have Jock and Bill Hutchinson, and at Bob o' Link, Bob McDonald. Among the homebred ranks there are Eddie Loos of Ravisloe, Leo Diegel, who will be at the Lake Shore club; Lloyd Gullickson, former city amateur champion, who will be with Joe Roseman at Westmoreland, and R. W. Tracey of Flossmoor.

New Recruits This Year.

All of these men are fine players and there are others like Stewart Gardner of Old Elm, Jack Croke of Exmoor, and George O'Neil of Lake Shore, whose time is taken up largely with course construction.

Among the strong players who have come west this year are Mike Brady of Boston, now at Oakland Hills, Detroit; Emmett French of York, Pa., who has located at Youngstown, O.; Dave Robertson, who will be at the Detroit C. C., and Alec Cunningham, who will be at St. Joseph, Mo.

Could Wallop East Easily.

While Walter Hagen, the national open champion, is temporarily located in New York, he is representing a Detroit brokerage house there, and was not tempted back by a golf offer.

There are some strong players left in the east, but it's dollars to doughnuts that the twenty best players from the middle west would form a much stronger combination than a like number from the Atlantic coast territory.

Teams of Dozen States for Maroon Basket Play

Pat Page, director of the second annual University of Chicago national championship interscholastic basketball tournament, to be held in Bartlett gymnasium March 18, 19, 20, is still considering the entries in an effort to weed out all but sectional champions for the big meet. It is expected that a dozen states will be represented in the two classes, one for high schools and one for academies. The winners of the Iowa tourney to be finished at Ames on March 12 and the winner of the northern Michigan tourney at Houghton will be entered.

BARNES CHOICE OVER HAGEN IN SPECIAL MATCH

New Orleans, La., March 6.—[Special.]—Jim Barnes, because he has been here several days and has played over the local golf course at the Country club, is a 7 to 5 favorite over Walter Hagen of Detroit, national open champion, in their match game to be played tomorrow. The course in fine shape. It is an eighteen hole course and measures 6,239 feet.

Hagen shot a 72 this afternoon in a match game with S. Gumbel. Barnes made the course in 73.

No Other Light Car Offers So Much

Unusual power and control, quick pick-up and extraordinary acceleration to real speed, are features inherent in the Cleveland Six and features with which Cleveland owners are delighted.

Many a Cleveland Six owner has said, "It would be hard to tell you what a good car the Cleveland honestly is. It's wonderful."

The Cleveland is wonderful because it is a splendidly developed and finished product, not a car rushed into the market. Three years ago the plans for production of this car were far advanced. But, with war approaching, production and marketing were delayed though experimental and engineering work were continued and test cars kept on the road. When war ended, came the Cleveland.

Built in a fine big factory, with all conditions and equipment assuring the very best of manufacture, and built by men whose successful experience had been wholly in the production of fine cars, the Cleveland Six began rolling out to the world last August. Since then thousands have gone to delighted owners, and thousands more are going every month.

There isn't any other light car that will give you so much of all that you wish, and at such a fair price.

Come let us show you what a car the Cleveland is

R & V Knight

(Formerly Moline-Knight)

America's Only Knight Six

IT is impossible to compute the life of the R. & V. Knight motor because it is a motor that improves with use. The longer it runs, the smoother it operates—the more powerful it becomes. There are no valves to get out of order; carbon only adds to its efficiency—time makes it more flexible.

The R. & V. Knight chassis and body are of masterful design and construction, as carefully built as the motor—characterized by those refinements in equipment which lift the car from the commonplace.

FOREIGN 'LIGHTS' FOUND WANTING IN GLOVE SPORT

Sheppard and Edwards Overrated Boxers.

BY RAY PEARSON.

These foreign exponents of the fistic art have been found wanting, if one excepts Jimmy Wilde, flyweight champion of England. At least that has been conclusively indicated in recent weeks by the appearance in this country of two lightweights from other lands and their resultant defeats by an American boxer who isn't a champion, a boxer who a year ago was believed to be sliding rapidly on the toboggan.

Both of these foreign strappers came highly touted, in fact they were burdened with titles showing that they were the kingpins of the countries which they represented.

One was Johnny Sheppard of England, who had risen to the top in his class by defeating practically all of the aspirants for the crown within Johnny Bull's domain. The other, Lew Edwards of Australia, was brought to this country by Tom Andrews, who promotes the shows of the Cream City Athletic club in Milwaukee.

Fall Foul of Mitchell.

It happened that the boy selected to discover just how good these foreign champions were was Ritchie Mitchell, the Milwaukee lightweight, who is a smart boxer, more versed in ability to box than in that phase of the game which requires the use of the term slugging. Ritchie is a fair one handed puncher, but does not carry the one punch knockout stuff in his best hitting hand, the right.

But what Mitchell did to these champs from abroad makes it perfectly apparent that more class must be produced if England and Australia are to cope successfully with the lightweights who are floating around this country. Ritchie found Sheppard a highly overrated battler, punched him when and almost anywhere he desired. Though he couldn't poke the Britisher, who is a rugged tough guy who "can knockout, he did give him a pasting. It was a onesided scrap, that left no doubt as to the fact that Sheppard is a weak brother in this ring game.

Little Chance with Yankees.

Without in any way disparaging the performance of Mitchell it can be said that there are any number of lightweights in this country who could have taken the measure of Sheppard just as artistically, and undoubtedly there are some of them who have the punch who could have jolted the Londoner into the land of dreams.

In the case of Mitchell's battle with Edwards, there was another story to tell, and in the telling there is revealed an interesting sidelight which shows how a smart boxing fellow can be deluded. Tom Andrews, who for years and years has been holding boxing shows and who has been mingling with the padded glove tribe for a long time, was the man who failed to rate the Australian at his real worth.

Andrews didn't figure Edwards would accomplish this feat at once, but judged by the way he talked of Edwards after bringing him to this country, he did believe that Lew could knock Ritchie Mitchell, Johnny Dundee and a couple of other American lightweights out of the way before working up to a championship match with Benny Leonard.

That sort of deducing was where Andrews went wrong by a long ways, for Edwards was matched with Mitchell for his American debut at Milwaukee, and what Ritchie did to Lew was worse than the way he slammed Sheppard around. Mitchell knocked Edwards down a few times and dealt out such a terrific lacing that the Australian champion was forced to give up the uneven battle at the end of six rounds.

FOR PLAYERS OF WHIST

By A. R. METCALFE

CARDS of attention for good players are deuces, treys, and fours; for beginners cards above the six are usually required. The correct management of the little cards is fully as important as the play of aces and kings, as the following deal will illustrate:

THE HANDS.

H—J, 8, 6, 4.
C—A, 8, 7, 4.

C—None.
D—K, Q, J, 6.

S—10, 6, 2.
H—A, Q, 7.
C—K, J, 2.
D—10, 7, 4, 2.

Score, 0—0. West dealt and passed. North passed. East bid one heart. South passed. West bid one no trump and the bidding closed.

North had the original lead.

West secured ten tricks.

In this deal the vital play was the five of clubs by the declarer, at trick one. Had west carelessly played the trey of clubs, south could have placed six clubs in the west hand and would have switched to spades, making game for the declarer impossible. The fall of the cards at trick one apparently marked five clubs each in the north and west hands. This made the return of the club less objectionable for south than any other lead he might have made at that time.

Game, of course, was easy for the declarer after his clubs were established. South might have made the ace of hearts at trick four, but this play would not have saved the game and might lose it. South, of course, could not tell at that time that north held neither the ten nor nine of clubs.

The next deal also shows how important it is sometimes for the declarer to conceal his reserves.

THE HANDS.

13	DQ	9C	HA	10S

West secured eleven tricks.

When the declarer trumped in dummy the first diamond led each opponent naturally thought his partner held the diamond ace. It, therefore, seemed highly desirable for south to take that last trump from the dummy and then continue the diamond suit.

Had the declarer won the first trick with the ace, south would have switched to hearts when he got in and saved the game.

EASTERN VARSITY TRACK GAMES AT PENN-MAY, 28-29

New York, March 6.—The eastern intercollegiate championship track and field meet was awarded to the University of Pennsylvania by the association at its annual meeting today. The games will be held May 28 and 29.

The recommendations of the executive committee that admission charges be slightly increased and that one-quarter of the gross gate receipts be donated to the American Olympic fund were unanimously adopted.

Other recommendations of the executive committee which were adopted included formal recognition of a three mile freshman cross country race, to be held on the same day and course as the regular varsity championship.

Williams college, University of Cincinnati, Boston college, and Holy Cross were admitted to membership.

The following officers were elected: Henry R. Ashton, Cornell, president; Thomas Fitzgibbons, Columbia, secretary, and J. H. Potter, New York university, treasurer.

Illinois Team Defeats Iowa in Mat Tourney

Urbana, Ill., March 6.—Illinois defeated Iowa in a dual wrestling tourney today, 21 to 16. Most of the bouts went extra time to the referee's decision. In the heavyweight class Ems of Illinois won from Held of Iowa by decision. Vena, Iowa, won from Jacks, Illinois, by decision in three extra minutes. They are featherweights. In the lightweight class Francois of Iowa won from Kallas, Illinois, with an arm scissors and wrist lock.

Capt. Whitson of Illinois defeated White of Iowa in the light heavyweight class in 14:00. Esslinger of Illinois was the victor over H. Devine of Iowa in the middleweight class.

SOCCER PLAYERS IN ACTION TODAY

Clad in thin jerseys and trunks, local soccer players will brave the cold winds this afternoon when the spring season is officially scheduled to open. Nine league games and one cup match are billed. The long deferred National cup game between the Bricklayers and Lincoln Park holds the interest of the fans. Games are:

First division — Thistles vs. Olympia at Cicero and Sixteenth; Harvey vs. Innisfails at Harvey.

Second division—Swedish-Americans II. vs. Rangers at Winnemac and Robey; St. Georges vs. Lake Forest at Seventy-ninth and Drexel.

Independent league—Portage Park vs. Victoria at Portage Park; Magyars II. vs. Magyars III. at Grand and Mansfield; Calumet Park vs. Unions at Calumet park; Bohemian-Americans vs. Bohemian II. at Twenty-sixth and Kostner.

Peabody Wrests Squash Laurels from Pearson

Boston, Mass., March 6.—Charles C. Peabody, Massachusetts champion, today won the National Amateur Squash racquet title, defeating Stanley W. Pearson of Philadelphia, who had held it for three years. The score was 4—15, 11—15, 13—12, 15—11, 15—11. The match was one of five in a Boston-Philadelphia intercity tournament, in which Pearson and Peabody were captains of the opposing teams.

STAN ZBYSZKO IN GREAT FORM, WRESTLES HERE

Stanislaus Zbyszko is coming to mat fans during his present tour that he is as formidable, if not more so, than when he was performing around here before the war. He is bowling over all antagonists with ridiculous ease and appears to pack a whack at the champion, Joe Stecher.

There is much curiosity concerning the present form of Stanislaus, because he makes his appearance in this city after an absence of five years, against Jack Lewis, Russian giant, at the Second regiment armory March 15. The 11th infantry is conducting the program.

When Stanislaus landed in New York a few weeks ago it was for the best to test him out before he started training. He went to the mat with his brother, and the latter was thrown in seven minutes.

HUDSON SUPER SIX

Hudson for Five Years the Master in Motor and Style

Hudson Created the Touring Limousine, the Sedan, and Other Distinctive Body Designs, and the Exclusive Super-Six Motor

No other fine car is so well regarded by so many people as the Hudson Super-Six. The proof is everywhere about you. More than 85,000 are now in service, and for five years it has been the world's largest selling fine car.

You will see more Hudson closed and chauffeur-driven cars on the fashionable boulevards than any other make. Observe its predominance in any assemblage of fine cars.

Each body type is noted for handsome appearance and rich completeness of every detail. Hudson created new standards of beauty. All know how its leadership in design is acknowledged.

But Hudson's chief appeal must always be in performance.

What Car Can Match Hudson's Proofs

If any car disputes Hudson's supremacy in speed, endurance, hill climbing or acceleration, it is not by official proof.

Hudson history is written in the records of the greatest speed and endurance tests known.

All automobile engineers were seeking ways to reduce motor vibration when Hudson solved the problem with the patented Super-Six motor. It added 72 per cent to power and almost doubled efficiency. No weight or cylinders were added.

The Super-Six at once established its leadership by every avenue open to proof. It became the most famous speed car, winning all important stock car speed records, and with special cars embodying the Super-Six principle it won distinction in all championship speedway events.

But it was not to prove speed that these tests were made. Hudson merely established its speed qualities in development of its value as a reliable, enduring car, such as you want.

And remember, it was chiefly through endurance, made possible by its exclusive motor, that Hudson won these victories. Such tests crowd scores of miles into one. They impose a strain that could be equaled, in ordinary driving, only by years of hard use.

These records are three, four and five years old. Yet they have never been matched. And Hudson is a better car today because of what they taught.

These Tests Helped Build the Present Hudson

Its 7,000 mile run, across the continent and back, in 10 days and 21 hours, and its 24-hour run of 1,819 miles, equaling a distance from New York to a point west of Denver, showed ways to improve the Super-Six.

More enduring metals resulted from these experiences. Ways to overcome minor troubles were discovered. Owners have helped, too. They gave information that led to elimination of faults common to all cars.

But not the slightest change has been made in the Super-Six motor principle. For no way has been found to improve it.

Hudson's Leadership in Sales Holds Unbroken

And because Hudson has found no rival in the five years since it began its record winning career, its sales leadership among all fine cars has been steady and secure.

Hudson production has always been under the demand. This year shows a repetition of the shortage. Immediate deliveries for the most part are out of the question. So to get a Hudson at all this summer calls for early decision.

We suggest that you place your order at once to assure delivery.

WOULD COMPEL BIBLE READING IN ALL SCHOOLS

Church Federation Asks Basic Law Change.

BY THE REV. F. L. GRATIOT.

The Chicago Church Federation has asked the constitutional convention to provide for the reading of the bible in the public schools. The recommended clause would make the reading compulsory, and without comment by the teacher. The recommendation is made by the federation's commission on the constitutional convention, and was adopted by the boards of trustees of the federation last week.

The recommended clause reads as follows:

"As religion, morality and knowledge are necessary to good government, and the happiness of mankind, each teacher in the public schools of this state shall, at the opening session of each school day, read a selection of not fewer than ten verses from the bible, and without comment."

Cites Other State's Experience.

The report of the commission cites the experience of other states where the bible is regularly read to prove that all faiths can agree on such a course.

"It is not a question of whether the Douay version (the Roman Catholic English version), the King James version, or a revised version shall be read," said Frank J. Loesch, a member of the commission. "The thing is to compel a teaching of morality from the only authority we have on the subject."

In Pennsylvania, Tennessee, New Jersey, and Alabama, and in New York City and Washington, D. C., reading of the Bible in the public schools is compulsory. Many states make it optional. There is no difficulty experienced in any.

Unanimous approval of the Pennsylvania law was expressed in the answers to a questionnaire recently sent out to county superintendents.

Jewish teachers are free to read from the Old Testament only, should they choose.

Seek 25,000 Missionaries.

Twenty-five thousand additional missionaries will be sought by the Interchurch World movement, according to Dr. J. Campbell White, secretary of the life work department of the movement. He will be one of the speakers at the pastors' conference at Orchestra hall which opens tomorrow, when 3,500 of the 4,500 Protestant ministers of Illinois will be in the city. They will represent more than forty denominations.

MARRIED

Movie Actress Is New Yorker's Bride.

ALICE JOYCE.

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—Alice Joyce, moving picture actress, was married this morning in the Church of the Holy Innocents in West Thirty-sixth street to James B. Regan Jr., son of the ...ssee and manager of the Hotel Knickerbocker. Only members of the immediate families were present.

James B. Regan Jr. was graduated from Yale university in 1915 and shortly afterward went to France with the Yale ambulance unit. When this country entered the war he joined the tank corps as a private and rose to the rank of first lieutenant. He saw service on the French as well as the Serbian front and was cited for gallantry in action by the Serbian government.

Keep Wearing Old Clothes to Cut H. C. L., Bede Says

J. Adam Bede, former congressman from Minnesota, in an address last night at a meeting of Chicago life insurance agents, advocated an "old clothes" campaign as a means of combating the high cost of living.

He said he could not afford a new suit of clothes or a new pair of shoes and planned to make his present outfit last as long as possible by patching and repairing.

"I am urging all my friends to do the same," he said. "A movement of this character, with the proper backing, would help to bring down the high price of wearing apparel."

UNION OF LOCAL GOVERNMENTS IS URGED AS SAVING

Civic Bodies Give Views to Con Con Men.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

Those who pay the bills—despite the objections of those who spend public funds—want the estimated $3,000,000 annually to be gained by consolidation of local governments. Some of the organizations representative of taxpayers gave their views yesterday to the Hull committee of the constitutional convention.

The Association of Commerce, the Civic federation, the City club, and the Chicago Woman's club advocated consolidation, although they differ regarding the plan.

On home rule the oganizations presented a sharp difference of opinion. The City club, Civic federation, and the Chicago Woman's club desire a large measure of home rule. Their programs appear to contemplate that Chicago shall have all powers, including the making of its own charter, which are not injurious to the state to grant. The Association of Commerce, however, wants a charter adopted for Chicago by the state legislature, subject to the city's approval. It would then prohibit any laws for Chicago except those to which the city consented by referendum.

Difficult Questions.

Both the Association of Commerce and the Civic federation confessed publicly that the questions involved are exceedingly difficult, and requested more time in which to formulate and express their views. A number of the aldermen listened to the discussion and clamored privately for "home rule," but comparatively few were able to tell exactly what they desire.

Delegate Smith inquired for Mayor Thompson's program on "important matters," which he said—when the "concon" committee was in Chicago last—he desired to give the convention later. The mayor's ideas are, presumably, not ready; they were not presented, at any rate.

Henry P. Chandler, for the Chicago plan commission, made a plea for more bonding power with which to make needed permanent improvements.

Public Ownership.

Charles H. Mohler of the Public Ownership league read an elaborate scheme for public ownership. If it were presented to the convention, which it has not been, it would be referred to the committee on the distinction between legislative and constitutional matters. He would pledge the credit of the city to acquire utilities with the purpose of owning and operating them.

Other organizations would have the city granted the power to own and operate, that it might thereby be able to make better bargains with privately owned utilities.

No more meetings of this committee on Chicago and Cook county will be held in Chicago, according to present plans.

GRIEVING MOTHER ASKS FOR MISSING HIGH SCHOOL BOY

Leon Caplan, 17 year old Lane Technical High school student, has been missing from the home of his father, Louis Caplan of 2237 Barry avenue, since the evening of Feb. 16. On that evening Mr. and Mrs. Caplan went to a motion picture show. When they returned they found the youth had packed a small handbag and left. He took $50 he had saved.

LEON CAPLAN.

"I can think of no reason why the boy would leave home," Mr. Caplan said yesterday, when he appealed to THE TRIBUNE to help him in inducing the boy to return.

"He did express a desire to leave school and go to work; possibly that is the reason. His mother is grieving for him. Will you please ask him to return?"

MAN KILLED BY TRAIN.

A man believed to have been Eugene Kesterson, 25 years old, was struck and instantly killed yesterday by a Chicago and Northwestern railroad train a quarter of a mile south of Fort Sheridan.

FISH TOO FOND OF CHLORINE; MAY COST US $20,000

The appetite of fishes for chlorine entered the deliberation of the finance committee of the city council when the water department appropriation was taken up yesterday.

It seems, according to the comprehensive plan for an improved water system, submitted by City Engineer P. S. Coombs, that one of the chief reasons why Chicago is the healthiest large city in the world is the chlorination process through which its water is put. But there are still a few defects to be remedied.

"The method of introducing chlorine in the wet well as now practiced has proven unreliable," states the report, "due to the fact that the fish absorb a great quantity of the gas and the water is therefore undertreated."

The department seeks $20,000 to better the system of distributing chlorine. This is in addition to a request for $57,000 to carry on the present process. The committee tentatively agreed to cut the latter figure to $50,000.

The department of public works has asked an appropriation of $12,819,000 to supply the city with water for the next year. Only $8,292,518 in actual revenue will be forthcoming for this need, and the surplus from last year amounts to $1,687,228.

Interpreted by Noted Directors

Brunswick
PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS

The Greatest Record Idea

AFTER long preparation we announce Brunswick Records. With the Brunswick history of musical achievement before you, it is assured that they do not follow the ordinary.

Noted directors interpret the musical theme of each record. Thus we unite the talent of the artist with the genius of the composer. We bring a new guiding hand into record making.

The application of this fundamental necessity has made each Brunswick selection a beautiful musical picture. Each is developed as it would be directed by its creator. And the individuality of the artist is skilfully emphasized.

No one who enjoys beautiful music and wishes to hear eminent artists deliver the composer's version can fail to become enthusiastic over this newest Brunswick accomplishment.

Remember Brunswick Records will play on any phonograph with steel or fibre needle.

Praise is instant when one hears The Brunswick. Come in and hear the new Brunswick and Brunswick Records.

MYSTERY ANGEL PLOTS $250,000 DILL PICKLE CLUB

Aim to Outdo Paris and N'Yawk Bohemians.

A mysterious woman, scion of "one of Chicago's oldest and richest families," is at the bottom of an arch plot to overthrow Greenwich Village and the Latin quarter of Paris as capitals of the bohemian world, and make Chicago the ultimate goal of short haired women and men that barbers know not.

Within a few years she plans to set up the Dill Pickle club, that highbrow organization at 18 Tooker place, as the style center of the globe for aesthetic ideas and untrammeled thoughts. There the newer poetry will be born and the higher art will receive its swaddling clothes.

The Chief Dill Talks.

Jack Jones, chief dill among the intellectual pickles, admitted the plot yesterday. He said a woman interested in the club promised to advance $250,000 for the erection of a building containing a "telescopic" theater, a ballroom, and studios where the inspired may be instructed for a nominal sum. The structure will contain four stories and look externally as plain and dilapidated as the most rabid bohemian could desire. The inside, however, is to be a beauty and a joy—all pink shaded lamps and black cats and incense and Turkish cigarets.

"The Dill Pickle club has it all over Greenwich Village," he said. "We're out for Art for Art's sake"—his voice plainly showed that only capital A's would do—"and we're going to make Chicago the center of intellectual expression, the Mecca of the free minded. The building will be in this same neighborhood. I don't want to tell you where, because then they might raise the price on the lot."

She's Young Enough for Him.

"But, the mysterious lady?"

"You can say she's a millionaire and a member of one of our oldest families."

"Is she young?"

"Well, she's young enough to suit me."

As he talked, Jack, in overalls, was puttering about a miniature stage, while Anne Mitchell, a bob haired young woman in bloomers and smock, played with the ingredients of calcimine. Last night a theatrical season opened at 8 Tooker place, and on the thespian venture will depend to a great extent the outcome of the aforesaid plot.

Some Nice, Cheerful Plays.

"The idea is to put on plays that can't appear in the loop," explained Earle Ford, director. "We're opening up with Theodore Dreisers' labor play, 'The Girl in the Coffin.' Pendleton King's 'Cocaine,' and Padraic Pearce's 'The Singer.' The actors are professionals who have come with us for the sake of Art. The dramas are often found on the 'purgatory shelf' of the library only."

These plays will be shown daily. It is the idea to give first presentations only, and all the yearning playwrights of the world are invited to send in their manuscripts. If acceptable they will be tried out on the Dill Pickle audience. Tooker place is to become the dramatic testing ground of America, and Art will assume its capital A once more.

Meanwhile Mayor Thompson is expected to put up a new sign soon:

"Boost Chicago! We lead tthe world in altitudinous brows. Let's keep it so!"

FINAL INCOME TAX WEEK HERE.

ONE week from tomorrow all income tax returns must be in the hands of the collector of internal revenue. As Collector Harry W. Mager has announced that no excuses will be accepted for failure to have the returns in on time, taxpayers are urged to complete their filing without further delay.

THE TRIBUNE'S income tax bureau, with the free services of its staff of experts, is at the disposal of the public for this purpose, and many thousands of taxpayers already have availed themselves of its assistance. During the first eight weeks of the filing period THE TRIBUNE'S bureau has given out more than 37,000 blanks and has assisted many more than that number of taxpayers who have sought advice or help.

The merchant or manufacturer, in figuring his income for the purposes of the income tax, should deduct from his gross sales the cost of goods sold during the year, the result being his gross income for the year. He should take into consideration the inventories of goods on hand at the beginning and end of the taxable year.

From his gross income he is allowed to deduct as business expenses such items as salaries and wages, rent paid for use of business property in which the texpayer has no equity, interest on business indebtedness to others, taxes on business and business property, minor repairs, a reasonable allowance for wear and tear of property used in business, and losses of business property by fire, storm, or other casualty, or by theft, when not compensated for by insurance or otherwise.

Bad accounts actually charged off because they were ascertained during the year to be worthless may also be claimed as a deduction.

The smaller incidental expenses, such as advertising, freight, express, postage, stationery, telephone, etc., are also deductible.

TELLS PLAN TO PROTECT HAYES LAND BUYERS

Arrangements have been made with the United States Farm Lands company to protect the purchasers of California land who dealt with the Daniel Hayes company, now involuntary petitioners in bankruptcy, according to Perry Patterson, atorney for the Hayes interests.

"I have made a written arrangement with the president of the United States Farm Lands company whereby every person who has bought of the Hayes company will get title to the land by entering into a contract with the owner of the land for the balance due on the purchase price," Mr. Patterson said. "That may be done either by a contract for the deed, making certain monthly payments, or by paying $30 an acre cash, when the deed will be given, with a mortgage to protect the balance; or the purchaser may pay cash for the full amount due and get a discount of $7.50 an acre. Of 366 creditors, 251 have agreed to this plan."

The whole plan is subject to the approval of Judge K. M. Landis. Mr. Patterson said the Hayes company had a ten year lease on the building in which it has offices, with an option of renewal for ten years. It was in consideration of this lease that the name of the building was changed from Brede to Hayes.

Women in Palestine to Be Granted Suffrage

New York, March 6.—Jewish women in Palestine have been granted the vote and will be eligible for election to the constituent assembly, according to a cable message received from London today by the Zionist Organization of America. The message from the International Zionist organization stated that the assembly would convene soon to formulate a constitution.

BLACKHAWK VETERAN KILLED.

Harold C. Sever left his home in Valparaiso, Ind., some time ago, saying he was going to Chicago to experiment with an improvement he had made on a wireless receiving set. Since he left there has been no word of him, and the folks back home are worried.

His father, William Sever, says the wife and mother are heartbroken. They believe Harold has reenlisted in the navy, or has met with some accident.

BROKER SEIZED FOR THIRD TIME ON "CON" CHARGE

Irving Jordan, broker in the Mallers building and resident of the Morrison hotel, is held at the detective bureau for the third time since last October. He is charged by Seymour Bamberger, shoe buyer for Mandel Bros., with operating a confidance game.

Jordan, according to Bamberger, sold the latter an automobile last October for $1,400. Three weeks before then, the police say, Jordan was taken into custody with others in connection with the sale of canceled Rock Island bonds. After the car was purchased Bamberger learned that Nelson Bros., an automobile concern, held a $700 mortgage against it. Jordan was arrested, and upon his promise to repay Bamberger the $1,400 he was released. Jordan, Bamberger says, has failed to pay the money and has been rearrested.

3274 passengers in cars of 31 different makes drove up before this Opera House entrance one evening last month. Many of them are traveling in second-class comfort, not realizing that they pay first-class prices for it

Does it Really Cost any more to Travel First Class

YOU will often hear people say, with an air of resignation, how much they would rather ride in a Packard, if they could only afford it.

Putting the Packard owner in a class apart, with special comforts and privileges—assuming that he pays more for his motoring than they do.

A GREAT many people would be less resigned to their own inconveniences of travel, if they knew how little the Packard owner pays for the comfort they speak of.

The gasoline mileage of the Packard is from 10 to 14, according to road conditions. The oil mileage, 1,000 to the gallon. Tires, properly cared for, 12,000 to 16,000 miles.

The Packard exclusive heat-treating process adds greatly to the strength of the steel, reducing repairs and depreciation.

The longer life and greater used value of the Packard more than takes care of the difference in initial investment.

FOR twenty years the Packard Company has been studying motor cars from the standpoint of Transportation Experts. Time after time it has proved that trying to save on the initial investment costs a man more in the long run than buying a Packard.

Transportation facts are not a matter of compromise, but absolute—as the Packard Transportation Experts can show any man who really wants the facts.

RESCUES RELICS FROM BOTTOM OF AN ANCIENT LAKE

Finds Evidence of Three Races in Mexico.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[By Special Correspondence.]

City of Mexico, Feb. 23.—William Niven, an enthusiastic English explorer of Mexico City, goes fishing every Sunday in the bed of the ancient lake and lava field that formed the Valley of Mexico. Instead of mere piscatorial adventures, he brings back with him each week a wagonload of old vases, pottery, utensils, figures of gods and flowers, beads, and human bones that spell to the archaeologist the story of the race that lived here before the birth of Christ.

Mr. Niven has a government concession, and gives most of his unique finds to the national museum. But he has sold some, and Chicago and Harvard universities hold a few of his discoveries. He leases a farm, hires peons to strip the surface, and then he goes in and lovingly uncovers the deposits of the buried millions who once ate and drank and loved and worshiped strange gods in the shadow of the great volcanoes which still guard the eastern horizon. He has been doing this every Sunday for fifteen years, with the exception of a few weeks when the rebels were unpleasantly close to this city.

Three Civilizations.

Before the explorer and his helpers have gone ten feet under the surface they have found evidences of three different races and types of civilization. These are described as the "teotihuacans," the "tepecancans," and, at the bottom, the types of the archaic or primitive dwellers in the valley.

These ancient people lived in houses ornamented with tile. They had incense burners, razors of flint, ornaments of jade, needles, vessels of all kinds. Mr. Niven declares that recent skulls uncovered show they were vegetarian. They had considerable artistic ability, as shown in the modeling and coloring of the figures. One figure found represents a group of mothers with babies. One mother carries twins, one twin being held in the arms and the other carried on the back. The mother is entirely nude.

Mongol in Origin.

The headdress consists of bands of cloth through which the hair protrudes and hangs along the sides as disc shaped ear coverings, somewhat similar to the "doughnut" style of hairdressing popular in certain classes today. From the back part of the headdress appears a large, heavy band of material, which connects with the waistband, forming a space for the carrying of one of the babies. The mother's countenance shows much expression. The eyelids are turned downward in contemplation of the child, and the mouth reveals the lingering smile peculiar to the Mongoloid racial type.

Mr. Niven and Prof. Ramon Mena, who has assisted in the examination of the thousands of specimens, declare it is without question that these people were Mongol in origin. The headgear, ear coverings, and ventral bands around the infants continued in vogue up to the time of the Spanish conquest. The little images unearthed show floral representations in the headdress. Phallicism was one form of worship shown by the figures. The swastika symbol is found.

A few miles from the city are the great pyramids of the sun and the moon, filled with chambers and temples. On the outskirts of the city are hundreds of homes where the unlettered natives of today dwell in homes that are less commodious and habitable than were the homes of the ancients. They cook the same simple meals out of doors, in the same kind of dishes. The Christian era has brought little change for the better to them, although there is a shrine in every village.

WILLIAM F. RIETZ

William F. Rietz was unanimously reelected grand exalted ruler of Oak Park lodge of Elks, No. 2095, at the election Thursday. Mr. Rietz was the ruler who objected to a group of women, wives of Elks, using the clubrooms for parties. The women resented and there was a lively "tiff" in which they dubbed Mr. Rietz a "woman hater." Mr. Rietz contended that it was against the by-laws and that the organization was a "man" affair.

LEGION NOTES

No, it was not election parading you saw last night in Woodlawn—no, indeed. It was simply about five hundred members of Woodlawn post and their fair aids from Hyde Park High school "drumming up" some interest in the benefit performances to be given for the post next Wednesday afternoon and evening and Thursday evening at the Midway Hippodrome theater. That was the "why" of the red fire and torches and everything. Miss Norma Anderson was one of the girls who beat the drums for the post.

Judge Landis is to be the speaker at the banquet given by the University Illini post No. 500 Wednesday evening at Champaign, Ill. A representative of the federal board for vocational training will give an account of the work accomplished by the board in this state.

Midway post will hold its monthly business meeting on Tuesday at Bartlett gymnasium, Fifty-seventh street and University avenue. It is announced a smoker will be held on March 23 at the Soldiers and Sailors' club, 120 West Adams street. An extensive program has been arranged and a good time is assured. Plans will be discussed with a view toward effecting consolidation of several smaller posts with Midway post.

Drexel post No. 132 will give a smoker Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at Warwick hall, 535 East Forty-seventh street. Several speakers and an election of officers for 1920 will be features.

The 3d division, second longest in the line in France, will hold a reunion and smoker at room 1014 County building at 8 o'clock p. m. March 10. There are about a thousand 3d division men in Chicago and environs.

A state chapter of the American War Mothers, a national organization, will be organized in Joliet on March 30 and 31 if the plans of the Joliet chapter are carried out.

Hyde Park post will have a business meeting tomorrow at Chicago Beach hotel. As matters of great interest to the post will be decided, a full attendance is desired by the commander.

The FRANKLIN SEDAN

THE performance of the Franklin Sedan has greatly changed the motoring public's ideas—especially those about what automobiles should do. Franklin dependability has naturally changed the order of motorists' inquiries when buying a car. The vital questions that establish a car's usefulness are today the first ones usually asked, as, for instance—

"How far in a day can I drive this car without getting tired?"
"What is its best average speed over all kinds of roads?"
"What restrictions of season, weather or roads must be expected with it?"
"What is its proportion of unsprung weight to weight above springs?"
"Has it any real flexibility or is it hard riding?"
"Will it yield to road shocks or must it have shock absorbers?"
"Does heavy, rigid weight punish its tires?"
"How many miles will it average to a gallon of gasoline in everyday use?"
"Does it require constant routine care?"

The story of Franklin Light Weight, Flexible Construction and Direct Air Cooling (no water to boil or freeze) is being told on so many roads that all observant motorists know it. Briefly, it is comfortable, non-fatiguing riding over the greatest possible distances in a day on all roads. Consistency of speed, with safety and effortless control. Minimum tire trouble. No hot or cold weather worries. Daily usability all year, and:

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline
12,500 miles to the set of tires
50% slower yearly depreciation

SCIENCE CHURCH SUIT GOING TO HIGHEST COURT

Officials to Test Ruling Adverse to Them.

Boston, Mass., March 6.—The trustees of the Christian Science Publishing society may not be controlled by the directors of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in the opinion of Judge Frederic Dodge, whose finding as master in the Christian Science suits was filed with the supreme judicial court of the state today. The master also finds that the directors had no legal right to remove John V. Dittemore from their own board or Lamont Rowlands from the board of trustees.

The original draft of the master's findings was prepared two months ago, and since then counsel for the directors have sought to reopen the case so far as it affected Dittemore and also to have the findings amended. These requests were refused.

Goes to Superior Court.

The directors already have indicated that they proposed to continue the fight before the full bench of the state supreme court.

As soon as the master's report was filed the board of directors with the exception of Dittemore, issued a statement declaring that the fight was not ended.

"In the suit brought by the trustees of the Christian Science Publishing society against the directors of the mother church," says the report, "the master now has filed a report of his findings and conclusions. Much of the report is unfavorable, but it is not a final decision; it is subject to review by the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts, first by a single justice thereof, and later by the full court of five justices.

Church Built on Rock.

"At least some months are likely to elapse before their final decision can be obtained. Mrs. Eddy's work as the discoverer, founder, and leader of Christian Science only needs the clear understanding and active coöperation of Christian Scientists.

"The discernment, steadfastness, and unity of Christian Scientists have been tested before. So once more we may be assured by these words of our beloved leader, 'Built on the rock, our church will stand the storms of ages.'"

Power of "First Members."

The master's ruling finds that at present there are two sets of directors of the Christian Science church, each having the same name, one constituted of a board of four under the deed of 1892 and the other of five members acting under the bylaws made by the directors in 1903 after "first members" of the church had transferred their powers to the directors.

In deciding in favor of Mr. Rowlands Judge Dodge says that his removal by the directors was unlawful because there was not concurrent action on the part of the "first members" of the Christian Science church, as required by the deed of Mrs. Eddy relating to vacancies.

If the "first members" had the power to abolish themselves and transfer their duties to the directors, says the master, those directors were the ones appointed under Mrs. Eddy's deed and not the directors since created by the bylaws of the church.

The only two directors, he states, who had a right to vote to remove Mr. Rowlands were Adam H. Dickey and William R. Rathvon, and their votes were not a majority of the board. Edward A. Merritt, a bylaw director, Judge Dodge finds, had no right to vote; James A. Neal's attempt to vote by telephone was illegal, and Mr. Dittemore, who was present at the meeting, did not vote.

The judge further declares that the charges against Mr. Rowlands were not made in good faith, in that the directors hoped the remaining trustees would refuse to fill the vacancy and thus give cause for their removal also.

McDONOUGH FAILS TO SPEAK.

Due to a misunderstanding, State's Attorney Martin S. McDonough of Iron River county, Michigan, failed to speak at the Irish Fellowship club luncheon at the Hotel Sherman yesterday. Joseph O'Donnell, president of the club, announced that arrangements were being made to have Attorney McDonough address the club at the next meeting.

"BATTING 1,000 IN FOREIGN LEAGUE," HE WRITES HOME

CYRIL BRENNAN.

Hobnobbing with royalty and dancing with countesses, Cyril Brennan, son of Richard Brennan, 1714 Monticello avenue, writes from Warsaw, Poland, that he is "hitting 1,000 in the foreign league."

Brennan, who is 20 years old, was a pupil at De Paul university when he enlisted in the American Red Cross for overseas duty. He tried to join the A. E. F., but was rejected on account of defective eyesight. He sailed for France a month before the armistice was signed. At present he is in charge of the unloading of all Red Cross supplies shipped from America to Warsaw.

GEDDES DOESN'T FALL FOR 'HANDS OVER SEA' TALK

Sees U. S.-British Amity in Interdependence.

BY JOHN STEELE
[By Special Wireless.]
(Copyright: 1920: By the Tribune Company.)

LONDON, March 6.—Sir Auckland Geddes, the new British envoy to the United States, will make an excellent ambassador. He has no use for this "hands across the sea" talk, and realizes fully that the relations of Great Britain and America now are not all they should be. His ideas that true friendship will grow out of an interdependent, as distinguished from a competitive, commerce and plans to do all in his power to promote these developments. He feels, however, that for a little time, at least, competitive elements will rule, as America developed its manufactures during the war and entered markets hitherto a British monopoly.

Must Exchange Goods.

Great Britain, however, Sir Auckland declared, naturally is an importer of raw materials and food from America, while England still makes some things needed in America better than any one else. He has no fear of excessive shipping competition, as American ships are only in the Atlantic and other trades where there are established American bases, and there is no competition with the staple trade of British tramp steamers.

Regarding Anglo-American feeling Sir Auckland compared it with his own development on his first visit to America. At first he felt we all were the same people, then he became irritated at small differences, then he realized the differences were only in unessentials. The main ideals of democratic government and human decency were the same. The two nations always will be found together in a great crisis, he said. The two nations now are passing through their second phase and hope soon to reach the third and final one.

Home Rule Ireland.

Geddes fully realizes the influence of the Irish agitation in embittering relations, and he has high hopes that a home rule settlement will remove most of this. He strongly controverts the Irish statement the bill turns over Ireland to Ulster.

"It places Ulster face to face with a united Ireland," the ambassador said. "If Ulster does not unite, it must face an economic boycott which will sooner or later compel it to come in."

Geddes is a strong advocate of publicity of international affairs, but he explains it not always is possible to announce the details of negotiations while they are proceeding and before conclusions are reached.

Geddes has a college professor's precision and impatience with trifling, but he has also a keen sense of humor and tells funny stories in a way that should make him popular in Washington. The prime minister, in spite of his failure to attain popularity here, looked on him as the most valuable member of the cabinet and hesitated long about letting him go to Washington. He is a poor man and the salary of the Washington post has been doubled to enable him to keep up entertaining on the usual standard.

CONFESSES KILLING TWO.

El Paso, Tex., March 6.—Jose Perea today made a voluntary confession that he killed Mrs. Maria Rembeck and Manuel Sanches here Feb. 13, according to County Attorney Will H. Pelphrey. He said he had been drinking. The bodies were found yesterday in the sand dunes east of here.

Nokol changes your furnace into an efficient oil burning plant

Nokol can be installed in your heating plant—whether it is steam, hot water, or hot air, if it is in good condition—by merely replacing the coal grates.

A simple half day's work, and the trick is done. You are relieved at once from that messy, dirty furnace tending job. Coal, ashes, soot and grime are done away with, and a clean, well heated home is yours.

Burns oil—automatic

Nokol burns oil which is kept in a neat, compact tank. Gravity compels its passage to the combustion chamber where it is blown into a fine cool spray. A pilot light ignites this spray into a white hot flame. Combustion is complete; all fuel is utilized.

Controlled by thermostat

Nokol is automatically operated by a thermostat. You set it at the desired temperature and it will maintain that temperature with unerring certainty. When your house reaches the proper temperature, the flame is automatically shut off—when it falls below that degree the flame is ignited and burns instantly at maximum efficiency the moment of ignition. You use fuel only when you need heat.

Your home clean and healthy

Not only is the care of the coal and tending the furnace a messy, dirty job, but every house-wife, at least, realizes that coal soot causes an immense amount of damage. It ruins walls, rugs, draperies, curtains, laces, etc.—and is the direct cause of big cleaning bills. And Nokol, because it burns cleanly and evenly, gives you a home that is pure, healthy and wholesome to live in.

Ushers in a new era

Nokol does for heating what electricity did for lighting. For the past two years users everywhere have proven to their entire satisfaction that Nokol has solved their heating problem. Nokol's strongest boosters are those in whose furnace it has been installed.

On the approved list of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Price, complete without storage tank, is $325 f. o. b. Chicago. Average cost of installation $35.00.

HIGHLAND PARK GETS BUSY WITH HER VANITY BAG

Peeks In New City Plan Looking Glass.

The preservation of the rural character of Highland Park, with the sense of quiet, cleanliness, and country charm it now possesses as its greatest asset, is the chief objective of the plan.—William E. Parsons.

BY AL CHASE.

We've heard considerably lately about how Glencoe, Winnetka, Evanston, and other north shore towns are doing up with community centers, parks, boulevards, beaches, and new roads and zoning restrictions, and all the other improvements called for in modern city planning. And we've heard not a whisper about Highland Park.

But don't think Highland Park has been asleep while her rival villages have been using the municipal vanity bag. She's been quietly getting ready a beautification scheme which was made public yesterday and which promises to equal in scope anything along the north shore.

Way back in 1915 a city beautiful commission was appointed by Mayor S. M. Hastings. Possibilities of improving Highland Park were studied for several years, and then in September, 1919, Architects Edward H. Bennett and William E. Parsons were commissioned to draw up a comprehensive city plan for Highland Park by which the future growth could be guided properly and the present growth altered into a more beautiful and convenient place to live in. Mr. Parsons developed and executed the city plan for Manila.

Track Depression Urged.

As in the other north shore towns the most important step is altering the grade of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks and also those of the North Shore Electric. Depression of a small part of the right of way is urged instead of elevation.

The second big step, and one which is closely related to the grade changes of the railroads, is that of street extension and improvement. If the tracks are depressed it is expected that several crossings will be changed. The new parks also will have an important effect on street extensions and new subdivisions.

Just as in all the other north shore suburbs the honk of thousands of cars day and night is one of the town's chief annoyances. Noise, dust and wear of pavements of streets planned for quiet residence life will be switched over to the west to thoroughfares such as Telegraph road, the Milwaukee road and Lee road. Considerable heavy motor truck traffic it is expected will be diverted to St. John's avenue, which runs close to the railroads.

Heavy Traffic Drive Planned.

The neighboring suburbs also plan the same method of keeping the lid on the disagreeable features of motor traffic, so that with the building of a few blocks of roadway here and there a continuous heavy traffic drive close to the railroad will extend along the north shore.

Highland Park already has been active in enlarging its park system. A tract of 100 acres and another of twenty-five acres recently have been acquired. A parkway formed by widening certain streets is planned to connect the town's parks.

Of course, the lake is the keynote to park development and ambitious plans for a water front beautiful have been drawn by Mr. Bennett and Mr. Parsons. It is called a "progressive lake front development" and provides for a harbor, several bathing beaches and still water lagoons for bathing. In other words, it is intended that eventually the maxium benefit may be derived for Highland Park from its advantageous location on Lake Michigan.

Ravinia to Be Improved.

A public square is planned to care for the town's retail business center by increasing the space around the Northwestern station. Related to this, but sufficiently removed from its noise and confusion, it is proposed to develop the community center, the nucleus of which is the town hall and semi-public buildings at Green Bay road and Central avenue.

As a traffic and business center of less importance is forming around the Ravinia station, it is planned to secure more space for a public square there.

And last but by no means the least important is the zoning of the city; the establishment of residence, business and utility districts.

"We intend to do all we can to maintain the reputation Highland Park now has of being one of the most attractive suburban towns in the country," declared Mayor Hastings.

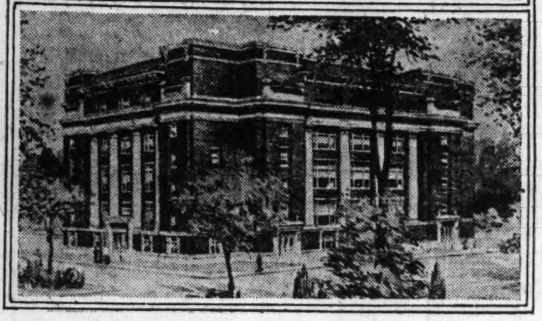
World Phonograph Co. Buys South Side Plant

Chicago's prestige as a center for the manufacture of musical instruments will be added to as the result of the purchase by the World Phonograph company of 145x590 square feet of property at the northwest corner of Halsted street and Forty-ninth place, improved with several buildings, one five stories. An indicated price of $150,000 was paid the Lockwood & Strickland company, millworkers, for the property. Alex. Friend & Co. were brokers.

The World company now makes sixty-five talking machines daily at its plant at 736 Tilden street. At its new plant its production will be increased to 200 daily. It will move on May 1.

Two loans, aggregating $135,000, were recorded yesterday, the World company giving a trust deed to the Central Trust company for $75,000 and one to the Chicago Title and Trust company for $60,000, at 6 per cent.

The Columbia Phonograph Cabinet company has leased from Bessie C. Colvin, through Albert H. Wetten & Co. and J. J. Harrington & Co., the five story building, 144x100, at the northwest corner of Erie and Sedgwick street, for ten years, at a total net rental of $79,000.



NEW MASONIC TEMPLES TO COST OVER $1,000,000

One Building for Each Side of City.

High cost of building apparently has no terrors for Chicago Masons. Three big Masonic temples, one on each side of the city, are either planned or under way, at an aggregate cost of nearly $1,000,000.

In the top picture is shown the new Englewood Masonic temple to be at the southwest corner of West Sixty-fourth and Green streets, on a lot 125x125, which cost $27,000. It is claimed this will be the largest building devoted exclusively to Masonic affairs in Chicago.

It will be six stories, 105x118, and will cost $300,000. The following Masonic bodies will own it: Mizpah lodge No. 768, A. F. & A. M.; Boulevard lodge No. 882, A. F. & A. M.; Delta chapter No. 191, R. A. M.; Mizpah commandery No. 73, K. T., and Temple council No. 65, R. & S. M. Recently Richard Cole lodge and Logan chapter have joined the association and several other lodges will become tenants of the building.

Work to Begin May 1.

The ballroom will be on the ground floor with raised loggias and solarium. There will be three lodge halls. The banquet hall will be on the top floor. According to Architect Clarence Hatzfeld, work will begin May 1.

The middle picture shows the temple to be built by the Wright Grove lodge on 102x120 at the southwest corner of Addison street and Reta avenue, at a cost of $300,000, from designs by Mr. Hatzfeld. The building will be 91x112 and will have a ballroom, banquet hall, two lodge halls, and elaborate club quarters. It will be two blocks east of the Cubs ball park.

Will Cost $300,000.

A description of the temple shown in the lower picture was given in the story on the Logan Square district in last Sunday's real estate department. It will be at the northeast corner of Kedzie boulevard and North Albany avenue. Mr. Hatzfeld has designed a 95x120 building to cost $300,000.

It will house the Logan Square lodge, A. F. & A. M., the Logan Square Royal Arch Masons, the Logan Square chapter of the Eastern Star, and several other northwest side lodges. It will have three lodge halls, ballroom, large banquet hall, clubrooms, and other features.

FERA LEASES SPACE FOR FOURTH DOWN TOWN EATNG SHOP

Gilman C. Fera will open his fourth downtown eating place as a result of his lease through the Hool Realty company of the store at 58 West Randolph street, 15x60, for ten years from May 1 at a term rental of $84,000. He now has lunchrooms at 27 West Madison street, in the McVicker's Theater building; 5 West Harrison street, and 57 West Van Buren street.

The same brokers have leased for James F. Porter to C. L. Peirce the store at 185 North State street for five years and two months from March 1 at a term rental of $24,800. It will be used as a cleaning and dyeing shop.

The four upper floors in the building at 12-14 West Van Buren street have been leased by E. F. Keebler & Co. for Charles H. Bromann to Daniel E. Grush for nine years from May 1 at a term rental of $45,000. They also have leased to M. Kriger the store at 85 West Madison street at $18,000 annually; to H. Friend the store at 181 West Madison street at an annual rental of $3,600, and for Josephine Douglas to Harry Thurston the shop at 518 South State street at an annual rental of $4,200.

The Richard M. Decker company, manufacturers of auto locks and motor accessories, have leased from Samuel H. Rosenthal, through Rosenthal & Landeker, two floors in the Rosenthal block at the southeast corner of Indiana avenue and Twenty-ninth street, for three years at a term rental of $19,800.

TWO NEW INDUSTRIAL DISTRICTS PLANNED FOR THE SOUTH SIDE

A new industrial district just east of Clearing is planned by John C. Foote as a result of his purchase yesterday of a thirty-five acre tract bounded by West Sixty-fifth, West Sixty-seventh, Kostner avenue and the Belt Line tracks, from Carl Hansen for a reported $59,000.

Mr. Foote acquired some time ago twenty-three acres north of his latest purchase fronting on West Sixty-third street, making a total area for factory sites of fifty-eight acres. Clyde A. Douglass of S. B. Mills & Co. was broker.

Another south side industrial district is to be made out of the land containing 500,000 square feet at the northwest corner of West Eighty-third street and Wentworth avenue. It has been sold by Harold W. Jeffery to the Greenebaum Sons Bank & Trust Co., trustee, which has taken title for a syndicate. The revenue stamps indicate a purchase price of $50,000. J. B. Woodruff, Sanborn & Burley and Harry Goldstine & Co. were brokers. The latter will handle the property.

Buys Building in Order to Get Flat He Wanted

If you can't get the flat you've set your heart on through the renting agent, go to the owner and buy it, is what Albert Moses of the Paragon Hat company believes is the easiest solution to the problem. Yesterday, after finding he couldn't rent a flat in the three apartment building at 4946 South Michigan avenue at the figure he wanted, Mr. Moses bought the property from Mrs. C. O. Young, through Clyde Marsh of W. K. Young & Bro., for $18,000.

The William Zelosky company gave its annual banquet to its sales organization at the Morrison hotel on Wednesday evening.

GOING UP

Chicago's Building Line Will Shoot Skywards Again if the Old 260 Foot Limit Is Restored.

Plans for several big projects under way will be hastily changed by architects and engineers to go to greater heights if the council changes the building limit back to 260 feet. The largest building to be affected will be the North American Trust company structure to supplant the Grand Pacific hotel and Illinois Trust and Savings Bank building. By adding sixty feet the new bank building will rival that of the Continental and Commercial National bank.

The Wrigley building owners say their plans undoubtedly will be changed if the limit is altered. The Federal Reserve building is another new structure which would probably add on sixty feet to its original planned building.

Several big projects which have been quietly snoozing since the 200 foot lid was put on now may be expected to bob up. The big Mayer-Stratford hotel plan is one. Several other big hotel projects nearly ready to go through are expected to show more speed in getting under way. And, of course, office building plans are expected to interest capitalists in a way they couldn't with a 200 foot limit on.

Help Yourself Eating Shop for Argyle Street

The Argyle section of the Wilson avenue district is to have a new cafeteria. The Northwestern Elevated company has leased the fifty feet of ground on Argyle street, with a depth of 100 feet, south front, adjoining the tracks on the west, to the Argyle Cafeteria company, for twenty-four years at a total rental of $31,000. Construction of a cafeteria will begin at once. Cline & Dix were brokers.

LEASE DREXEL VIEW HOTEL FOR 25 YEARS, $625,000

A term rental of $625,000 for twenty-five years will be paid by the Reinert Bros. Hotel Co. to John B. Mallers, Jr., for the 132 room seven story Drexel View hotel, at the northwest corner of Drexel boulevard and East Forty-fourth street. A lease was signed yesterday, dated March 15. The fixtures were purchased for $100,000 cash, according to Lewis A. Reinert, managing director of the company, which operates the 110 room Cambridge hotel and the 105 room Trenier hotel.

Paul Schulze Sells His Residence for $37,500

Paul Schulze, president of the Schulze Baking company, has sold his twelve room residence at 158 Melrose avenue, Kenilworth, to Homer H. Johnson of Lawrenceville, Ill., through Hart & Wheeler for a reported $37,500 cash. The lot fronts 200 feet on Melrose and is 184 feet deep. It is one of the most pretentious places in Kenilworth.

Another north shore residence deal by the same brokers was the purchase by Grover Hermann of New York City from William F. Temple of his "bungalow" at 82 Essex road, Winnetka, near Indian Hill, lot 90x180, for a reported price of $25,000, subject to $16,000 incumbrance.

Plan $500,000 Theater for Broadway Corner

Negotiations are under way for a $600,000 combination movie and vaudeville 3,000 seat theater to be erected at the southwest corner of Broadway and Irving Park boulevard. Otto J. Lorenz has purchased the site, 79x151, from the estate of W. C. Ohlendorf for an indicated price of $55,000. The property is improved with a two story frame store and flat building, also a four story brick store and flat building.

GLEN ELLYN REALTY MAN BUYS.

Lothrop Lee Brown has sold his Glen Ellyn real estate business to L. O. Farnsworth, who has been in the realty business in that suburb for many years. The change will not take effect until May 1.

HIGHEST PRICES OF SEASON FOR CORN FUTURES

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

Highest prices of the season for all corn futures, excepting May, were made yesterday, and May sold at the best price since the middle of last August. Last prices were the best of the week, without any new bullish developments. Net gains were 2⅝@3⅝c on corn, ¾@1¼c on oats, 3@3¾c on rye, and 3¼c on barley.

Gains for the week were: Corn, 6½@7⅝c; oats, 3⅝@3¾c; rye, 10½@11¾c; barley, 9¼c; pork, 35c; lard, 85@90c, and short ribs were 2½@5c lower than a week ago.

New Top on Corn.

Action of yesterday's corn market demonstrated that the surplus has been absorbed by commission houses recently, and it will take higher prices to bring out grain. A few of the local professionals sold early and forced May off fractionally, but there was steady buying in small lots by commission houses, indicating a broadening in the outside trade. Later shorts started to cover and found limited offerings, May jumping 4¼c to a new high on the present upturn.

The report that the grain corporation would sell 5,000,000 brls flour to Europe on credit unless congress authorized a loan of $50,000,00 had some effect on sentiment, but the dominating factor was the orders to buy in the hands of commission houses at $1.42 and under for May, while there were very few to sell above the market. Sellers of daily and weekly offers had to protect themselves. Receipts small, the seven leading western markets having 336 cars.

Big Trade On in Oats.

Despite persistent reselling of cash oats by seaboard exporters who are replacing with Canadian futures advanced and closed at about best figures of the week and within a few cents of the outside price of the season. A house with seaboard connections was a big buyer of May at the last. Selling was mainly by cash houses.

Rye was in good demand, but sellers were afraid to offer on account of poor car situation. Some business was said to have been put through at Minneapolis at 14c over May, track Baltimore. Futures were sold by local traders and bought by strong commission houses and closed at the top.

Barley strong and 1@2c higher. Spot sales were at $1.45@1.56. Receipts, 8 cars.

Lard Market Easy.

Heavy selling of lard by Armour at $21.50 for May, also by stockyard interests, made an easier market, despite the strong market for hogs and corn, and losses were 7½c. Ribs were under pressure and finished at the bottom with a decline of 17½c, while pork was slow sale and 25c lower. Little was heard of cash business. Shipments of lard and meats for the week were over 5,000,000 lbs under the previous weeks and 16,000,000 lbs short of last year's. Packing here since March 1 aggregates 116,000 hogs, or 10,000 less than last year. Prices follow:

Plans of American Steel Foundries Told in Report

Plans of the American Steel Foundries to increase the common stock and to inaugurate stock dividends are set forth in the annual report issued Friday. The stockholders will vote on March 18 on increasing the common stock from 515,520 shares of $33.33 par value to 750,000 shares of the same par value. The directors have approved the plan and favor stock dividends of 5 or 10 per cent a year for the next few years.

For the year ended Dec. 31, 1919, net income after all charges and federal taxes was $4,210,633, equivalent after preferred dividends to $7.55 a share on the $17,184,000 common stock ($33.33 par value). Net income in 1918 was $2,695,727. Surplus was increased by $2,091,320, that item standing at $9,274,166.

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

A report on farm reserves of wheat, corn, oats and barley will be issued by the government on Monday, March 8, at 1:15 o'clock, Chicago time. Estimates on wheat range from 135,000,000 to 145,000,000 bu, or 14.2 to 15.5 per cent of the last year's crop. Last year they were 128,703,000 bu, or 14 per cent of the 1918 crop. Unusual interest centers in the corn figures estimates ranging from 1,032,000,000 to 1,170,000,000 bu, or 35.4 to 40 per cent of the crop. Last year's revised figures were 855,269,000 bu, or 34.2 per cent. The largest in recent years was 1,253,000,000 bu, or 40.9 per cent in 1915. Percentage merchantable will also be given. Last year it was 2,062,000,000 bu, or 82.4 per cent. Percentage shipped out of the county where grown will be given. Last year's was 14.5, and the ten year average is 20.6 per cent. Oat reserves range from 370,000,000 to 380,000,000 bu, or 31.5 to 31.9 per cent. Last year was 590,351,000 bu, or 38.4 per cent. The trade generally looks for the official returns to exceed the estimate.

Houses with Wall street connections, as well as wires to the Pacific coast who have been large sellers of corn for several days, were mainly responsible for the advance here yesterday. Their purchase took the surplus off the market and started a general buying movement. A jump of 1c in September at the last was due to buying by a broker with a good sized order and found the offerings light.

A few of the western roads have decided to allow their cars to be loaded with grain for eastern shipment. This was one of the bullish factors yesterday, and in a measure offsets the effect of the lower rates for starting exchange.

One of the largest cash handlers says that Chicago is relatively the highest corn market in the country, and that industries continue to buy freely. A receiving house who bought 36,000 bu cash corn in the country on Friday, mostly in Illinois, resold it to outside industries. The outside markets are getting a good percentage of the corn being moved and have been for some time, which affects the trade here.

From the action of the corn and oats market in advancing to the highest level of the week, necessitating active buying against offers, many in the trade were inclined to believe that the government report to be issued after the close on Monday might be more bullish than the trade has expected. There are a few, however, who look for larger reserves than the government figures indicate.

A provision specialist says it is quite likely that more European business has been booked the last week than has been reported.

Seaboard exporters have canceled 1,100,000 bu oats with Chicago handlers in the last few days and replaced with purchases of Canadian at 5c discount.

Owing to congestion at Regina and Calgary, Sask., railroads have issued embargoes against shipments of grain to those points. At Calgary it is said 400 cars oats are on track waiting to be unloaded, and the eastern demand is slow.

Argentine wheat crop is officially estimated at 215,000,000 bu, oats 58,000,000 bu, and barley 10,000,000 bu. Last year's wheat was 189,000,000 bu, oats 45,000,000 bu, and barley 6,000,000.

Primary receipts of wheat for the season to date aggregate 337,357,000 bu, corn 90,288,000 bu, and oats 139,171,000 bu. Last year wheat receipts were 394,175,000 bu, corn 78,184,000 bu, and oats 208,357,000 bu.

CHICAGO CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK BANK RESERVE AGAIN SHRINKS GREATLY

Heavy cash payments by the New York banks last week resulted in an excess of nearly $31,000,000 in cash. At the same time an increase of $15,-000,000 in deposits expanded the reserve requirements, with the net result that the excess reserve decreased $16,000,000. This may be considered a further shrinkage, and left the excess reserve at $2,699,060.

Ordinarily the showing would have had a unfavorable effect on the money market.

A favorable feature of the weekly statement was the small increase in loans, $594,000.

The continued demand for money in the west was reflected in the statement of the Chicago federal reserve bank issued yesterday. There was an expansion of about $12,300,000 in bills discounted or secured by government obligations. A small shrinkage was disclosed in loans and notes on commercial paper.

In the meantime, however, the member banks increased their reserve deposits over $15,700,000. Federal reserve bank notes in circulation were up about $5,000,000. The figures as a whole do not indicate any improvement in the western money situation.

COTTON MARKETS

New York, March 6.—Liquidation in the near futures due to the break in sterling carried prices down and they closed 30@38 points lower, while distant futures were bought on reports of cold weather in the south and freezing on the coast and gained 10@3 points. Warm work is being retarded in the south and cold weather is necessitating replanting. Prices follow:

The New York Times.

New York, March 6.—[Special.]—The inclement weather cut down attendance of members on the stock exchange and also the number of traders in commission houses today, with the result of a desultory market in stocks.

On the whole prices were firm to strong, several specialties moving forward 3 points and more. Naturally, in view of the small total of dealings it was not possible to read into price changes anything more significant than the efforts of day to day speculators to acquire quick profits.

Foreign Exchange Reacts.

The foreign exchange market reacted from the levels established the day before, a development which seemed to represent considerable profit taking. The range covered by sterling during the week, 23½ cents to the pound, was so extraordinary an advance that purchasers at the jewel levels on Monday and Tuesday probably were active at the week-end in realising their gains. Since Feb. 4 sterling has scored a maximum improvement of more than 30 cents to the pound, and at today's final quotation the rate was substantially above the point whence it began to drop in the spectacular decline of last month.

Balances of Interest.

It would be interesting to know the extent to which sales of American securities for European account in the last six weeks have created balances here for England and France. Reports of really extensive liquidation from abroad have been heard and at the same time there have been expanding sales of British, French, and Italian government securities in our market.

FINANCIAL NOTES

The Federal Reserve bank of Chicago reports the weekly movement of credits as follows: Debits to individual deposit account for the week ending March 3, 1920, reported by 187 banks in twenty-three leading clearing house cities in the seventh federal reserve district aggregate $1,297,871,000, compared with $982,410,000 a week ago. Aggregate debits to individual deposit account in twenty-two of these clearing house centers were $1,292,675,000, compared with $918,901,000 for the corresponding week of last year.

Plans of Montgomery Ward & Co. to build large branch mail order houses in Minneapolis, Minn., and Portland, Ore., were announced yesterday by President Robert J. Thorne. The buildings will be eight stories, with 750,000 square feet of floor space, and will cost about $2,750,000 each. The branches will be in operation within a year, according to present plans.

Bradstreet's reports 129 failures last week, compared with 105 in the preceding week and 121 in the corresponding week in 1919.

Stockholders of the Wayland Oil and Gas company will vote on March 20 on a proposal of the directors to sell the company's properties at a price which, with treasury assets, will yield approximately $5.50 a share to the stockholders.

The Stutz Motor Car company of America has declared a 20 per cent stock dividend in addition to the regular quarterly cash dividend, payable April 15 to stockholders of record April 5.

INSULL PREDICTS LOWER GAS RATES WITH NEW PLANT

Samuel Insull, chairman of the board of directors of the gas company, yesterday held out to the gas litigation committee of the city council the prospect of lower gas rates, to be brought about through the forming of the proposed gas producing subsidiary company.

He went into details regarding organization of the new company, declaring he believed it a good proposition for the consumers.

"Forming of the subsidiary," he said, "will enable the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company to purchase gas at 12 cents a thousand feet less than the parent company could manufacture it. This should enable the company to save approximately $1,300,000 a year, or over a period of twenty years a saving of $40,000,000.

Sees Lower Rates Nearing.

"The tendency of the contract will be to reduce rates to the consumers. Our effort in making this contract is to build up the credit of the Peoples company so that in six years it can acquire the subsidiary."

He said the prime object in view in forming the subsidiary is not economy, but necessity; that the gas company, unable to meet the demands made upon it for gas, or to finance a new plant, was compelled to call in the Koppers company of Pennsylvania to build the $13,000,000 subsidiary, which has been given the approval of the state public utilities commission.

Touching on the gas company's finances, he said it had not made its fixed charges—in its running expenses—in 1918 or 1919, but had hopes of doing so this year.

Blames City Partially.

He seemed to lay some of the blame for the state of the company's finances upon the city, remarking that the company had made a "mistake" in coming to the city in 1915 with its request for permission to change the standard of the supply of gas.

"We realized we should go to the state public utilities commission," he said. "But, of course, we want to cooperate with the government bodies of the community.

"The handling of our request, which should not have taken more than a couple of months and would not have taken longer if handled by business men, took not far short of two years. Meanwhile the cost of gas and the materials that go into it were mounting and the company's credit was being destroyed."

Donald R. Richberg, the city's gas attorney, and Mr. Insull clashed frequently. The latter displayed irritability over some of the questions of the former and declared the latter's obvious effort was to "place me on record so that some time or other, when I am before the commission under oath, he can throw back upon me what I am saying here."

TRADE BALANCE OF EUROPE ONLY IN FAVOR OF U. S.

Washington, D. C., March 6.—While the United States continued to pile up a trade balance against Europe in January, South America, Asia, Africa and Mexico increased their balances against this country.

Figures made public today by the department of commerce show that for the month imports from the South American republics, Asia, Africa and Mexico exceeded exports to these countries by $220,437,983, increasing the total balance for the seven months of the fiscal year ended with January to $665,156,801.

Brazil and Cuba had the largest individual trade balances against the United States for January, of about $15,000,000 each, while Argentina and Japan had approximately $7,000,000 each and Mexico about $6,000,000.

The trade balance against Europe in January increased $356,155,839, making the total for the seven months $2,255,840,915. Switzerland alone of all the European countries held a balance against the United States for the month, imports from that country amounting to approximately $5,500,000 and exports to it totaling only about $3,000,000.

The heaviest trade balance again was against the United Kingdom, which imported $214,089,529 worth of American goods while it sent this country only $50,183,272 worth of exports. Fraffce's exports to the United States totaled $14,980,804, while it received $77,758,121. Italy shipped to the United States goods valued at $9,941,725, and received goods valued at $39,619,653.

$450,000 FIRE NEAR CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, O., March 6.—Fire destroyed all but the office building of the Elmwood Casting company plant in St. Bernard early today at a loss to the plant of $250,000 and to owners of patterns in work there of $200,000.

Railroads Name Freight and Passenger Agents

Two appointments were announced yesterday by the Delaware and Hudson Railroad company. James A. Flanders Jr. was named general agent of the freight department, and Charles H. Clark, traveling freight agent. J. E. Courtney was appointed general agent of the freight and passenger department of the Chicago office of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad. He also will represent the Western Pacific.

Southern Farms 100% Security

The growth of the southern states in the last 20 years has been phenomenal. Today the population of the south is better than one-half of the entire population of the United States in 1880. Approximately one-third of the area and poplation of the United States is in the south.

The entire United States depends upon the industry of the southern farmer for 90% of its early spring vegetables, 90% of the country's rice, 45% of the country's peaches, 33% of the country's eggs. Above all, the south produces 60% of the WORLD'S cotton. Such valuable land may well be said to be 100% SECURITY for any loans.

For the past 35 years it has been the business of George M. Forman & Co. to make loans to southern farmers in order that they may further develop their holdings. Because of systematic investigations conducted by this company in making these loans, not one dollar of principal or interest has ever been lost by any customer.

FORMAN FARM MORTGAGES and FORMAN FARM MORTGAGE GOLD BONDS yield 6% and 6½% interest. They may be purchased on a monthly payment plan.

The two booklets shown explain in detail just how you can invest your savings in 6% and 6½% farm mortgage investments.

BETWEEN INGLESIDE AND ELLIS-AVS.

There Is No Substitute for Curled Hair.

No one can argue you into believing that a suit made of cotton fabric is the equal of wool—because you know differently. No one can argue you into believing that cotton hose are the equal of silk in quality and luxuriousness—because you know.

Once you know the truth about the comfort, durability and sanitary advantages of a pure, curled hair mattress, you will know positively that a mattress of cotton, felt, or other vegetable fibers cannot be its equal.

When we tell you that if you live in Chicago you can buy at this factory a "Restwood" Sanitary Curled Hair Mattress made from the finest curled hair, cased in the finest ticking, made by the most expert workmen in the land, at wholesale or about half the price you must pay in the stores for an equal quality—you will never be content till you own one. Our price makes this easily possible for you.

Come to this factory and see "Restwood" hair mattresses and box springs made.

Take any Archer-av. or 35th-st. car to 35th-st. and Archer-av. Ask for Mr. Unerwood.

14,000 lbs. of Almonds from 10 acres at 25¢ a pound, $3,500.00 gross profit

$2,500 to $3,000 a year net Income for Life

STUDY the above picture. It shows the returns from an 8½-year-old 10-acre almond orchard of 700 trees in the Paso Robles district with almonds selling at 25 cents per pound.

Naturally your first question is, "Will almond trees actually produce an average of 20 pounds each per year, or 14,000 pounds for 700 trees?"

Our emphatic answer—an answer that we can back up with positive proof—is, "Yes! and then some." As a matter of fact a yield of from 25 to 30 pounds from 8½-year-old trees is a fairer estimate than 20 pounds.

But please remember that we are here referring to trees that are 8½ years old. The bearing stage is reached at 4½ years, at which age a yield of 4 pounds per tree is a conservative estimate; 8 pounds at 5½ years; 12 pounds at 6½ years; 16 pounds at 7½ years. From 8 years on the yield increases at the rate of about 2 or 3 pounds a year until they reach the maximum when about 20 years old, at which age a safe estimate is 50 pounds per tree. There are almond trees in this district upwards of 35 years of age which have averaged 200 pounds a year for the last 10 or 12 years.

The above estimates have been compiled by the leading almond authority of the Pacific Coast—Mr. G. A. Nehrhood, our Field Manager. We know the estimate is conservative because Mr. Nehrhood recently made affidavit to the fact that his own almond orchards yielded crops in excess of his own estimate and that other orchards in the vicinity exceeded the estimate.

NOW READ THE PROOF

You will note that we estimate only 4 pounds from 4½-year-old trees. Now read these letters and judge for yourself how conservative our claims really are:

Paso Robles, Calif., Nov. 17, 1919.

"This is to certify that I am the owner of the Excell-Crest Orchard in the Paso Robles district. I have quite a number of four year old almond trees. While gathering the crop this year I weighed the crop from a number. The average of those weighed was over 10 pounds and one tree weighed 15 pounds."

J. W. MITCHELL.

Paso Robles, Calif., Nov. 17, 1919.

"My groves range so differently in age that it was almost impossible to keep the different age trees separate. However, I have kept 4 acres of my four year olds separate, on which I harvested 1,400 pounds of almonds, 800 pounds being Non-pareils and 600 pounds Texas, and for your information as to the production per tree, I can truthfully say that some of my trees produced fully 15 pounds per tree and better."

GEORGE LAING.

Our estimated yields apply only to the almond orchards consisting of the right kind of trees, planted in the right kind of soil and that have been given scientific care throughout the early stages of growth.

WHAT ARE THE RIGHT KIND OF TREES?

Pedigreed trees. Like produces like in plant life the same as in animal life. Pedigreed stock in raising horses, cattle, hogs, poultry, etc., pays best, as everyone knows.

Pedigreed almond trees are budded from old trees whose records of heavy yield have been kept for years past. All of our young trees are nursery grown and budded in the above manner under the direct supervision of Mr. Nehrhood.

WHAT IS THE RIGHT KIND OF SOIL?

What is known as sea marl adobe soil, which is found in quantities only in certain portions of the Paso Robles district.

Mr. Nehrhood traveled over the entire State of California examining lands and testing soils as to their productivity for various crops. He found that while many sections, often in widely separated areas, were suitable for oranges, lemons, figs, apricots, peaches, grapes, etc., there was only one section where ALMONDS could be grown without the endless bother and enormous expense of irrigating and fertilizing. This section is in the Paso Robles district about midway between Los Angeles and San Francisco and 16 miles from the coast.

Here he planted his own almond orchards, cared for them and brought them into bearing. He has selected for our Association land which he subjected to the same tests that he applied to his own land. Under his personal supervision the same kind of trees are planted for every buyer of our orchard tracts as he planted in his own orchards, and he gives them the same scientific care. The soil is the same. The climatic conditions the same. The flourishing condition today of all the almond orchards he has planted for our buyers is the same as prevail in his own orchards. Is there any reason why an orchard planted for YOU should not grow as well and bear as heavily as Mr. Nehrhood with his crew of experts has produced for others? Is there any reason why a 10-acre almond orchard in the Paso Robles district should not yield YOU an income of from $2,500 to $3,000 a year when it is earning that much and more for others?

SUPPLY—DEMAND—NET PROFITS

Our estimate of net profits of $2,500 to $3,000 a year are based upon a selling price of 25 cents per pound, after deducting approximately 3c per pound to cover all cost of production—planting, cultivating, pruning, harvesting and marketing. The price paid to growers in 1918 was 25½c. Last fall (1919) the price was from 30c to 32½c. Indications are that prices for almonds will increase because of the greatly increased demand.

There is no danger of overproduction. Only 15% of the almonds consumed in this country are domestic grown, the other 85% being imported. California grows 99% of this country's production. Today almonds are used in numerous ways unheard of a few years ago. Both as table nut and for use in confections the almond is unsurpassed. Experts say that if every acre of desirable almond land in California were planted and the trees in full bearing the entire crop would supply only about 50% of the domestic demand.

A moderate initial payment secures one of these almond tracts for you. You pay the balance of the first half of the purchase price in easy monthly payments. But that is all the cash you pay. The last half of the purchase price is taken out of the crops. Thus it is necessary for us to bring your orchard into profitable bearing before we are fully paid. Therefore it is to our own interest to give your orchard the best possible care and bring it into profitable bearing as quickly as possible.

YOUR EVERY INTEREST PROTECTED

When you enter a contract with our association you deal with an organization composed of men who are themselves almond growers and whose interests are identical with your own. In fact, our association can be successful only through the success of the individual investors who buy these tracts. As an additional safeguard we have created a trust fund for the express purpose of developing these orchard tracts and which can be used for no other purpose. This fund is held in trust by the large trust company in California, having capital and surplus of $2,500,000. Under the terms of our agreement with this big trust company, money for development purposes can be paid out only on properly receipted bills and vouchers. And it is further stipulated that the trust company shall deliver the title and deed to this property upon the buyer's completion of his contract with us. Your financial interests could not be more carefully safeguarded.

OUR MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

If you visit our property and do not find everything just as we have represented we will refund to you any payment you have made, together with your railroad and Pullman fare. This same offer holds good if, instead of going yourself, you have a representative make the trip.

HINDENBURG TODAY—With the German government pondering new ways of refusing to surrender him for trial under the terms of the peace treaty, the field marshal celebrated his seventieth birthday in Berlin recently by passing through lanes of smiling, flower-bedecked school children. Germany wants to "try" its former war lords within its own borders. The picture helps to explain why.

"THAT WELL-DRESSED LOOK"

THE GLENCOE:

There's something particularly dashing about this little "cut-away" tailormade with its debonair one-button fastening. The back is straight with buttons and stitching; that double shawl collar (with cuffs trimmed to match) is most effective, and the diagonal pockets are smart. The skirt is full in back with a centre plait, and the pockets match the coat. The material is Homespun Twill, in Light Green, Tan and Gray mixtures.

At the right

THE WHEATON:

This breezy little suit is quite different from most things you've seen. The Tuxedo collar is faced with contrasting satin. The coat has just enough stitching to be effective and in just the right places. The belt can be "all-round" or you can leave the front open to display your favorite vestee. Stitching forms a yoke on the skirt which is really slenderizing. It comes in Black, Navy, French Blue and Hemp Tricotine.

IF YOUR MIRROR WERE A CRYSTAL BALL!

HAVEN'T you often wished it were? Wished that instead of seeing yourself today, trim and smart in your spickly span new coat or suit, you could see yourself in that attire a month from now?

As one charming little cynic puts it, "I always keep my fingers crossed until I've worn my coats and suits for several weeks. You can't tell what you've bought until then."

She's not far from right; lines that are "tailored in" look no different to you from those that are "pressed in." But, oh, the difference after sun and rain have glared upon and drenched you alternately!

There's only one way to know that those snug shoulders will keep their perfect lines, that the collar will never forsake your neck in back, that the hem will not pucker nor the seams draw and that every little detail will be just as "finished" looking after months of wear, and that is to have in that tailormade the signature of a reliable firm of tailors!

The Wooltex Tailors are far too vain of their reputation for giving one "that well-dressed look" ever to sign a tailormade that isn't a thoroughbred from the topmost button to the pure silk thread that hems it.

When you are looking for yours, ask the salesperson for that interesting little fashion magazine, "The Tailored Woman." If you'd rather we send it to you, write us for it.

Wooltex
Tailor-mades

The signature on its bit of white satin appears in every genuine Wooltex Tailormade. It is the promise of your tailors that your "Well-Dressed Look" is not for a week or a month, but for the life of the tailormade.

Wooltex Tailormades are priced at $45, $55, $65, $75 up to $125.

CHAS. A. STEVENS & BROS.

THE BELMONT:

Tucked inserts are a striking feature of this little Innovation Coat. You see how they look in back, but you've no idea how effective that same tucking is in front. The cuffs and the convertible collar also carry tucks. It's a coat of many uses, this little Suede Velour, and you may choose from Sparrow, Black, Navy, French Blue and Dove.

THE DELAMERE:

Fair or cloudy weather, in town or in the open, you'll wear this coat more often than you can imagine. It's so simple and yet so smart! The sides are semi-fitted, the pockets vertical slots, the collar convertible. Stitching of contrasting silk and a few bone buttons are a pleasing trimming. Full lining of figured Pussy Willow. Tricotine in French Blue, Black, Navy and Tan.

BERT LYTELL "arrived"—at least that's what I think—in "Lombardi Limited." And his last picture, "The Right of Way," seems to offer proof that he's arrived to stay. Not, you understand, that the first picture mentioned was his debut. It merely happened to be the piece in which he found himself.

Mr. Lytell was born and educated in New York city. He was on the stage for a number of years playing in stock and in numerous Broadway productions. He was the lead for Irene Fenwick in "Mary's Ankle." His screen career has been under the Metro banner, though he played "The Lone Wolf" for Brenon.

The gentleman in question is 5 feet 10½ inches tall, has brown hair and hazel eyes and weighs 155 pounds.

LOUISE FAZENDA is the bow-legged, knock-kneed, pigeon-toed, cross-eyed, pig-tailed Sennett comedy girl with the funny ankles. Before going any further be it said that in real life she's none of these things, but a good-looking young woman. How she achieves her screen effect beats me—but she gets it all right.

Lafayette, Indiana, 1895, witnessed the advent of Miss Fazenda to this vale of tears. She was educated in Los Angeles and for a short time was on the stage, in stock. Then she went to Universal. The Keystone comedies—remember them?—soon claimed her, and from then it was just one tumble after another until she tumbled into Mr. Sennett's organization.

She has light hair, hazel eyes, weighs 138 pounds, and, if you ask me, is double jointed from her neck down.

Tighten Your Skin

Remove the Tell-Tale Lines

The absolutely new—Astringent Skin Treatment—tightens the outer skin, removes the "tell-tale" lines and wrinkles, lifts sagging muscles back into place, and makes the skin delightfully smooth, firm and youthful. It also cleanses the pores thoroughly, draws out the annoying blackheads, reduces coarse, enlarged pores, and bleaches a sallow or muddy complexion.

Graham Beauty Secret

is an antiseptic, astringent brown paste that penetrates the pores, and gives much quicker and more satisfactory results than home massage. It stimulates the circulation of the blood in the underlying skin tissues, and restores the natural youthful elasticity of the skin, without the slightest irritation.

The better class of toilet counters can supply you with Graham Beauty Secret (price $1 50) and Graham Skin Pure (price 50c). If your dealer cannot—send us the coupon with $2 and we will send you a full size jar of each, postage and war tax prepaid, with booklet, "Graham Astringent Skin Treatment" with full instructions.

Try This Treatment

Before retiring bathe the face in warm water—not too hot. Do not use soap. Dry thoroughly, and apply Graham Beauty Secret. Do not rub or massage the skin, as too hard rubbing stretches the tissues and tends to cause wrinkles. When the astringent paste has dried thoroughly, remove it with warm water and apply Skin Pure, with a gentle circular motion. This treatment, used regularly, will soon give a firm, clear, beautiful skin, which has the natural glow of health.

New Way to Wash Your Face Beautifies Your Complexion

Beauty specialists agree that the secret of a perfect complexion is a thoroughly clean skin. A specialist has perfected a new substance, Ara-Mara, which is not only excellent for washing the face, but it cannot injure the most delicate complexion. It will not, cannot grow hair. All you do is to gently massage it into the skin and wash with plain warm water. It not only cleanses thoroughly, but it lightens the complexion much better than lemon juice or face bleach. It is surprising to see how fresh, clear and wholesome the skin becomes, even after only one proper treatment. Those who use it declare it has done more real good than any complexion treatment they ever used. It's a wonderful treatment for enlarged, cloggy pores and irritations. It certainly is a great blessing to those who are afraid of wrinkles and who have dull, sallow, lifeless complexions. You can always get Ara-Mara at any big store. If you live out of town and your home dealer has not got it, you can order 50 cents' worth of Ara-Mara by mail of Herbert Roystone, 16 East 18th Street, New York.

La-May Face Powder Is Harmless to the Most Delicate Skin

A specialist has at last perfected a pure face powder that is guaranteed pure and harmless to the most delicate baby skin. It beautifies wonderfully, because it helps to clear and lighten the skin and protect the complexion from blemishes. And it really stays on better than any other face powder. Of course, every one knows the famous La-may Powder (French, Poudre L'Ame). This is the powder that does not contain starchy rice powder or dangerous white lead to make it adhere. White lead is a deadly poison and rice powder turns into a gluey paste that ruins the complexion by causing enlarged pores, blackheads and rice powder irritations. All dealers carry the sixty cent box, and many dealers also carry the generous thirty cent size. Be sure to try La-may. Then you will really know a perfect face powder. You will be sorry if you take a substitute. When you use this harmless powder and see how beautifully it improves your complexion you will understand why La-may so quickly became the most popular beauty powder sold in New York. Because La-may is so pure and because it stays on so much better it is now used by over a million American women. We will give you one thousand dollars if you can buy a better face powder anywhere, at any price. Herbert Roystone, 16 East 18th St., New York. Save this notice.

Certified records of thousands of Aladdin Homebuilders in every state prove these statements. You can prove these statements for yourself, for there is an Aladdin Home near you, wherever you live. The pictures at the left tell the story of scientific preparation and handling of materials, and the efficient conservation and direction of the labor. Fourteen years' success of the Aladdin System of construction have firmly established its many advantages. The Lumber that's Wasted Costs Just as Much as the Lumber that's Used. The only possible way to reduce present high prices of lumber and labor is to save the usual waste. The Aladdin System prepares all the lumber in our mills ready to be nailed in place. Waste of lumber is reduced to less than 2%. Cost of labor is reduced 30%. One man will do in six days, with Aladdin Materials, what it requires ten days to accomplish without Aladdin's System. The book, "Aladdin Homes," sent free to prospective builders, explains this completely and thoroughly.

Complete Material—Prompt Shipment

Aladdin taps the four greatest forests of the United States. Each one has sufficient standing timber to take care of the needs of the country for many years. The probable lumber famine predicted in all parts of the country will not affect The Aladdin Company.

Every Aladdin house ordered in 1920 will be shipped quickly and completely. This means that every item of the complete home will be shipped as ordered, sufficient lath and plaster for lining the interior of the home, nails in necessary sizes and quantities, beautiful grain, perfect quality interior trim, doors of high quality material and excellent workmanship. Every item of material will be shipped regardless of shortages of lumber and other building materials in the general markets.

National Home Building Service

Aladdin houses are manufactured and shipped direct from the Aladdin Company's own mills in Michigan, Mississippi, North Carolina, and Oregon. Wherever you live, Aladdin houses come to you in a straight line from the nearest timber region. Aladdin's National Homebuilding Service means shorter routes, quicker delivery and lower freight rates for builders in every part of the U. S. Three days to a week are saved in shipments reaching destination. Complete Sales and Business Offices are maintained in connection with each mill. Fully 24 hours' time is saved in your mail reaching our offices.

20 ft. of Lumber From a 16 ft. Board

The Aladdin System of Homebuilding has been practicing for 14 years the principle the World has only learned during the war—the elimination of waste of lumber and labor. The Aladdin Book explains this system thoroughly, shows how 20 feet of lumber is cut from a 16 ft. board. The great Aladdin Organization, composed of experts in every branch of homebuilding, stands ready to help you build your home at a saving. Put this group of experts to work on your problem. Send for the interesting book, "Aladdin Homes" No. 175.

Bungalows, Dwellings, Garages, Summer Cottages. Send for 100 Page Book

The Aladdin Book of Homes has a message for you. Amongst its pages, profusely illustrated in colors, leading home designs are represented to you. Aladdin houses are cut-to-fit as follows: Lumber, millwork, flooring, outside and inside finish, doors, windows, shingles, lath and plaster, hardware, locks, nails, paints, varnishes. The material is shipped to you in a sealed box-car, complete, ready to erect. Safe arrival of the complete material in perfect condition is guaranteed. "Fitting Tributes to Feminine Graces"

CARDINAL GIBBONS, in his residence at Baltimore, signing on behalf of himself and all the American archbishops and bishops the joint pastoral letter which was read in all the Catholic churches of the United States on Washington's birthday. The pastoral urged a settlement of the present "unrest and agitation" by "a return to the Christian principles of charity and justice and by the free cooperation of the people." It was the first message of its kind since 1885, Cardinal Gibbons being the only one still alive who signed the previous pastoral.

The Wonder of Creole Hair

The glorious Creole hair—a heritage of their pure French and Spanish blood—has always been admired everywhere. The hair is a special pride of these aristocratic people and for generations La Creole Hair Dressing has been favorite among them.

La Creole Ends Gray Hair

La Creole will restore hair already gray, gray-streaked, or faded, to its youthful color. It contains no dyes and works no sudden change. Two to five weeks' treatment will bring back any shade—lightest brown to deepest black—whatever the natural color was. Refinement approves the use of La Creole.

La Creole must not be confused with dyes—it cannot give a dyed look, and there is nothing to stain the scalp or to wash or rub off. Makes hair wavy, beautiful. Eliminates dandruff.

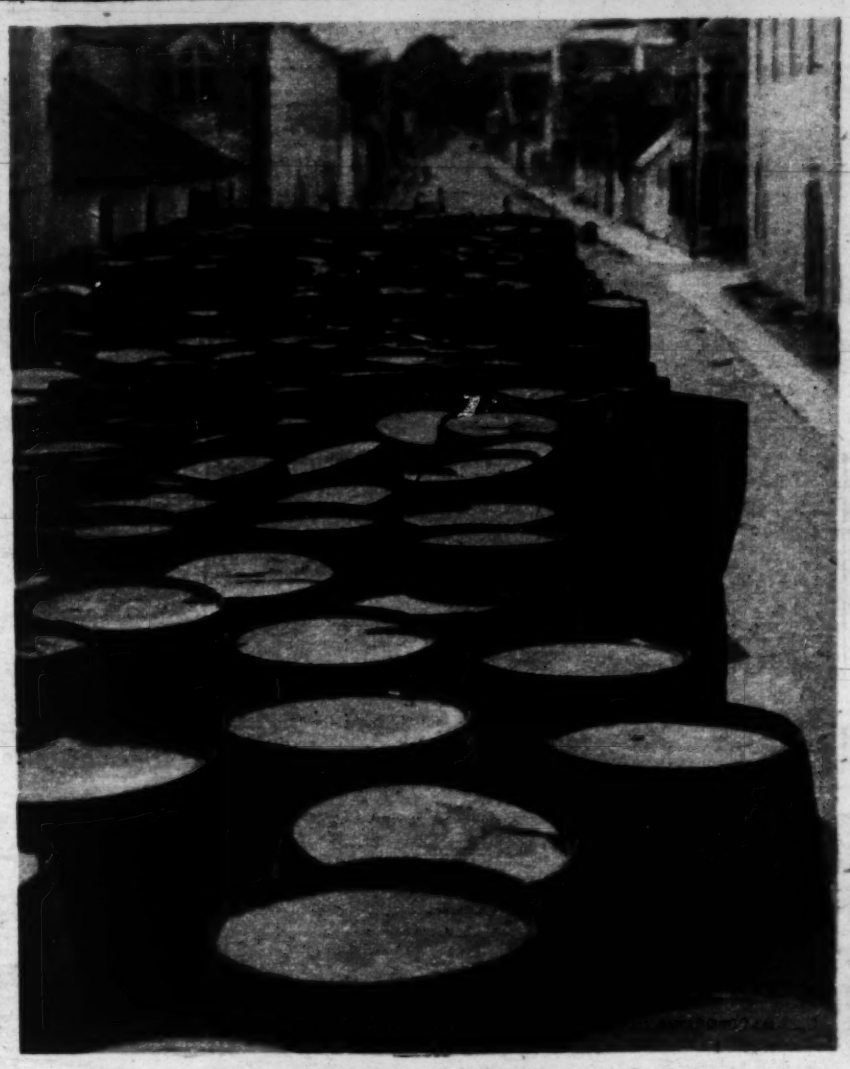
JOHN BARLEYCORN, Exile

Our most recent addition to the company of prominent expatriated Americans has sought sanctuary in the British islands of the Bahamas, within easy distance of the Florida coast. Enormous cargoes of whisky and other liquors have reached Nassau and are being stored in every available cellar and warehouse. The duty paid on these great shipments of spirits has enriched the treasury of the Bahamas beyond anything in the history of the colony. From being poor and insolvent it has now become prosperous. Incidentally, the old trade of smuggling from the West Indies into Florida is said to have been revived on a huge scale.



ALL THE WAREHOUSES at Nassau were filled long ago, and the barrels of liquor now have to be stored in the streets.
(Photograph by Fred Armbrister.)

IT'S EVERYWHERE—Whisky in Nassau is to be had at 11 shillings a quart, and the supply, for the present, appears to be limitless.
(Photograph by Fred Armbrister.)

THE WHISKY SHIPS appeared soon after Jan. 16 and began unloading the thousands of cases and barrels which have made Nassau the depot of the world's greatest concentrated wetness.
(Photograph by J. O. Sands.)

ONE SHIP brought 48,000 cases and 2,500 barrels of whisky. Other cargoes were proportionately large. Virtually all of them, of course, came from the United States.

FACE POWDER COMPACTS

NOT since America was America have colors been so gay. The smart magazines refuse to believe there's a fabric that doesn't shimmer color from every thread. Blouses, they say, must be turquoise, lavender, light green—colored they must be!

It's months after you read about a new color in the smartest magazines before you find it in the shops.

But you can get that delectable color while it's new. There's a wonderful way now of getting the new tones just when they are smartest. You don't have to hunt through shops and shops—and finally compromise on any old pink or blue.

You just wash your blouse in Twink, the wonderful new colored flakes.

Twink comes in all of this season's smartest colors—picked out with the help of this country's authorities on the colors of women's clothes.

And every time the color turns out so clear and fast you can wash your blouse many times in Lux before another Twinking.

Get two or three boxes of Twink today in the colors you've been longing for. And Twink won't harm anything pure water alone won't harm. All the department stores, the 5 and 10 cent stores and your druggist have Twink. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass. (Makers of Lux).

All this season's colors

Flesh	Bright Red	Navy Blue	Dark Green
Pink	Dark Red	Yellow	Light Gray
Coral	Baby Blue	Lavender	Taupe
Peach	Copenhagen	Purple	Bisque
Old Rose	Turquoise	Light Green	Dark Brown
		Black

You use some of the Twink colors like Lux. Others require boiling water and salt. Read directions both outside and inside the package before using.

Girls! Beautify Your Hair With "Danderine"

35c a bottle! Freshen your scalp! Stop falling hair! Remove dandruff! Have lots of wavy, glossy, beautiful hair! You can!

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair; besides, it eradicates every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its luster, its strength, and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp, the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a bottle of Knowlton's Danderine, apply a little as directed, and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

SPRING HATS SHOW CIRE EFFECTS

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The shapes used this spring sound like a catalogue. Cloche, Breton, turban, the Louis XVI, or "marquise" hats—those adorable little things which tilt pertly down over the face and tilt pertly up in the back—all sorts of sailors, all sorts of cuffed hats, make up a selection which ought to give us all a chance to pick out the most unbecoming mode. Among them all, however, we note one predominant influence. It is that of the hat with the front cuff which turns back smartly from the face.

This last prevailing mode is partially the result of the Egyptian wave which is going over both dress and millinery. I am illustrating the Egyptian hats in a subsequent letter. Just now I shall merely mention the fact that the pyramids seem to have got us as much as they did Napoleon. We have affected in some of the newest hats little amulets that might have been taken from the tomb of Rameses. We have taken over the becoming ear-tab effect of the Egyptian head-dress. And the colors of modern millinery lay stress on the dull blues, the rich reds, and the black which we associate with the sands of the Nile. This new coloring gives a wonderful picturesqueness to the new spring hats. Thus a turban from Lewis with a straw crown has the distinctive high front cuff completely covered by loops of velvet baby ribbon in all the Egyptian colorings.

Another smart walking hat is the one of navy taffeta seen right in front of the lady on the outside. The distinctive feature of this is the soft corded brim rising above the narrow underbrim. As for the lady passerby, she is found wearing a hat which incorporates two new trends of the mode. One is the tiny visor of her turban—this visor is a smart new touch—and the other is the black horsehair that makes the hat. Horsehair is found again and again in recent French importations. Here it is set off by one jet ornament. And it will be remembered that jet, too, is still an insistent trimming.

Handbags were certainly never gayer or more various than today. The one found here beside the blue taffeta walking hat shows you that ostrich has permeated even the vanity bag. For to a top of jade green taffeta are added two rows of ostrich flues in the same shade. These are bordered by tiny pink rosebuds. Another new bag is given at the left, in the window. This is of green, black, and gold metallic brocade, and it assumes the melon shape so much done this winter.

The hat at the extreme left, in the window, is of black lisere, and from it you learn that the cloche is still a most popular shape. Here it is finished by a fringe of glycerined black ostrich that falls almost into the eyes. To the right of this hat is one of those lovely summery Leghorns of which you dream when you are tired of being chic and ugly. It is faced by the palest turquoise georgette, ruffled in cream Chantilly and finished with band and long streamers of periwinkle blue grosgrain ribbon. And, speaking of ribbons, really everybody should see the new cotton ones from overseas. Often they are figured in the quaintest way, and they are generally so charming one wonders why in the world America has been so long in borrowing them from Paris.

The matching hat and scarf and bag still remain in favor, and at the right we show such a set carried out effectively in orange duvetyn trimmed with daisies of white felt.

LOST AND FOUND.

SEVERAL years ago, when some government land was opened for settlement, I registered my name and drew a farm of 160 acres. Of course, I was obliged to live for many months on the land, my nearest neighbor being about half a mile away, on the adjoining claim. He was an old Englishman and we soon became friends, and one day he confided to me his strange story.

He had been in the British army and was sent to India. His wife had just given birth to a son, and fearing the trip from England to India too hard for her she was not allowed to accompany him, but planned to follow in a few months. The ship on which his wife and little son sailed was lost, and no one was thought to have survived. The old man showed me a miniature of his wife and baby and I did not wonder at his grief, for a sweeter face I never saw.

About a month after he had told me the story I received a letter from an aunt of mine, whose husband was commanding one of our army posts, writing me to visit her.

Among the many officers I met was a young lieutenant whom I saw a great deal of, and during my six weeks' visit we spent many happy hours in one another's society. He finally told me his story, that he was an orphan, his father and mother having been English. The former had been a captain in her majesty's army, serving in India. When a baby he and his mother had started from England to join his father in India, but the vessel had been shipwrecked, he and a Mr. and Mrs. Page, Americans, being the sole survivors. They were picked up by a boat returning to America and after several years had been spent in trying to communicate with the child's father, all efforts to find him proving futile, Mr. and Mrs. Page decided to adopt the boy, thinking the father must have died of the plague, which raged that year in India.

When the boy reached 16 he had been sent to West Point, and his foster mother and father were coming on to his graduation when the train was wrecked, killing them instantly, leaving him again alone in the world.

After he had started his story my feelings can be imagined, and when he showed me the miniature of his mother and himself it was the last link needed to reassure me that his father and the old Englishman were one and the same.

I told him his father lived and we hurried back to the old man, whose joy knew no bounds at finding his son, and he did not seem at all displeased at finding a daughter as well, for I failed to say we were married just before I left my aunt's and returned home together. H. S. W.

After Serious Meditation.

At one place in Texas where I boarded the landlady had a large corn patch and for economy's sake she served hominy in some disguise every meal. Needless to say we grew to hate the sight of it.

One boarder was a dignified, seedy old man who seldom said a word to any one. He had been there four or five weeks and we had never heard more than a monosyllable from him. To our surprise and hilarious delight, one night he rose, cleared his throat, and announced solemnly:

"We have hominy every meal and the constant appearance of this delectable dish has caused me to meditate seriously upon its relation to man. At last I have discovered that the word hominy came from the Latin word 'homo,' meaning a man. When we decline homo it means homo, a man; hominis, of a man; homini, for man. So, you see, hominy, being for man, comes from the Latin. Three cheers for the consolation of wisdom, please."

With that he gravely seated himself. No more hominy was served while I stayed there. A. D.

He Paid Up.

One of the "guests" at a boarding house where we lived hadn't paid his bill for quite a while. It was a well known fact that he had plenty of money so the landlady decided she was going to make him pay up or know the reason why.

This day there was a particularly good dinner in progress and Mr. Man was eating everything in sight. Little did he think that the wrathful l. l. was standing back of him with fire in her eye.

Just as he had his knife filled with good things and on its way to his mouth (O, yes, he was one of the sword swallowing kind) she exclaimed, "Wal, I declar', you're eatin' as much as if you were payin' for it!" Needless to say he paid regularly after that. C. F.

REDUCING MENUS

by Antoinette Donnelly

What's your beauty ill? Too fat? Too thin? Shy on hair? Oily hair, oily skin, freckles, pimples, or blackheads? Flat chested or flat footed? Write to me. I have a tonic, a diet, or a set of exercises for what ails you and you're welcome to them and to all the advice I can give you. If you wish a personal reply send a stamped, addressed envelope. Address Antoinette Donnelly, "Chicago Sunday Tribune."

DON'T crowd, ladies! There are other ways of getting an overstuffed figure into a 36 size spring suit! Witness the young woman who reduced nine pounds in two weeks with the spring suit as the incentive to restrain her appetite when she was tempted. And another who by another form of appetite restraint got rid of sixteen pounds in six weeks. And another, who had eight pounds more than she wished to carry, found her emancipation through food regulation.

Now, today I will give you four reducing diets which have actually reduced women of my acquaintance. You can take your choice of any one of them and give it a trial and if you are as sincere in your desire to accomplish a slenderer form as my other friends there is no reason why your spring suit will not look smarter on you than anything you have worn for awhile.

For Slow Reducing.

Perhaps you only wish to reduce about eight or ten pounds and that without too strenuous deprivation at the table. You may choose this diet followed by Miss B., who reduced the eight pounds in five weeks:

BREAKFAST—Orange; one slice toast with butter; coffee without sugar.

LUNCHEON—A regular luncheon, with bran bread or rye bread crust substituted for white bread [one slice]. The regular luncheon may be a meat order or an egg dish or fish order and a salad. No dessert. It was this patient's habit to eat French pastry or cake or pie with cream at noon. If something is demanded, a small order of apple sauce or stewed prunes.

DINNER—Regular family meal, minus potatoes and dessert. Sugarless coffee or tea.

One More Strenuous.

No candy between meals or at them.

A bit more self-sacrificing is the diet of Mrs. J., who reduced nine pounds in two weeks:

BREAKFAST—A peach, pear, or apple; coffee without sugar and cream; a gluten wafer or thin slice of rye bread.

LUNCHEON—Soup, any kind but cream soups, with wafers or crackers; thin slice of rye bread; tea or coffee without cream or sugar. Instead of the soup some days she took egg salad with French dressing (not mayonnaise) or a medium portion of one or two vegetables such as spinach, cabbage, tomatoes, or string beans.

DINNER—Meat or fish of any kind she felt like eating; one or two green vegetables; salad with French dressing; fresh fruit for dessert, such as sliced peaches, melon, and sliced oranges, without sugar or cream; tea or coffee without cream and sugar.

Potatoes once a week were added, and on Sunday she ate a regular dinner such as she would have eaten before the diet term, except to eliminate rich pastries.

Water Between Meals.

In addition Mrs. J. drank plenty of water between meals, and if she got too hungry between meals she ate an apple. Her physician told her that she might add an egg for breakfast if she found that necessary, but being determined not to pamper herself she eliminated that; but you may have the egg in the beginning if you find it necessary.

One thing—highly important in reducing—she saw to it that there were no constipation troubles, but the diet, she found, naturally took care of that. If you have trouble, however, see that by some measure your bowels move daily. The water drinking will help greatly.

The third diet I present you successfully routed sixteen pounds in six weeks, and is simple in that it requires only abstinence at one meal a day. And this meal you may partake of either at noon or at night. Incidentally, it might be remarked that when a woman is reducing she facilitates the flesh dissolution greatly by taking her big meal at noon. After a big meal the woman who is trying to get rid of flesh should not lie down.

One Reducing Meal.

The reducing meal of the day is: Shredded celery and raw carrots eaten in quantity to satisfy your hunger and eaten with salt. Drink half a glass of orange juice. Nothing else.

At the other two meals eat your regular supply.

The fourth diet from which you may choose is this:

BREAKFAST—Black coffee, with little or no sugar; fruit without sugar; one gluten biscuit or one small thin slice of bran bread.

LUNCHEON—Thin soup, with three thin crackers (not a cream soup), or medium portion of cottage cheese with three thin crackers, or a salad without mayonnaise and little or no oil.

DINNER—Thin soup; lean meat, moderate portion; vegetable (except peas and beans); salad with vinegar dressing; fruit dessert; coffee.

Tea or coffee (black), skimmed milk or buttermilk or lemonade may be taken with any of these meals.

D. S. R.: DON'T YOU KNOW A good skin specialist? You ought to see one, as your trouble calls for the judgment and direction of a skilled physician.

When Romance Fled.

It isn't my fault that I haven't curly hair, and I do my conscientious best to help nature out via the patent curler method. One day in swimming I was unfortunately carried a little beyond my depth, and had to call for help. My best beau rushed into the water, gave a frantic clutch at my head, and neatly removed my bathing cap, which seemed to be the loosest part of me. He succeeded in dragging me to shore, but I think I should have preferred drowning, for on my denuded head bristled five kid curlers, effectively destroying any possible romance.

Picking Pockets.

I was going to my lunch one day through a crowded street, when I saw a man put his hand in the pocket of another man in front. I grabbed his hand and was about to speak to the man in front when he turned around and they both gave me the laugh. Apparently they were friends, and the whole thing was a joke, but I didn't wait for explanations.

Before the Sermon.

After being out all Saturday night I attended an early church service on Sunday morning. The church being so quiet, I soon fell asleep. When the minister went up to the pulpit to preach the sermon he looked down and saw me. Calling to the young girl next to me, he said, "Wake up that night

WHAT FLOWERS MEAN

by DORIS BLAKE

TO get to a girl's heart by the quickest possible route take the flower path, young man! Or, in other words, tell her with flowers.

Send her a box of candy and she may sniff over a chocolate covered almond, rave over a bonbon, and eagerly consume a piece of candied fruit, but does she wax sentimental over the contents of a candy box?

Send her a box of violets with a spray or two of lilies of the valley or a pale pink rose and you, the donor, travel with her in her flight of tender sentiment around the capitol, controlled and operated by President Daniel Cupid.

Maybe you are not aware that around Mr. Cupid's capitol is a garden in which every manner of flower grows. And in the heart of each plant and flower he inserts a love message. Like another well known garden, though, the serpent has crawled in and where it has touched jealousy and hate and lamentation and fear have taken root, and such suggestion is carried on the petals of some, as related in the language of flowers.

Of course, no wise young man would include any of these latter in his bombardment on the adored one's heart. He would send red tulips to declare his love openly. And a bit of mignonette to tell her her qualities surpass her charms; violets out of courtesy to her modesty, and his faithfulness, and so on.

Here is the language of flowers:

Spring Millinery Fashions
MODELS SUPREME IN STYLE AND COLOR COMBINATIONS $7.50 to $47.50

Small, close fitting Turbans, medium and large shapes—a variety that cannot fail to meet the most exacting requirements for street, sports and dress wear. Spanish and Egyptian ideas are among the most recent styles receiving attention.

The Sailor Brim Hat with bell crown of satin and sipper straw is trimmed with glace kid flowers, having colored centers. The Chantilly lace is smartly draped, producing a chic Spanish effect.

Suits Presaging Spring

The trim blue suit of tricotine—ever correct, and immeasurably useful—is the keynote of the spring wardrobe; the center around which all the other items are grouped. It confers upon its wearer that self-possession which arises from the consciousness of smart, exquisite grooming.

Spring is the great suit season. Purchase yours early and derive a prolonged satisfaction from its wearing.

Third Floor.

Coats—clever and correct—you'll find choosing easy.

The New Styles in Millinery

To please the spring shopper, we have hats that attract because they embody all the requisite attributes of the Easter bonnet—STYLE—PRACTICALITY—QUALITY.

The trimmings are in excellent taste and artistically applied—flowers of gay colors—exquisitely shaded ribbons—ornaments of various kinds.

Porcupine, lisere and hair braids in every desirable, becoming shape are to be had in black and all the new colors—you'll be pleaaed with these styles. Moderately priced at $15

THE EXPEDIENT OF A DRAPED DRESSING TABLE.

HOMEMADE WORKS OF ART.

When furniture prices are unreasonably high one thing invariably happens—women begin to resort to expedients. They "fake up" something to take the place of the desired and despaired of article. Sometimes when mother is the necessity of invention she hits off something good enough to make us forget former atrocities—stools made out of soap boxes, chairs made out of barrels, etc., described in old time magazines.

The latest home made mobiliary work of art is the draped dressing table. It is simply the rage. Women are exhausting their entire vocabulary of doting adjectives upon it. To tell the truth, it is a most alluring adjunct of every woman's bedroom. It lends itself to unlimited variety. If you haven't already contrived one, go in for the fad and enjoy it while it lasts.

The essentials are a pine board, amply fitting over a table, a chest of drawers, an old table; a gracefully framed mirror, and the fabric that your heart loves best. It may even serve to disguise a seldom used sewing machine.

For a little French bedroom furnished in old ivory the table is covered with dove colored taffeta trimmed with a dainty little quilling of old rose and pale blue silk. The toilet articles are of blue enamel. The bed spread matches the table flounce, and the draw curtains are of dove color lined with old rose.

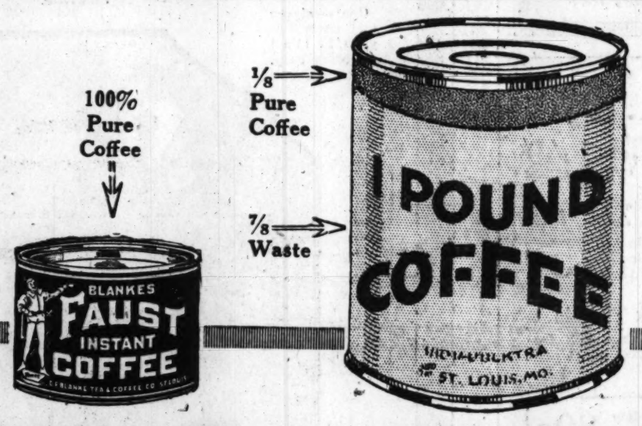
In almost every instance the flounce around the table extends to the floor. Sometimes, however, a colored one piece lining of silk or sateen is used, and this is trimmed with flounce over flounce of fine net or other transparent fabric.

Very smart is the room shown in the accompanying illustration. The dressing table is in jade green silk rep, trimmed with Burgundy ribbon. The upper valance is laid in wide box plaits, and in the center of each space is a bit of hand embroidery done in silk and chenille in mustard color, Burgundy, old rose, and turquoise. The window draperies correspond, the embroidery being repeated in the formal box plaited valance. The cunning sofa is upholstered in mustard and Burgundy striped velour.

As the apartment is high up, glass curtains are dispensed with, but a wide roller curtain tempers the light. It is of glittering transparent Argentine cloth. Notice the cords and tassels. The two rings are of jade. The cord is of Burgundy silk, matching the cords by which the mirror is suspended, and the tassels are of brilliantly colored glass beads, that are particularly gorgeous with the light shining through them.

Conforming with the fashion for bi-symmetric arrangement, we have placed a low floor lamp at either side of the table, and supplemented these with a light from above. The hanging lamp is of mustard colored silk.

I must tell you about the pair of lamp shades, because they are considered fascinating, and we invented them ourselves. We rummaged around a second hand book shop and found an old Godey's magazine, with colored fashion plates in it. Then we had two wire frames made and sewed the fashion plates to them. When all were sewn in place we treated the shades with a coat of linseed oil, and put them on a hot radiator over night, so that they became finely translucent. When the oil was well dried out we covered the stitches with a narrow trimming of dull gold braid. There, now! Doesn't it sound simple?



FAUST Instant COFFEE

Is Pure Coffee with All Waste Removed

A coffee bean is made up of tiny cells of aromatic oils surrounded by fibrous tissue. Only 12½% of the bean is coffee; 87½% is waste—the grounds which are left after the coffee is made. Coffee made in your kitchen in the ordinary way brings out but ½ of this 12½%. But Faust Instant Coffee is the 12½% of pure coffee. The aromatic oils are extracted, just as you extract them in making coffee. The grounds are removed and the pure coffee evaporated to a powder. Half a teaspoon of it in a cup of hot water makes a delicious cup of fragrant coffee—every cup the same, every cup clear and free from grounds, every cup just the strength you like it. Faust Instant Coffee is economical. A 45c can makes 30 steaming cups. For sale at all dealers.

HOW TO ORDER YOUR CLOTILDE PATTERNS.

Write your name and address plainly on dotted lines, giving number and size of each pattern you want. Inclose 12 cents in stamps or coin (wrap coin carefully) for each number, and address your order to Clotilde, CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Note: Clotilde patterns are made in New York exclusively for THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE. They are perfect in fit, up to date in style, and the easiest of all patterns to use.

How to Use the Patterns

THE house dress, No. 9569, is another one of many models shown that has one or more attractive features that give it that air of being "a little different." The way in which the collar ends at the belt and the shape of the pocket facing are both attractive.

In putting the shoulder seams together, be sure and hold the fronts next to you and pin the seams together first at each end, then arrange the fullness quite evenly between the notches and baste in small enough stitches not to allow the fullness to slip and plait in the stitching.

Before putting the collar together baste a piece of muslin or some nonraveling cloth on the wrong side of each end, as a help to make the buttonhole stronger and probably easier to work. Of course there are two sections cut for the collar and after the back piecing is finished and the seam pressed open, the two sections are stitched together from the notch on one side where the collar joins to the waist down to the bottom and entirely around the outer edge and so on up to the notch on the other side.

The small woman's dress, No. 9399, would be pretty made of cotton voile. A bewildering variety of colorings and designs is shown in all the stores, so that it is possible to suit every taste. The skirt is the usual two piece pattern and can be made plain or trimmed if desired.

There is a little underwaist to this dress, to which the contrasting material back and front is sewed. If the dress is to be dry cleaned, silk or satin will be attractive to use for the vest and collar. The extending pieces of the blouse must be faced to an inch above the waist line before being set onto the underwaist. But the overblouse under arm seams should be finished before setting the facings on.

No. 9572 is a good design for a light weight woolen or for the heavy dress linens. It would also make up prettily with a combination of materials, using a plaid for the plaited skirt and a plain color for the waist.

The skirt seams and bottom hem must be entirely finished before laying the plaits. It would be a help probably to mark for each plait with a basting thread, using an ordinary running stitch. Start laying the plaits in the middle front where there is a box plait and be sure that the inside fold of each plait is smooth. Baste each plait from top to bottom and don't remove the bastings until the pressing has been done.

Where the skirt is to be gathered across the top, it should be laid out on a table, being folded down the middle of front and back, and after putting pins in at the front and back on the top line, giving the correct finished length, measure the side length either in the middle of the remaining space or a little nearer the front than back, put a pin in to mark it, and draw a line connecting the three pins. Gather and try the skirt on before cutting any extra length off.

Vantine's
ORIENTAL PERFUMES AND TOILET REQUISITES

Perfume Your Home with Incense

There are few things so characteristic of the fascination and mystery of the beauty-loving lands beyond the Pacific, or that so thoroughly satisfy the aesthetic taste and imagination, as Vantine's Temple Incense. Its dreamy, soothing fragrance brings to mind the rosy dawns, the brilliant sunlight, the purple dusks of the Orient—the enchantment of strange Far Eastern countries—the subtle, langorous sweetness of tropical gardens and of blossom-laden breezes blown from palm-fringed islands set in turquoise seas.

Vantine's Temple Incense, Oriental perfumes and Toilette requisites are sold by best shops everywhere. Should your dealers not have them, write us and we shall see that you are supplied. Liberal sample mailed postpaid upon request. Address Dept. C-T.

"Ask the Woman Who Owns One"

The average woman who has not bought an electric washer wonders "Will it really wash clothes so spotlessly clean that it will satisfy my extreme demands?"

Heretofore women have invariably wanted an actual demonstration—with their own clothes—in their own homes.

Today it is no longer necessary to PROVE to the purchaser of a high-grade automobile that it will actually RUN.

When you buy an A-B-C Super Electric you have the same assurance of absolute, unfailing satisfaction as when you buy a Packard.

The A-B-C cylinder reverses after each revolution, combining all the worth-while features of both cylinder and "rocking-tub" types of washers. It's the most noiseless machine made; its full cabinet body makes it the absolutely safe washer; its adjustable belt drive prevents costly motor burnouts; its swinging electric wringer operates in any position; its motor is 50% oversize. The A-B-C has fewer moving parts than most washers—nothing complicated to get out of order.

Choice of White Maple or Metal Cylinder

Free Trial Demonstration in Your Own Home if Desired. Easiest of Easy Payment Terms.

Over 60 electrical appliance dealers in and near Chicago recommend the A-B-C. Ask any electrical appliance expert.

Now—The New Corset for Easter

Third Floor—Center

The importance of wearing a new corset when trying on new clothes is emphasized more than ever this spring, for fashion has decreed a new silhouette, and the clever woman turns her attention to her corset. The change is slight; it is still a youthful silhouette, but it is the curves of youth that are emphasized, not youth's lankiness. Most marked of the changes is the flattening of the skirt in front and back. This is shown in connection with the wide Velasquez puffs on each hip that are coming into favor for evening wear and even modestly suggesting their presence on suits and tailored frocks.

There is a new Nemo Corset that seems to have been providentially designed for just this effect. It is made with the "flattening front"—a wide band attached to the front steel and lacing at each side—which supports and flattens the front of the body. This is done naturally in a manner which will not only be comfortable but of great actual benefit to women in need of support.

Another feature of this new corset is the long back stays which run to the end of the corset and prevent any unsightly creases. Why not have an expert corsetiere fit you to a pair; for the fitting no charge is made. The Nemo "Flattening Front" Corsets in sizes 24 to 36.

THE LAST WORD IN PARIS FASHIONS

SEEN ON BOYS AND GIRLS.

By Mary Brush Williams.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PARIS.—[Special correspondence.]—There is a dashing young fellow in our hotel who is costumed in a great part of the time in a bright green overcoat of softest wool and a bright green silk jersey tam o'shanter to match. It pulls far down over his eyes and descends in a long cornucopia effect over his left ear to his shoulder. A coquettish green tassel finishes the headdress and adds a dash of charm without in any way diminishing the force of masculinity manifested in the curve of the bright red full cheeks which that green tam o'shanter surrounds.

When any woman of any nationality or age bows to this young gallant, off goes that tam o'shanter, ruffling as it does so the soft brown down which is his hair. When it comes time to put it on again, he has to have his mother's assistance, and this, I will say, detracts a little from the effect of nonchalance and habit which the gallant tries to assume.

When a woman stops at the family table, he slides down from his chair and remains standing during her presence there. To be sure, when it comes time to resume his luncheon, he either has to turn round and climb his chair as one climbs a ladder or else accept assistance from his mother, and either action suggests an unfortunate sense of youth, which his manner of wearing his clothes would seem to seek to ignore.

He has a brother as much as two or three years older, who, with a dapper air of jaunty ease, wears a squirrel overcoat topped by a soft fedora hat which turns up on one side and down on the other. On some days, he wears a red quill stuck in the band and on other days he does not. I presume its presence depends on the rest of his costuming.

At any rate, these young bloods brought it home to me how futile it is for us of our generation to expect to get the full value out of French costuming. We should have begun two or three generations ago if we would be going with full ease and assurance by this time. I see young fellows on the streets that have been such children as these in our hotel. They are so accustomed to themselves that they can think of other things. Because you are a well dressed man in France does not necessarily imply that you are intelligent.

There is a little American boy here also. That is to say he comes in over week ends to be with his nice looking American parents. Throughout the week he is in a French school. He is a regular little Briggs American boy. One evening he announced that he thought he had swallowed a mosquito and that they were much worse than flies because you couldn't see 'em. I wondered seriously how he would look in French clothes, and as if in answer to my reflections, he all of a sudden blossomed out in them. He looked very well indeed.

Pink Crepe de Chine Dress, Accordion Plaited.

Yellow Cotton Voile Apron.

Linen Tunic and Blue Velvet Trousers.

I gather after all that no league of nations is required to hold children's interests together. Even the dressy little boy with the squirrel overcoat, when he was more dressed up than usual with his clean white turnover collar and his short gray knickerbockers showing a mile of pink leg below them in the interval where the blue stockings left off—even in all of this splendor, this little boy of another race drew solemnly from his pocket a long soiled something or other in the dining room. I do not think it was a fishing worm, but it might just as well have been from every standpoint of inappropriateness.

Some little Russian boys, six of them, all brothers came to play with the two young French sports. The little Russians looked gallant and warlike in their costumes exactly alike, trimmed in gray astrakhan and suggesting the thought of Cossack by their cosmopolitan, assured behavior. There had been a heavy snowstorm, a thing totally new to the little French boys. Of course the Russians were quite at home and begun making snowballs which they slung about carelessly. It didn't take the little French boys long to follow suit, and in the battle which ensued in our peace loving court, I am not sure the victory was not to the carefully groomed French boys.

But the particular point I have to make is that there is a little American girl in our hotel of some seven or eight summers who wears French clothes, and although she has not the perfect artificial poise and self-assurance of the French children, she wears them with a carelessness, a forgetfulness of their chicness which I like better.

One of the little girl's dresses is of a style prevailing in Paris among the chic. It is of sage green cloth, made simply with a long waistline and pockets on the hips, and the pockets stand out with all the force of panniers. The skirt, too, is wide at that point and comes into a more narrow line round the knees. The bodice has no fullness, but fits easily over her slim body. The neat, plain shoulder seams carry a wide line of embroidery, like insertion, in dull red and dark green. A narrow belt of the material ties round the little girl's waist exactly like the narrow belts for so long favored by French grownups.

Those French pannier pockets and the sleeves displayed by the young miss in the first illustration are perhaps the most distinguishing suggestions contained in juvenile French styles. This dress is made of pale pink crêpe de chine, finely accordion plaited. The waist is cross barred in fine hemstitching and the throat is banded in an edging of fitch fur. The high belt is decorated in the middle of the front with a little made flower. The sleeves begin at the hem and consist of a band running up the length of the dress, widening over the shoulder, and down again the length of the hem in the back. The hat is of nutria, and is without trimming except for the band passing round the crown and dropping below the chin. It is woolen beads threaded on a narrow band of crêpe de chine.

The second little girl is wearing her apron, as almost every little girl in France does when she plays. It is of yellow cotton voile bound in voile of lavender, crocheted on with lace. There are lavender flowers on the shoulders, the pockets, and at the sides where the front and the back tie together.

The little boy with a top is largely indebted to his color schemes for his chic appearance, and unfortunately this is lost in an illustration. The top part of him is covered with a chemise of light colored but heavy linen embroidered in a circlet of flowers of dark blue and red. The short trousers are of royal blue velvet, and the belt and the tie are black.

The infants of this country go in for storm clothes, although their elders run round in pumps in a snowstorm. In the words of the artist, the Luxembourg gardens looked as if a hundred little mushrooms had sprung up after the rain because the capes and the coats are so short and full.

The one on the left is evidently a revised, Gallicized edition of Red Riding Hood. The costume is of vivid purple which shines like satin. The hat is trimmed in a tassel and matches the cape. The leggings and shoes are brown, and show a length of pink leg above them before the skirt starts. The second costume, of the party holding the hoop, is of large black and gray checks, with a hat which matches in material. The socks are of heavy knitted gray wool.

Green is the prevailing color for children now, and where else in the world will it look so pretty? On the trees, in emeralds, and in the little frocks of children is where green belongs. It is the color of youth. A friend tells me she is obliged to discard her emeralds; they make her hands look so old!

Marion, growing tired of playing in the back yard, decided to go in the house to her mother. Finding the front door closed, she began to pound on it. When her mother came to the door she scolded Marion for pounding, and asked her why she din't ring the door bell. Marion promptly replied, "Why, mother, I couldn't! I'se too far low."

Georgie had a better memory than his brother, and Raymond always was trying to get him to remember things for him. Georgie got tired of this, and when Raymond wanted him to remember something he must do before school time the next morning, he asked: "What do you think my head is, a parking place for what you want to remember?"

Margaret listened attentively and was much impressed with the heroism of the little boy in the story, who, it was related, courageously "swallowed his tears" when his finest Easter egg went smash upon the sidewalk. Some time later she had occasion to weep over some mishap. Suddenly she blurted out in discouraged fashion: "I am trying so hard to swallow my tears, but I can't! There are so many of them and they come so fast!"

Aunt Julia did not believe in giving children much rich pastry, which fact did not always suit small Charlie.

"Aunt Julia," he said insinuatingly, "if a poor little boy was to come to the kitchen door and ask for something to eat, would you give him that piece of lemon pie that was left over from dinner?"

"Yes, Charlie, of course I would," said his kind aunt.

"O, goody! I knew you was the right kind, Aunt Julia. Now just wait a minute till I run around to the kitchen door."

Marie came over to play with Betty one Sunday afternoon.

"Let's sew for our dolls," she suggested.

"O, we can't; it is Sunday, you know," answered Betty.

"O well," answered Marie easily, "we can pretend it is Wednesday, can't we?"

A friend of mine had a small daughter who was a restless child and was fond of being amused. When left alone she found it hard to entertain herself. Upon one of these occasions she said: "O, mamma, baby doesn't know what to do with baby's own self."

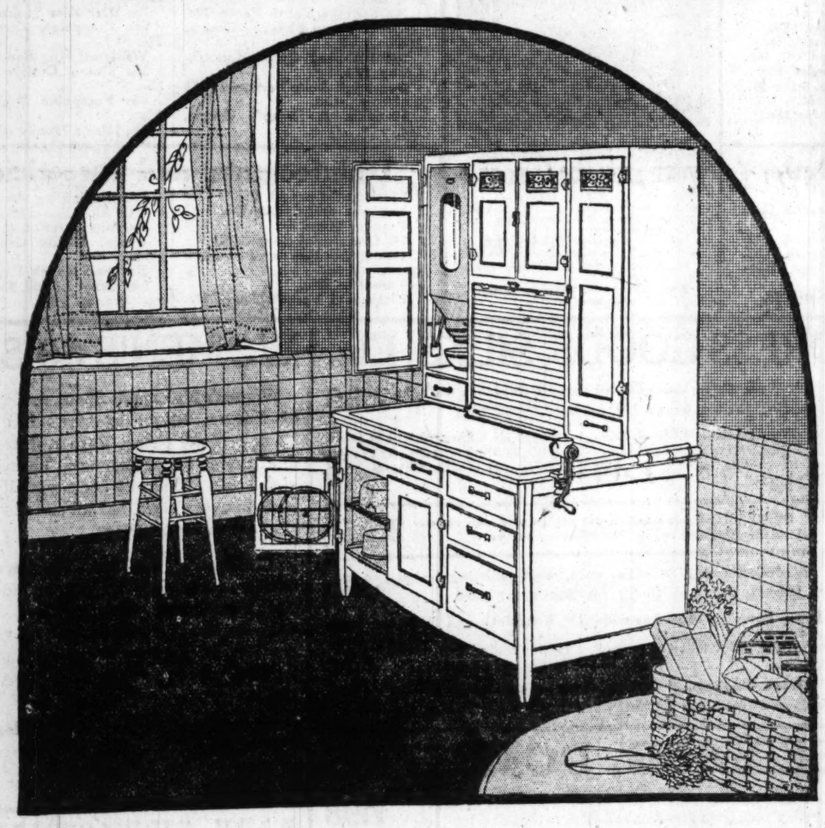
THE FIRST KITCHEN CABINET



Half Your Kitchen on Four Legs
—in a McDougall Auto-Front!

Have your cupboard, pantry and kitchen worktable all in one—in a McDougall. Sit—and reach conveniently for any of your 400 most used things. Save yourself a maze of steps. Have a tidy kitchen. Have a place for everything. Watch how work takes wings. ¶ McDougall Auto-Fronts are today's finality in kitchen cabinets. They are modern descendants of the first kitchen cabinet. Ancestral leadership, steadfastly upheld, exhibits itself in their fine character of construction and complete convenience. ¶ See for yourself the scores of McDougall supremacies. See how a McDougall combines lustrous beauty, sound oak sturdiness and rare utility. ¶ Visit a McDougall display this week. Among the seven styles—in either white or oak—you will find one exactly suited to your needs.

VISIT A McDOUGALL DISPLAY THIS WEEK!

See the "Auto-Front," the famous McDougall patented wood curtain (above the tabletop) which drops open automatically. Disappears entirely! Leaves no groove to catch food or dirt. Lifts shut and locks! See it work!

See the tabletop that locks as firm as rock when pulled out. Can't jiggle up and down or rattle when worked upon.

See the handles, latches, catches and hinges handsome refrigerator-style. Can never break or pull out. Finest used on kitchen cabinets.

See the lustrous finishes that distinguish all McDougall's. Those in oak are Spar varnished—won't turn white despite kitchen steam, heat, or washing.

See the construction in a McDougall. Built like a good sideboard. All joints mortised and tenoned solidly together instead of merely nailed or screwed. Nothing rickety.

See the steel braces in the eight corners of the base—staunch as Gibraltar! The drawers are dovetailed and mortised like dresser drawers—won't get out of shape and stick. McDougalls are the finest built of all. They do not grow wobbly and creaky with age.

See the flour bins, sanitary cleanable (latest improved types) with cleanable sifters; see the sanitary glass sugar jar (noncorroding); see all the supremacies that McDougalls have.

Many stores in Chicago and environs handle McDougalls. A few are listed. If you reside away from Chicago, write for your dealer's name. Address McDougall Company, Frankfort, Indiana.

Mother Says:

"There's the Washer That Washes Clean"

Your mother will tell you, after just one look, that the Quicker-Yet Electric Washer will wash clothes clean. She knows, because she probably has used a Quicker-Yet Hand Washer before the days of Electric Washers and speaks from actual experience. She knows that this particular "Dolly" or "Peg" type of washer has a dolly that adjusts itself automatically to the clothes in the tub and that the dolly is fastened to the end of its shaft so that no metal protrudes into the clothes. She knows that the Quicker-Yet gets all the clothes clean without damage to a single thing.

You ought to investigate the

Quicker-Yet WASHES CLEAN Electric Washer

You take no chances, when you get this dependable washer that is built on a principle which has been used and proved practical in millions of homes during the last quarter of a century.

Quicker-Yet Electric Washers wash clothes cleaner and quicker. The cypress wood tubs retain the heat and keep the water hot. The cross arm dolly makes 42 turns a minute, thoroughly circulating the clothes through the water and furthermore keeping a good suds. The fundamentals of successful clothes washing are hot water and plenty of good soap. A washing machine is a means of using soap and water to best advantage. The Quicker-Yet does that absolutelv.

They are built in single and double tub sizes—give you better service and cost no more, many times less. Most dealers sell Quicker-Yets on easy terms. If you are looking for the most for your money, see the Quicker-Yet Washers at your dealer's before you buy. Manufactured by the

For and By BUSINESS GIRLS

By Loretta King.

Miss King will be glad to help business girls solve their problems. If you want a personal answer send a stamped, addressed envelope. Address Miss Loretta King, The Sunday Tribune, Chicago.

SEEKING A LARGER FIELD.

THE big cities keep draining the small towns of their workers. A girl reared in the country or small town is usually willing to start her business career at home, but as soon as she has had a little experience, or has reached as she thinks the limit of the town's opportunity, she begins to long for a larger field of endeavor. Hardly is the longing realized before a resolution is made and carried out which brings her to the city looking for the position that will help her realize her ambition.

A number of letters have come to me lately from girls in neighboring small towns inquiring about the opportunities for store and office help in the city.

In a large city the opportunities of course are greater for an ambitious girl than they are in a village or small town. However, a girl coming to the city for the first time ought not to leave home heedlessly with the idea of finding a suitable job and comfortable living quarters the moment she reaches the city.

Arrangements for a place to live in the city ought to be made if possible before she leaves home, but if that cannot be done and she knows of no one who can give her any suggestion about finding lodging she may apply to the Travelers' Aid society, a representative of which may be found in all the railway stations in the large cities. Any of the station employés will be able to direct her to the society's representative. The Travelers' Aid will give her whatever information she needs, and help her in every way possible in finding the right sort of a place to live. The society will also direct her to the firms or agencies that are likely to offer employment in her line of work.

Living expenses are somewhat higher in the large cities than in country towns, and a girl coming to the city alone needs to have enough money in reserve for an emergency besides the amount for her railroad fare, board, and lodging for a couple of weeks, and other current expenses.

If she is fortunate, the stranger may find a suitable job within a day or two after her arrival, but it occasionally happens that a week or two may elapse before a position is secured, and in that case it is necessary to have sufficient funds to tide over a long job hunting period.

A few years ago a young woman whose home is in the middle west decided that she would like to live and work in the far west for awhile. When she started out on her adventure she had just enough money left after paying her railroad fare to the coast to live modestly for a few weeks. When she arrived at her destination she decided, in a moment of wild extravagance, that she would spend her first night only in the finest hotel in the city. The rates were high, but she was willing to squander a good part of her little reserve fund for one night's solid comfort after the long, hard trip.

She spent a restless night and in the morning when she attempted to get up she found herself too weak to dress. By noontime she realized to her horror that she was ill and had to stay where she was. When the house physician saw her he informed her that she had typhoid and couldn't be moved. For thirty days the girl stayed in the most expensive hotel in the city. She explained her situation to the doctor and through his kind offices she was permitted to stay.

When she was better she asked for and secured a position in the hotel, where she worked for six months. It took her that length of time to pay her hotel and doctor bills.

In going to a strange city to work a girl ought to be prepared for any emergency, so that she will be in no danger of finding herself in a position of dependence on strangers.

Doris Blake's Answers to Love Problems

For the Hope Box.

"Dear Miss Blake: Will you please tell me what I should have in the way of linens and clothing for my hope box? I plan to be married in June and I want to get these things ready now. I have a fairly good position and am marrying a man in normal circumstances, so that I cannot afford many extravagances. M. L. C."

The question of what a complete hope box should contain depends almost entirely upon personal desire and finances and upon your future life. I should say six sheets, twelve pillow cases, two every day tablecloths, and one better tablecloth will be enough to start with. You will need at least a dozen every day towels, but your friends will probably give you enough guest towels to supply you, as they are popular shower gifts.

Do not try to get a large supply of underwear. After you are married you will have plenty of time to make things, and it will give you something to do to keep you busy during the first long days. I should say that six pairs of stockings, three underskirts (one dark and two light), three or four nightgowns, and three combination suits will be plenty for you.

I should have at least three allover aprons if I were you. Two simple little cotton dresses to wear in the afternoon around the house, and a pretty dress of silk, satin, or such material for Sunday and for parties will be as much as you will need in the way of clothes.

If you are careful about choosing a coat you can find one that will be appropriate for both stret and evening wear. One hat will be sufficient, unless you wish to have a more elaborate one for best. Get a good tailored suit for traveling and for general wear, if you can afford it. A good suit with a couple of attractive blouses will tide one over almost every occasion.

Don't Kiss 'Em.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have heard you have helped many and therefore ask for advice. Is it wrong to kiss a young man good night after he has shown you a nice, respectable time? MARY."

Why spoil the respectable time? No, don't kiss any of them.

They Want to Play Baseball.

"Is there anybody that has an outfielder's finger mitt that he has no use for? I should appreciate it much if it could be sent me, and also any other kind of baseball goods. I know a couple of boys that are poor and cannot afford to buy these things, but who are fond of baseball. C. L."

There must be many discarded mitts, balls, and bats that could easily be spared so that a couple more boys might play, too.

Wants Crochet Patterns.

"I am coming to you for help. I am a young woman, engaged to be married soon, and I am making all sorts of things for a hope chest and my future home, and I just wonder if any of your readers have any crochet patterns they would pass along. I will gladly pay postage on them. M. R."

When prices are so high we can all appreciate the trials of a girl trying to fit out a hope chest. Surely some one has extra patterns that she will give to help ten nimble fingers make some pretties.

They'd Like a Small Phonograph.

"Do you think some of your readers would have in their possession a table phonograph they no longer cared for? If so, I am thinking of a lonely old couple away up in the mountains of New Hampshire, who are too old to get about and to whom it would mean many pleasant moments. If there is some one who has such a thing as this, I would gladly call for it and pay all shipping expense. MRS H. P."

Wouldn't it be wonderful to be able to send so much happiness up into those mountains? Who, I wonder, is fortunate enough to have a table phonograph to spare?

The Above Sales for Monday at Both Stores

All Eyes This Way! Rothschilds' Jubilee Furniture Sale Has a Startling Message:

And here's the message: We have searched the furniture horizon at every point of the compass and there isn't a price-drop in sight. Every guide post points to rising costs. Our best advice is "Be at this sale tomorrow prepared to buy whatever you will need for at least one year to come." Chicago has saved thousands of dollars in the past few weeks buying furniture at Rothschilds'. Now it's your turn. Begin by reading this ad. We have taken the "ice" out of "Price." No cold chills for you who can seize this opportunity. The savings are real and liberal and to be long remembered. You can join our "Don't Worry" Club—pay one-fourth down, the rest in monthly payments. But no cancellations, please. Here is the greatest stock of reliable furniture ever offered Chicago at such savings. Better be here at 8:30 A. M. tomorrow—others, too, will want the same bargains you do.

COUPON 50
COUPON entitles to 50 "S&H" Trading Stamps FREE With a Purchase of $1.00 or more
Good Only March 8, 1920

CUT OUT THIS COUPON!

With every purchase amounting to one dollar or more tomorrow we will give 50 Green Trading Stamps Free. This is the most liberal offer ever made by any store. Merchandise values alone would draw people from fifty miles around Chicago, but we give the Stamps extra that more people may learn their value. That we may teach the lesson of thrift more widely, and that we may show our appreciation in substantial form to the thousands who make this storetheir shopping headquarters year after year. Read this advertisement as you have done before, and the two pages preceding and following. Our re-opening bell at 8:30 morning will be a call to all Chicago's two and one-half million people. It will re-echo in your home.

You get S. & H. Green Trading Stamps Free with every purchase of $1.00 or more when the coupon is presented at the stamp desk on the Main Floor, together with your purchase slip. These 50 are in addition to the S. & H. Stamps always given with purchases.

5000 P.Q.A. Men's Winter Weight Union Suits at 1/3 Saving

"Jubilee" is the word! If you have any idea that this jubilee celebration with its 50 free stamps isn't appreciated by the people of Chicago, then just drop in tomorrow to this sale of underwear, for example. Your eyes will be opened at the values and the crowds. Read!

Purchased from the Piqua Hosiery Co., Piqua, Ohio

P. Q. A. has the reputation of being one of America's high grade makers of men's union suits. Perfect in fit, using only the finest grade of yarns. The small details missing in most underwear you will find in P. Q. A. union suits. Perfect in every detail.

This purchase consists of odd lots, samples and some with slight imperfections, so slight as to be hardly noticeable, which could not pass P. Q. A. strict inspection.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By Jane Eddington.

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her

DIETS OF VEGETABLES.

THE Greek vegetarians abstained from meat for philosophical reasons. The men of the monastic orders of the Roman Catholic church abstained from eating meat for religious reasons. They could find such reasons in the scriptures had they not relied on the rules established by the church fathers. There are groups of these men in different parts of the world today who have never tasted meat and they are noted for being prodigies of health.

Modern unscientific vegetarianism has had as its base sentiment and a sort of mongrel philosophy—part common sense and part superstition. The modern scientific vegetarian is seeking the most hygienic diet, one that will reduce the numbers of the swarming bacteria of the digestive tract, and so give the body less to do in fighting for health and endurance. This vegetarianism is for health's sake, and it is sometimes imposed by judges on the bench, because it has long been known that certain people are gentle of temper when abstaining from meat, while they are irritable and quarrelsome when they eat meat. Physicians everywhere are constantly prescribing an abstention from meat for some given period of time.

Bread and Milk.

If a man had to fast, save for two or three items of food, probably bread and milk would be the two safest foods to choose. At any rate, it can be proven from history that strong men have been "raised" on it, men who have made their mark. Add vegetables and fruit, which supply ballast, are thirst quenchers (the fruits), and furnish a sort of medication, and the diet is still somewhat like that of Daniel's. Daniel refused the king's meat and took pulse to eat and water to drink and at the end of ten days the countenances of himself and his companions "appeared fairer and fatter in flesh than all the children which did eat of the portion of the king's meat."

If now we add butter for our bread and eggs and butter to our cereals, so that we may have cake, we have enough foods, if we know how to dispose them, to exist economically on for forty days or forty years.

Food from an Acre.

From an economic standpoint it was thought long ago that men must become vegetarian, because an acre of land which would furnish only enough food for the growing of flesh for one man would furnish enough grain to support ten. These figures must be multiplied today, as the growing of food has become more scientific.

There are many economic phases to a vegetarian diet, or a near vegetarian diet. When a man or family looks around today and sees the wealth of food supplies which cannot be afforded there may seem to be subject for discontent. But begin with the idea that bread and milk is good, and almost sufficient. Next think about the vegetables and fruits that can be easily afforded, along with cereals. Next think of having cake, which means eggs and sugar. Even at this point a family can count itself lucky and among the fortunate. We are fortunate if we can think of nourishment by beginning at the bottom of the scale instead of the top. It seems like preaching to say it, yet we are barely suggesting a preachment in doing so.

Corn Bread Shortcake.

The part of our country which knows how to make the best cornbreads tells us that people would eat more of the vegetables so often despised if they would eat them with cornbread. Good hot greens and hot cornbread and butter make an exceedingly agreeable meal, and so wholesome that you might easily think spring had fully come after you had partaken of this combination.

A cornbread shortcake made as follows looks less cotton plantation-like than the cornbread and greens:

One and a half cups of corn meal, two cups of sour milk, one teaspoon of soda, one teaspoon of salt, two eggs, two tablespoons of shortening. Mix the dry ingredients. Add the eggs well beaten and the milk. Place the shortening—butter gives best effects, but bacon fat, etc., may be used—in a short handled frying pan (metal handle), melt it, and turn it all over the pan so as to grease it and pour what is left into the batter. Turn the batter into the hot grease pan, put in hot oven, and bake from twenty to thirty minutes.

When the cake is done split it open and fill and cover with creamed vegetables. Creamed celery alone is good, or we may have a mixture in the white sauce. One acceptable mixture is a cup of peas, one cup of cooked and diced potato, one cup of carrots put through meat chopper and cooked, a little onion, and maybe a tablespoon of chopped parsley. One cup of white sauce is enough for these if made of two level tablespoons of flour, a tablespoon and a half of butter, and a cup of milk.

Best of Meat Substitutes.

Dried Lima beans, picked over, washed, and put to cook in four times their measure of water, with a carrot and onion, and cooked two hours as gently as possible, are good creamed, made into a purée for a celery stock soup, or served plain with butter. An hour of soaking helps, perhaps, or none at all is absolutely necessary, if they are cooked without boiling.

Kidney and pinto beans and even the navy beans can be cooked in the same way and be made delicious, but it is best to give them a few hours of soaking in the same water in which they are cooked. These are all among the best of meat substitutes, but the meat (protein) part of them can be all but destroyed, made bony and hard by boiling, so that an ostrich could not digest it. The starchy part could only be made digestible if cooked long enough to separate it from this bone.

Hash of Vegetables.

Vegetable hashes made of raw vegetables, like carrots, onions, and celery, put through the meat chopper before they are cooked, are delicious and handsome. Some beet for them may be cooked separately. The following mince, which may be used for stuffing a cabbage, green peppers, and egg plant, may be used plain as a hash with a rice border: One medium sized onion, one stalk of celery, one-half a green pepper, one-half cup of ground carrot. Double or triple quantities according to need. Put these into a frying pan with some fat, cover, and cook gently half an hour without browning. Then add one chopped beet. If two slices of bacon are cut fine and cooked in the frying pan before the vegetable mince is put in the flavor of the whole will be most appetizing.

Vegetarianism in its truest sense should be a complete and frequent utilization of vegetables. Such a mixture as this last can be used in a dozen ways, all agreeable even to those who think they do not like vegetables.

By Elizabeth O. Hiller.

All measurements are made level in these recipes. A teaspoon of regulation size holds sixty drops. Three level teaspoons equal one level tablespoon. Sixteen level tablespoons equal one cup (one-half pint). The half-pint measuring cup is the standard measuring cup used in modern cookery.

Baked Shad Roes with Tomato Sauce.

The roe is the spawn taken from the "roe shad." It is esteemed highly as a food and by many is considered a great delicacy. Shad roes are rich in protein (with 20.9 per cent protein content, yielding 600 calories per pound). They are in season from January to April, according to the location of the waters from which they are taken; they are found in the Boston market as late as April 30. Prepared as follows, they will be found a great favorite with men at luncheon or at the chafing dish supper:

Finely chop one medium sized onion and one medium sized green pepper (discarding the seeds and white portion). Cook until soft in two tablespoons of butter or bacon fat without browning. Skim from the fat and sprinkle over the bottom of a well buttered baking dish or casserole. Place a pair of shad roes over vegetables. Pour over roes one and one-half cups of rich tomato sauce. Bake thirty-five minutes in a hot oven, basting three times during cooking with the sauce. Serve in the casserole. The roes may be prepared in this manner in a chafing dish over a slow fire.

Banana and Date Salad.

Peel and scrape four firm red bananas; cut them in one-fourth inch slices and squeeze over them the juice of one-half lemon. Put one-half pound of dates into a bowl and pour over them boiling water to cover; stir with a fork until they are separated and slightly cooled. Drain, remove the stones, and cut each date into four pieces. In a small bowl mix three tablespoons of oil, one and one-half tablespoons of lemon juice, one-eighth teaspoon of salt, one-fourth teaspoon of paprika, and one teaspoon of powdered sugar. Beat thoroughly and pour over the fruit that has been arranged in a nest of lettuce heart leaves disposed in a shallow serving dish. Mask with cream mayonnaise and garnish with the small crisp lettuce hearts. Serve with small hot tea sbiscuit, split and buttered.

Coffee or hot cocoa will accompany this combination and will make an acceptable menu for a small card party.

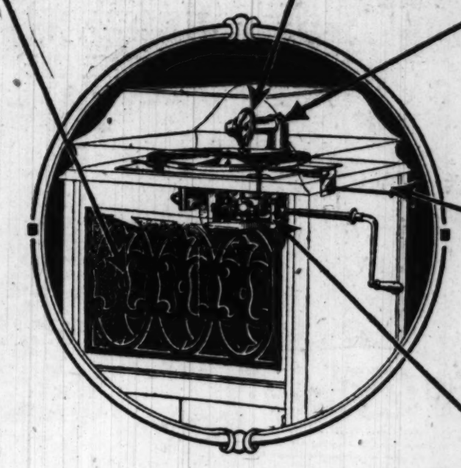
The Better Phonograph For Less Money

AMPLIFYING CHAMBER
The sounds carried from the reproducer through the tone arm are given volume and resonance in a scientifically designed amplifying chamber or horn. This chamber is built of carefully seasoned wood and, like the sounding board of a fine violin, imparts to the reclaimed sound vibrations purity and resonance. This perfectly balanced combination of reproducer, tone arm and amplifying chamber makes every record a true reflection of the personality of its creator.

THE REPRODUCER
Tone quality is dependent upon the reproducer, tone arm and amplifying chamber. Each must be correctly designed and harmonized in its relation to the other two in order to produce a sweet, pleasing tone—free from scratching sounds. The Silvertone reproducer accurately restores every sound vibration, every subtle, elusive, shading of tone and expression. It is so designed that all scratching and mechanical noises are reduced to the minimum.

PLAYS ALL DISC RECORDS
The Silvertone convertible tone arm permits the playing of any make of disc record. A universal joint in the tone arm makes it possible to adjust the reproducer at will so that it will play either vertical or lateral cut records. It is almost as easy to adjust the reproducer for different types of records as it is to change needles. The Silvertone will play Columbia, Victor, Edison, Pathe, Emerson, OkeH, or any other make of disc record.



TONE CONTROL
The tone modulator with which each Silvertone is equipped gives complete control over the volume of sound. It serves the same purpose as the doors of the Victrola, the shutters of the Columbia Grafonola, or the pneumatic tone control of the Aeolian. You may set the modulator at any desired point, thus giving a uniform volume of sound, or the modulator may be manipulated while a selection is being played, thus enabling you to impart your own interpretation to the music.

POWERFUL, SILENT MOTOR
The Silvertone motor is as near perfect as mechanical and human efficiency can make it. Every part is made and fitted with care and precision and gears mesh silently. Powerful springs furnish an abundance of power, and a perfectly designed governor keeps turntable speed absolutely uniform, eliminating discordancies which sometimes occur owing to variations in speed. The motor is equipped with a silent winding device, and cranks with very little effort.

Period Design Cabinets

SILVERTONE cabinets are the finest product of the skilled cabinet-makers' art. Made in the most popular period designs, every one is a handsome piece of furniture—dignified, graceful and artistic in appearance. Only the finest selected woods are used in their construction and they are finished and fitted with that exquisite care and perfection which mark the work of the painstaking artisan.

Send No Money

SPECIFICATIONS for the 1920 models of Silvertone phonographs were prepared with the sole idea of maintaining the established high standard of Silvertone quality, in spite of ever increasing difficulties in manufacturing. Every mechanical and acoustical refinement which experience has proved desirable was incorporated in the new Silvertone. The same care in the selection of only the finest cabinet woods, and the same high quality of workmanship and finish which has always characterized Silvertone phonographs has been rigidly adhered to in the construction of the 1920 models. It is indeed the masterpiece of Silvertone quality.

Quantity production, efficient manufacturing methods, and our economical mode of selling have enabled us to combine this high standard of quality with prices which are from 25 per cent to 50 per cent below those of any other phonograph of the same size, mechanical perfection and musical excellence. We want to convince you of the truth of our claims for the Silvertone. We want you to try a Silvertone in your own home, the only place where a musical instrument can be given a satisfactory and convincing test. That is why we are making this liberal offer:

No Money Down—Two Weeks' Trial

Select any Silvertone phonograph shown on this page, fill in the order blank at the bottom of this page, and mail it to Sears, Roebuck and Co., Chicago, Ill. Send no money with it! We ship Silvertone phonographs on two weeks' trial. This trial will not cost you a cent, nor obligate you in any way. All we ask you to do is to give the phonograph a thorough trial. Examine its mechanical features, cabinet work and finish. Try it with any records you desire, and note its beauty of tone, how faithfully and accurately it restores every delicate shading of tone quality, every variation of volume, every sound vibration. Give it every test necessary to prove the truth of our claims for it. And then compare the price of the Silvertone with that of any other phonograph of the same size, quality and musical excellence. If, at the end of this two weeks' trial, you are not fully satisfied with the phonograph, if you do not believe that mechanically, musically, and in workmanship, material and finish, it is the equal of any other phonograph on the market selling at from 25 per cent to 50 per cent higher price, simply notify us and we will take away the phonograph at our own expense, and will return any transportation or cartage charges you have paid.

Small Monthly Payments

If at the end of two weeks' trial, you are fully satisfied with the Silvertone and desire to keep it, simply send us the price of the phonograph you have selected in equal monthly payments until the total is paid. The amount of the monthly payment is shown under the illustrations of the various models. There is no interest or extras of any kind to pay

Fill out the order blank today, before this paper gets out of your hands, and let us send you one of these beautiful 1920 Silvertone models for two weeks' trial in your home, without having to pay a cent down on the phonograph, and without obligating you in any way. You are to be the sole judge of the quality and value of the Silvertone.

You may ship me the SILVERTONE Phonograph which I have marked with an [X] for two weeks' trial.

If, after two weeks' trial, I decide to keep and use the instrument, I will send you the first payment for the phonograph and pay the same amount each month, until paid in full; then the SILVERTONE becomes my property.

Should I decide, after two weeks' trial, that the SILVERTONE is not satisfactory, I will notify you, and you are to give me instructions so that I may send it back at your expense. You are also to return to me any transportation and cartage charges I have paid.

I have always been faithful in paying my obligations and am making this statement for the purpose of inducing you to grant me these terms, and I give you my pledge that you may feel safe in trusting me to pay as agreed.

The Theaters

By Percy Hammond.

THE motion picture industry is still looking over the wordy-drama with a view to its absorption. One of the richest of the cinema corporations, the Famous Players-Lasky-Zukor-Paramount-Artcraft, etc., concern, is operating behind the names of prominent Broadway managers; and other spoken plays and players.

The business of the "angel" of the stage has ever been a sorry one. Even the brightest of them have fallen, from the haughty Lucifers who backed the Century theater in New York to the shrewder, because more prudent, cherubim who subvened the several enterprises in Chicago. The movie men, however, operate on a different economic plan. They seek to acquire the drama merely as a sort of raw material, which, improved and developed in the processes of the stage, will eventuate in the finished product of the screen. They have found, too, they say, that the "regular" producers are set in a habit of mediocrity, that they have no aspirations for the better things, and that their plays are not suited to the soaring ambition of the films. For since the movies have got rich, they have discovered culture, and they hope to prove that art and profits may be soldered together by the sweet cement of prosperity. The Famous Players' outfit has financed at last two noncommercial enterprises this season—Lionel Barrymore in Brieux's "The Law of the Land" and Miss Elsie Ferguson in Arnold Bennett's "Sacred and Profane Love," a dramatization of the novel "Carlotta." They will be photographed later.

Animated by the cultural aspirations of the cinema, the University of Illinois and other midwest headquarters of learning, talk of adding courses in motion picture manufacture to their technical curricula. Or so it is bruited about in educational circles. By this plan pupils would be instructed, particularly, in the composition of scenarios, as they are by Prof. Baker in the serious or "Common Clay" drama at Harvard. The intention is to produce movies of the worthy sort. The enterprise seems meritorious and should be successful, since it is a general belief that people will go to the movies whether they are bad or not. Optiences, to filch an earfull from Miss Tinée's gay glossary, are said to be not hostile to superiority, and it is the boast of local film experts that had "Dear Brutus" been a photograph it would not have suffered the cold indifference that it did in its engagement at the Illinois. Still it might be safer were the university to establish an auxiliary course, teaching the students to appreciate a good picture after it has been written for them.

If one were asked to identify the player, among the five new plays of last week, who gave the greatest enjoyment to the audiences, one would be troubled, so many and various were the pleasures afforded. There was happiness over Mrs. Fiske's serene and artful banter in the thin and shapeless "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans," as there was over Miss Grace George's intimate and human comedy in the froward little "Ruined Lady." Frank Tinney in "Sometime" purged our intellectual systems with his droll facetiousness as thoroughly as any of the classical devices scheduled in Aristotle; and the good actors of "The Rose of China," as well as its good looks, good manners, and good music, gave polite cheer to many persons.

But if one were to decide the question upon a preponderance of the evidence, he would not say that our favorite player is any of these. Accepting laughter and applause as credible testimony he would, instead, assign the honors of popularity to Miss Fanny Watson, a large and ribald lady who performs at the Woods in a dramatized red nose called "Monte Cristo Jr."

Miss Watson is a plentiful comedienne of exuberant disposition, a child of the theater and of Mr. "Billy" Watson, whose "Beef Trust" for years has intrigued the devotees of burlesque. So her cordial practices are well suited to the style of "Monte Cristo Jr.," in which at frequent intervals one clown with a flaming proboscis kicks another, to the accurately timed accompaniment of all the percussion instruments in the orchestra. In appearance she is handsome, bearing a vague, a very vague, resemblance to Miss Ethel Barrymore, much swollen. Her person is abundant and richly dressed. She eschews the graces, preferring to waddle rather than to walk, and her voice is a resonant organ of extravaganza. Her harmless horseplay is as broad as Falstaff's, and as infallible. They laugh at her elemental humor as they laugh nowhere else in town, and if, when you see her, you do not react to her provocations, you will feel, as I did at the Woods the other night, in a state of tragic isolation, a prig among good fellows, a death's head at a party.

"The Shubert Gaieties of 1919," announced for the Garrick March 14, is described as a "satirical revue of episodic happenings of the past year." Thus some of the scenes are entitled "In Baby Vampire Land," "Greenwich Village," "A Busy Scene on Broadway," "Times Square," "The Trial of the Shimmy," and "The Revels of Neptune." Jack Norworth and Harry Watson are the comedians.

Miss Pearl Franklin, dramatist of "Howdy, Folks!" found her material in the Azalea stories of North Carolina mountain life by Mrs. Elia W. Peattie of THE TRIBUNE'S literary staff. Miss Franklin was once, herself, a member of that department of the paper, and when the Azalea book was given to her to review she decided that a play lurked between the covers. But that was before she had thought of stage authorship or adaptation.

Miss Franklin (whose father was Lesser Franklin, suburban builder and founder of Franklin Park) went later to New York and was brought into association with Winchell Smith, playwright and producer. She became his confidential assistant and saw, from the inside, the evolution of the plays that made him famous. She had an active share in a previous production, "Young America," which was based upon her short stories concerning the juvenile court, a boy, and his dog. Frederick Ballard was the adapter.

New York critics say that Percy Mackaye's "George Washington," with Walter Hampden in the title rôle, will not do. Mr. Woollcott in the Times writes that "the characters all talk like a grammar school text book," and that the play is merely declamatory bombast.

After the opening performance of "The Irresistible Genius" in Baltimore the other night, George M. Cohan, the producer, ordered the name of Georges Benavent, one of the actors, to be put in electric lights as the star. Mr. Benavent, who is practically unknown, recently played with Mrs. Fiske in "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans."

In case there is interest in Miss Elsie Ferguson's preference for the presidency, here it is:

"Gen. Wood," she says, "would be the ideal president, particularly at this time. He has a wonderful mind and has had a remarkable experience. He is the true American, fearless, wise, and firm, but not regarding himself as almighty. He would choose wise lieutenants and then leave the conduct of their several departments to them. He would always be ready to advise, but he would choose experts, as Roosevelt did, and then, as Roosevelt did, respect their knowledge, wisdom, and specialized experiences. They would not be figureheads. We would not have a one-man government."

Morris Gest announces that he has arranged with the Chicago Opera association to present the spectacle "Aphrodite" at the Auditorium Sept. 11 for four weeks. Eleven dollars will be the price of a seat for the opening performance, as it was in New York.

John Cort is organizing a company to play "Just a Minute," a new musical comedy, at the Cort theater. It is by Harold Orlob and George E. Stoddard, and its players will include Tom Dingle, a popular dancer, and Miss Mabel Withee.

Mr. Kaufman, dramatic editor of the New York Times, telegraphs this morning that:

An authoritative estimate places the weekly profits of "Abraham Lincoln" at $6,000, by which it will be seen that not all the theatrical money is to be made in the girl-and-music shows. And this $6,000, it must be remembered, is the producer's profit only, and a thing apart and distinct from the profit of the Cort theater, which is perhaps nearly as great. It is interesting, in this connection, to consider the feelings of the several American producers who turned down the play in London and of the managers who refused to let it into their houses in New York.

The Theda Bara opus, "The Blue Flame," is an instance of a play sold outright to a producer, a rare happening in these days of big rewards. A. H. Woods, according to the story, paid $5,000 to the author of the original idea, one Letta Nicholson Vance, and $35,000 to George V. Hobart and John Willard, who made a play out of it. It is difficult in this instance to see how the producer can be the loser, since the motion picture rights alone (presumably Miss Bara will later make a film of it) are likely to do more than cover the investment.

Frances Starr's new play, in which she will be seen next season, is like "Tiger, Tiger," the work of Edward Knoblock. In it Miss Starr will play a dual part, said to be not unlike her rôle in "The Case of Becky." The manuscript of the play is already in this country and the leading male rôle was offered during the last week to O. P. Heggie, who failed to look upon it with favor.

"Stand from Under," by William Anthony McGuire, was acted in Trenton for the first time a few days ago and is reported to be something of an anti-prohibition play. At all events, Mr. McGuire's argument is that there are worse things than liquor and he cites his unfortunate hero to prove it.

A dramatization of Whistler's life promises to be one of the high marks of the season to come. It is the work of Sarah J. Curry and Pauline M. Cavendish, the latter a novelist who has written with success under the name of Pauline Bradford Mackel.

Laurence Eyre, who wrote Mrs. Fiske's "Mis' Nelly of N'Orleans," is the author of a romantic play called "Martinique," now in rehearsal with Josephine Victor in the leading rôle. Walter Hast is the producer, and the first performance will be given in New Haven on March 29.

The production of Avery Hopwood's farce "Dodo" is again rumored, this time with a cast including Roland Young, Ernest Glendinning and Juliette Day. Dodo was the name of the principal character in Mr. Hopwood's farce "Our Little Wife," acted by Margaret Illington some seasons ago and there is a dark suspicion that "Dodo" and "Our Little Wife" are one and the same.

Barrymore Wife Shares Credit of Husband's Genius

By Burns Mantle.

NEW YORK. — [Special Correspondence.] — The Barrymore brothers certainly have a way with them when it comes to the playing of a smashing dramatic climax. The Barrymore sister is not without her gifts in this particular, either. But the Barrymore wives are frequently a trifle shy of genius and a little overanxious to cover the defect.

When Lionel Barrymore returned to single stardom he honored Doris Rankin, his wife, by making her his leading woman in "The Letter and the Law," a lately written version of Eugene Brieux's "La Robe Rouge." And when these two players came to the end of the second act the afternoon of the play's first performance in the Criterion theater the scene they had builded, or that Lionel had builded, was full of possibilities.

Barrymore was playing an ambitious French magistrate bent on forcing a confession from a murder suspect, thus giving weight and credibility to the author's contention, which is the theme of the play, that twenty years ago in the French courts "rigorous law was often rigorous injustice." For an act the magistrate had bullied the frightened prisoner until he had him about ready to confess anything. And, incidentally, during the examination he had played his own part with such skill, decorating it with an infinite amount of convincing detail, that the audience was again lost in admiration of his fine art.

With the prisoner near collapse, the magistrate sends for the man's wife. His browbeating of her, however, is less successful, and at the conclusion of the scene, when the audience is tense with the hope that some one will turn on this brute of a prosecutor and express its (the audience's) opinion of him, the wife does so turn, and with a viperish tongue calls him as many of those things he deserved to be called as the law will permit. The effect, quite naturally, is to set the audience cheering; first, because of its emotional reaction, and, second, because of its remembered admiration of Lionel's fine performance. In this demonstration Doris Rankin shares honors that she really has done little to earn, and the reviewers were inclined to resent her success. It was a fine tribute to a husband's loyalty, however.

It is this particular scene that probably will save "The Letter of the Law." The other three acts have a certain holding interest, but they bear as well the burdens of most thesis dramas in being overlong and too freely conversational. Also they are particularly concerned with a problem that is not common in America.

Granted, we do have the district attorney who is as intent upon achieving a record of convictions as any French magistrate, but, so far as the public knows, his chances of promotion are not as dependent upon that record as they appear to be in the French courts. They undoubtedly have weight with the political bosses who indorse him, and he probably is as prone to permit the prosecution of his duty to descend to the level of vicious persecution, particularly in the case of the poor, the ignorant, and the friendless, who should be his chiefest concern. But he also is fairly well hedged about by restraining influences that prevent his abuse of his power.

Assisting the Barrymores are several actors of ability. Russ Whytal plays one of the few sympathetic characters, that of another ambitious magistrate whose conscience saves him, and Charles White is excellent as the abused prisoner.

Elsie Ferguson is back from her three years' experience as a star of the cinema. And, according to Elsie, wildly happy at being back.

She comes back as the heroine of "Sacred and Profane Love," a play Arnold Bennett made from his novel, "The Story of Carlotta." In the writing it is rather uneven and unsatisfying, but in the playing it gives Miss Ferguson many opportunities, and her largely increased public seems delighted with it.

"WHO'S YOUR SERVANT?"

Produced by Robertson-Cole.

THE CAST.

Caroline Bancroft.....Lois Wilson
Ito Natsume.....Yokio Aoyama
Admiral Bancroft.....Andrew Robson
Capt. Norman Sharp.....Andrew Morrison
Lieut. Clifford Bruce.....William Scott
Dorothy Taylor.....Frances Burnham

By Mae Tinee.

IF it has ever occurred to you to wonder if a photoplay editor was bright enough to write a movie, be referred to "Who's Your Servant," which is the brain child of Julian Johnson, whom you will recollect as the editor of a popular picture magazine.

Taking as his motif the possibility that the helpful soul who brushes your coats, shines your shoes, or mayhap does your washing and cooks your meals, is a snake in the grass, Mr. Johnson evolves quite an interesting story with the mystery pretty well sustained.

He takes you into navy circles at a time when the United States is enthusiastic over the construction of some turret plans. Because the kind of turret under consideration would permit shooting at a range never before dreamed of, the plans would, of course, be valuable to another government. At anchor some distance out lies a Japanese warship, apparently on no business bent at all. In the admiral's own household is a Japanese houseboy, Ito.

The admiral's beautiful daughter is engaged in a romance with a handsome navy lieutenant, thereby arousing much jealousy in a number of breasts. The plans disappear and suspicion is directed toward the lieutenant. Though he protests his innocence, appearances are against him.

Of course you know he couldn't be the guilty party. I refrain from telling you who does finally turn out to be the villain.

As the reels unwind "Who's Your Servant" becomes rather melodramatic. The beautiful heroine is involved in murder and climbs from an upstairs window to the ground, with her golden hair streaming down her back. To tell you the truth, I don't quite understand why the heroine need have maintained so much secrecy regarding the murder. She killed in a just cause. However, the picture would have had to stop a reel sooner if she'd out and told father all about it, as most of us would have done.

Miss Wilson is pleasing in the role and I think Andrew Robson as the admiral is a dandy! Can't say I'm wild about the others in the cast, but they play up pretty well, and on the whole "Who's Your Servant" manages to hold your interest.

At the LA SALLE

Miss Richardson's pretty voice and youthful charm are engaged happily in the prima donna rôle of "The Rose of China." She was last here as principal singer in "Sunshine."

Ask Me! Ask Me! Ask Me!

L. G. T.: Glady. Miss Dalton was at one time the wife of Lew Cody. She's unattached now—so far as I know—I don't always know; they work too fast for me sometimes. Dorothy Phillips is married to Allen Holubar, and manages to be quite old-fashionedly happy, they say. Y'wekkum.

PEARLIE: Yes, Colleen Moore did play with Sessue Hayakawa. But now—what do you think? She's found out she's a funny girl and has joined the Christie ranks. How do you think you'll like her in the slapstick?

ELLIS: I'll oblige you, even though you do call me "Dear Sir." Put your idea in story form and send it to the scenario editor of one of the studios. Want a list of companies? Then send me a stamped, addressed envelope. I don't know everything—but I make a bluff I do.

K. M. S.: Of course I've heard of Freeport! O, some reason that for "social supremacy."! Stop kidding this korner! Mr. Thomas Ince may be reached at Culver City, Cal. You're right to keep us covered. Dear knows we'd get away with a lot if we could. And, by the way, you certainly do run a wicked typewriter! O's and e's all cleaned out and everything!

Concerts and Recitals

BENNO MOISEIWITSCH, the Russian pianist, gives his second recital in Orchestra hall this afternoon at 3:30. He will play the Bach Prelude in C, the Chopin B flat minor Sonata, Ravel's "Play of Waters," Rachmaninoff's B minor Prelude, Stravinsky's F sharp Study, Palmgren's "Cradle Song" and "Bird Song," Debussy's "Maid with Flaxen Hair," and Toccata, and of Liszt the "Will of the Wisp," "Love Dream," and the "Venice and Naples" Tarantella.

Harold Henry gives a piano recital in Leon Mandel assembly hall next Tuesday afternoon at 4:15. His program includes the Keltic Sonata of MacDowell, a group of Chopin, and his own "The Dancing Marionette."

The last of the Kinsey morning recitals this season takes place next Wednesday in Ziegfeld theater at 11. It will consist of a piano recital by Rudolph Reuter, who will play an interesting program which includes as its principal number the Sonata, still in manuscript, by Charles T. Griffes, the young American composer.

The Chicago Orchestra gives its next Popular next Thursday evening. The list includes Berwald's "Dramatic Overture," Beethoven's seventh Symphony, Weber's "Invitation to the Dance," Saint-Saëns' "Dance Macabre" and "Spinning Wheel of Omphale," Percy Grainger's "Mock Morris" and "Shepherd's Hey," and the Liszt Polonaise in E.

The second concert of the Chicago Madrigal Club under the direction of D. A. Clippinger takes place next Thursday evening in Kimball hall. The program so far as the chorus is concerned will be made up wholly of compositions written for and dedicated to the club, among them being the Adolf Weidig "A Roundelay" which has been awarded this year's Kimball prize and which on Thursday will have its initial public hearing.

John Weicher, violinist will make his debut in recital next Friday evening in Kimball hall. His program includes the B minor Concerto of d'Ambrosio and the F sharp minor Concerto by Wieniawski.

Jascha Heifetz will be soloist in the Chicago Orchestra concerts in Orchestra hall Friday afternoon and Saturday evening. He will play the Beethoven Concerto. The orchestral numbers consist of Tschaikowsky's second Symphony which has not been played here in thirteen years, and the Florent Schmitt "Tragedy of Salome" which recently had its initial hearing at these concerts and found pronounced favor.

A Few Plain Words About Our Opera

By W. L. Hubbard.

THE CHICAGO OPERA COMPANY finished its five weeks at the Lexington theater, New York, a week ago last night, and has now been seven days in Boston where it remains until next Sunday, and then moves to Pittsburgh for three days, then to Detroit for a similar stay, and finally divides its closing week commencing March 22 between Cleveland and Cincinnati. Thus will end the present season—a season filled with uncertainties and no small difficulties for the management.

The illness and death of Mr. Campanini left the organization virtually without a head from the commencement of the season, for even during the opening weeks, the director general was too ill to give more than a merely cursory oversight to the work of the organization. With his death the company was left without anyone actually in authority, and while Mr. Johnson and his associates bravely carried out the plans Mr. Campanini had outlined and shaped, yet the steady disintegrating of the company through lack of the needed strict discipline and the definite musical knowledge and artistic purpose which Mr. Campanini had hitherto supplied, was undeniably observable. Performances illy prepared were offered, stage management was frequently sadly deficient, operas were cast without the best materials in the company being utilized and a wholly unnecessary eagerness to produce a great number of opera regardless of how they were produced was evident.

The result was a lowering of the artistic standard of the organization and its offering, which could but make anxious those who admired what had been accomplished in the past, and who wished to see progress rather than retrogression be the rule for the present and the future.

It was known that these conditions were in large measure unavoidable since no selection of an actual directing manager was to be made until the season ended. The shortcomings were therefore overlooked or excused. But the effect upon the future is subject for a certain amount of alarm. Especially so since the New York season has brought a summing up by the critics which pronounces the visit there this year distinctly inferior artistically to those of preceding seasons.

The rough, unprepared performances have given the Gotham reviewers good chance to question why the Chicago company needs come to New York and the question is not raised, it would seem, without reason. The going to New York is unmistakably carrying coals to Newcastle so far as opera is concerned, for the Metropolitan supplies all the operatic fare that is needed. It would seem that the field for the Chicago company to utilize and wherein it might accomplish actual educational and cultural results is the great middle west.

...n larger cities in the territory from the Alleghanies to the Rockies, and from the Gulf to the Canadian boundary should, and it is believed could supply the company with ample outlet for all the time and activity which Chicago cannot utilize. The cultivating and repairing of this territory would mean the creating of new interest and new patrons for Chicago's grand opera, and at the same time would be the performing of a true service to music and to progress. The going to New York and Boston is merely the gratifying of a poor kind of ambition and pride—an ambition and pride which in the case of Mr. Campanini personally can be understood and excused, but which in the case of the organization itself is wholly without reason.

We gain nothing in prestige by going to New York. Fully as much money is lost as would be in playing cities closer at hand. And we give New York merely another opportunity to sniff at us and to take a patronizing attitude toward us. Chicago belongs to the west and should waken to the fact, avail herself of opportunities the west offers and be proud that she is what she is. New York is not necessary to her.

In the thirty-eight performances given in New York, thirty-two operas and two ballets were presented. Of these five were works which were not done here in Chicago—"Falstaff," "Aphrodite," "La Gioconda," "Dinorah," and "Cavalleria Rusticana." The financial losses have amounted to about $150,000 for the five weeks, the patronage having been good only when some all star casts were offered or when Ruffo, Galli Curci, or Mary Garden appeared.

In speaking of the reason for the Chicago company coming to New York, Mr. Krehbiel, in the Tribune, says:

"The raison d'être has been weakened by the company's departure from the repertory which distinguished it when it was first in rivalry as well as when it was in quasi-collaboration with the local establishment, and to maintain it at home as well as here dependence has had to be placed upon a few singers of unusual gifts and popularity, such as Mme. Galli-Curci, Rosa Itaisa, Mary Garden, and, this year, Allessandro Bonci and Titta Ruffo. Except Miss Garden, however, these artists seem unable, or unwilling, to introduce new and vitalizing elements into the repertory, with the result that there does not appear to have been any substantial growth in the public patronage."

Calling attention to the fact that the management on one subscription night sold the performance to a charity and permitted the prices to be "incontinently raised," the critic says that this might be pardonable where a benevolent object was sought to be obtained, but he does not think such can be the case when "on the last subscription night the management did the same thing, apparently for the reason that it was believed that prurient popular curiosity to see a profligate and indecent exhibition ('Aphrodite') would bring a crowd into the theater despite the increase in the price of tickets. These actions, we are inclined to believe, will react detrimentally to the company if it should visit New York again next season."

Mr. Huneker in the World commences his summary with a quotation from Bossuet to the effect that "good intentions combined with limited intelligence are fatal in high places." He then goes on to say that, artistically, the quality of the Chicago company's performances was inferior to that of the previous season. This is "a fact not to be contravened by the denials of overheated partisanship. . . . The Chicago company boasts a roster of splendid voices, but is sadly handicapped because of its present management. It is overmanaged. Too many cooks have burned the broth so cunningly concocted by the late and lamented Cleofonte Campanini.

"The vocal factor is the principal in an operatic company, but as everything is relative, it soon becomes a peril if not subjected to the same laws that control all organizations from a church to a political machine. Organization. That's the test. All those songbirds don't make an operatic summer if not guided by a master hand. That hand Mr. Campanini possessed. Even his friends admit this—and friends are, generally speaking, foes. Thus far no one has stepped into the shoes of the dead man. Chaos has resulted."

After pointing out the failure to present the more interesting novelties that had been promised, Mr. Huneker continues:

"However, lack of novelties is a shortcoming that may be laid against the management of any opera house anywhere. The public doesn't care for novelties. Every manager knows that. But to pitchfork operas on the stage without adequate rehearsing is an unforgivable offense. Mediocre scenic settings—with the exceptions of Norman-Bel Geddes in 'Doudour' and Robert Edmond Jones in 'The Birthday of the Infanta,' both refreshingly individual—an orchestra that was overworked, and no judgment in making the repertoire, indifferent choral singing, slovenly stage management, and through no fault of Jules Speck, add added to a catalogue of minor ills, there is the problem of the Lexington theater with its diabolically clear acoustics, truly too much of a good thing.

All the reviewers throughout the season have commented on the constant forcing of the voices by Mme. Raisa, Mr. Ruffo and Mr. Schipa. Mr. Henderson commences his summary with discussion of this tendency and its baleful effects. He says: "Miss Garden and her pictorial art were once the idols of the Chicago opera patrons. Titta Ruffo and the cyclopean 'voice like thunder' are now its contributions to the glorious idealism brought into the world by the spiritual exaltation of a great war." He declares the performance of "Hamlet" caused "one of the most disheartening revelations of depraved taste that this city has had the misfortune to witness in many years."

The theater was crowded and Ruffo acted Hamlet "in a manner which violated almost every canon of art and good taste . . . He talked and shouted when he felt like it. He occasionally abandoned all pretence of singing. When he did sing he exhibited an amazing series of exaggerations. His chief asset . . . was a tremendous and prolonged volume of tone on a high note. And this was what his shouting compatriots went to acclaim.

"One thing is certain. Not even the Chicago Opera company, which has apparently thrown to the winds most of its earlier pretensions to fine art, can continue to live by noise alone. The effect of the cultivation of a less elegant repertoire and the open invitation to opera goers of refined tastes to stay at home was manifested on more than one occasion by the number of unoccupied seats."

Can the directors of the Chicago Opera association afford to ignore these estimates and conclusions of the New York critics? Would it not be as well to look facts straight in the face, find out the proper and worth while field and work for the company and then turn to it?

To Play a KRANICH & BACH GRANDETTE PLAYER

Neither talent nor practise is requisite. This grand piano in perfect miniture is made, it is true, for the artist who plays manually and appreciates a sensitive mechanism, for it instantly responds to his changing moods. But it is equally adapted to the man or woman who appreciates music without the ability to play manually. For such music-lovers, just as readily, the Grandette-Player responds to the sincere desire of individual interpretation.

THE AEOLIAN-VOCALION

in a most attractive model at very convenient terms

THE Aeolian Company's phonograph—the Aeolian-Vocalion—in the matter of tone, is the most perfect phonograph in the world. When a violin record is played upon this wonderful instrument, one hears, not simply music, but a real violin playing.

This is not only true of the violin, but is the case with every instrumental and vocal record. The musical tones produced are not only beautiful, they are characteristic. The tones of the flute have the pallid purity that distinguishes this instrument; those of the clarinet are plaintive and mellow; of the trumpet, full, pealing and military; of the trombone, grave and majestic. Human voices sound real and life-like, with never a question as to whether they are soprano, tenor or baritone, or as to the identity of the singer.

Moreover, when an orchestra record is played there is a wholly new sense of fullness and richness, due to the lower fundamental orchestral tones being, for the first time in phonographic reproduction, given their proper emphasis.

The Graduola—The wonderful tone-controlling feature that makes the Vocalion the only phonograph that is an interpretative musical instrument

Vocalion universal tone-arm—Plays the already famous Vocalion Records and those of any other standard make with great distinctness and beauty.

Vocalion automatic stop—Simpler to operate and superior in mechanism to any other stopping device on the market.

Vocalion record space—Contains six first quality record albums with convenient shelves to hold them, inside the cabinet.

The handsome style 540, illustrated, price $195, may be purchased for the present on monthly payments of $8

NEWS OF CHICAGO SOCIETY

Jamaica a Land of Enchantment to Northern Tourists

By Mme. X.

PORT ANTONIO, Jamaica.—[Special correspondence.]—To sojourn on an island where nightingales are as common as sparrows in Rush street; where the sunshine crashes and splinters on thousands and thousands of cocoanut palms marching up steep mountainsides; where banana plantations throng in dark, dank valleys, while the sea's passionate sapphire blues, pale, cruel greens, and deep purple tints shriek and clamor at the visitor to turn from the land and award to it the prize for beauty, is a wonderful and exhausting experience. The writer had contracted a permanent crick in the neck from twisting and turning to admire, now the plapitating mountains and now the burning sea, and thinks on good old Cook county much as the man in the meshes of a dark eyed, tropical siren must think of his plain, old, faithful wife at home waiting his return. You can work in good old Cook county; you are not tempted to loaf and squander your time.

Plenty of Time to Kill.

Snow drifts and lake winds are not conducive to lingering by the way. But here this amiable, beautiful wanton Jamaica saps your energy and undermines your principles. The ordinarily diligent, to whom a wasted moment has hitherto been acute pain, find themselves playing cards—solitaire—directly after breakfast.

The most temperate seem to rate planter's punch and "swizzle" as harmless decoctions. The energetic athletes are content to sit under vine embowered pergolas and to use the old fashioned, covered "democrat," drawn by two gaunt steeds, as their sole means of locomotion.

There are at the moment a lot of wandering Americans and Britishers eager to throw their principles into the scrap basket and to yield to the seductions of Jamaica.

Nothing to Fear.

The utter lack of danger here is remarkable. The natives are said to be invariably gentle, peaceable, and well intentioned. There are no animals in the forests wilder or more dangerous than the mongoose; no alligators in the streams; no sharks in the bays; no snakes in the grass; no centipedes in the beds or tarantulas in the tips of the slippers. In short, there's nothing to disturb the idle, somnolent, fattening peace which envelopes daily life in Jamaica.

The arrival at Kingston, on the other side of the island, of the United States destroyer Squadron 3, under Rear Admiral C. P. Plunkett, is rousing the residents thereabouts to extreme expression of hospitality. The women of Kingston have organized several canteens where the gobs will find entertainment. From what we have seen of the species on the north side of the island at Port Antonio the average sailor lad in Uncle Sam's service is looking for entertainment not provided at canteens organized by nice kind ladies. But perhaps we do them injustice.

One Line Controls Trade.

A not very complete or thorough trip in this part of the western hemisphere persuades ye scribe of one thing, and that is that the Gulf of Mexico and the Carribean sea are owned, body and soul, by an American steamship line, the United Fruit company, whose dapper smart white boats carry practically all of the passenger traffic and most of the freight of the larger West Indies. Not only is it the carrier for these waters, but the company owns and runs great plantations, comprising uncounted thousands of acres, where are grown the bananas, cocoanuts, sugar, and spices which it exports in its bottoms. These holdings are scattered over seven different countries.

The company's various fleets must number near a hundred ships, for it is now in control of the Elders & Fyffe company, an English line, and also charters numerous Norwegian ships for its carrying trade.

Its activities are many, for it owns and runs the two principal hotels on the island of Jamaica. The company furnishes the hotels with supplies and guests, and the latter with transportation and mail service, so the "U. F. Coy" (as it is called here) has its tendrils (or tentacles) pretty well in and through daily life and transportation in most of the West Indies.

Everything Overcrowded.

While nothing could be better than the service that it gives, it is not sufficient for the demand. Both ships and hotels are overcrowded, and everywhere there are roars of disappointment from traveling Americans and English, who not only can't get the accommodation they want at hotels or on ships, but often can't get any on either.

At Kingston many are lodged in a large barnlike barrack, in which sleeping quarters are mere cubicles or stalls where the partitions run up only part way to the ceiling—not conducive to entire privacy. Other unhappy mortals, eager to return to their homes, are waiting from week to week for some small space on north bound steamers.

As it seems probable that succeeding years will see a great influx of travel in this region, it is to be hoped that both shipping and hotels will double or treble their capacity. When the American public realizes that within a few days' journey from its shores lie beauty and climate unequaled in the world, where the frozen can escape from their shivers, the housebound from their captivity, the thirsty from their drought, the strife weary from their striving, they will flock in hordes. Europe is remote and in February and March has small allure.

Slim Chance for Merchant Marine.

The American navigation company in question is having the opportunity to measure the relative advantages of operating its ships under the Stars and Stripes and under other flags. It is too soon, its officials say, to come to any definite conclusion, but from observations made here and there I think the growing impression is, among those who go down to the sea in ships, or send others there, that our laws governing the rights of sailors are excellently adapted to nip in its tender bud any merchant marine service that we Americans had fondly hoped might be a byproduct of the war.

We cannot expect to compete with other seafaring nations unless we can persuade them to adopt responsibilities toward their sailors similar to those enforced by our laws or unless our navigating companies are well subsidized by our government. When England, France, Holland, Italy, Germany, Belgium, and other maritime nations get once more going we shall have a hard time holding our own.

Low Cost of Living.

How is living in Chicago these days? Are prices for beef, butter, eggs, sugar, etc., still soaring skyward? Is lodging scant and dear there? If so, say the Jamaicans, come to Jamaica, for here you can today live comfortably on £250 or £300 a year or less, and keep a horse and trap into the bargain. I am quoting from an enthusiastic colonist, who has tried it for six years.

How much in dollars are 300 English pounds? Considerably less than a thousand American dollars, I know, for we're getting 28 shillings for $5, which makes one feel quite rich.

Jamaica prices may interest the Chicago housekeeper. Houses, says the colonist, are the most expensive item, for you must pay at least £4 10s or £5 a month for rent. Sirloin beef is 14 cents, mutton 20, fish from 16 to 20 cents a pound. Butter is, of course, more expensive, this being a semi-tropical country, and costs "two and six" a pound (a little less than 60 cents); but as lobsters are only from 14 to 20 cents apiece—that is, mind you, a whole lobster—one can face the high price of butter with better cheer.

Domestic Service Cheap.

It is the price of domestic labor, however, which knocks loudest at the portals of our emotions, for the Jamaican housewife is grieving because the wages of house servants have risen from "three and six" a week (about 85 cents) to 5 and even 6 shillings. The Jamaican domestic provides his or her own food, too, which is a big item of saving.

Fruits and vegetables here are so plentiful and cheap that you hardly have to count them in your expense account. Every tree, bush, shrub, and vine seems to grow something edible. Bread fruit, alligator pears, chocho, palpais, yams, star apples, golden apples, mangoes, mountain cabbage (heart of the palm), cassava, are some of the native products you must learn to like, for they are all abundant, palatable, and nourishing.

Shade Trees Scarce.

Nature, with quiet irony, has planted the tropics largely with trees that cast no shade. The palm, the banana tree, the breadfruit tree, the sword tree, the flamboyant, the rubber tree, for all their thick, glistening, handsome leaves, afford the wayfayer no protection from the sun's fierce rays. Haven't you met people just like that? Shining, showy, smiling, they yet give you no sense of companionship, no restful shade.

The natives of the tropics make more use of the head than we northerners do. To them its chief purpose is as a support for burdens. On it they place everything, large or small, heavy or light. A woman who was carrying a letter on the top of her somewhat woolly head found that the breeze persistently blew the letter off, so, properly to secure it, she anchored it or weighted it to its perch with a large stone and, so equipped, stepped off briskly to the postoffice.

The difference between us and the tropical gentry is that we put things inside of our heads and they put things on top of theirs—only it's not the same things.

MISS EMILY VIRGINIA SMITH. PHOTO © MOFFETT.

A recent announcement of interest to Chicago society was that of the engagement of Miss Emily Virginia Smith, daughter of Mrs. Perry H. Smith of 411 Roslyn place, to Capt. Douglas K. Johnstone, late of the Bombay Light Horse and royal air force, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Johnstone of London, England. Capt. Johnstone has been decorated several times for bravery and is one of the few survivors of the Georgian, which was torpedoed off the Isle of Crete on its way from Alexandria to Saloniki, where Capt. Johnstone was in charge of the British airdrome in 1917. Miss Smith met Capt. Johnstone in 1918, when he was sent to this country as a liaison officer to the American air force, having been seriously wounded and rendered unfit for active service in an air battle in France. He is internationally known as a tennis player, and with George M. Church won the majority of matches played in the south in 1918 for the benefit of the Red Cross.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford F. Blanchard of Nice, France, of the marriage of their daughter, Helen Blanchard Burke, to T. Tolman Davidson, son of Mrs. Grace T. Davidson of 2126 Calumet avenue.

The marriage is announced of Miss Helen V. Burkhardt, daughter of A. A. W. Burkhardt of 5909 West Lake street, to William D. Sawler, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Sawler of Gloucester, Mass.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Esther Johnson of Des Moines, Ia., to John P. Norvall of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Norvall will live at the Gladstone hotel.

The marriage of Miss Jeanette T. Zagor, daughter of J. Zagor of 4925 Grand boulevard, to Rudy A. Moritz will take place on Tuesday at the residence of the bride's father.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Dorcas Parker of Bryan, Tex., to Dr. Lyman J. Spalding, son of Mrs. Louis P. Friestedt of 3806 Sheridan road. Dr. and Ms. Spalding will live in New York, where Dr. Spalding is associated with his brother-in-law, Dr. Royal S. Copeland, health commissioner of New York City.

The marriage is announced of Miss Helen Flower to Richard Danaher Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Danaher will live at 6827 Harper avenue.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Ruth Keating, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Keating of Oak Park, to Copeland L. Bradford of Edgewater.

The marriage is announced of Miss Gerda Enholm, daughter of Mrs. Blenda Enholm of 2722 East Seventy-seventh street, to Charles Stodling Jensen, which took place on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Stone of 4715 Drexel boulevard announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Gladys Lucille, to Charles L. Wirth Jr. of Milwaukee, which will take place tomorrow at the Blackstone.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Olga Sussland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Sussland of 1413 Argyle street, to Edgar Sabath, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sabath of 1914 South Ashland avenue, which will take place next Saturday.

The marriage is announced of Miss Belle Cecil Burr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Burr of 5945 Michigan avenue, to Irving B. Kaplan of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Hauser of 5422 Indiana avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Paula, to Milton E. Klein of 2100 Washtenaw avenue, which took place on Wednesday at the Hotel La Salle.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Elma Rausch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rausch of 4026 North Bernard street, to William M. Heffern, son of William H. Heffern of 1032 Loyola avenue.

The marriage is announced of Miss Dorothea Dietz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Dietz of Chicago, to Harry F. Wildman of Cocoa, Fla.

WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gillespie of 638 Sheridan road announce the marriage of their daughter, Mrs. India Thomas Sharpe, to John Fletcher Moffett. The wedding took place yesterday in the chapel of St. James Episcopal church. The Rev. Frederick L. Gratiot read the service.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. B. Volin of 5209 Indiana avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Rose, to David E. Harris of Chicago.

Women to Confer on the Work of Farm and Garden

WOMEN interested in horticulture and agriculture are planning to attend a conference of the midwest branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden association, which will be held in Chicago on Monday and Tuesday, March 22 and 23, in the rooms of the Fortnightly club and at the Art institute.

There will be papers and illustrated lectures that promise to be of greatest interest to the increasing number of women who are paying particular attention to their farms and gardens. Mrs. Francis King, president of the national association, whose gardens in Alma, Mich., are known to horticulturists throughout the country, will be one of four to read papers on flower culture at the first session.

In the afternoon Loring Underwood of Boston, Mass., will speak on "Old New England Gardens" and will show his famous colored slides as illustrations. W. A. Murrill of the New York botanical gardens will talk on "Edible and Poisonous Mushrooms" on Monday evening and will also show colored slides.

Agriculture will be the subject of Tuesday morning's session, with papers by Mrs. George U. Crocker, president of the New England branch, W. J. Vittle, and Mrs. Charles W. Hubbard. Art institute members and out of town guests are invited to a lecture by Mr. Murrill on "The Use of Plants in Design," to be given at the institute on Tuesday afternoon. In the evening there will be a buffet supper to members and guests of the conference in the Fortnightly rooms.

A business meeting of the members will be held on Wednesday morning to outline work for the year and to elect officers. Mrs. Frank O. Lowden is honorary president of the branch; Mrs. Russell Tyson is president; Mrs. George H. Bangs Steward, first vice president, and Mrs Bertram W. Rosenstone, second vice president.

The membership consists of more than 2,000 women, representing practically every state in the union and every branch of agricultural work. It includes successful women farmers and women timidly making their initial attempt; professional landscape gardeners and the amateur who needs first aid; commercial gardeners and owners of large estates or of tiny backyards, as well as vacant lot gardeners, food demonstrators, and research workers, and those in home and community canning kitchens; writers and lecturers on gardening, farming, and horticulture, and teachers and students of gardening. The only requirements for admission are a genuine interest in some form of farm or garden work and the payment of the membership dues of $2, which includes $1 for membership in the midwest branch, 50 cents for national membership, and 50 cents for the monthly bulletin.

The association was founded in 1914 and is a valuable assistant to those primarily interested in the cultivation of flowers, as well as of foodstuffs. During the war it was a recognized factor in increasing food production, its work being generously commended by the food administration. Its present aim is to continue this work by stimulating the farming and gardening activities of women.

The association possesses more agricultural data than any other woman's organization of its kind in the country and is constantly being called upon for information in its line. It has become a general clearing house among women engaged in farm and garden work, bringing together supply and demand, producer and consumer, employer and employé. Each year, through the national office, women have been placed, without fee, in positions as gardeners, teachers, poultry and dairy assistants, and even as farm managers and assistants.

The land service committee of the association has established an increasing fund, which enables the association to offer agricultural training to young women who have had two months or more of practical work on the land.

CABLE'S ANNUAL GRAND OPERA SALE

This Piano Sale Is Attracting Thrifty Buyers

MANY thrifty piano buyers selected pianos and Player-Pianos here last week and saved from $55 to $175 each.

Many more will do the same thing this week.

For there are scores of splendid bargains to be had—pianos which have been used during the winter musical season in Recital Halls, Clubs, Hotels, Music Rooms and Schools, and also a number of pianos which were used by the members of the Chicago Opera Company.

You cannot go wrong in choosing one of these pianos for your home. They have been in the hands of competent users, and before going on our floor, each one has been repolished and perfectly reconditioned in our own factory. They are beyond comparison with the ordinary used instrument.

If there is to be a piano in your home this year—why delay—for this is Chicago's greatest selling event. If you are not prepared to pay cash, we will gladly arrange terms, making it a simple matter to buy now.

For the Home That Wants a Brand New Piano or Player-Piano We Offer Two Extra Special Values

An Upright Piano for $385

The New Piano— is a splendid home instrument—rich in tone, attractively new in design, and shown in the two latest finishes. The makers of this piano build for us but one style, one design, and in it place an unusually fine action. Hence we are able to offer at a low price, a superior value. Bring in a musical friend to test it and advise you of its worth. The more one knows about pianos the greater appeal this money-saving value will make. For this sale, only $385

A Player-Piano for $585

The New Player— is of the latest fashioning, straight simple lines, beautifully designed and finished in mahogany or oak. Do not judge this instrument by the price we ask, for it has the attachments shown in players valued up to $700. A fortunate purchase of over twenty carloads prior to the 1919 price raise made this offer possible. It is our challenge offer. Hear, see and play it after you have priced instruments elsewhere and you will be well satisfied upon making your selection here. $585

Easy terms of payment on any instrument you select. Every piano carries our iron-clad guarantee

By J. P. McEVOY

THE FIVE-TEN AND THE EIGHT-NINE.

Who every night when shadows snoop
Tears madly 'cross the hectic Loop,
And chases down the track so dark
The Five-Ten Train to Highland Park?
I do!

And who as the day is speeding past
Goes loping through the loop so fast,
Exuding cries of awful pain,
As follows: "Damn the Five-Ten Train?"
That's I'm!

Who prays each night to kindly heaven
They'll change the thing to Five-Eleven,
And if 'twere changed in time and name,
Who'd miss the fool thing just the same?
I would.

O, who doth tardily uprise,
As fair Aurora paints the skies,
And moans this somber, stark refrain:
"O, double-damn the Eight-Nine Train?"
The same feller.

Who races down the road at dawn?
Who races awn and awn and awn,
And gets there as the train pulls out
[Or if not there, then thereabout]?
Only me.

Who feels Eight-Nine is much too soon,
And favors changing it to Noon,
And would prefer, at least pro tem.,
The Five-Ten Train at Two a. m.?
[Here, don't all talk at once!]

Stella Mayhew:

"What is the maiden's prayer?"

"The wedding march."

"I took a girl into a cafe and bought her a drink, and when the waiter came with it I asked her if I should give her a toast.'"

"What did she say?"

"No, I ain't hungry now."

"This is a sad life."

"How is that?"

"My husband left my flat and then left me flat."

"Did you know Mabel?"

"Yes, I knew Mabel. What about her?"

"She had no more friends than an alarm clock."

"There are three stages of a woman's life."

"What are they?"

"Friendship, courtship, and battleship."

"I was a fool."

"Was? Is, and are, you mean."

Hunter and Dorsey:

"I thought that you knew how to handle women?"

"Whom do you think I am, Solomon?"

PALACE.

Cartmell and Harris:

"What kind of a U-boat are you?"

"Why, what is the matter?"

"You have not come up once this evening."

"I know all about golf."

"Yes, you talk a great game."

"Golf is not an expensive game."

"No; golf balls are cheaper than meat balls."

"Ruth, there used to be something about me that you liked."

"Yes, but you spent it all."

"What is the difference between recollect and remember?"

"I remember loaning you $5, but I don't recollect your paying me back."

See How White Teeth Can Be Without Film

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

Perhaps your teeth are clouded by a film. Most teeth are, more or less, save right after cleaning in a dentist's chair.

The cloudy film looks like the teeth, and you think the teeth are clouded. But it is the film. Remove it and see how teeth look then.

That viscous film which you feel with your tongue is the cause of most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The tooth brush does not end it. The ordinary dentifrice does not dissolve it. So it stays—much of it—and may do a ceaseless damage.

That is why so many brushed teeth discolor and decay. You leave the film, and that is the great tooth wrecker. Despite the tooth brush, statistics show that tooth troubles are constantly increasing.

How Teeth Are Ruined

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. Dentists call the film "bacterial plaque." Those germs, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Dental science has for years sought a way to combat this film. Periodic dental cleaning removed the film and tartar. But what was needed was a daily film combatant.

It has now been found. Convincing clinical and laboratory tests have amply proved its efficiency. Able authorities endorse it. And now leading dentists all over America are urging its daily use.

For home use the method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent—a scientific product. And, to spread the facts, a 10-Day Tube is being sent to anyone who asks.

Now Millions Know

Now millions know by actual test what Pepsodent can do. Everywhere you see the results in whiter, cleaner teeth.

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to day by day combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual method is an acid harmful to the teeth. But science has discovered a harmless activating method. And now this film combatant can be every day applied.

Pepsodent needs no argument. The results are quick and apparent. See what it does, read the reason, then judge it for yourself.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten as the fixed film disappears.

Compare the results with your old methods. See the effects you never saw before. The test will be a revelation to you. Mail the coupon to us today.

Stain and Tartar Can Be Ended

They are due to film. Now you can daily combat that film and keep teeth whiter, safer and cleaner.

The ten-day test will prove this. The results are clear. And the book we send will tell the reason for them.

Make this test now. Millions have already done it. See for yourself the difference between film-coated teeth and clean teeth.

Your own teeth will tell you quickly what is best for you and yours.

Pepsodent REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

The New-Day Dentifrice

The scientific film combatant, which leading dentists everywhere now advise for daily use. Druggists everywhere are supplied with large tubes. Millions of teeth show its benefits.

Ten Days Will Tell

Look now at your teeth, then look in ten days. You will see what this new method means to you.

Why Fortune Macaroni Has That Distinctively Delicious Nut-Like Flavor

It gets its flavor from this flint-hard cereal; also its golden hue. No substitute wheats are used; no coloring matter.

Rich in nourishing elements—proteins, fats and carbohydrates.

No waste attends its use. The most economical food you can serve. Far less expensive than choicest cuts of meats and fowls. More nutritious.

And with all, delicious beyond words!

Cook it in any of its delectable forms. Let the family pass judgment upon its quality and flavor. Then, like thousands of other thrifty housewives, you will make it part of every day's menu.

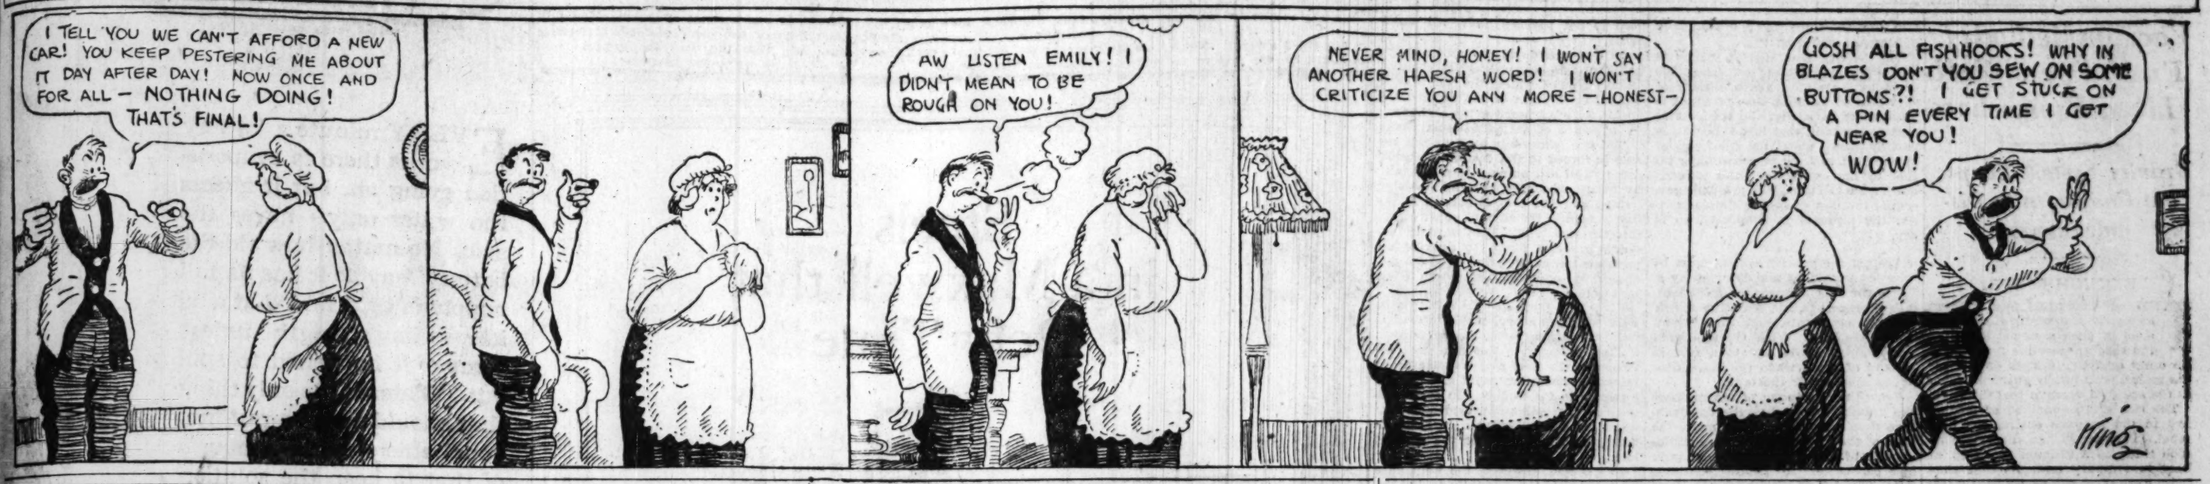
GASOLINE ALLEY—AVERY WAS A BIT HASTY



Resta to England to Plan for Entry of Sunbeam Team

NEW YORK, March 6.—With the scheduled departure for England of Dario Resta to complete arrangements for the entry of Sunbeam team in the next sweepstakes on the Indianapolis motor speedway the participation of Great Britain in the forthcoming struggle for world speed supremacy seems assured.

Last year, it will be remembered, the Sunbeam aggregation expended approximately $50,000 in the preparation of two special mounts for the Indianapolis classic, only to discover at the last minute that through a technical error they had been built slightly oversize, and consequently were not eligible for the contest.

The chagrin of the British delegation over this mishap knew no bounds, and they returned to England without even waiting for the race to be run, so great was their mortification. Before departing, however, they stated in unmistakable terms their determination to wipe out the stain of their misfortune.

Resta's imminent departure for the headquarters of the Subeam camp accordingly is interpreted to mean that the work of preparation for recouping the British lion's lost prestige is practically completed and his own part in the program is ready to start.

This year the English crew again has the advantage of access to the famous Brooklands track on which to conduct its testing operations, and it is surmised that Resta's chief activity abroad will consist of a series of personally conducted speed trials with the new mounts on which England is expected to pin her hopes in the Indianapolis conflict. The concrete surface of the Brooklands oval has recently been refinished to repair the damage inflicted on it by heavy trucks during the war, when it was used as an aviation supply depot, and it is now available for high speed work.

My Funniest Motoring Experience

Every one who has taken the road in a motor car has some story to tell. What is your best one? The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published in "My Funniest Motoring Experience." Write as briefly as possible, on one side of the paper only, and address Automobile Editor, The Tribune, Chicago. Manuscripts submitted in this contest cannot be returned. Make a copy and keep it if you wish to preserve what you have written.

Fox and Goose.

While making a trip through Wisconsin we trailed for some forty miles a salesman driving a roadster, who was being pursued by a motorcycle cop. At the rear end of the salesman's car was a case containing advertising literature, which he was unaware had an opening so large that every now and then copies were flying out. Several times the cop lost track of his man, but the telltale literature along the road always gave the pursuer a new scent. The cop finally landed his man and he had to hand over a fine to square a speeding charge. The observation of the episode was very funny.

A. T.

Stung!

I was taking some friends out for a ride in our new car. We were driving along a country road where the trees were in full bloom, and there was an unusual number of bees swarming around them. Many of them began to buzz around us, and as I put on full speed I remarked to my friends:

"It's a good thing we are not driving a horse or there would be a runaway sure."

Just then a bee stung me on the nose. I let go the wheel to brush it away, and over we went into the ditch. When I tell about it every one laughs, but, believe me, the ten weeks spent in the hospital were anything but funny.

L. A. C.

Pulled "Heavy" Load.

While driving recently I came upon two girls standing in the road by their stalled motor. Upon inquiry they said something was wrong with their engine. I rigged up a tow line and started to pull them, the girls in their own car. I took the first hill on high, proud of my car's pulling powers, but never thought to look back to see how the girls were coming. At last I arrived at the address they had given me as their home and drove up with an extra snort from the cutout. What was my chagrin to discover there was no car behind me! I drove back the eight weary miles to find the girls a few feet from where we had started with the tow rope broken.

I. D. A.

Typical "Young Brother."

My brother took me with him to call on his fiancée in a town seven miles distant. I was obliged to return home rather early in the evening on account of a previous engagement. My brother invited his fiancée to go home with us, promising to bring her back later in the evening. Her young brother pleaded to be allowed to make the trip also, and I suggested that we take him, but they presented a number of reasons why such an arrangement would not be feasible. "Young brother" gave up the idea apparently and disappeared. It was cloudy and quite dark when we started for home, and we had covered almost half the distance when "young brother" arose from the running board and climbed into the front seat alongside of my brother.

J. M. G.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

HERE is a simple method of carrying extra suitcases or other baggage when equipment is not provided for this purpose.

On the front of the running board six small strap loops may be fastened by wood screws. Two loops are set in at the rear edge of the board about twenty inches apart. Another two are set crosswise on the board, a convenient distance apart. This is governed by the size of the package that is being considered. The remaining two are located at the front edge of the board on its under side. The reason for this is that it permits the parcel or baggage to overhang the board and in this way a larger one can be carried than would be possible otherwise. Cord or straps can be arranged to tie or strap over the bundle, the ends being threaded under the loops in a convenient manner.

If the tube is allowed to get into the dust and particles of sand or grit stick to it, or if, when a roadside repair is being made, these find their way into the case, more trouble is ahead. In time you will find your tube full of tiny holes as if fine glass had done the work.

With some cars starting may be facilitated by stopping the engine and closing the choke on the carburetor instead of by shutting off the switch. The engine stalls because of the very rich mixture it receives. Therefore the next time the engine is cranked the cylinders are full of a mixture which is just rich enough for easy starting, since some of the fuel will have condensed while the engine was standing. It is hardly necessary to add that after stalling the engine in this way the switch should be turned off to prevent waste of current (assuming that a battery system is used).

Moisture or grease on the surface of the distributor housing will sometimes cause serious missing because the high tension current skips across the surface of this foreign matter instead of going through the regular channels. The obvious remedy is to wipe off the surface. The presence of moisture may be explained by the fact that it may be drawn in with the air flowing through the radiator or may condense on the surface on a damp day. Grease or oil collects on the surface from oil spray thrown out by the engine.

A single stray strand of wire may produce a ground which will stall the engine. A preventive measure is to use terminals, but sometimes terminals break off, or it is necessary to put in a new wire without waiting to attach terminals. In either of these instances there is a chance that a single strand will become loose and cause a ground. There is an easy way out of this difficulty, however. Simply bare two or three inches of the end of the wire, loop it and twist it, and then tape all the bare metal except the loop itself.

Safety First.

No matter how cold or unpleasant it may be, keep your garage open while you're inside tinkering with your machine. Last month the state of Ohio reports two deaths which resulted from working in an air tight garage. They were caused by the carbon monoxide gas that emanates from the automobile, and with no pure air it takes a short time for the place to fill with deadly fumes. And you can't tell when you might be getting it, for there's hardly any odor to the gas. But—if you have any objections to an open garage while working in your shirt sleeves, wear a gas mask.

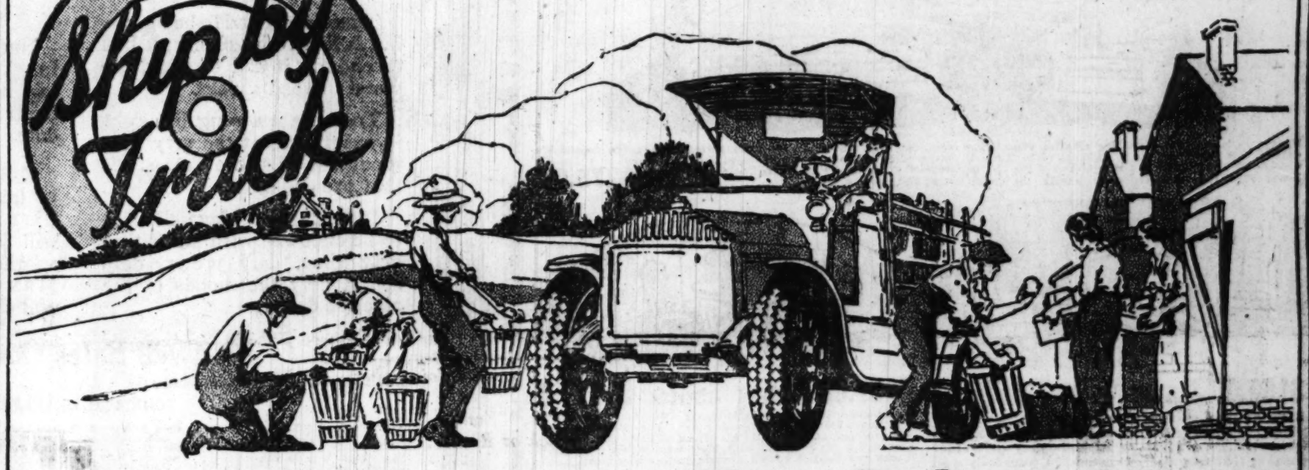
Ship by Truck



One Year of a New Industry

The rise of "Ship by Truck" to commanding national importance since the first newspaper announcement in New York City in February, 1919, is one of the big industrial achievements of the year.

H. S. Firestone at that time said, "'Ship by Truck' is the national transportation motto of today." The truth of that statement is shown in the fact that now after one year "Ship by Truck" is not merely a motto—it is a national industry, affecting every line of business.

These are some definite accomplishments:

Ship by Truck Bureaus have been established by the Firestone organization in 64 principal cities, to serve all shippers, whether transportation companies, manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, farmers.

Truck Routes and Operators have been listed by these Bureaus on the first Sunday of each month in local newspaper advertisements.

The Research Division, operating through the central Ship by Truck Bureau at Akron, has become a clearing house for information and experience on motor trucking. Investigators of this Division have already collected, in the field, transportation data on six phases of Ship by Truck: Co-operative Farm Hauling; Establishment of Truck Routes; Inter-City Hauling; Coal Distribution; Live Stock Marketing; Transportation of Grain.

Bulletins are being issued as fast as each industry is covered. Bulletin No. 1 (Farming) and Bulletin No. 2 (Truck Routes) are ready for distribution. Send for copy.

The "Ship by Truck" Symbol, conceived and presented by the Firestone Organization, has been generally accepted as the sign of the new industry. Formally adopted by the National Association of Motor Truck Sales Managers.

How Can Your "Ship by Truck" Bureau Serve You?

These instances show ways in which Ship by Truck Bureaus are serving their various communities:

In one middle west city a union freight station for truck lines has been put into operation, greatly reducing handling, and speeding up delivery of shipments.

In a northern city, at the instigation of the Ship by Truck Bureau, an appropriation was voted for snow sheds, plows and labor to keep the roads open all winter for truck shippers.

Legislation was proposed in another state to limit the capacities of trucks on the roads to a point where it would have worked a hardship on shippers, truck owners and the public. The Ship by Truck Bureau secured the co-operation of trucking interests in presenting facts that modified the proposal.

Initiated by the local Ship by Truck Bureau, the Truck Dealers' Association of one city has organized a Ship by Truck Drivers' School.

Vacuum Method of Fuel Feed Well Liked Everywhere

Gravity System Simple, but Has Definite Disadvantages.

BY HIGH SPEED.

THE subject of fuel feed is about as nearly standardized as is possible in such a mixed fabric as the modern gasoline automobile. No other auxiliary system on the car has gained such nearly universal favor as the so-called vacuum fuel feed.

The rise of this method of feeding fuel to the gasoline engine has been rapid. Five years ago there was no such thing as a vacuum fuel feed, at least in ordinary use. At that time there were three commonly used methods of feeding the fuel. The most generally used of these was the ordinary gravity feed, which is still popular. The second type was a pressure system, and the third was a combination of pressure and gravity.

The gravity feed system, which is still popular, in spite of the rising tide of vacuum systems, has a number of very real advantages, first of which is its obvious simplicity. In the gravity system the tank that holds the fuel is usually placed under the front seat or in the cowl, and the pipes carrying the fuel to the carburetor lead directly down from the tank. The principle governing the flow of fuel is simple gravity, the ultimate in simplicity, so to say.

Against the gravity system must be recorded certain definite disadvantages. When the tank is under the front seat, it is necessary to rout out all or rather both the occupants, each time the receptacle is filled. When the tank is in the cowl, there is always a certain amount of noise, when the liquid does not completely fill the tank.

From the standpoint of the engineer the gravity system has the disadvantage that it is necessary to make the lines of the car such that there will be enough of a drop between fuel tank and carburetor to insure continual flow. The car which depends on gravity to feed its fuel is very likely to get in such a position, on a steep hill, for instance, that fuel will not flow and the engine is stalled. In brief, gravity feed is not positive under all conditions.

On the other hand the action of the pressure fuel feed system is positive. In this type of system the fuel tank is located in the rear of the car and the fuel is forced forward to the carburetor by pressure of air or exhaust gases. Under the commonly used design the fuel is forced to the carburetor under pressure of air, pumped into the tank by means of a mechanically operated pump. A relief cock is located in the line to control the amount of air forced into the fuel tank. This system requires a hand pump to provide air pressure for starting and until the mechanically operated pump can come into action.

As we have noted, pressure feed is positive—as long as the system is functioning properly. But if a leak develops in the line, the pressure drops below the necessary point and the car owner is in for trouble. In some systems a relief valve is provided so that extra air can be pumped in cases of leakage, to make up for the amount lost.

In general, however, the only cure for leakage in the system is to find the leak and stop it. This likelihood of disarrangement is the chief disadvantage of the pressure feed system, not forgetting that it costs considerably more than the relatively simpler gravity feed.

The third system, which employs pressure to lift fuel to an auxiliary tank, whence it flows by gravity to the carburetor, obviously embodies the merits and defects of both the systems that contribute to it.

It was because of the manifest failings of the older methods of feeding fuel that the vacuum system was placed upon the market.

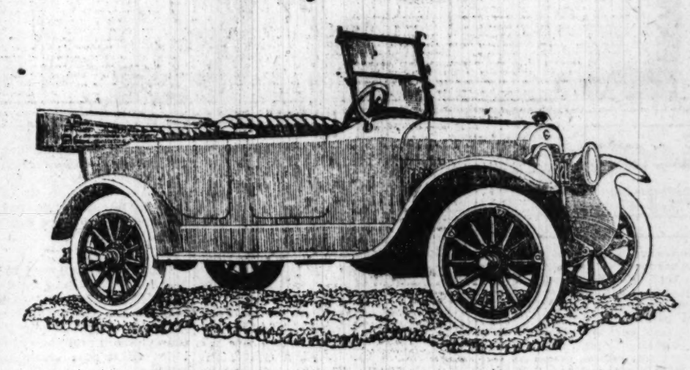
Steels in a Maxwell that Defy Time



THE steels in a Maxwell are as good as the steels in any car built.

For the very mission of a Maxwell is economy of transportation.

Therefore it had to be light—but it had to be strong; it had to endure; it had to stand the worst of road shocks.

To make it strong but light in weight meant the very generous use of those rare steels that provide both.

In that way a Maxwell came to be endowed with steels that defy time, defy wear, defy shock, defy the moods of the careless driver.

You will find a Maxwell delivers extended mileage—as long life as any car built, no matter what the price.

And not only long mileage but economic mileage. Because fine steels give little trouble and light weight spins out the mileage on a gallon of gasoline.

Such traits have made friends for the Maxwell in ever growing numbers—nearly 400,000 to date.

Only 100,000 can be built this year. That means 60,000 will have to take another car besides Maxwell—a second-choice car.

More Profit Per Acre

Less investment! Less effort! Less expense! And good yields! That is the experience of men who farm in the fertile prairie Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta —in Canada's "Success Belt." This is your invitation to share in that success—to

Own a Farm in Canada's "Success Belt"

Investigate the advantages—the profits—the wonderful opportunity that is open to you now—and, once gone, will never come again. It is a proven area of Canada—the lands are owned by the Hudson's Bay Company (incorporated 1670) which now offers them to you.

Not a subdivision or a land selling scheme—this Company is continuing its trading operations—it is selling its lands in the "Success Belt."

Come to Canada—to the "Success Belt." Come to wealth. Come to happiness. Come to prosperity!

The Hudson's Bay Company Invites You

Oldest Company in the World

The search for a passage from the Atlantic Ocean to the Western Sea (now the Pacific Ocean) led Henry Hudson to discover the Bay that bears his name. Explorers who followed some years after Hudson's death, found the country inhabited by Indians with rich furs to trade for things they wanted.

Incorporated A. D. 1670

This news, brought by the explorers to influential friends in England, induced them to ask the King, Charles II, for permission to trade in the new land. A charter was then granted to "The Governor and Company of Adventurers of England Trading into Hudson's Bay." Thus was born in 1670, the Company, commonly called the Hudson's Bay Company, although the original corporate name is still officially retained.

The chief business of this Company was fur trading—as it still remains today. The charter granted them absolute ownership of practically all the land on the North American continent not claimed by any other Christian nation. To facilitate trading over so wide an area (it extended up into the Arctic regions, down to the shores of the Mississippi, and into California) it was necessary to establish trading posts, and stores for supplies.

Many of these trading posts exist today for the Company continues its fur trading operations on a large scale, while its stores have grown into large and prosperous institutions conducted on modern lines in Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, and at other points in the Canadian West.

Opened Way for Civilization

The history of the Hudson's Bay Company is one long series of daring exploits in which the Company's men conquered the wilderness so that peaceful trade —the first stage of civilization—could enter in. Thus the frontiers were pushed backward.

Other companies, much smaller of course, came upon the scene, and either joined the Hudson's Bay Company or disappeared. Civilization crept in. The United States had long since come into being; Canada was organized and becoming settled.

Gave Up Valuable Rights

In 1870, in order that Canada might develop and grow, the Company gave up to the young Dominion, its entire territory (called Rupert's Land, after Prince Rupert, the Company's first Governor) retaining one-twentieth, not in one block but in sections in every township of what was properly called The Fertile Belt—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta —from Lake Winnipeg and Lake of the Woods west to the Rocky Mountains, from the U. S. Boundary to the North branch of the Saskatchewan Rives.

Now—Your Opportunity

These are the lands the Company is offering. Part of them have been sold, more are being sold daily—the activity is great. Your opportunity is here now. With the certain increase in value to follow, the new owners of these lands will soon realize their good fortune. Look at the experience of the United States' great West. This—Canada's "Success Belt"—is the last great West.

Grain and Stock Highly Profitable

The world already knows of the stupendous grain crops of Western Canada that relieved the food situation when the strain of the war was hardest. Your farm in Canada's "Success Belt" will be in the heart of the very country that produced those banner crops. Those records can be equalled and exceeded. This is your opportunity. Wheat, oats, barley, rye and flax, are the chief products of this wonderfully fertile region. Wild hay grown in vast tonnage without effort, supplies rich feed for beef and dairy cattle.

Think of the profits—at a cost of $10 to $25 per acre. Compare the investment and profit possibilities with farm lands near you. Then you will see why this has been named the "Success Belt."

Low Prices—Time to Pay

Land in the "Success Belt" is very low in price—$10 to $25 per acre. The usual terms are one-eighth cash and the balance in easy annual installments. Many settlers have paid for farms in much less time than they intended, out of profits on rich harvests—sometimes even from one crop.

Low Taxes—None on Improvements

That Western Canada is hospitable and encouraging to settlers can be seen in its system of taxation. A small levy is made on the land; and none at all on buildings, improvements, implements, machinery, stock, or personal property. Everything that can be done, has been and is being done to make this perpetually the "Success Belt."

Schools, Churches, Social Life

Good schools are assured by Canada's system. All over the "Success Belt" are sections of land held for school use. Many good public schools are already established. More are being established as rapidly as the need for them arises; both Provincial and Dominion Governments lend a willing hand, and supply funds.

Churches of practically every denomination are to be found throughout the "Success Belt," furnishing the centres of social communities that your wife and children will readily appreciate.

The Right Kind of Neighbors

The Hudson's Bay Company is not a Real Estate concern. It is—as it has been during its 250 years' existence—in the business of fur trading and conducting stores. Its land holdings embrace more than 3,000,000 acres, not in one group, but in sizable acreage scattered over the entire "Success Belt" so that your selection is not limited to any one locality, or any one set of climatic conditions. It has time and again declined to sell lands to the wrong kind of people. Its interest in you as a farmer is not limited to its sales agreement. It is interested in proper upbuilding of Western Canada, and this invitation is extended essentially to the individual—to real, honest-to-goodness sincere people who come to make good. That is the kind of neighbors you want; such are the people you want your wife and children to associate with. In the "Success Belt" you may be sure of such neighbors.

Write Today—Send the Coupon

You will want a farm in the "Success Belt" just as surely as you want success. You will want to farm in the midst of men who have made good. You will want to buy it from a staunch and reliable Company like this one—the oldest in the world—and feel absolutely safe in every step you take. Then write today—send this coupon to Land Department of the Hudson's Bay Company.

Remember this is not a land operating organization or a real estate concern. Write now—without cost or obligation in any way! No agents will bother you!

Lubricating Ills Cured by Testing Oil Before Using

Man Who Cares for His Car Shown How to Become Expert.

NOT many years ago it was necessary for writers on motoring subjects to hammer home to the average car owner the vital need of giving his car proper lubrication. It is doubtful whether this is quite as essential today, because the car owners of the present have had this need so firmly impressed on their minds that lubrication troubles resulting from neglect are not as common as formerly.

However, we have not yet reached the lubrication millennium, when every car is properly oiled and greased all the time. If we had we should be pretty close to achieving motor cars that would run indefinitely. There are still abuses to be corrected, and there are niceties in the use of oil and grease which the car owner needs to know.

In the present article it is the purpose of the writer to show the man who cares for his car how he may graduate from the ordinary lubrication class into the expert division, knowing not only what type of lubricant is best for his car, but also whether the lubricant that he is using is of approved quality, which latter is just as important as the proper application of the oils and greases.

Some years ago the writer had a small four cylinder car, upon which he used a medium oil, as recommended by the maker of the vehicle. The lubrication operations were conscientiously carried out, but continual carbon formation was the most noticeable result. The oil in question was a branded variety, not the best known, but supposedly good, and it was only after tests had been carried out that it was found that the oil was really very poor, whether due to adulteration or not cannot be said.

The following tests will prove useful for the car owner who desires to test the oil he is using. The first is the flash test, which is applied as follows:

Suspend a thermometer in a small jar of the oil, being careful that the bottom of the instrument does not touch the bottom of the vessel. Heat the oil and test the vapors that rise from the fluid by holding the flame of a match near the surface of the oil and then pulling it quickly away. Note the lowest point at which the vapors catch fire without setting fire to the oil itself. A really effective oil will not catch fire below 400 degrees Fahrenheit. The flash test indicates the staying power of the oil.

The second test that may be used is known as the fire test, which is as follows:

Continue heating the oil after the flash test is made and note the degree of temperature at which the oil itself ignites from the vapors when the burning match is held momentarily above it.

Place the thermometer in the vessel holding the oil, just as in the flash test, and heat the oil to the flash point for fifteen minutes. Now, after this test you will find the oil darker than it was, but if it is a good oil it will only darken a shade, the oil itself remaining clear and with no sediment. If the oil has not been properly refined it will change quickly to a dark color, cloudy in appearance, and there is often a heavy black sediment formed. It will be obvious that an oil which does this at flash heat will do worse when it is subjected to the higher temperatures of the combustion chamber.

Emulsion test is the next thing to try, and this is done as follows:

Put several ounces of oil in a tightly corked bottle with an equal volume of water. Shake the bottle vigorously to mix the two fluids and then allow it to stand for a full day. If the oil is of first quality at the end of twenty-four hours it will show a slight white line of separation where oil and water meet. The water will remain below and will be slightly cloudy in coloring. A poorly refined oil will be partly combined with the water; that is to say, it will form an emulsion having a semi-fluid, reddish white or brownish white mass containing drops of the oil. Think what such an oil will do with the water that leaks down into the crankcase, due to condensation in the combustion chamber.

The next test that may be made is one for viscosity. It is rather hard to carry out without extensive equipment, but a small quantity of the oil can be treated and will give a fair idea of the viscosity of the whole. The test is carried out as follows:

Heat a small glass tube and draw one end out until the opening is about one-sixteenth of an inch in diameter. The hole must be small enough so that when the oil is permitted to drop out the drops may be counted. Next fit a cork into a tube about an inch in diameter and six inches long. Bore a hole in the cork so that the open end of the small tube will fit snugly in it. Fill the large tube with the oil to be tested and hold it in a vertical position with the drawn out end of the small tube extending down. Count the number of drops that fall from the small end in a minute. By repeating this process with samples of different oils the relative viscosity will be determined, since the most viscous will drop more slowly than the thinner oils.

Still another interesting test may be made, known technically as the cold test, as follows:

This is simply cooling the oil in which a thermometer is placed to determine the lowest temperature at which the oil will pour. This latter test is useful in testing oil for winter use, though it has no bearing on the lubricating properties of the oil under ordinary circumstances.

GOSSIP OF THE AUTO TRADE

TO facilitate the handling of its foreign business, which has grown to large proportions since the war, the Garford Motor Truck company of Lima, O., is moving its export department from the home factory to New York.

After more than fifteen years with the Michelin Tire company, R. B. Tracy has become associated with the Globe Rubber Tire company as western manager.

In an effort to relieve the congestion of their output at the factories caused by lack of freight cars, some manufacturers have resorted to the use of flat cars.

C. D. Peet, sales manager of the Napoleon Motors company, Traverse City, Mich., reports that his company, while at the Chicago truck show, wrote more than $1,000,000 of business.

Almost all of the machinery has been installed in the new factory of the La Fayette Motors company at Indianapolis and officials expect it to start turning out cars in May.

The Olson-Flory company has taken over the business of the Mileage Tire company at 2118 Michigan avenue.

Salient Six

Many Salient Features Make
Its Greater Value—Its Greater Service

A single pillar, however beautiful, strong or perfect, does not make a temple.

By the same token a single, Salient Quality, feature or act of performance does not make the Stephens the Salient Motor Car.

The Stephens by reason of outstanding excellence in all its features, qualities and acts of performance, is a car of greater value—greater service.

One Salient feature of the Stephens is the beautiful, comfortable, luxurious hand-built bodies,—a salient value.

"That is salient which is strikingly manifest or which catches the attention at once." —WEBSTER.

Another is the powerful and economical Stephens Perfected Overhead-Valve Engine.

Rated at 25.3 Horse Power (S. A. E.), yet develops 57,—an engine that is no respecter of the grades of gasoline you supply it.

Add all-around road-performance and these are the Salient features found in the Stephens Salient Six that insure the height of satisfaction in ownership.

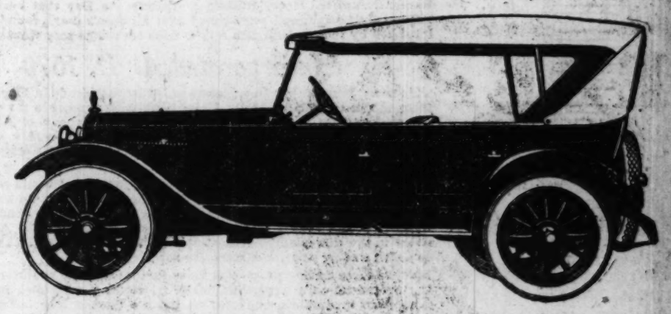
THE CAR OF ECONOMY



GRANT SIX

Economy is a relative term. Many people confuse economy with cheapness. But to the thinking man or woman there is little chance for such confusion of ideas.

For economy is not cheapness. The things which cost least are often most wasteful. And wastefulness is never economical.

The Grant Six is an economical car. It is a high grade motor car. It delivers exactly what buyers of its type want. It brings you beauty from which springs a feeling of pride in ownership. It brings you satisfactory performance, quick acceleration, marked flexibility, hill climbing ability, ample power.

It brings you riding comfort. It brings you dependability founded on correct engineering and high grade construction. It brings you freedom from worry because of its substantial construction. It brings you freedom from costly repair bills.

Its simple, accessible mechanism requires little time or effort to look after properly. Its makers have incorporated in the Grant Six design every known feature that will contribute to your comfort, pleasure and permanent satisfaction.

Its light weight insures low tire cost, low gasoline cost, and its great strength insures long life.

Therefore, because it brings you what you want at an honest, fair price, because it brings you real value for every cent of your investment, it is a truly economical car.

1919 Automobile Fatalities 420 for Cook County

Coroner's Figures Show Increase Over 1918 of 46 Deaths.

BY STUART D. TREGO.

AUTOMOBILE fatalities in Cook county totaled 420 in 1919, as against 374 in 1918, according to figures compiled by the coroner's office. The following comparison gives the number of persons and the manner in which they met death for the two years:

	1918.	1919.
Run over by automobile	125	118
Struck by automobile	112	168
Collision of auto with street car	28	18
Collision of automobiles	28	19
Auto turning over	16	16
Collision of auto with R. R. train or engine	12	26
Falling or thrown from automobile	10	10
Collision of auto and motorcycle	9	8
Collision of auto and bicycle	7	6
Collision of auto with post or tree	6	11
Collision of auto with wagon or lumber	6	3
Asphyxiated by gas in garage	5	2
Pinned under or by auto	4	0
Jumped on or off auto	1	3
Skidding	1	2
Backing	1	1
Auto collided with bridge	1	0
Struck by piece of tire	1	0
Struck head against viaduct	0	1
Parking	0	4
Overturned	0	4
Not ascertained	1	0

	1918.	1919.
Pedestrian	160	194
Children in street	88	95
Passenger in auto	62	69
Each other vehicle in collision	30	18
Driver of auto	29	31
Driver on truck	2	0
Driving with auto	2	8
Trying to board auto	0	5
Child in garage with father [ascertained]	1	0

The figures show further that drivers who speeded away leaving the victim numbered seventeen in 1919 and twelve in the preceding year. The number of women drivers involved in accidents in 1919 was seventeen, compared to only eight in 1918. The number of children killed by automobiles was 140 in 1918, and this total was increased by three in the following year.

Early morning joy riders may glean some comfort from the fact that of the accidents in 1919, the time of which occurrence is known, only slightly over half happened at night. Fatalities from accidents occurring in the city were 372, against forty-eight resulting from accidents outside the city. Of the total of 420 deaths only 99 were women and girls.

An interesting feature of the compilation is the fact that automobile fatalities in the county have increased each year from five in 1905 to the 420 recorded last year, with the exception of 1918, when the total was slightly under that of the preceding year. Total automobile fatalities in the fifteen years from 1905 to 1919, inclusive, number 2,226.

Questions and Answers

What is the best way to get spots out of the top? The inside is badly spotted, and I have tried cleaners without any results. P. D. N.

Castile soap and water is the best cleaner. Rub the soap suds thickly over the spots and rinse with clear water, using a sponge. Do not use gasoline or similar liquids containing oil.

I have been told that an automobile engine can be run on ordinary gas. If this is so why do we not use it instead of gasoline? C. F. C.

If you refer to illuminating gas, it is quite true that an engine can be operated on it, but gasoline is far easier to handle. Illuminating gas was used in England during the war when gasoline was not obtainable, but it is necessary to carry such big containers of it that it is not practical for ordinary use.

On my car I have a cone clutch and nearly every day now I have trouble throwing out the clutch. It seems as if something were caught. The sticking is so bad that at times it takes all the pressure I have in my left foot to disengage.—C. P. P., Harvey, Ill.

Probably the facing is badly torn. This is usually the cause. A simple test is to cover the facing with neatsfoot oil, and if it works all right for a time, the facing needs replacement with new.

I was fixing a spare onto the carrier and happened to look down at the exhaust pipe on my Cadillac and noticed what I first thought was raw gasoline coming out. Upon investigation I found it to be water, and I would like to know if it is a leak or can it be a regular condition in the engine. J. N. C.

It probably is not a jacket leak. Water is one of the products of combustion, and in the colder days it condenses and flies out in liquid form with the exhaust. You will find this more or less in every automobile.

This Larger Oakland Satisfies Sound Business Judgment

With a larger and a tremendously strong Sensible Six, Oakland engineers today maintain their leadership among all car builders in scientific methods of combining car ability, value and economy.

The three years of wartime study have produced no automobile calculated to equal the unusually high-powered Model 34-C in delivering the maximum of passenger transportation at the minimum of cost.

This Oakland Sensible Six embodies a complete reversal of the common policy of reducing automobiles in size—being built, not only on a longer wheelbase but with a deeper frame, heavier cross members, longer, heavier front springs, a heavier front axle and some 30 additional advancements which mainly contribute to this car's position of equality in performance with the highest-priced automobiles.

Appraise all these features at an Oakland showroom, add them to the Oakland reputation built in the service of more than 125,000 owners and then remember that this larger Oakland, still scientifically light in total weight, runs 18 to 25 miles on a gallon of gasoline and 8,000 to 12,000 miles on tires.

Closed Cars Swung on the Longer Wheelbase

The larger size of Model 34-C now accentuates all those virtues which, in the past, have caused the Oakland four-door Sedan and the Coupe to be purchased on a basis of straight comparison with very costly motor carriages.

"We are very much pleased with our Paige motor truck and advise you that our very next buy in a truck will be a repeat order of a Paige. We have had our Paige truck for six months and during that time it has not been in the garage for adjustment once."

Louis Slavin & Sons (Chicago Iron & Metal Co.)
Dayton, Ohio

When a Paige owner finds it necessary to increase his transportation equipment, he naturally chooses another Paige. In the service rendered by his first Paige he has a sound basis of judgment for all future truck purchases.

Paige owners are impressed by the fact that their trucks are seldom laid up for repairs or adjustments. Steady, day-after-day performance is the rule and not the exception. A full measure of service is rendered in return for every dollar invested. This is the character of truck service you buy when you invest in a truck bearing the nameplate "Paige."

Not Better Gas-But A Better Spark

Is the Answer to the Fuel Problem

The present day gasoline is not lacking in power, but it wants a bigger, fatter spark to get the power out! The trouble is that nearly all spark plugs were built to explode the fine, light fuel obtainable before the war; they are much too weak for the heavy, drizzly gas you get to-day.

The Arc-O Ribbon Fire is the first successful change in plugs to meet the change in fuel. It gets out as much power as obtained from the fine, light gas of six years ago. This spark is four times more effective than the ordinary.

Pistol Barrel Blasts Prevent Fouling

The Arc-O cleans itself. Its pistol barrel core uses the hot blast of the downward explosion to keep all firing parts dry and free from particles of oil and gas that collect, carbonize and foul the average plug.

Waving Spark Prevents Overheating

Note the Arc-O's electrodes—the long parallel firing surface. No spot can overheat and pre-ignite the gas, because this spark waves up and down the electrodes constantly—from point to point.

For this reason, too, the firing parts cannot burn or corrode, as often happens with ordinary plugs.

ART

By Eleanor Jewett.

TWO exhibitions of great interest opened last week. One is staged at the Arts club, where closed recently the annual exhibition of professional members—an unusually excellent affair this year—and the other is a new adventure in exhibits at the Palette and Chisel club. I use the word "new" advisedly, for though the type of exhibition had been suggested earlier for the galleries of the Art institute, yet its inventors were not able to brave the disapproval of certain outside powers, and so left it to be really new in its development at this artist' club.

The idea illustrated is that it is perfectly possible to show canvases of equal monetary merit—of equal commercial value, if that phrase suits better. A goodly number of paintings are hung and each canvas is held at one hundred dollars. Of course, the sum mentioned is arbitrary. As good a show could have been assembled, possibly, to illustrate the worth of ten dollars or a thousand dollars. But the amount of one hundred was fixed, as had been arranged at the institute almost a year ago.

Like all exhibitions, this possesses pictures which attract one, and pictures which have less power to charm. But the level is remarkably uniform. I admit there are paintings for which I should hate to part with five dollars, but there are others for which a hundred seems too little.

Take, for example, the exquisite, tiny panel of a landscape, the "Andante," by J. H. Carlsen. It is melody embodied in color. There is all the fragrance and romance of an old French print in it—all the lyric quality of a memory, photographed by sentiment, never to be wiped from the cells of one's brain while life endures. Complaint might be raised that it is in its perfection too photographic. But can a memory ever be too close to the reality? This is a memory—a memory of a June day, a countryside in blossom and an air radiant with peace. If it were not caught on the sunny coast of France, the thought of Watteau and Corot would still not be misplaced.

The glimpse of boats at dock by L. O. Griffith brings pleasantly to mind the cheerful one man exhibition held a short time ago by him in the same gallery. This is painted in a similar strain of happy, sunshiny days in New Orleans.

Another finished picture is the marine by Ralph Power. It shows just one boat, but that a sailing vessel flying with all sails set against a brisk wind over a bright, choppy sea. There is a refreshing sense of actual action and almost a breath of salt air conveyed through this most unsalty medium in the picture.

David Adam has several good things hung, and a snow scene by Karl Ouren is excellent. Another winter scene, a landscape in which a broad, brown river strikes the keynote, painted by Peter Neilson, is, however, possibly more conducive to that mood of mind wherein nature lovers find joy even in winter.

A few pieces of sculpture are shown by David Hunter. An impress bas relief of Roosevelt is one piece of merit, and a set of book ends, two charming children in summer dress, though touching the other extreme of feeling in bronze, are interesting. A study of a lion and a figure, "The Awakening," showing a girl-child stretching herself lazily upright after a sound nap, are sympahtetically handled—far again as are the subjects apart.

Among the other arists are J. Jeffrey Grant, Edward J. Holslag, Glen Shaffer, J. P. Steinberg, E. Martin Hennings,

8% Sinking Fund
Cumulative Preferred Stock
(Retirable at $110 and accrued dividends)

To supply additional liquid capital to handle its rapidly increasing business, The Sterling Tire Corporation offers $500,000 of its 8% sinking fund preferred stock at par, $100 per share, carrying with it the privilege of buying a proportionate amount of common stock (par $10 per share) on an unusually attractive basis.

The business was established in 1908 and dividends have been paid on all preferred stock outstanding for each year. During 1916-17-18-19 dividends on common stock have averaged over four per cent.

Sales in 1919, $3,326,410.00—orders and contracts on hand for 1920, nearly $3,000,000.00, on which is based estimate of five millions for the year. Sales in January and February show over 100% gain over last year.

The large profits in tire investments have come from the common stocks, and this combination offer assures good regular quarterly income on STERLING PREFERRED, together with the large speculative opportunity in the common.

It is the intention to list the Common Stock on the New York Curb Market.

How I Make Big Money Out of "Ornery" Horses

By J. A. BUTLER

ABOUT two years ago I witnessed up in New York State an exhibition of horsetraining that opened my eyes. A man by the name of Mackley took a devil of a mean, vicious mare that hadn't been harnessed for several months and in a few days had her gentle enough for a school girl to drive. Mackley had taken the mare off the owner's hands for $50 and just ten days after sold her for $175.00. A clear profit of $125.00 in ten days!

That started me investigating. I learned that Mackley had simply used the methods introduced by the famous horse trainer, Jesse Beery. Beery, I learned, used to go about the country giving wonderful exhibitions in colt-breaking and horse-training; but realizing that he could accomplish more by teaching his methods by mail had given up his exhibition work to spread his horse-training secrets by mail-instruction. Mackley had studied Beery's Course in his spare time and in a few months was able to accomplish magical results with green colts and horses with bad habits.

Other Successes

Mackley's work showed me a way to make some nice money and I determined to take Prof. Beery's Course in horse-training—but before doing so I made further inquiries. Here are what a few of Beery's students said. I'll let them tell of their success in their own words.

Mr. S. L. Arrant writes: "Just to test Beery's methods, I bought the worst balky, kicking, fighting horse I could find. Paid $65.00 for him. After handling him only a few hours according to Beery's system I sold him for $135.00."

Mr. Dell Nicholson, Portland, Mich., writes: "I have trained a four year old mare that was given up by everybody. Bought her for $35.00, and now have her so gentle my little boy handles her. Wouldn't take $200.00 for her."

Everett McBlock, Elkhart, Ill., writes: "Have just broken a pony to drive and taught it some tricks. Owner bought it for $17.50. Paid me $40 to train it. He just sold it to a show company for $150."

How I Work

The big source of my income is in buying up "ornery" colts and horses at bargain prices, and after training the animals, selling them at a good profit. However, I also pick up good money handling colts and training horses for others on a fee basis. For instance, a farmer had a beautiful driving bay that had the bad habit of shying. A piece of paper blowing across the road would set the horse crazy. The owner thought a great deal of the animal, but couldn't take chances on the shying habit. A friend of his for whom I had done some work put the man in touch with me and in a few hours I had the horse completely cured of the habit—for which job I received $50.

Curing Bad Habits

You can see from this that my work consists not only in breaking colts and "gentling" vicious horses, but in curing the various bad habits a horse can have—such as shying, balking, fear of automobiles, etc., pulling at hitching strap, pawing in the stall, etc., etc. Beery's methods of colt breaking are particularly amazing. Under the old way of handling green colts one usually had to half kill the horse as well as himself to accomplish anything—and then the colt was usually spoiled or hurt in some way or other. But, when you apply Beery's principles, there is no hard, long work or injury to the colt.

No one should have a biting, kicking or balky horse when it is so easy to cure these vicious habits. No one should attempt to break in a colt the old fashioned way when Beery's methods make the task so easy. To every horse owner, to every lover of horseflesh, my advice is to get acquainted with the Beery principles. You can not only make money for yourself, but you can do a world of good, particularly at this day when war-demands have placed a premium on horses.

Wonderful Book Free

I have been requested to state that Prof. Jesse Beery will send his remarkable booklet, "How to Break and Train Horses," free to those interested. It is a booklet well worth having, as it reveals some startling information on horse-training. I have heard men who considered themselves expert horsemen say that the booklet was a revelation to them. There is no use in my going into details on the booklet—when you can get it free for the asking.

Just drop a line to Prof. Jesse Beery, Dept. 1622, Pleasant Hill, Ohio, and the booklet will be sent free by return mail. A postcard will do as well as a letter.

The Arts club exhibit is devoted to the work of two men. One is Robert W. Chanler, a grandson of John Jacob Astor, and the other is Hayley Lever, an artist who at the late Philadelphia show was awarded the prize in water-colors. Here, too, his exhibit is made up of watercolors. As a whole they are marked by a strong sense of vigorous color, a due regard to the importance of emphasis and accent—except in "Wisteria," where the charm of the sketch lies in its lack of accent—and a knowledge, a practical, working knowledge of the value of definite lines.

If a criticism may be uttered without considered harshness, one might suggest that there seems a lack of temperament, a deficiency in mood. It appears as though each and all of the pictures were conceived and executed under exactly similar conditions. The mental poise of the artist has never for an instant been endangered by loss of balance.

Were choice in such a uniform exhibit possible, I might venture the opinion that to my mind the most attractive picture is the oil—"Wild Roses." The farther one stands from this, granted one does not go beyond range of vision, the more charming this appears. The very fragrance itself of a wild-rose bush, than which no flower is more penetratingly sweet, seems to flood from it.

The screens by Mr. Chanler are immensely interesting. Interesting is the correct word here, however much one dislikes it as a descriptive term. It is the extraordinary interest his work inspires that reveals their intricate and intrinsic charms.

For example, if the panels called "Nature Ikons" did not arouse sufficient interest in you, so that you did not stop and examine it more closely, you would certainly miss something really worth while. It is only after study one can appreciate the fineness of the work illustrated here. Until one studies it one fails to recognize the fish and beasts of the sea which, crowding the seaweeds, make of the screen a submarine [illegible]adise.

The "C[illegible]se Fantasy" speaks for itself. In[illegible]st is not necessary to herald it. [illegible]e gorgeous birds and the exotic coloring are most excellent.

The "Snake Dance" was originally intended for a canvas, not a screen. But the intention became lost somewhere in the composition and the result is a piece of work that should be housed in a museum. The back is as fascinating as the front. The artist has painted it to resemble an Indian blanket, and the manner in which he has caught the texture of a blanket is more than remarkable.

The "Swan Scene" is a large screen lent by George Porter. A small screen, "Shadows and Sunshine," is a confused, rich mass of colors and beasts and birds.

The passion which Mr. Chanler has for tropical birds is clearly evinced in his work. And that no controlling influences are back of him is also clear. It may interest some to know that in his home in New York the rooms are crowded with wonderful, rare furniture, the walls are painted to represent jungle scenes, over each door of the entrance is a hugh giraffe, and inside, flying free, are numbers upon numbers of gay colored birds such as one finds generally nowhere in our climate save in cages at a zoo.

On the face of it, this sounds like a difficult environment in which to work. But evidently it is not. At all events, were any one who surrounded himself by such conditions able to create as much beauty as Mr. Chanler shows here, I think I should purchase a number of monkeys and parrakeets tomorrow.

IF WE COULDN'T TELL A LIE

OUTSIDE!

By Guy F. Lee

I revel in the wave and wind,
Bucolic beauties I adore;
I hate the stuffy office grind,
The sedentary life abhor;
The Open Spaces sing a song
Of vibrant, iridescent rime,
For their delights and charms I long—
But never in the wintertime.

The rippling brooklet makes a hit
With me as on its bank I dream;
I love upon the plain to sit
And view mirages as they seem;
The forest whispers endless joys,
The lake and river pleasures chime;
"Al Fresco Al" they call me, boys—
But never in the wintertime.

I am a fresh air fiend—that is,
When Sol puts Zero on the mat;
If northers round the corners whis,
I'd rather stick inside the flat.
Allurement's in the wilderness;
The prairie's full of fun sublime;
The Great Outdoors!—I'm for it, yes—
But never in the wintertime!

A New Beauty Now Makes a Chalmers Doubly Charming

Quality First

THE case for Chalmers has rested itself for several years on its power rhythm, its rare ability to utilize the last ounce of power nature stored away in gasoline, and to provide gentle, steady power that was throbless.

Now comes a new body—a new coach—to make this car doubly charming.

To see it is to want a Chalmers, for it is so simple in line, so elegant as a result of its simplicity.

You can add the final touch to this choice if you will but ride in one a short distance.

Hot Spot and Ram's-horn, those two ingenious devices that fertile minds invented to "digest" the raw, inferior gasoline of the day, will win you.

They wring out the power in the gasoline, feed each cylinder without favoritism, and supply a rhythm of action that is very engaging.

Also they take out the uneven throb, and once you experience this sensation you, too, will say Chalmers is one of the few great cars of the world.

THE NATIONAL SEXTET IS BUILT IN FIVE CUSTOM BODY MODES

NATIONAL SEXTET SEVEN-PASSENGER TOURING CAR

Carefully Appointed for Your Utmost Comfort and Convenience

In expressing their conception of a truly fine motor car, the engineers and designers of the new National Sextet have provided those many details of appointment that make for utmost completeness.

On such a fine car as the National Sextet, you naturally look for cord tires, a Motometer, a windshield cleaner, corrugated rubber pads for foot pedals, shock absorbers, an engine-driven tire pump, and a ventilator for the driving compartment.

And, of course, you will find them there.

But in going over this smartly low car with admiring eyes, you are instantly attracted by the many unusual niceties that are incorporated in the Sextet.

There is an unpickable theft lock on the transmission to foil the automobile thief, and a reserve supply of gasoline that is tapped when the main tank is empty.

The door pockets are large enough for the carrying of Blue Books, and the walnut-paneled compartments in the center cowl are lock-fitted.

A robe strap of genuine Cordovan strikes you as much better than a metal bar, and you sense the joy and ease of driving a car with such long brake and gear-shifting levers as the National Sextet has.

The nickeled indicators on the instrument board, too, are arranged for the convenience of busy hand and eye, and the driving seat tilts at just the right angle for lounging ease behind the wheel.

Of course, you will want to give such a completely appointed and smartly styled and perfectly powered car a personally conducted workout.

And we'll be exceedingly glad to have you do that very thing.

Get the motor power you pay for

When you pay for gas you pay for power—but you don't get it if your piston rings leak.

If you have worn or incorrectly designed piston rings in the cylinders of your motor, a great deal of the gas you buy will pass by them. This wastes power.

McQuay-Norris Leak-Proof Piston Rings with their exclusive two-piece angle-to-angle interlocking construction act equally all around the cylinder walls. That's the reason you should install them in your car. They increase power—save gas—decrease carbon.

They are made in every size and over-size to fit every make and model of motor.

NEWS OF THE RELIGIOUS WORLD

Illinois Pastors Gather for State Interchurch Meet

By the Rev. Frederick L. Gratiot.

APPROXIMATELY 3,000 Illinois pastors, representing in the neighborhood of forty Protestant denominations, are expected to attend the three day conference of Illinois pastors in connection with the interchurch world movement. It will be held at Orchestra hall tomorrow, Tuesday, and Wednesday. The pastors will receive training and instructions for the united simultaneous financial ingathering of the movement, which will be held from April 25 to May 2, and will receive the world program of the movement.

Prominent Chicago and Illinois clergymen, as well as leading churchmen from other sections of the country, will be speakers at the conference. Women who will serve as county leaders in the interchurch world movement will hold a training conference in Kimball hall during the three days the pastors' conference is in session.

Dr. A. E. Cory, head of the field department of the interchurch world movement, will make the initial address at the conference, which convenes at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. He will speak on conditions in the world today, following a devotional service. His address will be followed by a presentation of results of the foreign survey, demonstrated by means of charts, maps, and stereopticon pictures, and addresses by foreign missionaries. Dr. Samuel M. Zwemer who has spent a number of years in work among Mohammedans, will be one of the foreign missionaries who will address the conference.

Talks on the literature of the interchurch world movement will be given at the evening session, which begins at 7:30 o'clock. Results of the home mission survey will be shown and Dr. Frank Orman Beck, survey director of the Chicago headquarters of the movement, will present the local facts visualized. The first day's session will be closed with a consideration of work among Negroes.

The morning of the second day will be devoted to religious education, hospitals and homes, literature, industrial relations, ministerial relief, American education, and some general statistics. Bishop Thomas Nicholson, general superintendent of the Chicago area of the Methodist Episcopal church, will open the afternoon session with an address on evangelism. The field program of the world movement, the plans for the financial ingathering for the support of the work of all coöperating denominations, and the organization of the state, county, and other units for aggressive action will take up the balance of the afternoon.

Pictures showing the needs of the world will be shown at the evening session, followed by an address on the part women expect to take in the plans for the reconstruction of the world by Mrs. E. C. Cronk of New York, one of the leaders of the women's training conference.

Denominational problems as they relate themselves to the program of the movement, will be discussed by the delegates at various denominational conferences during the forenoon of the closing day of the conference. The goals of the denominations are to be harmonized with those of the general movement, plans for active campaigning considered, and instructions given by the united simultaneous ingathering.

The closing session on the afternoon of the third day will be devoted to reports of the committee on findings and a general discussion. Details of the financial campaign as discussed and decided upon by the denominations and the morning meetings will then be considered and all plans harmonized. Dr. William P. Merrill, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church of New York, formerly pastor of the Sixth Presbyterian church of Chicago, will idelliver the closing address. A consecration service will close the conference.

Joseph Bonnet, the famous French organist, will give a recital this evening at the Congregational church of Rogers Park. There is no charge in connection with the recital.

The Chicago Sunday School association, with headquarters in the Mallers building, closes today its campaign for $10,000 for the carrying on of its work in 1920. Among its achievements during 1919 are 400 meetings, 1,200 personal conferences in the office, 40 district conventions, and 1,000 books loaned to Sunday school teachers. Its plan for 1920 includes a drive for 20,000 additions to the church by confession of faith, plans for week day religious instruction of public school children, a central school for training leaders, and the more efficient organization of the infant and young people's departments.

This afternoon at 3:30 the combined choirs of the Hyde Park, Woodlawn, and Normal Park Baptist churches will give a service of church anthems at the Hyde Park church, Woodlawn avenue and Fifty-sixth street, under the auspices of the Choir Directors' guild. The three choir directors, Frank Parker, Harold B. Maryott, and William Griswold Smith, will participate. The organists of the three churches, Phelps Cowan, Mrs. Harold B. Maryott, and Miss Charlotte Allen, will play the accompaniments and organ solo numbers. The Rev. C. W. Gilkey will deliver an address.

This picture shows the complete set of the new Eleventh Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica in the tremendously popular Handy Volume issue printed on genuine India paper. The twenty-nine volumes contain 44,000,000 words, 30,000 pages, and are the work of 1,500 recognized authorities from every civilized country in the world. While this set contains a great wealth of information on every subject known to the human mind, the entire twenty-nine volumes, because they are printed on the wonderfully light, thin but opaque India paper, occupy only 31 inches of shelf room, and each volume, which is no larger than the ordinary magazine, may be held with comfort by the reader for hours at a time.

NOW IS THE TIME TO USE
THE ENCYCLOPAEDIA BRITANNICA

THIS is a crucial age, this reconstruction era, a time of great changes, a live, awakened, alert age, an age of great progress, of great initiative, an age of interests that are world wide. Momentous social, political, industrial and economic changes are affecting the welfare of this nation and every country in the world. Americans today are not only interested in the government and the affairs of their own city, state and country, but have become deeply concerned in the people and the political and social conditions of many nations throughout the world. Where can people find correct, authoritative and comprehensive information on the many subjects in which they are interested as a consequence of this awakening? They naturally turn to the wonderful storehouse of knowledge — the world's greatest guide to correct and authoritative information — the Encyclopaedia Britannica. The Britannica will give a foundation for study of subjects which will be uppermost in our minds for years to come. The Britannica is a great work of useful information. It is a book for Americans today who are waking up to new thoughts, new work and new interests.

Now as Never Before You Need the Britannica

During the past few years the business of this nation has greatly expanded. So terrific has been the pressure to produce tremendous quantities of materials in the shortest length of time that out of necessity efficiency has been the watchword of the day. Great progress has been made in shop management — there have been many inventions, many short cuts have been found for better and quicker production of material. Today marks the period of this country's greatest industrial development. In many industries peace has meant a far greater speeding up than even during the war, and competition has become smarter. All of these are signs of the times and demand far greater aggressiveness, knowledge and capacity on the part of the employer and employe.

Under these conditions men are required to have the best means of knowledge, the best tools, with which they can keep abreast of the times and fulfill the stricter requirements of our awakened industrial world. The young man returning from war must capitalize his vigor and determination in order to make his mark in the world. The big army of workers who are fearful of falling back into their ruts of pre-war days must have knowledge and equipment in order to build upon the progress made during the war.

A Marvelous Library of Knowledge

This great work with its 41,000 separate articles is marvelously complete. The Britannica is a great library of knowledge on every subject known to the human mind; discusses in a way that you can understand every branch of science, industry, literature, art, religion, invention and engineering, history and race development, wars and peace, architecture, astronomy, chemistry, sociology, education, steam, electricity, geology, geography, law, physics. You and your family will find the Britannica a liberal education. In answer to the hundred and one questions which every day come to your mind—and to your wife's and children's minds—questions which arise in discussion at your club or in your business—it will tell you more about everything than you can get from any other source.

What of Today's Problems?

Do you understand the highly serious problems of our industrial life? Why are the prices of commodities high? Will wages go still higher or will they fall? What are the economic causes of the high cost of living? Is there likely to be some great economic disturbance that will cause a precipitate fall in wages and prices? Is the Soviet government in Russia likely to persist and spread to other countries or has it already about spent its force? The Encyclopaedia Britannica sets forth in its great articles the economic laws by which the world is governed. We must consider the problems of today in the light of past experience. Has the Soviet in Russia anything in common with the French Revolution?

This wonderful book—the new Encyclopaedia Britannica—literally spreads before the reader the knowledge of the whole world. It tells about foreign countries, characteristics of the people, their resources, exports and imports, trade possibilities, their history and progress. An hour a day with the Britannica will give you as clear and comprehensive an idea of the rest of the world as we Americans now have of the states of the Union.

The Woman of Today Needs the Britannica

Woman's position politically, industrially and economically has changed radically in the past five years. Woman has become a power in politics, for her vote is respected and valued. She has taken a more important place in the industrial world. The sensible and up to date woman is studying the cost of foods, food markets and food values. The Britannica is invaluable to woman with its splendid articles on politics, on industries, on domestic science, on foods and on everything pertaining to the home. To the mother with children to educate, the Britannica is indispensable and it will give her the information to teach her children wisely and correctly.

These Sets Printed on India Paper

The present small stock of sets is printed on the genuine India paper—the light, thin but opaque sheet which has proven an ideal medium on which to print the Encyclopaedia Britannica, on account of the comfort and ease with which the books may be handled and read. The beautiful texture of the clean, white, easy reading page gives a luxurious appearance and a supreme joy in owning the Britannica.

$1 as a First Payment will bring you the Complete Set of 29 Volumes, Containing 30,000 Pages, 41,000 Articles, 44,000,000 Words, 15,000 Maps and Illustrations. Balance in Small Monthly Payments.

We Are Offering All Sets in the Handy Volume Issue Printed on the Genuine India Paper at a Great Bargain.

The genuine India paper, so marvelous in its texture, so thin, so strong and yet so practicable, is manufactured of flax and hemp and other materials imported from European countries. The demand has been so great for the Britannica printed on this India paper, because the books are so much more handy, that we have obtained additional sets manufactured with the same careful workmanship and in the same beautiful bindings. These sets are bound in the substantial cloth, the beautiful, durable, semi-flexible sheepskin, and the exquisite Levant. We have also procured sets printed on the standard book paper, which is the paper generally used for books. These sets are sold at prices which make them a tremendous bargain to those who have not already purchased.

We Will Send You Our Illustrated Booklet Describing These Books in Detail

This booklet consists of 136 pages with hundreds of illustrations, beautifully printed, and describes in detail these sets. This booklet cost us, to prepare and print, thousands of dollars. It is yours for the asking and will be sent to you postpaid.

If you are ready to subscribe now, write us an order on a piece of paper and mail with a dollar bill and we will give your order prompt attention.

Even records of all other makes sound more hnman when played on The New Edison.

There Is a New Edison for Every Home

THE charm of the New Edison is twofold. Its artistic beauty and the absolute realism of Re-Creation have made it gladly received where less worthy phonographs have not been welcome heretofore. Music and furniture are the two arts which contribute most to the subtle magic which changes a house into a home in which you love to dwell. Choose your phonograph for what it can give of both.

Realism is the only measure of the phonograph's value as a musical instrument. More than three millions of people have heard the New Edison in direct comparison with the singing and instrumental performance of fifty different artists. None has been able to distinguish the slightest difference. There is no difference. The New Edison literally Re-Creates music.

There is a New Edison for every home in range of both price and design. It may be had in fourteen distinctive models; authentic replicas of the works of famous masters and their influences.

Whichever cabinet you select, your choice will have the endorsement of Miss Elsie de Wolfe and Lady Randolph Churchill, respectively America's and England's foremost authorities on fine furniture.

Miss de Wolfe says: "The Edison cabinets can scarcely fail to impress the lover of good furniture."

"The graceful and artistic productions will be hailed with delight by all. Mr. Edison's new cabinets will be received in many homes where less worthy phonographs have not been welcome heretofore," is the opinion of Lady Churchill.

The New Edison is the delight of every music lover and the ambition of every one who appreciates a fine home.

Visit our shop today. Judge for yourself whether a better phonograph could possibly be produced.

Extended Payments

For the convenience of those who desire it, The New Edison can be purchased on our liberal payment plan. By this plan it is possible for every home to own and enjoy the master product of the world's greatest genius and not miss the money while paying for it.

Employment Agencies.
HOW DO YOU KNOW?

The Sales Manager of a nationally known mfr. co. was in our office last week and remarked, that "although he had hired numerous men from us in the past few years, he had no conception of the volume of business we handled and just what we accomplished for the man who is anxious for advancement." Before judging what we can do for YOU it will be necessary to call and see for yourself. No man should form an opinion without investigating personally. A TIP IN TIME SAVES MONEY AND MAY MEAN THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN SUCCESS AND A STICK-IN-THE-RUT.

The Landlord Is Being Condemned for So-called Profiteering

Should not you, the tenant, shoulder some of the blame for being in such a position?
Opportunities have been passed up before, but don't be unfair to yourself and family by neglecting to take advantage of this one.
We will build for many people this spring and summer in the finest home community in the city, located on the Northwest Side.

Michigan.

The Next 5 Years

WHERE WILL YOU BE IN 1925? Don't drift along. Don't let expenses eat up all you make. Be wise. In the next five years you can have an independent business of your own. Let us show you how.

TO BECOME A SUCCESSFUL MAN you must take advantage of present conditions and get land of your own now while you are earning high wages. When times change you will have your own house and business waiting for you. Your neighbor who does not look ahead will continue to pay increasing prices for food and rent. You will reap the profits of the higher prices.

IF YOU ACT AT ONCE you can get a piece of excellent hardwood land, from 10 to 160 acres, in Kalkaska and Antrim counties, Michigan, that will raise practically all crops grown in the central states; good roads, school, markets etc.

Only a small down payment required, easy monthly or yearly terms on the balance. Good productive land—no rocks or stumps—all plow land for $15 to $35 per acre. We own all our lands and give a warranty deed and abstract of title with every purchase.

FOR TWENTY YEARS we have been helping others get started farming—we will help you. Free farm advisers. We aid settlers in many ways by loaning money to build or to buy live stock, tools, etc. Free insurance.

DON'T DELAY. SIT DOWN AND WRITE TODAY FOR FREE BOOKLET AND FULL INFORMATION.

MARMON

RENEWED CARS

Owing to the tremendous sale of 1920 Marmons, we have recently taken in trade some late model Marmon 34 limousines, coupes, sedans, and town cars. These cars are receiving our usual thorough renewal of parts, painting and renickelling. Owing to our stabilized design they cannot be told from the latest models. You can now own a late model, up to date Marmon 34 at a great saving in price. Call at our used car department and permit us to show you how thoroughly these cars have been renewed. You can then better appreciate the extraordinary value in a renewed Marmon.

SPECIAL WEEKLY SALE

Last Sunday we announced our first of a series of extraordinary weekly sales of a single make of car.

For the week of March 7th to 14th we take pleasure in offering the very popular

BUICKS

A. 1920 model K 44, roadster; original finish; cannot be distinguished from brand new.

B. 1919 model H 45, touring; original finish; run only 3,200 miles.

D. 1918 model E 46, coupe, 4 passenger; car has been used very little and presents the appearance of a new car.

E. 1918 model 4-25, touring; one of those exceedingly popular light 4 cylinder 5 passenger cars.

F. 1917 Model D-44 roadster; bumper, spotlight, neutral lock, mechanically perfect.

Real Values in Tires

These GOODYEAR, GOODRICH, and FISK'S are adjustable tires obtained direct from the factories in Akron, Ohio. These slightly used tires were guaranteed and the slight defects which were caused through service have been corrected by our skilled mechanics. We guarantee this correction to outlive the rest of the tire, thereby making these perfect tires in each and every way.
